FROM,

THE HON'BLE MR. E. G. COLVIN, C.S.I., I.C.S.,
Chief Commissioner of Ajmer-Merwara,

To

THE SECRETARY TO THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA IN THE FOREIGN DEPARTMENT.

Dated Abu, the 29th September 19 11.

SIR,

I have the honour to submit the Annual Administration Report of Ajmer-Merwara for the year 1910-1911, compiled by the Commissioner, Lieutenant-Colonel W. C. R. Stratton, I.A., with my remarks thereon.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient servant,

E. G. COLVIN,

Chief Commissioner of Ajmer-Merwara.

REMARKS BY THE HON'BLE THE CHIEF COMMISSIONER, AJMER-MERWARA.

The financial results of the year are fairly satisfactory, and the reformed excise system is bringing in a large revenue. This and the management of the Court of Wards and the improvement of agricultural stock are among the most satisfactory features of the report.

2. Paragraph 155 et seq. of the report shows great increase in sales of intoxicants. The still-head duty on country spirits has been recently raised by ten annas per proof gallon, and the effect of this measure on consumption will be watched.

3. The incidence of the income tax per head of population in Ajmer fell from 6 annas and 10 pies in 1909-1910 to 3 annas and 9 pies during the year. The decrease is remarkable, and the Commissioner should give the matter special attention.

4. Paragraph 148 seems to repeat the information given in paragraphs 124 and 127 with discrepancies. The Commissioner will be asked to correct the figures and to show them in the next year's report.

5. The report contains no remarks on the experiment in fluctuating assessments recently introduced in certain villages in the Ajmer and Beawar Tahsils. This matter may be noticed next year.

H. WILKINSON,

First Assistant to the Agent to the Governor General in Rajputana and
Chief Commissioner of Ajmer-Merwara.

REPORT

ON THE

ADMINISTRATION OF AJMER-MERWARA

FOR

1910-1911.

SECTION I.

GENERAL ADMINISTRATION.

Personnel.

1. Lieutenant-Colonel W. C. R. Stratton, I.A., continued to hold charge of the office of Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara, throughout the year under report.

2. The following officers held charge of the offices of Assistant Commissioners of Ajmer and Merwara.

AJMER.

Major S. B. Patterson remained in charge of the office of Assistant Commissioner from 1st April 1910 to 8th November 1910 except for 15 days from 19th September 1910, when Mr. B. J. Glancy, I.C.S., officiated for him. Major Patterson was transferred to the Foreign Office on the 9th November and for the remaining period of the year Mr. B. J. Glancy held charge.

MERWARA.

Munshi Durga Pershad, Officiating Deputy Magistrate, Beawar, held charge of the current duties of the office of Assistant Commissioner in addition to his own duties from 1st April to 26th April, 16th July to 14th August and again from 17th September to 8th October 1910. Mr. B. J. Glancy held charge of the office from 27th April to 15th July, 15th August to 16th September and again from 9th October to 16th December 1910. For the remaining period of the year Pandit Brij Jivan Lall, Revenue Extra Assistant Commissioner, held charge in addition to his own duties.

3. Lieutenant-Colonel H. R. Woolbert, I.M.S., and Mr. R. E. Coupland held respectively the offices of Civil Surgeon, Ajmer, and Superintendent of Police, Ajmer-Merwara, throughout the year.

Revenue and Expenditure.

4. The total revenue of Ajmer-Merwara for the year (Imperial and Local) amounted to Rs. 16,86,901 as compared with Rs. 15,38,938 last year and the total expenditure was Rs. 12,91,020 as against Rs. 13,47,731 in 1909-1910. (Vide statement 42.)

Imperial revenues rose from Rs. 10,71,271 in 1909-1910 to Rs. 11,11,837 in 1910-1911 while the expenditure amounted to Rs. 8,60,743 as against Rs. 8,69,829 in 1909-1910.

5. There was a fall of Rs. 60,064 in receipts under the head "Land Revenue" but the increase of Rs. 26,211 and Rs. 76,155 under "Stamps" and "Excise," respectively, with variations under other heads resulted in a net increase of Rs. 40,566.

The decrease in expenditure occurs chiefly under the head "Land Revenue."

6. The surplus of Imperial Revenue during the year under report was Rs. 2,51,094 as compared with Rs. 2,01,442 in the preceding year.

SECTION II.

ADMINISTRATION OF THE LAND.

COURT OF WARDS.

Year ending 31st July 1911.

7. Rai Sahib Munshi Gopi Nath held charge of the post of the General Manager, Court of Wards, Ajmer, throughout the year.

Agricultural aspects.

8. The year under review (Samwat 1967), from an agricultural point of view, was not very prosperous. Owing to the untimely and scanty rains the Kharif crop on the barani land suffered to a certain extent, while the tanks had little or no water in them for irrigation, thus the Rabi was a very very poor crop.

However, this deficiency was made good by the people from the sale of cotton, which was sold at very high prices during the year.

9. There were 12 Estates under supervision at the beginning of the year, of which three, viz., Deolia-Khurd, Sarana and Karel, were given up during the year, leaving only the following 9 Estates, under management at the close of the year, viz., Bhinai, Masuda, Kerot, Kalahera-Bogla, Goela, Basundni, Richmalian, Gangwana and Rajgarh.

10. The balance at the credit of the Court of Wards at the beginning of the year was Rs. 1,63,599 in cash besides Government Promissory Notes of the face value of Rs. 3,36,600.

The income of the Estates under management during 1910-11 amounted to Rs. 2,46,016.

11. The total credit including opening balance amounted to Rs. 4,09,615 as detailed below :—

	Rs.
Bhinai	1,43,945
Masuda	2,01,344
Other Estates	64,326
	4,09,615

	Rs.
Government dues	25,831
Household	65,938
Management	27,060
Investment	9,389
Liabilities	10,921
Other charges	63,208
	2,02,347

The expenditure as shown in the margin amounted to Rs. 2,02,347 and was distributed as under :—

	Rs.
Bhinai	73,799
Masuda	80,459
Other Estates	48,089
	2,02,347

The figures include Rs. 989-4-0 invested in the purchase of a Government Promissory Note of the face value of Rs. 1,000 on behalf of the Kerot Estate and Rs. 8,400 deposited for the Masuda Estate in the Ajmer Co-operative Central Bank, Limited, at 5 per cent. per annum.

The household expenditure includes Rs. 6,504 paid towards the marriage ceremonies of the Raja of Bhinai, Thakur Jagmalsingh of Sarana, and the sisters of the Wards of Kalahera-Bogla, Goela and Rajgarh, also Rs. 894 spent on the (Mosar) funeral ceremonies of Maji Ranavatji of Kerot and Raja Bijey Singh of Gangwana.

12. The closing balance at the credit of the 9 Estates on the 31st July 1911 stood at Rs. 2,07,268* besides Government Promissory Notes of the face value of Rs. 3,35,100 held in deposit by the Comptroller of India Treasuries on behalf of the following Estates :—

	Rs.
Bhinai	70,145
Masuda	1,20,885
Other Estates	16,238
	2,07,268

	Rs.
Masuda	3,23,100
Kerote	10,000
Basundni	1,000
Kalahera	1,000

13. During the year Government Promissory Notes of the face value of Rs. 2,500 were made over to the Wards of Sarana and Katel Estates, on their release from the Court's management.

14. The cost of management amounted to Rs. 27,060 or 6·60 of the gross income of the Estates. Cost of Management.

15. At the beginning of the year, the outstandings of all kinds amounted to Rs. 26,515, while the current demand from all sources amounted to Rs. 2,41,184, the total demand being as follows :— Demand and Collections.

	Rs.
Bhinai	93,818
Masuda	1,31,297
Other Estates	42,584
	2,67,699

The collections including arrears amounted to Rs. 2,46,016 as under :—

	Rs.
Bhinai	82,110
Masuda	1,26,265
Other Estates	37,641

Remissions amounted to Rs. 1,720 and the outstanding balance at the close of the year was Rs. 19,963.

16. The following table shows the demand, collections, remissions and outstandings of income under the heads "Rents and Cesses" :—

Estates.	Demand.	Collections.	Remissions.	Outstandings.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Bhinai	75,984	66,092	...	9,892

Other Estates	36,206	31,800	391	4,015
TOTAL	2,04,252	1,87,825	450	15,977

17. The instalments of the Government Jama due for the Kharif and Rabi harvests of Sambat 1967 were paid in full by all the Estates.

18. On the 1st August 1910 the Takavi debt due to Government by the Bhinai and Sarana Estates was Rs. 7,546-14-0 and Rs. 3,706-5-1 respectively. The Bhinai Estate paid up the amount in full, while for Sarana a sum of Rs. 308-13-9 was paid, leaving the balance Rs. 3,397-7-4 to be paid by Thakur Jagmal Singh as instalments become due, the Estate having been made over to him on the 30th June 1911.

19. The following table shows the liabilities on account of private debts of the Estates under management on the 31st July 1911 :—

Education of the Wards.

20. During the year Sobhag Singh, younger brother of the Goela Ward, joined the Mayo College, while Thakur Jagmal Singh of Sarana left the College on attaining his majority.

At the close of the year there were ten boys, who continued their studies at the College, viz., Rajah Sardul Singh of Bhinai, Thakur Bijey Singh of Masuda, Thakur Udai Singh of Kerot, Thakur Nathu Singh of Kalahera-Bogla, Thakur Ranjeet Singh of Goela and his younger brother, Rajah Raj Singh of Rajgarh, Thakur Udai Singh of Basundni, and Ran Bijey Singh and Sawai Jai Singh, brothers of the Thakur of Sarana.

21. The health of all the wards was good throughout the year except that the Rajah of Bhinai was laid up for some time from the effects of a fall from his horse and the young Goela Ward received a wound in his foot from the accidental discharge of his own gun.

Both boys however continued their studies without interruption.

The general progress reports of all the boys at the College were satisfactory.

SECTION III.

PROTECTION.

(I) AJMER-MERWARA POLICE (YEAR ENDING THE 31ST DECEMBER 1910).

22. Mr. R. E. Coupland held charge of the office of Superintendent of Police in Ajmer-Merwara throughout the year.

23. The total volume of cognizable crime reported in 1910 was 3,784 cases against 3,137 in 1909. These figures include all cases, whether reported to the police or to Magistrate, but, as a matter of fact, the increase falls entirely among cases reported to the police, the number of cases reported direct to Magistrates having decreased by 74 or 10 per cent. when compared with the figures for 1909. The greatest variation is in cases falling under class VI, the figures of which rose from 1,169 to 1,545. That increase may be attributed almost entirely to greater activity having been shown in suppressing local nuisances in the larger towns. A regular campaign was started when the outbreak of plague commenced towards the end of 1909, which continued well into the year under report, and there can be no doubt that the sanitary condition of Ajmer and several other large towns demanded special measures being taken at that time.

24. Though the increase is greatest in cases falling under Class VI there has been a more or less marked increase in all other classes of crime excepting "Minor offences against the person (Class IV)." To facilitate reference a comparative table, showing details of the cognizable and non-cognizable crime for the year under report and the year which preceded it, is given below :—

Particulars.	1909.					1910.
	Cognizable.			Non-cognizable.	Total Crime.	Cognizable.			Non-cognizable.	Total Crime.
	Police.	Magisterial.	Total.			Police.	Magisterial.	Total.
Abetment	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..
Class I	8	1	9	..	..	11	2	13	..	..
Class II	75	20	95	..	..	93	50	143	..	..
Class III	431	10	441	..	..	578	26	604	..	..
Class IV	3	8	11	..	..	1	7	8	..	..
Class V	702	189	891	2,678	..	881	185	1,066	3,269	..
TOTAL	1,219	228	1,447	..	..	1,564	270	1,834	..	..
Class VI	1,169	521	1,690	..	..	1,545	405	1,950	..	..
GRAND TOTAL	2,388	749	3,137	2,678	5,815	3,109	675	3,784	3,269	7,053

The increase under class I has been merely nominal and, if false cases are excluded, the figures for the two years are identically the same.

Under class II the increase has been chiefly among cases of attempted suicide (serial No. 17), kidnapping (serial No. 21) and criminal force (serial No. 23). Here too, however, if cases ultimately expunged as false are eliminated, the total difference is one of nine cases only, which may, I consider, be looked on as a natural increase and calls for no special notice.

The increase among cases of class III is entirely confined to cases of house-breaking and burglary (serial No. 29). The Superintendent attributes this increase to the facilities which the evacuation of houses in plague-stricken parts of the district afforded to enterprising criminals and, as instancing the little loss which resulted in many of those cases, refers to one village where eleven separate cases of house-breaking took place during a single night, the total losses in which were estimated by the owners as four annas.

Under class V the increase falls chiefly among cases of theft (serial No. 34) and receiving stolen property (serial No. 36). The Superintendent is unable to offer any explanation of this increase, but it appears probable that it is due partly to the same causes as the increase under class III and partly to the efforts made to obtain fuller reporting of occurrences.

25. The increase of crime as a whole per 10,000 of population was 77·2 against 65·8 for 1909 and 54·6 for 1908. If, however, sanitary offences and cases ultimately declared to be false are excluded, the figure falls to 38·6 for the year under report against 30·9 for 1909 and 28·5 for 1908.

26. There was an increase of 591 cases of non-cognizable crime during the year. As pointed out in the report for 1909, there was a marked falling-off in the number of cases instituted during that year which was attributed to conditions that ceased to exist shortly after the commencement of 1910. The classification of noncognizable offences has been altered during the year under report, which makes comparison with the returns of former years somewhat difficult but it appears that the increase is almost entirely in prosecutions under Municipal Regulations and the Hackney Carriages Act, which may be ascribed to increased vigilance on the part of the Municipal authorities rather than to any other cause.

POLICE COGNIZABLE CASES—ALL CLASSES.

27. The total number of cases of cognizable crime reported to the police during the year under report was 3,109 as compared with 2,388 in 1909. As already stated the greater portion of this increase consists of sanitary offences in the town of Ajmer, Beawar and Nasirabad. The figure is a high one and, in commenting on it, the Superintendent of Police writes as follows :—"Reporting is now, I consider, as good as it is ever likely to be. The appointment of village headmen in istimrari areas is approaching completion, and the police continue to pay most satisfactory attention to the subject, constables remedying, to a considerable extent, the deficiencies in the rural reporting agency." With these remarks I concur. In most police stations which I have inspected I have found this subject meets with special attention and that police officers have been themselves responsible for many cases being reported which would probably never have come to light but for local enquiries made by them.

28. No investigation was made in 576 cases reported in 1910. The number of cases which remained uninvestigated in the previous year was 458. The percentage of cases investigated to reported is far higher than in other Provinces. The Superintendent attributes this to the fact that the incidence of crime in urban areas, where investigation is generally desired, is considerably higher than in rural tracts. This applies to other places besides Ajmer-Merwara, however, and I am not satisfied that this is the real cause. Care should be taken that cases of a petty nature are not investigated without special reasons unless the complainant expressly desire it.

29. The total number of police cases decided during the year was 1,995 as compared with 1,537 in 1909. The percentage of cases investigated by the police which ended in conviction was 72 and the percentage of persons convicted in such cases to persons arrested by the police was 89. In 1909 those percentages were 74 and 91·7 respectively. There has been a slight falling-off, but the number of cases and persons dealt with was considerably greater in 1910 than in 1909 and even now the percentages are still very high ones and indicate good work.

Class I.—Offences against the State, Public Tranquility, Safety and Justice.

30. The total number of true cases of this class for disposal was 11. Eight of these ended in conviction and 1 was pending trial at the close of the year. Three were offences relating to coin but were of an unimportant nature and were all prosecuted to conviction. In none of those cases was the origin of the coin traced.

Two cases of frustrated attempts at escape occurred, the one from a police-escort and the other from the Kekri police-station lock-up. These also ended in conviction.

Six cases of rioting were dealt with, all but two of which were sent up for trial. One case was still pending before the Court at the close of the year, but the remaining three all ended in conviction. None of them were cases of any importance.

Class II.—Serious offences against the person.

31. The number of true cases in this class for disposal in the year under report was 82 as compared with 76 in the previous year. Forty-four of these cases came before the Courts for trial with the result that 33 were convicted, 8 acquitted and 3 still pending at the close of 1910.

32. Eight cases of murder were dealt with as compared with four in 1909. One was a case in which a woman threw herself into a well with her child in her arms and both of them were drowned. This was the result of a domestic quarrel between husband and wife and the villagers, so far from assisting the police, attempted to mystify them by removing the corpses to another well. In another case the murderer ran "amok" and has been declared insane. Two cases in which children were the victims remained undetected. The motive for one of those murders was the desire to obtain possession of certain ornaments and, in the other, apparently, the removal of an illegitimate child. In this latter case corpse, when discovered, was headless. In another case, which was hushed up by the villagers in the first instance, the murderer absconded and has so far evaded arrest though there is ample evidence against him. Yet another case, in which the victim's throat was cut at night, remained undetected, the murdered man puzzling the investigating officer by making various conflicting statements before he succumbed to his injury. The remaining two cases came before the Courts, and, though one was still pending at the close of the year, both have now ended in conviction.

33. None of the other cases under this class call for special notice.

Class III.—Serious offences against person or property or against property only.

34. 558 true cases of this class were dealt with by the police during 1910 as compared with 431 in 1909. Only 259 cases were investigated, however, and, of 66 which reached the Courts, 55 ended in conviction, 7 were acquitted and 4 were still pending trial at the close of the year.

35. There were five cases of dakaiti as compared with six in 1909. One of these cases, which consisted of a raid to obtain cattle, ended in five members of a gang of Banjaras encamped in Mewar territory being sentenced to five years rigorous imprisonment each. Three other somewhat similar cases in which cattle were lifted remained undetected, though there was some reason to believe that two of those dakaitis were the work of the gang referred to above.

All but one of those cases occurred early in the year, and since August 1910 there have been no more of the same type. The fifth dakaiti was the only case in which the dakaits were armed with fire-arms, and, even in that case, they were not brought into use. This was an attack on a party of Mahajans as they were passing through the forest on the south-west of Merwara on their return from a village in Marwar. The dakaiti was a daring one as it was committed in broad daylight and property valued at over Rs. 1,200 was carried off. The police enquiry made it practically certain that this outrage was the work of certain subjects of Marwar, but sufficient evidence as to the actual perpetrators to justify a prosecution could not be obtained.

36. Cases of robbery decreased from 7 in 1909 to 5 in the year under report. Two of these cases were of the same type as most of the dakaitis and consisted of raids by cattle lifters, the only real difference being in the number of criminals concerned. All the cattle stolen were recovered in one of those cases, but both of them remained undetected. A third case is reported to have been more a matter of intrigue than a genuine robbery. One of the remaining cases, in which two ekkas carrying travellers were held up and robbed on the road between Nasirabad and Deoli, was hushed up at the time by the local police and it was not till some time afterwards that the Circle Inspector heard of this, and instituted an enquiry, which, in the circumstances not unnaturally proved unavailing. The police officers responsible for this result were suitably dealt with.

In the 5th and last case some of the property was recovered from the possession of certain Sansiahs who were encaped in Mewar not far from the scene of occurrence, and those persons were also identified by the complainants. The case was sent up for trial and the accused were acquitted by the trying Magistrate, who held that the evidence of identification had been vitiated owing to the persons concerned having been brought across from Mewar to Ajmer before their identity was established. This was a most unexpected result, but the case was not considered sufficiently strong to justify an appeal being lodged against that decision.

37. Though the success met with in dealing with such cases of dakaiti and robbery as occurred in the year under report was not very marked, the decrease in violent crime of this class has been marked and is a matter for much congratulation. In 1906 robberies alone numbered 24 and from that time onwards the total number of robberies and dakaitis has been steadily decreasing. Moreover, a recent enquiry into a series of violent crimes of this class, extending over a period of some four years, made to verify the statements of certain recently convicted Sansiahs who were anxious to escape imprisonment, proved that there was not a single one of the numerous cases mentioned in those statements which had not been already reported to and investigated by the police. This was very gratifying, and there is, in my opinion, no doubt that serious crimes of this class have decreased very considerably of late years, and I unhesitatingly ascribe this to the greater efficiency of the Ajmer-Merwara police.

38. The only other form of crime included in class III which calls for special notice is that of housebreaking or burglary (serial No. 29). The number of true cases recorded under that head which were dealt with in the year under report was 544. This constitutues a considerable increase on the figure for 1909, the reasons for which have already been given in paragraph 3 of this report. The total number of cases investigated increased by 67, but there has once again been a falling-off in the number of successful prosecutions, the percentage of cases convicted to cases reported having fallen to 9·6 in the year under report as compared with 14·8 in 1909 and 18·8 in 1908. The Superintendent points out that these figures do not indicate altogether correctly the relative success met with each year in connection with such offences because the number of convictions for dishonestly receiving property stolen in connection with cases of burglary or housebreaking rose from 33 in 1909 to 53 in the year under report. He admits, however, that even so the results cannot be considered altogether satisfactory, and ascribes much of the failure to the fact that many members of the investigating staff are inexperienced officers who have, for the most part, little or no detective ability, and that the States which surrounded Ajmer-Merwara do not give timely information when their own professional criminals absent themselves from their homes. While admitting the truth of what the Superintendent has stated I must point out that these facts do not in themselves constitute a sufficient explanation as to why the standard reached in former years has not been maintained. I consider, however, that the reasons given for the increase in crimes of this class are themselves sufficient to explain the smaller amount of success met with in investigations. In most cases the chances of successfully working out a case of housebreaking which has occurred in a deserted village and is, as a consequence, only reported to the police after considerable delay has occurred can hardly equal the chances of success in a case occurring in a fully-populated village which is reported to the police without such delay. It can only be hoped that, with the disappearance from Ajmer-Merwara of the plague in epidemic form, the returns will once again assume a normal appearance.

Class IV.—Minor offences against the person.

39. Only 2 cases of this class were dealt with in 1910 as compared with 1 in 1909. Both those cases ended in conviction.

Class V.—Minor offences against property.

40. 855 cases falling under this class were dealt with in 1910 as compared with 693 in 1909. The total number investigated was 683 and, of those cases 349 were sent up for trial, of which 305 ended in convictions, 37 in acquittals and 7 were pending at the close of the year.

41. The number of thefts of cattle fell from 71 to 64. Four of those cases are returned as uninvestigated, and of the remainder 14 were sent up for trial, 11 of which ended in conviction. These figures show an improvement on the return for 1909 and, if successful prosecutions under section 411, Indian Penal Code, in connection with the recovery of stolen cattle, be added, the total number of convictions stands at 24 in 1910 as compared with 26 in 1909 and 17 in 1908, while the number of thefts has decreased from 70 in 1908 to 64 in the year under report. The Superintendent states, moreover, that the cases shown as undetected in the return for 1910 include four cases made over to the Court of Vakils, in all of which judgment was given in favour of Ajmer-Merwara.

There has clearly therefore been an improvement in dealing with reported cases, but at the same time I am afraid far more thefts occur than the crime returns would appear to indicate. I note that of 828 head of cattle returned as "strayed" no less than 325 were never recovered, and there is little doubt that a large proportion of those animals were stolen. In 1909 the total number of cattle said to have strayed was 1,013, of which 312 were never recovered. Considering, however, the geographical position of this district and the refusal of the two most important adjoining States to allow direct communication between their police officials and those of Ajmer-Merwara, I do not think the results obtained are altogether unsatisfactory.

42. None of the other offences falling in this class were of a sufficiently serious nature to call for special notice.

Class VI.—Other offences not specified above.

43. Of this class, 1,540 cases were dealt with by the police in the year under report as compared with 1,169 in the preceding year. All but three of these cases came before the Courts for trial with the result that 1,450 ended in conviction, 50 in acquittals or discharge and 37 were still pending trial at the close of the year.

44. Cases of vagrancy and bad livelihood numbered 35 in 1910 against 33 in 1909. Ten of those cases fell under section 110, Criminal Procedure Code, six of which ended in security being called for, while three were still before the Courts at the close of the year. The average security demanded was Rs. 350, and the average term of imprisonment in default was one year. Security was furnished by three of the six persons sentenced. The remaining 25 cases fell under section 109, Criminal Procedure Code, and all but one of these cases ended in an order for security to be furnished. The average security demanded in such cases was fixed at Rs. 73 and the average term of imprisonment in default was six months and 10 days. In only one instance was that security furnished.

The number of prosecutions under these sections has increased very greatly during the last few years. The Superintendent admits, however, that he considers still greater activity required under section 110, Criminal Procedure Code, especially in the larger towns.

The numerous prosecutions under section 109, Criminal Procedure Code, during the last two years have, however, had an excellent effect, and are, I believe, responsible to a considerable extent for the undoubted decrease which has taken place in organized heinous crime.

45. Eighteen prosecutions under the Excise and Opium Acts were initiated by the police in 1910 as compared with 23 in 1909. Fourteen of those prosecutions were successful. Licensed vendors are no longer prosecuted by the police for infringements of the terms of their licenses, but such offences are reported to the Collector of Excise Revenue for action. The illicit sale of cocaine is said to be common in Ajmer, but as in other towns is very difficult to put a stop to. There is little hope of offences against the Excise and Opium Acts decreasing in number until the surrounding States can be induced to bring their tariffs into accord with those in British India. Police officers gained rewards aggregating Rs. 173 for services rendered in cases of this class during 1910.

PROPERTY STOLEN AND RECOVERED.

46. The amount of property stolen was valued at Rs. 99,487 or Rs. 43,417 more than in 1909. All but Rs. 2,988 of this was stolen in cognizable cases. The percentage of recovery in such cases was 13·1. The increase in losses is said to be chiefly due to a few large items. The return compares unfavourably with that of the previous year, but it is notorious that little reliance is to be placed in the figures furnished under this head.

IDENTIFICATION BY MEANS OF FINGER IMPRESSIONS.

47. The number of finger impression slips sent to the Rajputana Bureau for search was 406 as compared with 244 in the previous year. The percentage which resulted in the identity of previously-convicted offenders being established was 16, against 10 in 1909 and 7 in 1908. Increased attention is said to have been paid to this important branch of the work during the year, but the agency for obtaining prints at Courts away from the district head-quarters is said to be still capable of improvement. The results obtained during the year under report may be looked on as very satisfactory in view of the unusually large number of cases in which the peculiar circumstances of Ajmer-Merwara render a reference to the Bureau necessary.

PROCLAIMED OFFENDERS.

48. The names of 47 absconded offenders figured on the registers of this district at the commencement of the year under report and 16 fresh names were added during that year. Nine of these persons were arrested and the names of two others were struck off the registers for other reasons, leaving a closing balance of 52. Of this number, 35 come under class A, and are persons whose name, caste, residence and antecedents have been fully verified, while 17, in class B, are persons regarding whom it has been found impossible to verify such details. One of the absconders arrested during the year was a man who had absconded six years previously and was cleverly traced to the Central Provinces where he was employed as a clerk in the Public Works Department. Several of the persons whose names still figure on this register are said to have been traced to Native States, but, as they are wanted for non-extraditable offences, cannot be arrested so long as they remain in those States.

There is no doubt that some good work has been done under this head in particular instances, but the result of my inspection of the registers at certain police stations leads me to doubt whether all Station-officers pay as much attention to this important question as they should do.

SURVEILLANCE OF PERSONS WHOSE HISTORY-SHEETS HAVE BEEN PREPARED.

49. The number of persons whose history-sheets were still maintained at the close of 1909 is now said to have been 437 and not 430 as reported last year. One hundred and eighty-five new sheets were added during 1910, and 105 sheets discontinued owing to the death, emigration or return to honest livelihood of the persons concerned. The total number of persons whose history-sheets were still kept up at the close of the year was 517 and, of this number, 59 belonged to persons who were again convicted of offences and imprisoned during 1910. The percentage of persons whose present whereabouts are unknown has fallen from 16 to 13·7 and, considering the position of Ajmer-Merwara, this is not a high percentage. My examination of the history-sheets maintained in some of the police-stations was not altogether satisfactory, and I am inclined to doubt whether all officers do their best to keep an efficient watch over persons who are supposed to be under close surveillance. The proximity of the Jaipur and Mewar States, the police officials of which are not permitted to hold direct communication with members of the Ajmer-Merwara police, is, however, no doubt partly responsible for this, and until the Durbars concerned can be induced to relax the orders they have issued on this subject I am afraid but little improvement can be expected.

CO-OPERATION WITH THE POLICE OF NATIVE STATES.

50. The Superintendent of Police testifies to the cordial co-operation he has received from the Kishengarh and Shahpura State police. Considerable assistance has also been received by him from the Marwar police, though there has been some friction at times between his subordinates and petty police-officials of that State. The relations with the Jaipur and Mewar police are not unfortunately equally satisfactory, and the refusal of the Durbars of those States to allow direct correspondence between their police and the Ajmer-Merwara district police causes much inconvenience in many ways.

STRENGTH OF THE FORCE.

51. The only alteration in the sanctioned strength of the Ajmer-Merwara police during the year was a reduction of one head-constable and five constables, due to the abolition of the Excise Guard. The actual cost rose from Rs. 1,47,125 to Rs. 1,79,215. This increase is due to certain of the vacancies which remained unfilled for the greater portion of 1909 having since been filled.

REWARDS AND PUNISHMENTS.

52. No less than 238 men were rewarded in 1910 as compared with 136 in 1909, the total sum paid in rewards rising from Rs. 1,189 to 1,641. In addition to this 17 chaukidars were rewarded with sums aggregating Rs. 47, and Rs. 216 were disbursed to members of the public for information regarding and assistance in police matters.

On the other hand, the Superintendent has found it necessary to punish a considerably larger number of men in 1910 than in the previous year. The total number of punishments inflicted rose from 25 to 43 and includes 4 judicial punishments by a Magistrate, 10 dismissals and 29 other departmental punishments. A considerable number of those cases have come before me on appeal and have satisfied me that departmental cases have not been instituted without grave necessity, and that before punishment has been inflicted full and careful enquiries have been made in all cases. The Superintendent is inclined to attribute the increase in punishments to the fact that many of his subordinates care but little for service in the Police Department. I cannot altogether agree with this, however. Not only has the pay of members of the force been raised considerably as a whole of recent years, but rewards are now given much more liberally than formerly, and a 'Police loan fund' from which members of the force are able to obtain loans at a very low rate of interest was established with the sanction of Government a few years ago. I am afraid the real reason is that the stamp of officer who has in the past held the more important posts such as Inspector and Sub-Inspector was a bad one, and subordinate officers had got into thoroughly bad ways as a result. Most of the officers recently appointed to those posts are men of better education and position than the old stamp and have considerably more energy. It is not unnatural, therefore, that matters calling for correction which would have remained unreported under the old regime should, when brought to light, have resulted in an increase in departmental punishments. That the ultimate result will be beneficial is a matter regarding which I have no doubt.

HEALTH.

53. The health of the force has been fairly good as a whole. The total number of deaths was 16 as compared with 28 in 1909, and the daily average of men absent from duty on account of sickness was the same as in 1909, namely 0·23 per cent. There has been some increase in the total number of admissions into the hospital, it is true, but that does not necessarily denote more sickness. Quinine is said to have been distributed to all police-stations as a prophylactic measure.

CASUALTIES.

54. The following casualties occurred during the year 1910:—

(1) Pension or gratuity	24
(2) Resignation without pension or gratuity	100
(3) Dismissal	14
(4) Discharge otherwise than above	48
(5) Desertion	6
(6) Death	16

The number of resignations has risen still higher than in 1909, and now stands at 100, as compared with 54 in the previous year. The Superintendent explains this in the following words:—"The number of men who deserted or resigned rose "from 58 to 106. Owing to the large number of vacancies existing last March,

"I made special efforts to obtain recruits in April, May and June and obtained a "large number, but as soon as the monsoon was fairly established, the attractions "of village life proved too great and the majority of the men left. At the present "moment I have nearly 100 vacancies which I see no prospect of filling permanent- "ly. During the hot weather months and during any period of agricultural depres- "sion or scarcity, recruits will come in, but the present rates of pay are insufficient "to retain them. Local competition is severe: two native infantry regiments and "a recruiting staff officer recruit locally and offer much higher pay than we do, a "sepoy-recruit receiving pay and allowances equivalent to a total of 80 per cent. "more than a recruit-constable. In addition there is the competition of the local "workshops and cotton-presses and the question of higher pay or some allowance "will have to be seriously faced." There is no doubt that satisfactory recruits are hard to get. I have made numerous enquiries as to the reasons for this from various officers and others, and am inclined to agree with the Superintendent that the shortage is due to economic causes which we cannot control. At certain times and seasons men will no doubt come forward who have no natural inclination for service in the police and are forced to join from the pressure of circumstances, but such men will never stay for long. I have consulted various officers as to the effect on recruiting which an enlistment allowance of Rs. 5 or Rs. 6 or an increase in the pay of constables by one rupee per mensem would have, but they are all of opinion that it would have little lasting effect. On the other hand, there has been no very great variation in the figures where men of over one year's service are concerned, and one can only hope that time will improve matters.

In other respects the casualties in 1910 vary but little from those of the previous year. There has been a slight increase in the number of men discharged within their probationary period, which is again attributable to the unsatisfactory state of recruiting. The number of casualties owing to retirement was also somewhat higher in 1910 than in the previous year, but is more than counter-balanced by the decrease in casualties owing to death.

General Remarks.

55. The work done by the police has, as a whole, been good, and in certain respects shows a considerable advance on that of previous years. Instances of individual good services have been numerous, and there seems every reason to believe that when the full effect of the reforms introduced in accordance with the recommendations of the Police Commission is felt, the work of the force as a whole will show an even more marked improvement. Much is still in a transition stage, however. The investigating staff is now recruited from a better class than formerly, and many of the most promising officers are among those who have benefited by a course of training at the Moradabad police-training school. The question of providing more suitable Reserve Lines is still under consideration, and family quarters for officers have yet to be added to many of the police-stations. The training of recruits is receiving special attention, but the large number of vacancies, which it has so far been found impossible to fill owing to local conditions, prevents that course from extending over so long a period as is desirable. The instruction of police constables in the principles of "First Aid to the Injured" was commenced during the year, and a large number of students have already qualified in that course. Orders have recently been received from the Government of India for the relief of the Ajmer and Beawar Municipalities from all police-charges.

(2) Criminal Justice (year ending the 31st December 1910).

56. During the year 1910 the office of District Magistrate, Ajmer, was held by Major S. B. Patterson from 1st January 1910 to 18th September and then again from 4th October to 8th November 1910. Mr. B. J. Glancy, I.C.S., occupied the post from 19th September to 3rd October and from 9th November to 31st December 1910.

57. The office of District Magistrate, Merwara, was held by Captain H. R. N. Pritchard, I.A., from 1st January to 3rd March 1910.

Major S. B. Patterson, I.A., held charge from 4th March 1910 to 26th April 1910 and again from 17th July 1910 to 14th August 1910 (in addition to his own duties as District Magistrate, Ajmer). Mr. B. J. Glancy, I.C.S., was in charge from 27th April 1910 to 16th July 1910, from 15th August to 16th September and again from 9th October to 8th November. From 17th September to 8th October and from 9th November up to the end of the year Mr. Glancy held charge in addition to his own duties as District Magistrate, Ajmer.

58. The total number of offences reported was 6,383, of which 5,519 were returned as true. Of these 1,417 were reported under the Police Act, against 1,124 in the year 1909.

59. The number of cases under the Opium Act was 13 as against 14 in 1909 and 27 in 1908.

60. The number of persons under trial in the year was 8,542: of these 4,614 were convicted. The corresponding figures for 1909 were 7,652 and 4,219 respectively.

61. The number of persons placed on trial before Honorary Magistrates was 3,906 as against 3,070 in 1909.

62. The average duration of each case was 14·3 days as against 10·2 days in 1909.

63. The number of witnesses examined was 3,990 as against 4,205 in 1909.

64. The number of persons placed on trial before the District Magistrate was 116.

65. The Court of Sessions dealt with the cases of 6 persons as against 15 in 1909.

66. In the Railway jurisdiction 510 persons were placed on trial of whom 368 were convicted.

67. The number of appeals and revisions excluding Railway cases dealt with by the District Magistrate was 80, out of which 51 cases were summarily disposed of and rejected. The sentence in 5 cases was confirmed, in 4 reduced and in 8 reversed. Fresh trials were ordered in 9 cases. Proceedings were quashed in 1 case; 1 case was referred to the High Court and one remained pending at the close of the year.

68. The number of appeals and revisions, excluding Railway cases, dealt with by the Sessions Judge was 84, out of which 58 cases were summarily disposed of and rejected. The sentence in 9 cases was confirmed; in one case enhanced; in 4 reduced and in 4 reversed. Fresh trials were ordered in 2 cases; 2 cases were referred to the High Court and 4 remained pending at the close of the year.

69. The Courts of the—

(1) Cantonment Magistrate, Nasirabad,
(2) Honorary Magistrate, Bhinai,
(3) „ „ Tantoti,
(4) „ „ Deolia,
(5) „ „ Sawar,
(6) „ „ Mehrun,
(7) „ „ Kharwa,
(8) „ „ Ajmer,
(9) „ „ Bandanwara,
(10) „ „ Pisangan,

were inspected by the District Magistrate, Ajmer.

The District Magistrate, Merwara, inspected the following Courts:—

(1) Court of Tehsildar, Magistrate, 2nd class, and Munsiff, Beawar.
(2) Court of Tehsildar, Magistrate, 2nd class, and Munsiff, Todgarh.
(3) Courts of Naib Tehsildars, Beawar and Todgarh.

70. The following Courts were inspected by the Commissioner during the year under report:—

(1) Deputy Magistrate, Beawar.
(2) Assistant Commissioner, Merwara.
(3) District Magistrate, Abu.

(3) CIVIL JUSTICE (ENDING THE 31ST DECEMBER 1910).

71. The number of Courts during the year was 27.

72. The total number of suits instituted (including miscellaneous cases) was 7,598, of these 4,475 were Small Cause Court cases.

73. The total value of suits this year was Rs. 6,29,882 as against 4,27,551 in 1909.

74. Suits of all kinds, the value of which was less than Rs. 50, numbered 4,793.

75. The total number of suits of all kinds for disposal, including arrears, was 9,360.

The number of contested suits disposed of was 1,083; 91 suits were decided by arbitration and 4,585 without any contest.

76. The pending file at the close of the year was 1,556 as compared with 1,175 in the preceding year and of these 532 suits had been pending for more than three months.

77. The average duration of contested civil suits was 77·91 and that of uncontested suits 61·8.

78. On the appellate side there were 278 appeals from decrees and orders.

The pending file at the close of the year was 129 appeals. The average duration of appeals was 108·3 against 105·4 in the preceding year.

79. The number of applications for execution of decrees was 15,752 against 16,940 in 1909. The number pending at the end of the year was 2,778. Judgment-debtors were imprisoned in 6 cases only.

80. During the year under report the Commissioner inspected the Courts of the—

(1) Deputy Magistrate and Sub-Judge, 1st class, Beawar.

(2) Assistant Commissioner, Merwara.

(3) Honorary Munsiff, Bhinai.

(4) „ „ Sawar.

(4) REGISTRATION (YEAR WHICH ENDED ON THE 31ST DECEMBER 1910).

81. The total number of all classes of documents presented for registration during the year under report was 3,751 as against 3,605 in the preceding year. The increase of 146 which occurred chiefly under "obligatory class" may be accounted for by the fact that last year the prevalence of plague tended to decrease registration.

82. Out of the total number of documents presented for registration 2,285 documents, or 60·92 per cent. of the whole, as against 63·71 per cent. in the preceding year, were registered by the Sub-Registrar, Ajmer.

83. The area of agricultural land transferred by sale during the year was 5,424 bighas, as compared with 4,653 bighas in the year 1909, showing an increase of 771 bighas. Similarly the area of agricultural land transferred by mortgage also shows an increase of 1,790 bighas, i.e., from 5,790 bighas in the preceding year to 7,580 bighas in the year under report.

84. The total value of land transferred by sale and mortgage amounted to Rs. 3,20,460 or Rs. 26,686 more than in the preceding year.

85. The total receipts and expenditure of the year amounted to Rs. 7,732 and 2,339 as against Rs. 6,909 and Rs. 2,077 respectively in 1909, showing a surplus of Rs. 5,393, which is satisfactory.

86. The system of recording thumb impressions worked well throughout the year.

(5) MUNICIPALITIES (YEAR ENDING 31ST MARCH 1911).

Ajmer Municipality.

87. The constitution of the Ajmer Municipal Committee remained unchanged.

88. During the year under report the Committee held 24 meetings, of which 10 were special and 14 ordinary. The average attendance at each meeting was 9·24 and 15·12 respectively.

89. The total income of the year was Rs. 3,45,196 as against Rs. 2,55,312 in 1909-10. The expenditure amounted to Rs. 2,64,057 as against 2,83,864 in the previous year; and the closing balance was Rs. 1,02,632. If refunds are excluded which amounted to Rs. 37,046 in 1909-10 and Rs. 52,654 in 1910-11, the figures for the two years compare as follows :—

	1909-10.	1910-11.	Difference.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Income . . .	2,18,266	2,92,542	+74,276
Expenditure . . .	2,46,818	2,11,403	—35,415

90. The increase in receipts is chiefly due to a loan of Rs. 60,000 having been taken on the 1st December 1910.

91. The decrease in expenditure chiefly occurs under the following heads :—

(1) Water works.

(2) Plague.

(3) Public Works Department (Roads).

Under head " Water works " the decrease is chiefly due to no further action having been taken in connection with the new Water Supply Scheme during the year under report.

The decrease under head " Plague " is due to no extraordinary expenditure having been incurred after the plague had abated.

Roads.—The decrease is due to ordinary repairs only having been done.

92. The gross and net receipts from octroi in the two years are shown below :—

	Gross.	Net.
	Rs.	Rs.
1909-10	1,58,899	1,21,853
1910-11	2,07,399	1,54,745
Difference	+48,500	+32,892

The gross increase of 48,500 may be ascribed to the revival of trade after the abatement of plague.

93. The total disbursement during the year under report amounted to Rs. 2,64,057 against Rs. 2,83,864 in the previous year.

94. The variations chiefly occurred under the following heads :—

The increase in Refunds is due—

(1) to an increase in the octroi income ;

(2) to the minimum amount of refund allowed having been reduced from Re. 1 to annas 8 ; and

(3) to Rs. 2,282 having been refunded to the Rajputana-Malwa Railway Co-operative Association.

The increase under the head Conservancy is mainly due to the purchase of conservancy bullock-carts and other appurtenances, etc.

The increase of Rs. 1,673 under the head "Other items" is chiefly due to printing electoral lists and revised forms of accounts and to expenses incurred on account of Census operations.

The decrease under the heads "Water supply" "Plague" and "Roads" has already been explained.

95. A sum of Rs. 6,172 was paid during the year in the discharge of Government loans.

The balance of the loan still due from the Municipality amounts to Rs. 2,26,767 at the end of the year.

96. The incidence of taxation rose from Rs. 1-10-4 to Rs. 1-13-2.

97. The management of the Ajmer Water works was in the hands of the Executive Engineer, Ajmer Provincial Division, with Mr. R. Gadsby, Assistant Engineer Sub-Divisional Officer, in the direct charge.

98. The rainfall registered on the 29th June 1910 was 1·31. The Foysagar water level rose by 0·37 feet. The water level in the Reservoir reached its lowest level to 16·33 above the sill of the sluice on the 28th June 1910, and began to rise from that date.

99. The total depth of the lake between the sill of the sluice and the low weirs was about 24 feet. The level of water above the sill of the sluice before the rain on the 28th June 1910 was 16·33 feet. The highest level of water above the sill of the sluice on 11th September 1910 was 20·32 feet. The total rainfall between June 1910 and September 1910 was 23·17 inches.

The water level in the Reservoir on 1st April 1910 was 20·31 feet, and it reached the lowest level, viz., 16·33 on the 28th June 1910.

The fall from 1st April 1910 to 28th June 1910 was 3·98 against 3·75 feet from 1st April to 28th June 1909 in the previous year.

100. The triennial election of Municipal Commissioners was held on the 14th December 1910, and the newly elected Commissioners were to come into office on the 1st April 1911.

101. The water works project continues to occupy the attention of the Municipality, and the question of the preparation of detailed estimates is now before the Committee, but before applying for the loan required, the Committee were anxious to ascertain the chances of their annual net income being improved—

(a) by the relief of the Municipality from Police expenditure.

(b) by the proposed levying of octroi on Railway goods.

102. The number of recorded births rose from 1,206 to 1,422 and the number of deaths fell from 6,609 to 2,698.

These variations are due to recovery after the severe epidemic of plague and malaria during the previous year. The birth and death rate per mille of population was 16·48 and 31·27, as against 16·33 and 89·56 respectively in the preceding year.

The mortality among children under five years of age was 1,056 (39·14 per cent. of the total mortality) against 1,254 in the previous year.

Two cases of cholera both fatal and four deaths from small-pox were reported.

103. The total number of vaccinations performed in the Ajmer Town and suburbs was 2,608, against 1,949 last year. The increase is due to the disappearance of the plague epidemic. The number of primary vaccinations was 2,319 and of revaccinations 289, against 1,869 and 80 respectively last year.

104. The conservancy carts and almost all the rolling stock being defective, six carts, six trolleys and 96 receptacles were purchased during the period under review. A new supply has also been ordered from the Empire Engineering Company, Cawnpore, consisting of 50 carts, 40 trolleys and 1,500 receptacles at a cost of Rs. 35,415. Four new one-seated moveable galvanised iron urinals have been provided in the city. Almost all the latrines and urinals in Municipal limits are now provided with galvanised iron receptacles for both solids and liquids. Many private privies in the city and suburbs have been improved. Three incinerators are in use. Drainage is still defective, saucer drains being required in many of the streets, especially in the dyer's quarters. The slaughter house and meat markets are still in an unsatisfactory condition. A scheme of improvement is still under consideration.

105. There was no change in the Municipal boundaries during the year.

Beawar Municipality.

106. During the year under report the Committee held 15 meetings, of which 7 were special and 8 ordinary, as compared with 9 special and 8 ordinary in 1909-1910.

107. The net total income of the year amounted to Rs. 96,834 as against Rs. 58,041 in 1909-1910 and the expenditure to Rs. 60,282 as against Rs. 62,069. The closing balance amounted to Rs. 53,972, exclusive of Rs. 10,000 invested in Government paper.

108. The increase of Rs. 38,793 in the income occurred chiefly under the head "Octroi" which realised a net amount of Rs. 92,639 (after deducting refunds) as against 54,301 in the preceding year. This increase is attributed mainly to the very good outturn of the Cotton Crop.

109. The incidence of octroi taxation on a population of 22,379 was Rs. 4-2-1 per head, as against Rs. 2-7-6 in the year 1909-1910.

110. Compared with the previous year the expenditure shows a decrease of Rs. 8,931 which occurred chiefly under the heads Water Supply and Conservancy.

111. The construction of the "Colvin Town Hall," it is expected, will be completed by the end of July 1911.

112. No original work in connection with the water supply scheme was taken in hand during the year under report.

113. The numbers of Births and Deaths registered during the year were 853 and 1,098, as against 841 and 2,184 respectively during the year 1909-1910.

Kekri Municipality.

114. There has been no change in the constitution of the Committee during the year under report except the appointment of Pandit Hari Lal in place of Vias Nathu Lal.

115. The Committee held 3 ordinary and 3 special meetings.

116. The total income and expenditure during the year amounted to Rs. 11,460 and Rs. 9,073 as against Rs. 10,207 and Rs. 8,977 respectively in the year 1909-1910. The closing balance on the 31st March 1911 amounted to Rs. 6,342, inclusive of Rs. 2,000 invested in Government Securities.

117. The increase of Rs. 1,253 in income over the figures of last year is principally visible under the head of Octroi, which is the chief source of revenue of the Municipality and shows an increase of Rs. 914. This increase is chiefly due to the larger import of grain, gur and ghi for consumption in marriage and funeral feasts celebrated during the year. The increase of Rs. 96 in expenditure over the figures of the previous year was mainly under the heads of Conservancy and General miscellaneous.

118. Proposals for improving the financial position of the Kekri Municipality are still under consideration.

119. The incidence of octroi taxation was Rs. 1-4-7¾ per head of the population during the year under report as against Rs. 1-2-6 in 1909-1910.

120. The number of Births and Deaths recorded during the year was 166 and 179 as against 176 and 541 respectively during the year 1909-1910.

SECTION IV.

PRODUCTION AND DISTRIBUTION.

Agricultural summary.

121. The year under report comprises Rabi 1317 Fasli and Kharif 1318 Fasli. The Rabi crops, which depended on the rainfall of 1909, were generally bumper ones, the average outturn being 16 annas in all the three Tehsils, Ajmer, Beawar and Todgarh. The Kharif crop was not quite so good, as, owing to the deficient rainfall in 1910, the produce of the crops on the Barani area in some places was comparatively poor, the average outturn, however, throughout the district was from 13 annas to 14 annas in the rupee.

AJMER.

122. The area sown for the Rabi of 1909-10 was 75,214 acres, of which 468 acres failed. The outturn was estimated at 5,91,112 maunds. The area under cultivation for the Kharif of 1910-11 was 1,01,732, of which 13,166 acres (or more than 12 per cent.) failed. The outturn was estimated at 3,93,743 maunds. The actual collections on account of these two harvests amounted to Rs. 2,60,328 against Rs. 2,71,363 last year. The realizations of revenue suspended in previous years were Rs. 28,012.

123. The total collections during the year came to Rs. 2,88,340, as against Rs. 3,06,057 in 1909-10. There was no remission on account of calamities of either of the two classes A and B in the district, nor was there any necessity for granting suspensions in the demand for the year. A sum of Rs. 309 was, however, remitted under the orders of the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner on account of the arrears of land revenue due for 14 years (from 1885 to 1898) on the alienated Bhum land of Bhimsingh at Budhwara.

The amount of revenue outstanding at the close of the year was Rs. 19,607.

124. During the year under report no advances were made under either the Land Improvement Loans Act or the Agriculturists' Loans Act in the district. The recoveries on account of principal and interest of previous loans under the two Acts amounted to Rs. 38,563 as against a demand of Rs. 1,12,053, a sum of Rs. 23,450 being long outstanding and irrecoverable was remitted under the orders of the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner.

MERWARA.

125. The area sown for the Rabi of 1909-10 was 48,073 acres, of which 2,299 acres failed. The outturn was estimated at 5,08,517 maunds. In the Kharif of 1910-11 61,759 acres of land were brought under cultivation, of which 8,023 acres or more than 12 per cent. failed. The outturn was estimated at 5,66,618 maunds. The collection of revenue on account of these two harvests amounted to Rs. 1,20,480 as compared with Rs. 1,37,480 in 1909-10 and a sum of Rs. 10,552 was realised on account of previous years, the total collection thus amounting to Rs. 1,31,032. During the year under report nothing was remitted on account of calamities of classes A and B in either of the two Tehsils in the district. A sum of Rs. 33-13-0 representing water revenue on certain areas irrigated during Kharif 1317 Fasli (1st January 1910) from the Dilwara walla (2nd class tank) in the Beawar Tehsil was, however, remitted during the year.

126. No remission was made on account of arrears suspended in previous years. During the year under report no advances were made under either the Land Improvement Loans Act or the Agriculturists' Loans Act.

127. The realizations under both the Acts amounted to Rs. 61,268-1-9 including Rs. 8,438-5-0 on account of interest, while the sum remitted on account of long outstanding irrecoverable arrears under the Agriculturists' Loans Act amounted to Rs. 34,497-14-0. The total amount of advances which remained outstanding at the close of the year in Merwara was Rs. 95,874-1-6.

Exploring licenses.

128. During the year under report four licenses to explore for minerals in the Merwara district were granted for one year to Messrs. Mani Lal Prem Chand, Mr. Brij Nath Tondon, and two in favour of Mr. Sorabji D. Vakil. Mines.

129. No license was issued in the Ajmer district.

Prospecting licenses.

130. No license was granted in the Ajmer district. In Merwara 21 licenses were issued each for a year, i.e. one to Messrs. Nansi Pirbhoy, one to Sorabji D. Vakil, 2 to Mr. Brij Nath Tondon and 4 to Messrs. Morely and Guy for mica and 13 to Messrs. Mani Lal Prem Chand for mica and graphite.

Mining lease.

131. Only one lease for garnets in the Ajmer district was granted for 3 years to Messrs. Inder Chand Chintaman Dass Dhar. No lease was issued in Merwara.

132. The returns of the Rajputana Malwa Railway show an increase in the number of passengers booked from stations in Ajmer-Merwara from 10,18,581 in 1909 to 12,89,259 in 1910 (calendar year). Trade.

133. The grain traffic of the two most important local trade centres for the year under report and the previous year is given below :—

	1909.	1910.
Ajmer—
Imports	7,707	8,267	tons.
Exports	158	283	„
Balance in favour of imports . . .	7,549	7,984	„
Beawar—
Imports	2,943	2,923	„
Exports	3,810	4,717	„
Balance in favour of exports . . .	867	1,794	„

134. It will be seen that in Ajmer both imports and exports of grain rose in 1910. In Beawar, though there is little difference in the import figures, exports rose considerably.

135. Imports of cotton at Beawar rose from 3,529 to 6,402 tons during the year 1910.

136. During the year under review the total expenditure incurred on Public Works in the Ajmer and Merwara districts (exclusive of Irrigation works, Canals and Railways) amounted to Rs.2,63,809, of which Rs. 2,24,615 were spent on works within the jurisdiction of the Commissioner as against Rs. 1,87,585 in 1909-10. Public Works.

137. The chief works carried out during the year were :—

Additions to suitors shed and Court Inspector's office at Ajmer.

New Police Station with family quarters at Harmara.

Addition of 2 class rooms to the Government College, Ajmer.

Residence for the Executive Engineer, Ajmer Provincial Division.

House for the Assistant Engineer, Public Works Department, Ajmer.

Addition of a wing to the Executive Engineer's office to accommodate 2 new sub-Divisions.

Temporary causeway across Khari river.

Improvement of Banas river crossing on Nasirabad Deoli Road, 52nd mile.

138. The expenditure on " communications " amounted to Rs. 90,545. Revenue credited to Imperial Civil Works during 1910-1911 on account of Ajmer-Merwara amounted to Rs. 7,545 including Rs. 1,080, Rs. 819 and Rs. 660 on account of rent of Agency House, Deoli, Agency Surgeon's Quarter, Deoli, and Cantonment Magistrate's Bungalow, Nasirabad, respectively.

139. At the beginning of the year the total length of the roads with avenues was 52 miles and 6 furlongs. During the year 7 miles of Imperial and 3 miles of District Fund roads were planted with young trees, thereby making a total length of 62 miles and 6 furlongs of avenue roads. The number of trees planted to fill up Arboriculture. Roadside tree plantation.

blanks was 1,858. The total cost of planting and maintaining the trees on both Imperial and District Fund roads amounted to Rs. 5,964, against Rs. 3,488 in the previous year. The increase in expenditure is chiefly due to a larger number of iron tree guards of improved pattern provided for these roads during the year.

140. The expenditure on Imperial roads was Rs. 3,791, and on District Fund roads Rs. 2,175.

141. There was no change in the number of Nurseries during the year.

142. The income derived from the sale of dry wood, babul pods, etc. amounted to Rs. 301, against Rs. 521 in the preceding year, when the revenue was swelled by the sale of stone from rejected masonry tree-guards.

143. The net result of the year's operations was the addition of 10 miles of roadside avenue, compared with 8 miles and 3 furlongs in 1909-1910.

Inspection of Raingauges.

144. The number of raingauges maintained in Ajmer-Merwara was the same as in 1909-1910 viz. 58. All the raingauges were inspected from time to time by the District Officers and found in efficient condition. All except one are Symon's Gauges.

SECTION V.

REVENUE AND FINANCE.

A.—IMPERIAL.

(1) Land and Water Revenue.

Character of the season.

145. The year under report which includes the accounts for the Rabi harvest 1317 Fasli and the Kharif of 1318 Fasli was from an agricultural point of view a moderate one. The rainfall was deficient, the average of the year being 16·86 inches (vide Table 31) against 28·31 inches in the previous year. The outturn of the Rabi harvest was generally good, but the Kharif was only fair. No suspension of revenue was, however, necessary, and the only remissions granted amounted to the small sum of Rs. 33-13-0 in the Beawar Tehsil on account of variable water revenue assessed on certain areas irrigated during the Kharif of 1317 Fasli.

Demand, collection, etc. vide statement No. 32 of Appendices.

146. The current demand on account of land and water revenue for the year amounted to Rs. 4,04,183, against Rs. 4,26,539 for the year 1909-10, the decrease of Rs. 22,356 being chiefly due to the introduction of Mr. Lupton's new assessments from the Kharif harvest 1318 Fasli, the demand whereof fell due on the 1st January 1911. Including arrears of previous years the total demand aggregated Rs. 4,59,034. Out of this Rs. 4,19,372 were realised, as against Rs. 4,79,718 in the year 1909-10 as shown below :—

Arrears	70,873	38,561
Revenue of the year . . .	4,08,845	3,80,811
	4,79,718	4,19,372

A sum of Rs. 71-13-3 was also collected during the year under report on account of surplus collections for the year 1911-12.

A sum of Rs. 309 on account of arrears of land revenue due for 14 years, from 1885 to 1898, on the alienated Bhum land of Bhim Singh of Budhwara in the Ajmer Tehsil was written off altogether by order of the Local Government.

Prices.

147. The retail prices of the principal food grains during April and May 1910 varied between 17 and 25 seers per rupee, and during June and July between 15 and 23 seers both in Ajmer and Merwara. From August prices declined rapidly, till at the end of October they ranged between 22 and 26 seers per rupee and remained stationary till the end of December 1910. In January and February 1911 they rose somewhat in Ajmer and Beawar, and in March fell again in both Tehsils.

Taccavi Loans.

148. The following statement shows the accounts of Taccavi during the year 1910-11 :—

		Outstanding at the beginning of the year.	During the year. Advanced.	During the year. Collected.	Remitted.	Outstanding at the close of the year.
		Rs.		Rs.		Rs.
Under the Land Improvement Loans Act, XIX of 1883	Ajmer	58,204	..	12,929	..	45,275
	Merwara	85,686	..	25,859	..	59,827
		1,43,890	..	38,788	..	1,05,102
Under the Agriculturists' Loans Act, XII of 1884	Ajmer	68,126	..	21,522	22,516	24,088
	Merwara	97,516	..	26,970	34,498	36,048
		1,65,642	..	48,492	57,014	60,136
GRAND TOTAL . .		3,09,532	..	87,280	57,014	1,65,238

Agricultural stock.

149. The table below compares with the two previous years the result of the enumeration of agricultural stock in Ajmer-Merwara during the year under report.

	1908-09.	1909-10.	1910-11.
Cows and Bullocks . .	145,849	157,503	173,994
Buffaloes . . .	15,890	16,695	19,850
Sheep and goats . .	293,490	285,416	277,447
	455,229	459,614	474,291

There has been a steady increase in the number of cattle, indicating prosperity, though the number of sheep and goats has somewhat decreased.

Boundary marks and disputes.

150. Boundary pillars and survey marks were inspected by the Revenue officials from time to time; 4 boundary pillars and 2 survey marks were found damaged and steps were taken to put them in thorough repair. No new case of boundary dispute was instituted during the year, but of the old disputes several are still pending, no boundary officer having been appointed during the year to dispose of them.

Record and staff.

151. The Settlement operations being nearly complete fresh records were given to the district towards the close of the year. The Ajmer Tehsil was inspected by the Assistant Commissioner and the Beawar Tehsil by the Revenue Extra Assistant Commissioner, the results being satisfactory. Tehsildars and Naib Tehsildars spent on an average 103 days in touring in their respective circles.

Processes.

152. One hundred and fifty-six writs, 43 warrants of arrest and 37 warrants of attachment were issued for the recovery of the dues of land and water revenue and tacavi, and 2 persons were imprisoned for default of payment.

Revenue business.

153. In Ajmer 14 cases were pending from last year and 775 cases were instituted during the year, of which 775 were disposed of. In Merwara 600 cases were instituted and all were disposed of.

Acquisition of land for public purposes and alienation of Government land.

154. Land measuring 150 bighas 5 biswas and 10 biswansis was acquired in the Ajmer District for buildings and miscellaneous works, involving an annual reduction of Rs. 202 in the Government Jama. In Merwara 5 Bighas of land were acquired, which, however, necessitated no corresponding reduction in land revenue. There was no case of alienation of Government land, nor assignment of land revenue.

(2) Opium, Excise and Drugs.

Excise—vide Statements Nos. 36-40.

155. The gross receipts from Excise, Opium and Drugs amounted to Rs. 3,52,796 against Rs. 2,76,656 in the previous year, showing an increase of Rs. 76,140. The expenditure on the excise establishment amounted to Rs. 18,433 as compared with Rs. 15,776 in the preceding year. The net profit on the year's working thus amounted to Rs. 3,34,363 against Rs. 2,60,880 in the year 1909-1910.

Country Spirits.

156. The year under review is the third year of the Contract supply system. The rates at which country spirits are supplied by the Contractor are as below :—

	Mohwa.		Gur.
	25 U. P	50 U. P.	25 U. P.	50 U. P.
Rate pergallon	0-13-6	0-8-0	0-15-0	0-9-6.

157. The receipts under the head Country spirits amounted to Rs. 2,97,886 as compared with Rs. 2,33,276 in the year 1909-1910. The increase of Rs. 64,610 is chiefly due to increased consumption of liquor.

158. The total sales of Country liquor were 65,214·5 proof gallons as against 48,914·8 gallons in 1909-1910. The increase in consumption was due to a good agricultural season, and to a large number of marriages and death ceremonies during the year under report. The still head duty on Spirits issued for consumption in urban and rural areas was the same as in the preceding year.

159. The number of country liquor shops in the district remained the same as last year, viz., 128.

160. The question of restricting the issue of temporary licenses for the sale of spirits at fairs and festivals was kept in view, but no change in the present practice appeared necessary.

161. The privilege of tapping and vending tari is held by a contractor. A sum of Rs. 185 was recovered on this account for the year under review. The number of shops for vending tari was 5. 320 trees were tapped, the yield being 4,123 gallons of tari.

162. Seventeen licenses were issued during the year for the sale of foreign liquor. The license fees for the wholesale and retail vend of foreign spirits and foreign fermented liquor amounted to Rs. 2,722 against Rs. 2,025 in the preceding year. The increase is due to the fact that in the year under report a sum of Rs. 1,815 was recovered in advance for 1911-1912 against Rs. 1,240 recovered during the preceding year for 1910-1911.

163. The receipts under Opium amounted to Rs. 35,352 against Rs. 26,897 in 1909-1910. The increase is due to a major portion of the contract money for the rural area for 1910-1911 and 1911-1912 having been credited into the Treasury during the year under report. Opium.

164. A quantity weighing 53 maunds 9 chataks 4 tolas and 11 mashas was imported for consumption in Ajmer-Merwara, the import duty realized being Rs. 8,483. No opium was exported to Bombay.

165. The total number of licenses issued during the year for the wholesale vend of opium was 13 as against 18 in 1909-1910. The number of shops for retail vend was the same as last year, viz., 8 in the Municipal and 34 in the rural areas.

166. The number of licenses issued for the cultivation of poppy was 68 against nil in the preceding year, the area under cultivation being 107 bighas 12 biswas and the estimated produce 6 maunds 36 seers 1½ chataks.

167. The contraband opium received and sent to the opium examiner, Ghazipur, amounted to 13 seers 6 chataks 1 tola 10½ mashas.

168. The receipts from Hemp Drugs amounted to Rs. 16,260, against 14,237 in the preceding year, the increase being due to a large import of Charas. Hemp Drugs.

169. The number of shops for the retail vend of intoxicating drugs was the same as in the preceding year, viz., 16.

170. During the year 22 persons were prosecuted under the Excise Act, of whom 20 were convicted. Under the Opium Act 21 persons were prosecuted and 12 were convicted. There were no prosecutions of Chandu smokers. The number of Chandu dens was 12 as against 11 in the preceding year. 115 persons were convicted under the Police Act for drunkenness during the year under report. Prosecutions.

171. The position of Ajmer-Merwara affords exceptional facilities for the smuggling of liquor and opium from surrounding Native States, but every endeavour is made by the preventive staff to put down smuggling. General Remarks.

172. The steady growth of revenue has been a marked feature of the history of Excise in this district. It is due mainly to the introduction of the contract distillery system for the manufacture and supply of country liquor, and partly to the activity and constant supervision of the preventive establishment.

(3) Stamps.

173. The gross income from stamps amounted to Rs. 1,68,627, as against Rs. 1,42,416 in the year 1909-1910, as detailed below :—

	1909-1910.	1910-1911.
	Rs.	Rs	Increase.
Judicial Stamps	1,03,963	1,21,004	17,041
Non Judicial	38,453	47,623	9,170
TOTAL . .	1,42,416	1,68,627	26,211

174. The increase of Rs. 17,041 in the revenue from judicial stamps was due to the larger number of suits instituted and to the general restoration of normal trade conditions after the effects of the plague epidemic in the previous year. No prosecutions took place during the year for any breach of the Stamp law, nor was anything recovered on account of pauper suits.

175. There was no change in the number of Stamp Vendors during the year. The discount paid amounted to Rs. 3,027, as against Rs. 2,550 in the year 1909-1910.

176. The total charge in connection with the working of the Stamp Department amounted to Rs. 17,558, as compared with Rs. 15,381 in the previous year.

(4) Income Tax.

177. The number of persons assessed to income tax during the year under report was 778 against 761 last year.

178. The final demand and the collections as compared with those for 1909-10 are as follows :—

	1910-11.	1909-10.
Final demand	61,514	70,765
Collections	58,923	69,178

179. The gross collections, including arrears and penalties, amounted to Rs. 61,230, as against Rs. 69,253 in the previous year as shown below :—

	1910-11.	1909-10.
Tax	58,923	69,178
Arrears	2,307	75
Total Rs. . .	61,230	69,253

180. There were no prosecutions during the year, but the amount collected includes Rs. 23 on account of penalties. The cost of collection was Rs. 1,194 against Rs. 1,246 last year. The net profit accruing to Government on the year's working being Rs. 60,036 compared with Rs. 67,964 in the preceding year.

181. During the year under report the Extra Assistant Commissioner I, Ajmer, exercised the powers of Collector to make all assessments under Part IV up to the sum of Rs. 250 on an income of Rs. 9,600 and to hear and pass orders on objections filed under section 26 of the Act against the assessments made by him. The Collector of Ajmer also exercised the revisional powers of the Commissioner under section 27 of the Act, in regard to petitions preferred against all orders made by the Extra Assistant Commissioner I, under section 26 of the Act.

182. The number of objections was 63, all under Part IV. Of these 21 were allowed, 23 partly accepted, 5 remained pending and 14 were rejected.

183. There were 7 applications for revision presented to the Collector, under section 27 of the Act, against the orders passed by the Extra Assistant Commissioner I. Out of these 7 applications 3 were rejected, 2 were accepted and 2 remained pending at the close of the year. No application for revision was presented to the Commissioner from the orders of the Collector.

184. The percentage of collections under Parts I, II, III and IV of the Income Tax Act, came respectively to Rs. 27·73, 5·57, 1·54 and 27·27, and the incidence of income tax per head of population in the city of Ajmer calculated on the amount collected during the year was 3 annas 9 pies against 6 annas 10 pies in the previous year. The decrease in the incidence is due partly to the population of Ajmer having been taken at 86,273 (the figure returned at the last census) instead of at 73,839 the old figure, and partly to receipts being less owing to trade having been paralysed by plague in the year 1909-10, the income whereof was taken as the basis of assessment for 1910-11. Some large reductions were also allowed on revision to a few of the leading bankers.

B.—Revenue and Finance other than Imperial.

District Fund, excluding Dispensary and Victoria Memorial Funds.

185. The year opened with a cash balance of Rs. 30,178. Receipts amounted to Rs. 45,974 and expenditure to Rs. 44,562, leaving a balance of Rs. 31,590.

186. The receipts show a decrease of Rs. 1,509, as compared with the income of the previous year, due mainly to the fact that the distribution list of the new demand having been communicated by the Settlement Department late in March 1911, the demand for Kharif 1318 Fasli, which fell due on the 1st January 1911, could not be fully recovered.

187. The expenditure rose from Rs. 40,408 in 1909-1910 to Rs. 44,562, an increase of Rs. 4,154 which occurred chiefly under the head " Road Fund " in the civil charges and was due to the payment of a sum of Rs. 4,984 to the Public Works Department on account of contribution for the upkeep of the Ajmer-Pushkar road and the metalled portion (47 miles) of the Beawar-Dawair road lately transferred to the Imperial list.

188. The Veterinary Dispensary and Shoeing forge at Ajmer continued to work satisfactorily during the year under report. The two Nagori bulls which were purchased in 1907 having become fit for covering purposes were located at Ramsar and Jethana. They are so far reported to have worked as satisfactorily as might be expected.

189. During the year under report only one meeting of the Board was held.

Local Funds.

Dispensary Fund.

190. The cash balance at the credit of the Dispensary Fund at the beginning of the year was Rs. 2,165. The gross receipts amounted to Rs. 8,627, as against Rs. 7,706 in the previous year, showing an increase of Rs. 921, which was due to certain arrears of subscriptions having been recovered during the year. The expenditure fell from Rs. 7,311 in 1909-1910 to Rs. 7,140. The decrease of Rs. 171 occurs chiefly under the heads " Dieting " and " Medicines." The year closed with a cash balance of Rs. 3,651 besides Rs. 23,500 invested in Government securities.

191. At the close of the year the account of the Deolia Dispensary showed a debit balance of Rs. 30, this being due to the non-payment of his annual contribution by the Istamrardar. The debit balance against the Todgarh Dispensary amounted to Rs. 1,110 as against Rs. 1,137 last year.

Victoria Memorial Fund.

192. There was no income to the fund during the year under report, nor was there any expenditure. The year closed with a cash balance of Rs. 572.

Chowkidari Fund.

193. The receipts amounted to Rs. 12,999 as compared with Rs. 14,476 in 1909-10. The decrease of Rs. 1,477 is due to a larger balance of the current amount having been left outstanding than in the last year. The expenditure amounted to Rs. 10,867 as against Rs. 12,668 in 1909-10, a decrease of Rs. 1,801, which is attributed to the fact that winter uniforms were not supplied to Chowkidars during the year under report, as they were issued in the preceding year. The cash balance at the close of the year stood at Rs. 15,611.

Police Chanda Fund.

194. The receipts amounted to Rs. 2,854, as against Rs. 2,662 in 1909-10, the increase of Rs. 192 being attributed to a larger amount having been credited to the fund during the year on account of horse allowances in consequence of vacancies amongst sowars. The expenditure amounted to Rs. 2,723 against 1,574 in the preceding year, showing an increase of Rs. 1,149 which is due to a proportionate increase in the cost of maintaining horses and to the refund of a larger amount of entrance donations to sowars, pensioned and resigned. The balance at the close of the year was Rs. 1,748.

Nasirabad Cantonment Fund.

195. The total receipts amounted to Rs. 61,962, as compared with Rs. 54,426 in 1909-10, the increase of Rs. 7,536 being due to the introduction of the revised octroi schedule and tax on trades and professions. The expenditure amounted to Rs. 64,573 as against Rs. 56,682 in the preceding year. The increase of Rs. 7,891 was mainly on account of the refund of license fees, the imposition of which was decided by the Government of India to be illegal, and the construction of a new mutton market. The year closed with a balance of Rs. 19,308 to the credit of the Fund as against Rs. 21,918 in 1909-10.

SECTION VI.

PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

General, vide Tables at appendices Nos. 46 to 52.

196. The total number of educational institutions at the close of the year was 186, against 198 in the previous year. Of these 90 were public and 96 private institutions. The total number of pupils of both sexes was 9,078 against 8,613 in the previous year. The pupils at public institutions numbered 5,930 and at private institutions 2,852. The percentage of the population of the school-going age receiving instruction was 19·52 among males and 3·64 among females.

197. The average number on the rolls and the average daily attendance at institutions maintained by the educational department were 2,703·83 and 2,098·60 respectively, against 2,929 and 2,176 in 1909-10.

198. The total expenditure on public instruction rose from Rs. 1,45,253 in 1909-10 to Rs. 1,55,365. The details of the expenditure as also the sources from which it was met are given below :—

Government College and School, Ajmer.

199. Mr. E. F. Harris, B.A., continued to be the Principal of the Government College throughout the year. The only important changes which took place in the tuitional staff were (1) M. Abdul Wahid Khan, M.A., was appointed Head Moulvi, the post being vacant from last year, and (2) M. Bishamber Pershad, M. S. C., rejoined as second Master, vice Babu Manmouth Nath Ghosh resigned.

200. The number of students in the college classes was 39, and in the school classes 198, as against 55 and 154 respectively in 1909-10. In the branch school the number on the rolls was 370. The results of the different examinations are given below :—

B.A. Examination	6	out of	11
Intermediate Examination	11	„	16
Matriculation Examination	30	„	39
Middle Examination	34	„	45

201. The Boarding Houses continued to be managed as before; the inmates numbered on an average 85.

Aided schools.

202. The number of aided schools was 13 at the end of the year and the number of pupils attending then 1,878 against 1,617 in 1909-10.

Village schools.

203. During the year under report no new village school was opened. The number of secondary schools remained 8, but the status of two Upper Primary schools was reduced to Lower Primary, their numbers thus changing from 32 and 11 in 1909-10 to 30 and 13 at the close of the year 1910-11.

204. From the secondary schools 18 candidates appeared for the Vernacular Final Examination, of whom 9 passed. In the Primary schools the curriculum of studies was simplified with a view to facilitate training in the three Rs and in Geography: drawing and the studying of the village map have also been made prominent features of village school instruction. The number of pupils in these schools fell from 2,086 in 1909-10 to 1,958 at the close of the year under report.

205. The total expenditure on village schools amounted to Rs. 31,225, of which Rs. 14,677 were provided from Imperial Funds, Rs. 12,048 from Municipality and District Funds, Rs. 2,067 from fees, Rs. 2,104 from Mission funds and Rs. 329 from other sources.

206. The annual Rajputana school sports were held as usual at Ajmer during the week ending the 3rd December 1910, 25 schools competing.

207. The annual Rajputana Middle school examinations were conducted at Ajmer by the Principal, Government College, and 34 schools from Ajmer-Merwara and various States in Rajputana presented candidates.

SECTION VII.

GENERAL MISCELLANEOUS.

Pushkar Fair.

208. The annual religious Fair at Pushkar was held between the 13th and 16th November 1910. The attendance was the largest on record for many years. The general arrangements were ably carried out by the Committee which as usual was formed for the purpose. The sanitary arrangements were all that could be desired and in spite of the large crowds no epidemic disease of any kind occurred during the Fair.

209. The Horse Show and Cattle Fair formed a prominent part of the programme of the Fair, as usual. The extra large attendance at the Fair may be attributed to the agricultural prosperity of the country, the absence of any general epidemic and the occurrence of a lunar eclipse, which attracted a very considerable gathering of pilgrims. The Police arrangements were excellent, and no serious crime occurred during the fair.

210. The Agricultural and Industrial Exhibition, which was held for the second time proved a centre of attraction and added much to the success of the Fair.

Urs Fair.

211. The annual Urs Fair in connection with the Shrine of the Durgah Khwaja Sahib at Ajmer was held from the 9th to the 14th July 1910. The usual Police arrangements were made, and no violent or unusual crime occurred, nor did any disturbance take place. There was an average attendance at the Fair.

Beawar Tejaji Fair.

212. The Tejaji Fair at Beawar was held from the 13th to the 15th September 1910 and was attended by the Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara, the Assistant Commissioner, Merwara, the Superintendent of Police, Ajmer-Merwara, and the Assistant Superintendent of Police, Ajmer-Merwara. The gathering at the Fair was between 10,000 and 15,000 persons.

Kekri Tejaji Fair.

213. The Tejaji Fair at Kekri commenced and ended a day earlier than at Beawar. The gathering at the fair was about 10,000, and included people from the neighbouring Native States.

Printing Presses, vide Table No. I. Serial No. 53.

214. At the beginning of 1910 there were 10 printing presses. One of these the Railway Co-operative press was closed by the owner during the year. Thus the number of presses at the close of the year was 9, and no new press was started. Two newspapers and six periodicals in all were issued from the remaining presses.

215. Two periodicals, the "Punjab Mission Record" and "Paropkari," were closed by the Mission and Vedic presses respectively. A new periodical named "Foreman Christian College Magazine" was started by the Mission Press.

216. One book in Latin and 27 in Indian languages were published during the year.

Bhumias.

217. Owing to the suspension of all public functions on the day* appointed in 1910 for the official observance of the Birthday of His Majesty the King-Emperor, the usual ceremony of receiving the Bhumias and their nazaranas was held by the Assistant Commissioner, Ajmer, on the 5th September 1910. Out of the total demand of Rs. 3,961 a sum of Rs. 3,878 was recovered at the Darbar, the balance being recovered in full afterwards.

*24th June.

Treasure Trove.

218. No information of the finding of Treasure Trove was received during the year 1910-1911.

TOTAL	6,383	5,519	5,555	8,537	3,199	4,614	32	692	276

NOTES—Column 1.—(1) "Attempts" should be entered immediately after the offences to which they relate.
(2) "Abetments" should be included with the substantive offences abetted.
(3) When giving the list of special and local laws against which offences have been committed, care should be taken to specify the title of each Act quoted, as well as its number and year. An Act of a local legislature should be distinguished by initial letters placed after the number of the Act.

Column 2.—All offences (cases) of which information was given, complaint made, or cognizance taken under Chapters IV, V, XIV, XVI, C. P. C., for the first time during the year, are to be shown, although some of the charges may not have been prosecuted, or may have turned out to be false.

Column 3.—This column should be the total of column 2, less the number of cases dismissed under section 203, C. P. C., and less all other cases in which a Magistrate declared that the charge was false, and that the offence never occurred, or which were dismissed as frivolous and vexatious, and in which the complainant was fined under section 250, C. P. C.

Column 5.—This column should be the total of columns 6 to 9, plus column 9 of previous statement.

Column 8.—Persons transferred from one court to another in the same Province are not to be entered in this column.

Column 9.—A note should be added in the column of remarks showing respectively the number of persons who died, escaped or were transferred.

General Cases committed or referred should not be included in this statement by the committing or referring Magistrates. The results of the trials in these cases should be shown by the Courts to which the cases are committed or referred. If the total of column 7 of Statement 4 be deducted from the total of column 2 of that Statement, the difference should correspond with the total of column 5 of this statement.

Notes.—Column 1, Sub-head "Court of Sessions."—Includes cases decided by Sessions Judges on reference under section 123, C. P. C.

Column 1, Sub-head "Superior Courts."—Includes cases decided by the High Courts on reference under sections 307 and 374, C. P. C.

Column 2.—That is, the total of the entries in columns 3 to 8. The cases of persons transferred from one Court to another in the same province will appear only against the Court by which decided, or in which pending at the end of the year if not decided.

Column 3.—A note against the figure for each Court should be made in the column of remarks showing separately how many accused persons were transferred to other provinces.

Columns 5 and 6.—Persons whose cases were referred to a Superior Court for higher punishment, for orders under section 562, Criminal Procedure Code, or for confirmation of sentence will be entered in column 7, and not in columns 5 and 6, against the Court making the reference. Against the Court receiving the reference they will be shown as convicted or acquitted, according to the orders passed by it, or as pending, if orders have not been passed.

Column 7.—These cases will also be shown against the Magistrates who made the reference, entry being made as directed above.

Column 8.—An insane accused who has been sent to a lunatic asylum should be kept on the file and entered in this column until he has been tried and either convicted or acquitted.

Column 9.—Omit cases in which the accused died, escaped or was transferred.

Column 10.—In calculating the duration before the Magistrates' Courts, the starting point to be taken is not the date of complaint or information, but that of apprehension, or attendance on summons or otherwise of the accused. As regards Courts of Sessions, the actual number of days occupied should be given, commencing from the date of commitment. Cases in which the accused has absconded before arrest or has escaped from custody should be taken off the file till the persons implicated appear again.

General.—The figures in this statement should agree with those of Statement No. 2 and should include nothing else.

Column 1, Sub-head "Superior Courts."—Includes cases decided by the High Court on reference under sections 307 and 374, C. P. C.

Column 19.—Includes fines realized during the year, though imposed in previous years. This column is intended to show the realized portion of fines imposed by officers in the exercise of original jurisdiction only.

Column 20.—Represents compensation awarded to complainants under section 545, Act X of 1882. These awards should also be shown under the head fines "imposed" and "realized" in columns 18 and 19, for they form part of such fines.

General.—(1) The total of columns 5, 6 and 11 should correspond with the total of columns 21 to 25 (both inclusive), and the total of column 8 should correspond with the totals of columns 12 to 17 inclusive.

(2) This statement is meant to exhibit every sentence passed, and, where two penalties are inflicted on the same offender, to exhibit them both. Further to reconcile the number of persons entered in this statement as punished, with the number entered as convicted in statement 4, it is necessary to note cases such as those in which fulfilment of contract is ordered under Act XIII of 1859 in a footnote. As regards persons whose cases were referred for higher punishment or for confirmation of sentence, the punishment, if any, sanctioned by the higher Courts should be entered against such higher Court, and not against the Court making the reference.

Notes.—Column 2.—Total of columns 3 to 12. Cases transferred from one Court to another in the same Province will appear only against the Court by which decided, or in which pending at the end of the year, if not decided. The words "Applicants for revision" in the heading of this column should be held to include only accused persons on whose behalf an application for revision is made or in whose interest the Magistrate or Judge may take steps to obtain revision on his own motion. Where such application is made, or such steps are taken, on behalf of a complainant, the fact should be noted, with the number of complainants concerned, in the column of Remarks. In the latter case, the accused persons against whom the application is made, though not appearing in this column, will fall into their proper places in columns 3 to 13, according to the result of such application. This note is held to apply also to cases dealt with by the High Court on review of returns.

Column 5.—Appeals dismissed under section 423, C. P. C., should be entered in this column.

Column 9.—Orders of discharge set aside by a Superior Court under section 436, C. P. C., should be entered in this column.

Column 10.—When a sentence is reversed or proceedings are quashed on appeal, and a new trial or further enquiry is at the same time ordered, the Appellate Court should not fill in column 8 as well as column 10, or column 9 as well as column 10, in each case respectively, but should make the entry in column 10 only.

Column 12.—Duration of appeals, applications for revision, or reference should be calculated thus—

(1) Appeals from date of receipt in office of the petition of appeal;
(2) Applications for revision—from the date of application;
(3) Cases dealt with by the Court otherwise than on application—from date of the order calling for the records; and
(4) Cases sent to the High Court by lower Courts for revision—from the date of the letter from the Court making the reference.

General.—Persons whose appeals were rejected under section 421, Criminal Procedure Code, should be entered in column 4, in which should also be included applicants for revision whose cases the Courts have refused to submit to the High Court. In columns 5 to 10, should be shown, opposite the sub-heads for Magistrates of District and Courts of Sessions, persons whose cases were disposed of by those Courts without reference to the High Court, and in column 11 all persons whose cases these Courts referred to the High Court.

NOTES.—Column 2.—Total of the entries in columns 3 to 13. Cases transferred from one Court to another in the same Province will appear only against the Court by which decided, or in which pending at the close of the year, if not decided. The number of cases pending from the preceding year should be noted in the column of Remarks, and when deducted from the total of column 2 should leave a balance corresponding with the total of column 38 of Statement VII. If after deducting the arrears shown at the end of the previous year, the balance does not agree with the figures in column 38 of Statement VII, the difference should be explained.

Column 6.—When under section 102, C. P. C., a decree is wholly or partially made in favour of an absent plaintiff on the admission of the defendant, the case should be entered in this column.

Column 8.—A case in which defendant appears, but a plaintiff does not, and defendant does not confess judgment and the case is thereupon dismissed, the case should be entered in this column.

Columns 15 and 16.—As regards the average duration of suits, the date of their presentation of the plaint shall be considered as the date of institution, unless some defect or omission requires to be amended before the plaint can be admitted, in which case the date of admission after amendment shall be regarded as the date of institution. With regard to applications to execute decrees, the date of their presentation should alone be considered. In calculating average duration, the time that the suit has been actually pending in the particular Court should alone be calculated. The interval should be omitted during which an application for review which has been granted, or an appeal in which an order of remand has been passed, been pending in the superior Court. Revived suits are to be treated as if newly instituted on revival.

* The percentages required for 2 (a), 2 (b), 2 (c) are to be calculated from the figures given in columns 6*a*, 6*b*, 6*c*, respectively, of General Table IV.

† The annual cost is calculated on the direct expenditure only. The average cost of educating each pupil is obtained by dividing the direct expenditure by the average number on the rolls monthly during the year.

‡ The average cost of each pupil in Local Fund and Municipal Schools is to be obtained from the figures given in General Table VII.

§ Fractions of a rupee should be omitted, except in the columns showing the average annual cost of educating each pupil.

N.B.—The headings prescribed by the Government and not required for this district have been omitted.

I.—Fractions of a rupee are to be omitted.

II.—If the income of any school maintained by the Department (or by a Local or Municipal Board) exceeds the expenditure, the return of Government (or Local or Municipal) expenditure should be reduced accordingly, the income and expenditure of the school being thus equalised. If in such school the income from fees or other private sources alone exceeds the expenditure, the excess income and the sources from which it is derived should be shown in the column of Remarks.

III.—If the income of any aided school exceeds the expenditure, the excess should be proportionately deducted from the sub-heads of endowments, subscriptions, and other sources; or, if the receipts from those sources are insufficient, from the sub-head of Fees also. The actual receipts from Imperial Revenues and from Local and Municipal Funds should be shown in full.

IV.—In calculating the expenditure from Imperial Revenues or any other Funds, all payments or contributions from Fees or other sources credited to that Fund should be deducted. Such payment should be shown as expenditure under the sub-heads to which they belong.

V.—The expenditure under "University," "Direction" and "Inspection" should be shown only in column 6 and its sub-divisions, and not in the preceding columns.

VI.—The expenditure on stipends held in Training Schools should be shown as part of the expenditure in those schools, not under the head of scholarships.

N.B.—The headings prescribed by the Government and not required for this district have been omitted.

REPORT

ADMINISTRATION OF AJMER-MERWARA

FOR

1911-1912.

SECTION I.

GENERAL ADMINISTRATION.

Personnel.

1. Throughout the year under report Lieutenant-Colonel W. C. R. Stratton, C.I.E., I.A., continued to hold charge of the office of Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara, and Mr. B. J. Glancy, I.C.S., that of the Assistant Commissioner, Ajmer.

2. Pandit Brij Jiwan Lal Sharma, B.A., Revenue Extra Assistant Commissioner, held charge of the post of Assistant Commissioner, Merwara, from the 1st April 1911 to the 20th May 1911. With effect from the 21st May 1911 this post was abolished under the orders of the Government of India and an Extra Assistant Commissionership for Merwara was substituted in its place. From 21st May to 6th August 1911 Pandit Brij Jiwan Lal was appointed to officiate as Extra Assistant Commissioner, Merwara, in addition to his own duties as Revenue Extra Assistant Commissioner, and from the 7th August, on which date he was confirmed in the post, he continued to hold the appointment to the end of the year.

3. Lieutenant-Colonel H. R. Woolbert, M.B., F.R.C.S., I.M.S., held the office of Civil Surgeon, Ajmer, from the 1st April 1911 to 29th March 1912, on which latter date he handed over the charge of his office to Lieutenant-Colonel W. H. B. Robinson, I.M.S., and proceeded to England on combined leave.

4. Mr. R. E. Coupland held the office of Superintendent of Police, Ajmer-Merwara, throughout the year under report.

Revenue and Expenditure, (vide statement 42).

5. The Total Revenue of Ajmer-Merwara for the year (Imperial and Local) amounted to Rs. 14,64,571, as compared with Rs. 16,86,901 last year and the total expenditure was Rs. 16,29,562 as against Rs. 12,91,020 in 1910-1911.

Imperial revenues fell from Rs. 11,11,873 in 1910-1911 to Rs. 9,64,514 in the year under report while the expenditure amounted to Rs. 10,99,261 as against Rs. 8,60,743 in 1910-1911.

6. There was thus a deficit of Rs. 1,34,747 in the Imperial Revenues in 1911-1912 as compared with a surplus of Rs. 2,51,094 in the year 1910-1911. The deficit was due to decrease in receipts and increase in expenditure principally under the following heads :—

RECEIPTS.

	Rs.
Land Revenue	1,26,113
Excise	6,498
Interest	20,143

EXPENDITURE.

	Rs.
Refunds and drawbacks . . .	+5,401
Interest	+2,20,249
Police	+39,602
Medical	+10,164

* NOTE.—The increase under this head is owing to accumulated interest amounting to Rs. 2,17,000 paid on account of Promissory Notes held by H. H. the Maharaja of Jaipur.

SECTION II.

ADMINISTRATION OF THE LAND.

COURT OF WARDS.

Year ending 31st July 1912.

7. Rai Sahib Munshi Gopi Nath held charge of the office of the General Manager, Court of Wards, Ajmer, throughout the year.

8. From an agricultural point of view the year was one of scarcity. It was only about the middle of September that a few cyclonic storms brought water into the tanks and helped the Kharif and Rabi cultivation to a certain extent. The high prices which ruled throughout the year benefited those having agricultural produce to dispose of. Agricultural aspects.

9. At the beginning of the year there were nine estates under management. The estates of Kanai Kalan and Sadara were placed under management, while the estate of Bhinai was released, leaving the following ten estates under supervision at the close of the year: Masuda, Kalahera-Bogla, Kerot, Goela, Basundni, Richmalian, Kanai Kalan, Sadara, Gangwana and Rajgarh.

10. The year opened with a cash balance of Rs. 2,07,268 besides Government Promissory notes of the face value of Rs. 3,35,100. The income of the estates under management amounted to Rs. 2,08,317. The total credit including opening balance amounted to Rs. 4,15,585 as detailed below :—

	Rs.
Bhinai	1,01,898
Masuda	2,55,618
Other estates	58,069
	4,15,585

	Rs.
Government dues	22,091
Household	83,031
Management	26,414
Public Works	66,886
Investments, Taccavi and loans	53,344
Liabilities	3,869
Other charges	56,576
	3,12,211

The expenditure as shown in the margin amounted to Rs. 3,12,211 and was distributed as under :—

	Rs.
Bhinai	83,568
Masuda	1,92,033
Other estates	36,610
	3,12,211

11. The following investments and Taccavi advances were made on behalf of the estates noted below :—

	Rs.
For Masuda estate—
Investments in Government Promissory notes	25,000
Deposits in Co-operative Central Bank	11,600
Loan to the Thakur of Nagar	2,000
Taccavi advances to tenants	1,910
	40,510
For Kerot estate—
Investment in Government Promissory notes	2,026
For Kalahera-Bogla estate—
Loan to Thukrani Khangarotji	1,000
For Bhinai estate—
Investment in Government Promissory notes	9,808
	53,344

The household expenditure includes Rs. 28,000 spent on the marriage of the sister of the Thakur of Masuda, and Rs. 600 in Gangwana on the funeral feast of the late Raja Fatteh Singh.

Rupees 34,231 were spent on the construction of the new Bijai Sagar tank at Sheopura in the Masuda estate, while in the Bhinai estate the Sobri and Chawandsagar tanks were repaired and improved at a cost of Rs. 18,849.

During the year Government Promissory notes of the face value of Rs. 10,000 and a cash balance of Rs. 18,331 were made over to the Bhinai estate on its release from the court's management.

12. The closing balance at the credit of the ten estates on the 31st July 1912 was Rs. 85,043 and was distributed as under :—

	Rs.
Masuda	63,584
Other estates	21,459
	85,043

besides the Government Promissory notes of the face value of Rs. 3,62,100 held in deposit by the Comptroller, India Treasuries, on behalf of—

	Rs.
Masuda	3,48,100
Kerot	12,000
Kalahera	1,000
Basundni	1,000
	3,62,100

Cost of management.

13. The cost of management amounted to Rs. 26,414 or 6·35 per cent. of the gross receipts of the estates.

Demand and Collections.

14. At the beginning of the year the outstandings of all kinds, excluding those of Sarana, Karel and Deolia Khurd, amounted to Rs. 19,019, while the current demand from all sources was Rs. 2,08,499, the total demand being as follows :—

	Rs.
Bhinai	42,265
Masuda	1,38,702
Other estates	46,551
	2,27,518

The collections amounted to Rs. 2,08,317 as under :—

	Rs.
Bhinai	31,753
Masuda	1,34,733
Other estates	41,831
	2,08,317

Remissions amounted to Rs. 5,044 and the outstanding balance at the close of the year was Rs. 14,157.

15. The following table shows the demand, collections, remissions, and outstandings of income under the head "Rents and cesses" :—

Estates.	Demand.	Collections.	Remissions.	Outstandings.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Bhinai	36,459	27,532	3,697	5,230
Masuda	86,978	86,770	232	1,976
Other estates	37,249	33,147	122	3,980
Total	1,62,686	1,47,449	4,051	11,186

16. The instalments of the Government dues for the Kharif and Rabi harvests for the year under report were paid in full by all the estates. None of the estates under management owes Taccavi or Dami to Government.

17. The following table shows the liabilities on account of private debts of the estates under management as they stood on the 31st July 1912 :—

No.	Name of the estates.	Liabilities.		Total.	Payments.		Balance outstanding on 31st July 1912.
		Outstandings on 1st August 1911.	Debts admitted during the year.		Paid.	Struck off.

18. The estates of Kanai Kalan and Sadara which have been lately placed under management are heavily involved in debt, and an enquiry into the debts is being made.

Education of the Wards.

19. Raja Sadul Singh of Bhinai left the Mayo College on attaining his majority. At the close of the year there were 8 boys engaged in their studies at the Mayo College, viz., Thakur Bijai Singh of Masuda, Thakur Nathu Singh of Kalahera, Thakur Udai Singh of Kerot, Thakur Udai Singh of Basundni, Thakur Ranjit Singh of Goela and his younger brother, Raja Raj Singh of Rajgarh, and Jagirdar Kalyan Singh of Gangwana.

20. The health of all the Wards was good throughout the year. The general progress reports of all the boys at the college were satisfactory.

SECTION III.

PROTECTION.

(1) AJMER-MERWARA POLICE (YEAR ENDING THE 31ST DECEMBER 1911.)

21. Mr. R. E. Coupland held charge of the office of Superintendent of Police in Ajmer-Merwara throughout the year.

INCREASE AND DECREASE IN REPORTED COGNIZABLE CRIME.

22. The total volume of cognizable crime reported in 1911 was 4,730 cases as compared with 3,784 in the year 1910. These totals include all cognizable cases reported during those periods, whether such reports were laid to the police or to Magistrates, in the first instance. The increase falls entirely among cases reported to the police, reports to Magistrates having decreased by 275 or more than 40 per cent.

23. To facilitate comparison a table is give below showing, separately, the figures for each of the last two years divided up into the main heads of crime as defined in Statement A.

Particulars.	1910.					1911.
	Cognizable.			Non-cognizable cases.	Total crime.	Cognizable.			Non-cognizable cases.	Total crime.

The figures in this statement show that the increase in crime during 1911 is, almost entirely, in cases returned under class VI, i.e., miscellaneous offences which do not fall under the various sections of the Indian Penal Code. It is noteworthy, too, that whereas more than 20 per cent of the cases returned under that head in 1910 were reported to magistrates, practically all the cases for 1911 were reported to the police. That increase falls almost entirely under the sub-head "Public Nuisances". As mentioned in the report for 1910, special measures were taken towards the close of 1909 with a view to suppressing local nuisances in the larger towns owing to the outbreak of plague, and there can be little doubt that the condition of Ajmer itself and several other of the larger towns rendered such measures imperative. The campaign was initiated by the magistracy but as the police began to show a fuller recognition of their duties in this respect the number of such cases instituted by magistrates gradually decreased and was, in 1911, a negligible quantity. The greater vigilance shown by the police in this respect during the year under notice was also, no doubt, partly due to the failure of the monsoon in Ajmer-Merwara which rendered it imperative that all sources of water-supply should be carefully guarded and every precaution taken to prevent the appearance of disease in epidemic form. For these reasons the great increase in the number of such prosecutions instituted during the year under report is justified but, at the same time, it is hoped that with improved sanitation in Ajmer and healthier seasons it will not be necessary for such strenuous action to be taken in this direction in future years.

24. Excluding cases in class VI the total incidence of reported cognizable crime has risen by 111 cases or 6 per cent. This increase is entirely among cases reported to magistrates and falls chiefly among minor offences against property. It is a matter of congratulation that, in spite of the failure of the rainfall in Ajmer-Merwara during the year under notice, there should have been only a slight rise in ordinary crime and that such increase as has occurred should be confined to offences of a comparatively unimportant nature. This is, no doubt, partly attributable to the fact that for several years preceding 1911 exceptionally good harvests were obtained in Ajmer-Merwara but the preventive measures taken by the local police are also responsible to some extent for this result.

25. The incidence of cognizable crime, as a whole, per 10,000 of population excluding false cases, was 92 for 1911 as compared with 77 for 1910 and 66 for 1909. If, however, sanitary offences are deducted, the incidence for 1911 falls to 38·6 as compared with 36·6 for 1910. These are high figures and in the United Provinces for the year 1910 the incidence of all cases was only 33, or 29 if sanitary offences be excluded.

26. The Superintendent of Police points out in his report, however, that the urban population in Ajmer-Merwara forms no less than 25 per cent. of the total population, whereas in the United Provinces the percentage is only 12½ per cent and that it is notorious that far more crime occurs in towns and cities than in small isolated villages. For these reasons the comparatively high figures need not cause any alarm. On the other hand, as noted in the report for 1910, great attention has of recent years been paid by the local police to the question of faithful reporting and, while the percentage of written reports once again shows an increase, constables sent out on beat-duty are declared to have been instrumental in obtaining no less than 30 per cent of the total number of reports laid at police stations during 1911. This is a satisfactory state of affairs.

27. Cases of non-cognizable crime increased by 609, or 19 per cent, during the year under report. The major portion of this increase is due to the fact that prosecutions under the Municipal Regulations rose from 1,400 to 1,851, but cases of assault, mischief and offences against the marriage laws are also responsible for this result to a minor degree.

POLICE CASES—ALL CLASSES.

28. The total number of cases of cognizable crime reported to the police during the year under report was 4,330 as compared with 3,109 in 1910. As shown above, this is entirely due to increased vigilance in the matter of instituting prosecutions for breaches of the sanitary laws in the larger towns of Ajmer-Merwara, an explanation of which has already been furnished. Excluding such offences the figures of cases reported to the police stand at 1,668 for 1911, as compared with 1,649 for the preceding year.

29. No investigation was made in 636 (or 38 per cent.) of such cases as against 576 (or 35 per cent.) in 1910. The percentage of investigations to reports is still somewhat higher than in the United Provinces but there has been a marked change in this respect during the last few years and the rules regarding optional investigation are now generally understood and cases of a petty nature are rarely investigated except at the wish of the complainant. The reason given for the high percentage of investigations as compared with the United Provinces, i.e., that it is due to the percentage of the urban population to the whole population being practically double as high in Ajmer-Merwara as in the United Provinces is probably correct. It is well known that in towns, where distances are short and offences comparatively numerous, investigation is more generally desired than in rural areas.

30. The total number of police cases decided during the year was 3,175 as compared with 1,995 in the preceding year and 1,537 in 1909. The percentage of cases investigated by the police which ended in conviction was 82 as against 72 in 1910 and 74 in 1909 and the percentage of persons convicted in such cases to persons arrested by the police stands at 95 for the year under report as compared with 89 and 92 for the two preceding years. These figures include sanitary offences and, as the proportion of such cases to the grand total has increased very greatly in the year and the conviction of persons arrested for such offences is, as a rule, a foregone conclusion, it is desirable to compare the figures of the three years after eliminating such cases from the returns. If this is done the percentage of cases convicted to the total number of cases investigated during 1911 falls to 45 as against 43 in 1910 and 46 in 1909 and the percentage of persons convicted to persons arrested by the police stands at 84 against 79 and 83 respectively.

31. These figures compare very favourably with the statistics of the United Provinces for the year 1910 and taking into consideration the high ratio of cases investigated by the police to cases reported they indicate a satisfactory state of affairs.

Class I.—Offences against the State, public tranquillity, safety and justice.

32. The total number of true cases of this class for disposal in 1911 was 5. Three ended in conviction and one was still pending trial at the close of the year. No offence relating to coin was reported in 1911. Four cases falling under the sub-head " Rioting or unlawful assembly " were reported but none of them was of any special significance. In addition to the cases which were tried out, one case occurred in which, after certain accused has been sent up for trial, the prosecution was withdrawn under section 494 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. This was a case in which a conflict had taken place between two parties of Jains regarding the right to worship in a certain temple at Ajmer. The prosecution was withdrawn because it was considered better policy to effect a permanent compromise than to proceed with the case and perpetuate a feud.

Class II.—Serious offences against the person.

33. The number of cases in this class for disposal in the year under report, excluding false charges, was 88 as compared with 82 in the preceding year. Fifty-eight of those cases came before the Courts for trial with the result that 46 ended in conviction and six in acquittal while six were still under trial at the close of 1911.

34. The cases of murder dealt with by the police numbered 10 as compared with 8 in the preceding year. One was a case in which a woman murdered her infant son by throwing him into the Pushkar lake. She was convicted and transported for life. Only two murders remained undetected. The victims in both those cases were prostitutes who were strangled and robbed. Since the close of 1911 several other cases of a similar nature have occurred and it is unsatisfactory to have to note that the police have so far failed to establish a case against any of the persons suspected in those cases. There would appear reason to fear that some of those cases, at least, are the work of a person suffering from homicidal mania. None of the other cases call for special comment.

35. No other cases in this class are deserving of special mention or presented any extraordinary features.

Class III.—Serious offences against person and property or against property only.

36. The total number of true cases of this class dealt with by the police during the year under report was 541 as against 558 in 1910. No investigation was made into 294 of those cases and, of the remainder, 74 were sent up for trial with the result that 62 ended in conviction, 10 in acquittal and 2 were still pending at the close of 1911.

37. The number of dakaities returned for 1911 (excluding false cases) is 10 as compared with 5 in the preceding year. Actually, however, two of those cases took place before the close of 1910 though they were not reported to the police till after the commencement of the year under report. These dakaities were all attacks on small parties of travellers journeying along unfrequented roads or village by-paths. The crime statement returns all those cases as undetected but, as a matter of fact, a large number of convictions were obtained under section 414, Indian Penal Code, in connection with two of those cases regarding which further mention will be found below.

38. The Superintendent of Police points out that till the hearty co-operation of the police officials of the States surrounding Ajmer-Merwara can be obtained there is small hope of much improvement either in the matter of the prevention or the detection of such crimes. The officials of the Udaipur State in particular are complained of for failing to co-operate with the Ajmer-Merwara Police and it is significant that in one case in which the villagers and local police succeeded in tracking the dakaits into Mewar territory, a gang of Sansiahs, living in that State, was found by them to be in possession of property taken in two dakaities which had occurred shortly before in Ajmer-Merwara. That raid resulted in the arrest and ultimate conviction, under section 414, Indian Penal Code, of sixteen members of that gang and there is every reason to suspect that those persons were responsible for several of the other cases which had occurred shortly before. The effect of that arrest was at once apparent and, during the $3\frac{1}{2}$ months which succeeded it, no further dakaities took place. Indeed the only other dakaities reported in 1911 were two cases which occurred towards the end of the rainy season. Those cases took place at the very south of Merwara and were believed to have been the work of certain Minas of the Sirohi State. The gang was not accounted for but special precautions were taken by the Superintendent of Police to prevent further occurrences, parties of extra police being deputed to patrol the main routes in the less-frequented parts of the district, and immunity of Ajmer-Merwara from further dakaities up to the close of the year was in part at least the result of those measures.

39. Cases of robbery once again show a slight decrease, true cases numbering 4 in the year under report as compared with 5 in the preceding year. None of those cases came up for trial but the two perpetrators of one of those robberies, in which some camels were "lifted" but subsequently recovered, are known and will be brought before the courts as soon as they are arrested.

In dealing with this form of crime, too, the police have not met with much success during the year and it is unsatisfactory to find that the Superintendent of Police is of opinion that, but for the dilatory action of some of his subordinates, one other case might have been successfully worked out. It is a matter for congratulation, however, that the decrease in such offences which has been going on year by year since 1906, still continues.

40. The only other form of crime included in class III which calls for special notice is house-breaking or burglary (serial No. 29).

41. The number of true cases returned under that head for the year 1911 stands at 516 as compared with 544 in the previous year and 413 in 1909. There were special reasons for the sudden increase which occurred in 1910 and the Superintendent of Police attributes the comparatively high figures for 1911 to the failure of the rains. Investigations decreased by 16 but prosecutions to conviction numbered 62 as compared with 52 in the preceding year. On the other hand convictions for the dishonest possession of property stolen in conjunction with cases of house-breaking or burglary fell from 53 to 14, so that the total number of convictions for burglary and cognate offences shows a considerable falling off. No special reasons for this have been adduced by the Superintendent of Police. The greater success met with in obtaining convictions for the original offence during 1911 may be attributed to the fact that during 1910, owing to the general evacuation of villages on account of plague, enterprising burglars reaped a large harvest at a comparatively small risk, and those special conditions did not continue during 1911. No cases of special importance would appear to have occurred during the year under report.

Class IV.—Minor offences against the person.

42. Only one case of this class was dealt with in 1911 as compared with two in the previous year. That case remained undetected.

Class V.—Minor offences against property.

43. Eight hundred and forty-eight cases falling in this class were dealt with by the police in 1911 as compared with 855 in 1910. The total number investigated was 510 and. of that number, 273 were convicted and 18 acquitted, while 12 were still pending trial at the close of the year.

44. Thefts of cattle fell from 64 to 52. Eleven of those cases are returned as un-investigated and, of the remainder, 15 were sent up for trial, 13 being convicted, 1 acquitted and 1 still pending at the close of the year. As no less than 10 cases of receiving stolen cattle were successfully prosecuted to conviction during the year the total number of convictions for theft of cattle and cognate offences stands at 23 for 1911 as compared with 24 in 1910 and 26 in 1909. In view of the fact that thefts have decreased from 71 in 1909 to 52 in the year under report the local police may be congratulated on these results particularly as the percentage of cattle reported as "strayed" which remained unrecovered fell from 39 to 30 in the year under report. In view of the special difficulties met with by the Ajmer-Merwara Police in the matter of following up and tracing out cattle which are lost owing to the geographical position of the district and the refusal of the two most important of the adjoining States to permit direct communication between their police officials and those of Ajmer-Merwara, these statistics are satisfactory.

45. None of the other offences in this class call for special notice.

Class VI.—Other offences not specified above.

46. The number of cases falling in this class increased from 1,540 to 2,804. All but 23 of those cases came before the courts for trial with the result that 2,707 were convicted, 50 acquitted or discharged and 24 were still under trial at the close of the year.

47. The great increase in cases falling under the head of "Public Nuisances" has already been referred to in paragraph 3 of this report and calls for no further notice.

48. Cases of vagrancy and bad livelihood numbered 47 as compared with 35 in 1910. Only seven prosecutions were instituted under section 110, Criminal Procedure Code, and only three of those proved successful. The Superintendent of Police states that all four of the persons from whom the Courts refused to take security were notorious bad characters whose names figured on the surveillance register and whose history-sheets gave a detailed record of the reasons for cases being instituted against them, but that the magistrate concerned was not satisfied with the evidence produced.

49. It is much to be regretted that the police have hitherto received little assistance from the magistracy in dealing with cases of this class, though special care is taken that only the most notorious bad characters are proceeded against. The Superintendent of Police states, however, that the District Magistrate has now consented to take such cases on to his own file and it is hoped that this will bring about the much required change. Prosecutions under section 109, Criminal Procedure Code, increased from 25 to 40 and security was demanded from all but one of the persons proceeded against. Nineteen of those persons proved to be previously convicted offenders. As noted in 1910 the number of prosecutions under this section has increased very greatly during the last few years and the greater portion of the undoubted decrease in organized heinous crime which has taken place since Mr. Coupland assumed charge of this district is to be attributed to the excellent work done by him and his subordinates in waging war on the hordes of suspicious strangers who had, for long, made Ajmer-Merwara their hunting-ground. The fact that only 7 of the 92 prosecutions instituted under this section during the past three years should have proved unsuccessful bears eloquent testimony to the discrimination shown in instituting such cases. In cases under section 110, Criminal Procedure Code, the average security demanded was Rs. 800 with three years' imprisonment in default. Security was furnished by all three of the persons from whom it was demanded during 1911.

50. In cases under section 109, Criminal Procedure Code, the average security demanded was Rs. 84 with an alternative of imprisonment for 9 months and 11 days. Security was furnished by only three of the persons prosecuted under that section.

51. Thirty-six prosecutions for breaches of the Excise and Opium Acts were initiated by the police during 1911 as compared with 18 in the preceding year. All but 5 of those cases resulted in conviction. The amount earned by the Police as rewards in connection with such cases was Rs. 312 as compared with Rs. 173 in 1910. Special attention has been paid to the question of the illicit importation and sale of cocaine and several smugglers were arrested at Ajmer with the assistance of the Railway Police. The work under this head shows considerable improvement and it is to be hoped that this will continue.

Property stolen and recovered.

52. The amount of property stolen was valued at Rs. 48,106 compared with Rs. 99,487 in 1910. The figures for 1910 were extraordinarily high and total losses in 1909 were valued at Rs. 46,070 only, so the decrease calls for no special explanation. The percentage of recovery was 25 as against 13 in 1910. The return compares favourably with that of the previous year but it has long been a generally accepted theory that too much reliance should not be placed on the figures shown under this head.

Identification by means of finger-impressions.

53. The number of finger-impression slips sent to the Bureau for search during the year under report was 204. Seventy-one of those slips resulted in the identity of previously convicted offenders being established as compared with 64 in 1910 and 24 in 1909. This is a high figure. Forty-eight identifications were established by the Rajputana Bureau and 23 by other Bureaux.

Proclaimed offenders.

54. The names of 52 proclaimed offenders figured on the registers of this district at the close of 1910, to which number 16 were added in the year under report. Five of those persons were arrested in 1911, and the names of two others were removed from the registers for special reasons, leaving a closing balance of 61. Forty-one of the persons still absconding belong to class A, i.e., are persons whose names, caste, residence and antecedents have been fully verified, while the remaining 20 belong to class B and are persons regarding whom it has been found impossible to ascertain such details. The number of absconders is large and the local police have met with little success in the matter of accounting for such persons during the year under report. The Superintendent of Police states, however, that he is impressing on Circle Inspectors and Station-Officers the need for more personal interest in this branch of their work and it is to be hoped that that warning will have some effect. It is only fair to add moreover that, as noted last year, the present whereabouts of certain persons who figure on this register is known to the local police but, owing to the fact that the offences for which those persons are required are non-extraditable and that they are at present residing outside British India, no further action in the matter is possible at the present time.

Surveillance over persons whose history-sheets have been prepared.

55. The number of history-sheets maintained at the close of 1910 was 517. One hundred and seventeen new sheets were opened during 1911 and 151 discontinued owing to the death, emigration or return to honest livelihood of the persons concerned. The total number of history-sheets still kept up at the close of the year under report was 483, and of this number, 41 were of criminals again convicted of offences and imprisoned during 1911. The percentage of persons whose present whereabouts are unknown has risen from 14 to 17.

As stated in the report for 1910 the proximity to Ajmer-Merwara of certain States, the police officials of which are prohibited from holding direct communication with officers of the Ajmer-Merwara Police, is no doubt partly responsible for the difficulties found in keeping an efficient watch over these suspects who can practically escape from effective surveillance by crossing the border into one or other of those States.

Co-operation with the Police of Native States.

56. The Superintendent of Police testifies to the cordial assistance he has received from the police officials of the Kishengarh State and Shahpura Chiefship during the year and states that relations with the Marwar Police have improved. The refusal of the Jaipur and Mewar Durbars to permit their police officials to correspond direct with members of the Ajmer-Merwara Police continues to cause much inconvenience in many ways and a fresh restriction imposed by the Mewar Durbar during the year under report, by which members of the Ajmer-Merwara Police are entirely prohibited from making any enquiries in Mewar, has made matters even worse than before.

Strength, cost and employment of the Police.

57. There was no change in the strength of the police during the year under report. With effect from 1st April 1911, however, the Ajmer and Beawar Municipalities were relieved of all police charges and certain chaukidars of the Deoli Cantonment were, on the withdrawal of Act XX of 1856 from that town, replaced by regular police. A proposal to relieve the Kekri Municipality of all police charges was submitted for the orders of Government during the year but was still under disposal up to the end of 1911.

The actual cost of the force rose from Rs. 1,79,215 to Rs. 1,90,309, this increase being chiefly due to brisk recruiting and the appointment of certain Sub-Inspectors to fill posts which had, prior to 1911, remained vacant for special reasons ever since the reorganization of the force in 1907.

Rewards and Punishments.

58. One hundred and twenty-two members of the force were rewarded in 1911 as compared with 238 in 1910 and 136 in 1909. The Superintendent explains these variations as due to the fact that, with a view to raising the standard of work of the subordinate police in the matter of collecting information when on beat-duty, he was particularly liberal in granting rewards to constables in 1910 for service done by them in that respect but abandoned that attitude as soon as they had realized that this was part of their ordinary duties. The total sum paid to members of the force as rewards in 1911 was Rs. 1,794 but no less than Rs. 1,338 of this was earned for service in protecting the excise and opium revenue. In addition to this 24 chaukidars were rewarded with sums aggregating Rs. 47 and Rs. 116 were disbursed to members of the general public for assistance rendered to the police.

The total number of punishments inflicted decreased from 43 to 39 and included 10 judicial punishments by a magistrate, 13 dismissals and 16 other departmental punishments. It is not altogether satisfactory to find such a large proportion of judicial punishments by a magistrate and this has not been explained by the Superintendent of Police. In view, however, of the fact that the actual strength of the force was 935 at the end of the year under report as compared with 876 at the close of 1910 the difference in the punishment rolls is even greater than the figures, taken by themselves, would appear to indicate and may be looked on with satisfaction. It is well known that Mr. Coupland only punishes men when this becomes imperative and that he exercises great care when enquiring into charges brought against subordinates. The punishments of the year include the reduction of one of the Circle-Inspectors whose work had been unsatisfactory for some years.

HEALTH.

59. The health of the force has been excellent during the year. Only 4 deaths occurred as compared with 16 in 1910 and the daily average of men absent from duty on account of sickness and percentage of admissions to hospital was less than half that of 1910. Quinine is said to have been freely distributed as a prophylactic measure.

CASUALTIES.

The following casualties occurred during the year:—

(1) Pension or gratuity	17
(2) Resignation without pension or gratuity	70
(3) Dismissal	18
(4) Discharge otherwise than above	42
(5) Desertion	0
(6) Death	4
	151

These figures compare favourably with those for 1910 when no less than 208 casualties occurred. The main difference is in the number of resignations which totalled 100 in 1910. This is no doubt due to the temporary agricultural depression caused by the failure of the monsoon in 1910. For the same reason recruiting has been very brisk and no less than 199 men were enlisted during the year as compared with 141 in 1910. Past experiences lead one to fear that, when agricultural conditions improve, a considerable number of the men who have been led to enlist by the force of circumstances will abandon service but it is to be hoped that some of them will continue in the ranks even after local conditions have once again become normal.

In other respects the casualties vary but little from those of the previous year though there has been some decrease under practically every head.

GENERAL REMARKS.

60. The work done by the police has once again been satisfactory, as a whole. In dealing with the more serious classes of crime they have not been quite as successful as in 1910, but this is not altogether to be wondered at as the standard reached in that year was a very high one. It must be remembered, too, that the figures dealt with are, in many instances, so small, that failure in one or two cases has a marked effect on the whole return.

The first duty of an efficient police force is to prevent crime and the Ajmer-Merwara Police have done excellent work in that respect. A considerable amount of extra work devolved on the police in connection with the visit of Her Imperial Majesty the Queen-Empress to Ajmer and the police arrangements on that occasion received special commendation. The discipline and morals of the force continue satisfactory and the bearing of constables towards the public is more courteous than formerly.

The investigating staff is now recruited from candidates of good family and superior education who have to undergo a long course of training at the Moradabad police-training school and the general standard of efficiency and morality is considerably higher than formerly.

The training of recruit-constables received special attention and, now that most of the posts which have remained vacant for so long have been filled, it will be possible to arrange for a more extended course of training than heretofore. Family quarters have been added to most of the out-lying police stations but have still to be provided at Ajmer, Beawar and Nasirabad. The scheme for providing more suitable Reserve Lines at Ajmer is still under consideration.

Practically all the reforms sanctioned in accordance with the recommendations of the Police Commission have now been introduced and have already effected a marked change in the work of the police as a whole.

The force has been most efficiently handled by Mr. Coupland and Ajmer-Merwara has reaped much benefit from his long connection with the district.

(2) CRIMINAL JUSTICE (YEAR ENDING THE 31ST DECEMBER 1911).

61. During the year under report the office of District Magistrate, Ajmer and Merwara, was held by Mr. B. J. Glancy, I.C.S.

62. The total number of offences reported was 8,618, of which 7,194 were returned as true. Of these 2,368 were reported under the Police Act against 1,417 in the preceding year.

63. The number of cases under the Opium Act was 20 as against 13 in 1910 and 14 in 1909.

64. The number of persons under trial in the year was 11,214, of these 6,573 were convicted. The corresponding figures for 1910 were 8,542 and 4,614 respectively.

65. The number of persons placed on trial before Honorary Magistrates was 5,826 as against 3,906 in 1910.

66. The average duration of each case was 27·54 days as against 14·3 days in 1910.

67. The number of witnesses examined was 4,637 as against 3,990 in 1910.

68. The number of persons placed on trial before the District Magistrate was 175.

69. The Court of Session dealt with the cases of 19 persons as against 6 in 1910. Of these 11 were convicted, 4 were discharged and 4 remained under trial.

70. In the Railway jurisdiction 405 persons were placed on trial, of whom 314 were convicted.

71. The number of appeals and revisions (excluding Railway cases) dealt with by the District Magistrate was 127: out of which 58 cases were summarily disposed of and rejected.

The sentence in 9 cases was reduced and in 29 reversed.

72. The number of appeals and revisions, excluding Railway cases, dealt with by the Sessions Judge was 89, out of which 47 cases were summarily disposed of and rejected.

The sentence in 22 cases was confirmed and in 5 reduced and in 4 reversed. Fresh trials were ordered in 2 cases, and 9 remained pending at the close of the year.

73. The Courts of the—

1. Honorary Magistrate, Pisangan,
2. „ „ Bhinai,
3. „ „ Sawar,
4. „ „ Kekri,
5. Cantonment Magistrate, Nasirabad,
6. „ „ Deoli,
7. Honorary Magistrate, Kharwa,
8. Deputy Magistrate, Beawar, were inspected by the District Magistrate.

74. The Court of Cantonment Magistrate, Deoli, was inspected by the Commissioner.

(3) CIVIL JUSTICE (YEAR ENDING THE 31ST DECEMBER 1911).

75. The number of courts during the year was 26, excluding the Court of the Naib Tahsildar, Todgarh, who does not exercise civil powers.

76. The total number of suits (including miscellaneous cases) was 8,525. Last year nearly 1,000 fewer cases were instituted—5,223, against 4,475 in 1910, were Small Cause Court cases.

77. The total value of civil suits instituted this year was Rs. 4,19,738, as against Rs. 6,29,882 in 1910.

78. Suits of all kinds the value of which did not exceed Rs. 50 numbered 5,140.

79. The total number of suits of all kinds for disposal, including arrears, was 10,636.

The number of contested suits disposed of was 1,161; 87 suits were decided by arbitration and 5,182 without any contest,—the number disposed of without trial was 2,536; and 5 suits were transferred to other courts.

80. The pending file at the close of the year was 1,665 as compared with 1,556 in the preceding year, and of the former 425 suits had been pending for more than three months.

81. The average duration of contested civil suits was 187·89 days and that of uncontested suits 35·27.

82. Appeal.—On the appellate side there were 232 appeals from decrees and orders.

83. The pending file at the close of the year was 128 appeals against 129 in the preceding year. The average duration of appeals was 177·9 days against 108·3 in the preceding year.

84. The number of applications for execution of decrees was 14,465 against 15,752 in 1910. The number pending at the end of the year was 2,301 as compared with 2,778 in the last year. The number of cases in which the judgment debtors were imprisoned in execution of decree was 31 as against 6 in 1910.

85. During the year under report the Commissioner inspected the Court of the —

Cantonment Magistrate and Sub-Judge, 2nd Class, Deoli.

There is considerable delay in the disposal of cases in the Court of the Judicial Assistant Commissioner, and of appeals in the Court of the Commissioner.

86. It is hoped that the impending changes in the arrangements of the Courts will remove much of the inconvenience which suitors experience in getting their cases and appeals heard.

(4) Registration (year which ended the 31st December 1911).

87. The total number of all classes of documents presented for registration during the year under report was 4,677 as against 3,751 in the preceding year. The increase of 926 which occurred chiefly under the "Obligatory Class" may be accounted for by the fact that an unfavourable agricultural year gave rise to a large number of transfers and consequently to the execution of a larger number of documents than usual.

88. Out of the total number of documents presented for registration 2,585 documents or 55·27 per cent of the whole as against 60·92 per cent in the preceding year were registered by the Sub-Registrar, Ajmer.

89. The area of agricultural land transferred by sale during the year was 7,831 Bighas as compared with 5,424 Bighas in the year 1910, showing the large increase of 2,507 Bighas. Similarly the area of agricultural land transferred by mortgage also shows the very remarkable increase of 5,647 Bighas, i.e., from 7,580 Bighas in the preceding year to 13,227 Bighas in the year under report.

90. The total value of the land transferred by sale and mortgage amounted to Rs. 5,39,658 or Rs. 2,19,198 more than in the preceding year.

91. The total receipts and expenditure of the year amounted to Rs. 9,138 and Rs. 2,528 as against Rs. 7,732 and Rs. 2,339 respectively in 1910 showing surplus of Rs. 6,610.

92. The system of recording thumb impressions worked well throughout the year.

(5) MUNICIPALITIES (YEAR ENDING THE 31ST MARCH 1912).

Ajmer Municipality.

93. The principal event of the year was the visit of Her Imperial Majesty the Queen to Ajmer in December 1911. Her Majesty's interest in all that she saw during her visit and her sympathetic demeanour gave the highest gratification to the citizens.

The constitution of the Ajmer Municipal Committee remained unchanged.

94. During the year under report the Committee held 26 meetings, of which 8 special and 18 ordinary. The average attendance at each meeting was 9·13 and 19·04 respectively.

95. The total income of the year was Rs. 2,83,266 as against Rs. 3,45,196 in 1910-1911. The expenditure amounted to Rs. 3,23,406 as against Rs. 2,64,057 in the previous year and the closing balance was Rs. 62,491.

If refunds are excluded, which amounted to Rs. 52,654 in 1910-1911 and Rs. 41,189 in 1911-1912, the figures for the two years compare as below :—

	1910-1911.	1911-1912.	Difference.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Income . . .	2,92,542	2,42,077	—50,465
Expenditure . .	2,11,403	2,82,217	+70,814

96. The decrease in receipts is chiefly under heads "Octroi and Bonded Ware-House" and "Sales Miscellaneous." It is also due to the fact that no loan was taken this year, whereas the sum of Rs. 60,000 was borrowed during the year 1910-11.

97. The increase in expenditure chiefly occurs under the following heads :—

1. Establishment.
2. Water Supply.
3. Conservancy.

Under head "Establishment" the increase is mainly due to the increment granted to the present Secretary and to the grant of half a month's pay as bonus to the whole establishment except the Secretary in commemoration of the King-Emperor's visit to India.

The increase under head "Water Supply" is chiefly due to the Municipality having to resort to pumping water from Budha Pushkar.

The increase under head "Conservancy" is due to renewing a portion of the rolling stock at a cost of Rs. 36,855 and purchasing hoppers and rubbish carts (Rs. 5,182), as also to the acquisition of live stock (Rs. 3,421).

98. The gross and net receipts from Octroi in the two years are shown below :—

	Gross.	Net.
	Rs.	Rs.
1910-11	2,07,399	1,54,745
1911-12	1,94,438	1,53,249
	—12,961	—1,496

The gross decrease of Rs. 12,961 occurred chiefly under the items "Piece Goods" and "Other Articles of Food" which may be ascribed to large stocks remaining in hand from the previous year.

99. The total disbursements during the year under report amounted to Rs. 3,23,406 against Rs. 2,64,057 in the previous year.

100. The variations chiefly occurred under the following heads:—

	Increase. Rs.	Decrease. Rs.
Establishment	1,538	—
Survey of land	...	2,079
Refunds	...	11,465
Police	...	13,840
Water Supply	13,219
Conservancy	45,591
Roads	3,748
Other items	15,882

The increase under heads "Establishment" "Water Supply" and "Conservancy" has already been explained.

The increase under head "Roads" is due to the cost of lands acquired for widening roads and streets and extraordinary repairs to roads on the occasion of Her Majesty the Queen-Empress's visit to Ajmer.

The abnormal increase of Rs. 15,882 under head "Other items" is due to the distribution of food and clothing to the poor and the treating of school children on Coronation day and to illuminations and decorations in connection with the visit of Her Imperial Majesty.

The decrease of Rs. 11,465 under head "Refunds" may be attributed to the decrease in Octroi receipts.

The decrease of Rs. 13,840 under head "Police" is due to the Municipal Committee being relieved of Police charges from 1st April 1911.

101. A sum of Rs. 16,474 was paid during the year towards the liquidation of Government loans.

The balance of the loan still due from the Municipality amounted to Rs. 2,10,293 at the end of the year.

102. The incidence of taxation fell from Rs. 1-13-2 to Rs. 1-12-4.

103. The management of the Ajmer Water Works was in the hands of Mr. P. A. L. Cantin, Executive Engineer, Ajmer Provincial Division, with Mr. R. Gadsby, Assistant Engineer and Sub-Divisional Officer, Ajmer, to assist him.

104. The first rainfall registered on the 14th June 1911 was 1·69 inches.

The water level in the reservoir reached its lowest level (11 feet above the sill of the sluice) on the 13th June 1911 and began to rise from that date. From 1st April to 13th June 1911 the water level fell 4·24 feet.

105. The total depth of the lake between the sill of the sluice and full tank supply level is 24 feet. On 1st April 1911 the water level was 15·24 feet.

The highest level of water above the sill of the sluice during the year was 12·81 feet on 13th September 1911.

The total rainfall between June and September 1911 was only 8·54 inches, while for the whole year under report it was 9·83 inches, the normal fall being 21·09 inches.

106. The supply of water by gravitation being insufficient, pumping had to be resorted to for 139 days from April to August 1911. In August the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway authorities began pumping water from the Budha Pushkar lake for their own use and that of the city, and continued to do so for the rest of the year. At the close of the year the water level in the Foy Sagar was extremely low. Some of its water had to be supplied to the Dhobi Ghâts owing to the drying up of the Anasagar.

107. The Committee has now been relieved of all expenses incurred in connection with the maintenance of the Municipal Police. The question of the taxation of Railway goods is still undecided. The provision of an additional water supply continues to engage the attention of the Committee and the Sagar Mati project affords good hopes of success.

108. The number of recorded births rose from 1,422 to 1,572 and that of deaths from 2,698 to 3,418.

The increase in the number of deaths is chiefly due to an outbreak of small-pox in epidemic form.

The birth and death rate per mille of population was 18·22 and 39·61 against 16·48 and 31·27 respectively in the preceding year.

The mortality among children under five years of age was 1,751 (52·45 per cent. of the total mortality) against 1,056 in the previous year.

Forty-two deaths from cholera and 468 from small-pox were reported.

109. The total number of vaccinations performed in the Ajmer town and suburbs was 3,935 against 2,608 in previous year. The increase is due to the prevalence of small-pox in epidemic form. The number of primary vaccinations was 3,458 and of revaccinations 477 against 2,319 and 289 respectively last year.

110. Forty-six conservancy carts and forty-six trollies with receptacles were purchased and four new public urinals were added during the year under report. With these exceptions the conservancy arrangements were the same as last year.

Sanitary arrangements were insufficient and backward and are a source of frequent complaint.

The Secretary to the Municipal Committee, Mr. A. McKenzie, was awarded the Kaisar-i-Hind medal in recognition of his continued services to the Municipality.

Beawar Municipality.

111. There was no change in the Municipal boundaries during the year.

112. During the year under report the Committee held twelve meetings, of which 7 were special and 5 ordinary as compared with 7 special and 8 ordinary in 1910-1911.

113. The net total income of the year amounted to Rs. 70,531 as against Rs. 96,834 in 1910-1911 and the expenditure to Rs. 77,184 as against Rs. 60,282. The closing balance amounted to Rs. 46,819 exclusive of Rs. 10,000 invested in Government paper.

114. The decrease of Rs. 26,303 in the income occurred chiefly under the head "Octroi" which realized a net amount of Rs. 64,616 (after deducting refunds) as against Rs. 92,639 in the preceding year. This decrease is attributed mainly to the poor outturn of the cotton crop.

115. The incidence of Octroi taxation on a population of 22,800 was Rs. 2-13-4 per head as against Rs. 4-2-1 in the year 1910-1911.

116. Compared with the previous year the expenditure shows an increase of Rs. 16,902, which occurred chiefly under the heads Conservancy and Public Works.

117. The construction of the Colvin Town Hall was finished and its opening ceremony was performed on the 9th March 1912 by the Honourable Sir Elliot Graham Colvin, K.C.S.I., I.C.S., Chief Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara.

118. Some of the wells were repaired in connection with the water-supply scheme during the year under report.

119. The numbers of births and deaths registered during the year were 1,021 and 1,189 as against 853 and 1,098 respectively during the year 1910-1911.

Kekri Municipality.

120. There has been no change in the constitution of the Committee during the year under report except the appointment of Babu Chel Bihari Lal in place of Pandit Jagan Nath Pershad.

121. The Committee held two ordinary and four special meetings.

The total income and expenditure during the year amounted to Rs. 9,716 and Rs. 9,958 as against Rs. 11,460 and Rs. 9,073 respectively in the year 1910-1911. The closing balance on the 31st March 1912 amounted to Rs. 6,100 inclusive of Rs. 2,000 invested in Government securities.

122. The decrease of Rs. 1,744 in income as compared with the figures of last year is principally traceable to the head of Octroi, which is the chief source of income of the Municipality and shows a decrease of Rs. 2,582. This decrease is chiefly due to the fact that during the previous year the traders had imported commodities greatly in excess of their requirements resulting in smaller imports during the year under report.

123. The increase of Rs. 885 in expenditure over the figures of the previous year was mainly under the heads of Conservancy, Garden and Arboriculture and Public Works.

124. Proposals for improving the financial position of the Kekri Municipality are still under consideration.

125. The incidence of Octroi taxation was Rs. 1-3-9 per head of the population during the year under report as against Rs. 1-4-7¾ in 1910-1911.

126. The number of births and deaths recorded during the year was 173 and 246 as against 166 and 179 respectively during the year 1910-1911.

SECTION IV.

PRODUCTION AND DISTRIBUTION.

Agricultural Summary.

127. The year under report comprises Rabi 1318 Fasli and Kharif 1319 Fasli. The Rabi crops which depended on the rainfall of 1910 were generally fair to good.

The average outturn of all the three Tahsils was 15 annas in the rupee in Ajmer Tahsil, 12 annas in Beawar and 13 annas in Todgarh Tahsil. Owing to the scanty rainfall in 1911 the Barani (dry) areas in Kharif 1319 Fasli failed to a great extent and the average outturn was only 8 annas, 4 annas and 2½ in the above tahsils, respectively.

Ajmer.

128. The area sown for the Rabi of 1910-1911 was 51,138 acres of which 2,396 acres failed. The outturn was estimated at 4,47,365 maunds. The area under cultivation for the Kharif of 1911-1912 was 44,212 acres of which 23,894 (or more than 50 per cent) failed.

129. The outturn was estimated at 1,39,561 maunds. The actual collections on account of these two harvests amounted to Rs. 2,10,030 against Rs. 2,60,328 last year.

130. The realizations of revenue which had been suspended in previous years were Rs. 24,504.

The total collections during the year came to Rs. 2,34,534 as against Rs. 2,88,340 in 1910-1911. There was no remission on account of agricultural calamities of any kind in the district, but a sum of Rs. 11,621 was suspended.

The amount of revenue outstanding at the close of the year was Rs. 38,157.

131. There were very few applications for Takavi for digging or deepening wells during the year under review. A sum of Rs. 2,402 only was advanced, under the Land Improvement Loans Act while under the Agriculturists Loans Act no loans at all were granted. The realization of both principal and interest amounted to Rs. 9,726 against the demand of Rs. 58,652 out of which a sum of Rs. 927 being irrecoverable and long outstanding arrears was remitted under the orders of the Honourable the Chief Commissioner.

Merwara.

132. The area sown for the Rabi of 1910-1911 was 30,816 acres, of which 2,515 acres failed. The outturn was estimated at 2,77,316 maunds. In the Kharif of 1911-1912, 31,514 acres of land were brought under cultivation of which 22,692 or more than 72 per cent failed. The outturn was estimated at Rs. 63,831 maunds. The collections of revenue on account of these two harvests amounted to Rs. 55,205 as compared with Rs. 1,20,480 in 1910-1911 and a sum of Rs. 3,457 was realized on account of previous years, the total collections thus amounting to Rs. 58,662. During the year under report nothing was remitted on account of agricultural calamities in either of the two Tahsils in the district, but recommendations for remission on a large scale were made after the close of the year and sanctioned by the Local Government.

133. No remission was made on account of arrears suspended in previous years. During the year under report a sum of Rs. 29,156 was advanced under the Land Improvement Loans Act and Rs. 270 under the Agriculturists Loans Act.

134. The realizations under both the Acts amounted to Rs. 941 including Rs. 78 on account of interest, while the sum remitted on account of irrecoverable arrears outstanding in the Beawar Tahsil under the Land Improvement Loans Act amounted to Rs. 213. The total amount of advances which remained outstanding under the two Acts at the close of the year in both the Tahsils of Merwara was Rs. 1,24,266.

Exploring licenses.

135. During the year under report, four licenses to explore for minerals in the Merwara District were granted each for a year to (1) Mr. Nensi Pirbhoy, (2) Mr. Sorabji Dadabhoy, Vakil, (3) Mr. Pestonji Jehangir and (4) Messrs. G. F. Guy and W. C. Morley. Mines.

No license was issued in the Ajmer District.

Prospecting licenses.

136. Only one license for mica in the Ajmer District was granted for one year to Messrs. Imam Baksh and Abdul Gani of Nasirabad. In the Merwara District 11 licenses were issued each for a year, i.e., 1 to Mr. Manilal Prem Chand, 2 to Mr. Sorabji Dadabhoy, Vakil, 6 to Messrs G. F. Guy and W. C. Morley, for mica and 2 to Mr. Pestonji Jehangir for mica and asbestos respectively.

Mining leases.

137. No lease was granted in the Ajmer District. In the Merwara District two leases for mica were issued each for 15 years, i.e., 1 to Messrs. G. F. Guy and W. C. Morley and 1 to Mr. Sorabji Dadabhoy, Vakil.

138. The Returns of the Rajputana Malwa Railway show an increase in the number of passengers booked from stations in Ajmer-Merwara from 12,89,259 in 1910 to 13,15,725 in 1911 (Calendar year). Trade.

139. The grain traffic of the two most important local trade centres for the year under report and the previous year is given below :—

	1910.	1911.
Ajmer—
Imports	8,267	9,750	tons.
Exports	283	220	„
Balance in favour of imports	7,984	9,530	„
Beawar—
Imports	2,923	4,590	„
Exports	4,717	5,077	„
Balance in favour of exports	1,794	487	„

140. It will be seen that in Ajmer imports of grain rose considerably. In Beawar imports of grain rose by as much as 57 per cent and exports also rose slightly.

141. Imports of cotton at Beawar fell from 6,402 to 3,186 tons during the year 1911.

142. During the year under review the total expenditure incurred on Public Works in the Ajmer and Merwara Districts (exclusive of Irrigation Works, Canals, and Railways) amounted to Rs. 2,41,565 of which Rs. 2,29,515 were spent on works within the jurisdiction of the Commissioner as against Rs. 2,24,615 in 1910-1911. Public Works.

143. The chief works carried out during the year were :—

Additions and alterations to suitor's shed attached to the District Court at Ajmer.

Construction of the Railway Magistrate's Court at Ajmer.

Construction of family quarters for Jawaja Police station.

Construction of a new Police Station at Todgarh.

Acquisition of the triangular piece of land belonging to Mr. F. C. Mehta close to the Katcheri Buildings at Ajmer.

Improvement of mile 34 of Beawar-Sendra road.

Construction of a new inspection bungalow at Nasirabad.

Cutting off worst salients on Beawar-Dawair road between Jassakhera and Bhim.

144. The expenditure on "communications" amounted to Rs. 1,05,127. Revenue credited to Imperial Civil Works during 1911-1912 on account of Ajmer-Merwara amounted to Rs. 7,782 including Rs. 1,245, Rs. 741 and Rs. 660 on account of rent of Agency House at Deoli, Agency Surgeon's quarters at Deoli, and Cantonment Magistrate's bungalow at Nasirabad, respectively.

Arboriculture Roadside tree plantation.

145. At the beginning of the year the total length of the roads with avenues was 62 miles 6 furlongs. During the year 5 miles of Imperial and 2 miles 3 furlongs of District Fund roads were planted with young trees, thereby making a total length of 70 miles and 1 furlong of avenue roads. The number of trees planted to fill up blanks was 1,900. The total cost of planting and maintaining the trees on both Imperial and District Fund roads amounted to Rs. 4,699 against Rs. 5,964 in the previous year. The decrease in expenditure is chiefly due to the fact that a smaller number of iron tree guards of improved pattern were provided for these roads during the year.

146. The expenditure on Imperial roads was Rs. 2,979 and on District Fund roads Rs. 1,720.

147. The number of Nurseries underwent no change during the year.

148. The income derived from the sale of dry wood, Babul pods, etc., amounted to Rs. 358 against Rs. 301 in the preceding year. The increase in revenue is due to the sale of dry wood on Imperial roads.

149. The net result of the year's operations was the addition of 7 miles and 3 furlongs of roadside avenues, compared with 10 miles in 1910-1911.

Inspection of Raingauges.

150. The number of raingauges maintained in Ajmer-Merwara was the same as in 1910-1911, viz., 58. All the raingauges were inspected from time to time by the District Officers and found in efficient condition. All except one are Symon's Gauges.

SECTION V.

REVENUE AND FINANCE.

A.—IMPERIAL.

(1) Land and Water Revenue.

Character of the season.

151. The year under report which includes the accounts for the Rabi harvest of 1318 Fasli and the Kharif of 1319 Fasli was comparatively bad and one of partial scarcity, the average rainfall of the year being 9·87 inches (vide table 31) against the normal for the District of 19·22 inches. The outturn of the Rabi harvest which depended on the rains of the previous year was fair but in the Kharif the dry areas of most of the villages failed. Remissions of the revenue demand for the latter harvest were proposed in accordance with the revised Rules for Remission and Suspension and pending the receipt of the necessary sanction their recovery was under suspension at the close of the year.

Variable assessment.

152. The system of fluctuating assessment in the 46 villages selected at the time of the Settlement worked well and the villagers' liking for it showed signs of increasing, as two villages under fixed assessment have applied to have the variable system extended to them. The practical results both in regard to the area sown and the revenue realized, though poor compared with the standard fixed at the time of the Settlement, yet considering the scanty rainfall give no real cause for disappointment. It is hoped that in years of normal rainfall the villages concerned will be able to yield the standard demand easily. The following table compares the revenue actually assessed for the year 1319 Fasli with the standard fixed at the Settlement :—

Tahsil.	Standard.			Annual crop rate Tank revenue for 15 years including famine.	Actuals, for 1319 Fasli.			Average crop rate tank assessment 1319 Fasli.
	Land Revenue.	Water Revenue.	Total.		Land Revenue.	Water Revenue.	Total.
	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.
Ajmer . .	15,411 0 6	1,517 6 6	16,928 7 0	11 6 5	9,906 13 8	379 10 11	10,286 8 7	94 7 8

Demand, Collection, etc., vide statement No. 32 of appendices.

153. The current demand on account of land and water revenue for the year amounted to Rs. 3,49,435 against Rs. 4,04,183 for the year 1910-1911, the decrease of Rs. 54,748 being due partly to the complete introduction of the new assessments of Mr. Lupton, but chiefly to the bad season owing to which the land revenue assessments in the variable villages and the water revenue from variable tanks greatly suffered. Including arrears of previous years the total demand aggregated Rs. 3,88,754. Out of this Rs. 2,93,196 were realised, as against Rs. 4,19,372 in the year 1910-1911 as shown below :—

	1910-11.	1911-12.
	Rs.	Rs.
Arrears	38,561	27,958
Revenue of the year . . .	3,80,811	2,65,238
	4,19,372	2,93,196

154. The figures for 1911-1912 include Rs. 65-1-9 on account of surplus collections of the previous year taken into account during the year under report; and Rs. 38 being the amount of land revenue (variable) wrongly credited in 1910-1911 to the head "Public Works Department—Irrigation Revenue" has since been transferred. The figures however exclude Rs. 436-11-11 on account of surplus collections for next year.

155. Besides the large remissions proposed in the khalsa areas and subsequently sanctioned by competent authority, the Government of India also authorised the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner to sanction the remission up to a limit of 30 per cent of the demand for the kharif harvest of 1319 Fasli to those Istimrardars whose Jama exceeds 20 per cent. of their estimated income as shown in Mr. LaTouche's Settlement Report of 1875. A sum of Rs. 1,625-5-3 was subsequently remitted on this account.

Prices.

156. The retail prices of the principal food grains (Barley and Maize) varied in April 1911 from 21 seers in the Ajmer Tahsil to 25 seers 7 chataks in Todgarh. In May and June prices remained steady except in the Ajmer Tahsil where they showed signs of rising high. From July the prices of both kinds of the staple food began to rise perceptibly until in November they ranged from 12 seers 2 chataks in the Todgarh Tahsil to 13 seers 8 chataks and 14 seers in Ajmer and Beawar respectively. Notwithstanding a slight fall in December they continued high for the remaining three months of the year.

Gratuitous relief.

157. In Todgarh Tahsil, where conditions were more unfavourable, arrangements were made for the distribution of gratuitous relief on a restricted scale to deserving persons.

Agricultural Stock.

158. The table below compares with the two previous years the results of the enumeration of agricultural stock in Ajmer-Merwara during the year under report.

	1909-10.	1910-11.	1911-12.
Cows and bullocks . .	1,57,503	1,76,994	1,90,047
Buffaloes	16,695	19,850	23,183
Sheep and goats . .	2,85,416	2,77,447	2,76,188

159. There was no epidemic disease amongst the cattle throughout the year except foot and mouth disease and small-pox which prevailed in the Beawar Tahsil. Fodder for cattle was insufficient in Merwara and arrangements were made with the Central Provinces Government to allow pasturage in that Province to the cattle emigrating from Ajmer-Merwara: the cultivators were also encouraged in this matter by obtaining for them concession rates from the Railway Company for the carriage of cattle. Local Forest reserves were thrown open for grazing cattle and grass was issued as Taccavi in the Beawar Tahsil.

160. A fodder depôt was also opened at Nasirabad for supplying grass to the emigrating cattle.

Boundary Marks and disputes.

161. Boundary pillars and survey and plot marks were inspected by the Revenue officials from time to time: 14 boundary pillars and 5 survey marks were found damaged and 1 plot mark removed, and steps were taken to put them in order. Twenty-four cases of boundary disputes were instituted and disposed of during the year under report and of the old cases only nine remained pending at the close of the year, an Amin having been appointed for the rest at the cost of the Istimrardars concerned.

Records and Staff.

162. The settlement operations, which were in progress from the year 1907, were brought to a close on the 31st May 1911 and the new records prepared in the settlement completely replaced the old ones.

163. The rules regarding the correct maintenance of the new khasras and maps were adopted and 3,265 corrections were made according to them. The Tahsildars and Naib-Tahsildars constantly made inspecting tours in the District and spent on an average 82 days in the Ajmer Tahsil and 106 and 181 days in the Beawar and Todgarh Tahsils respectively.

164. The Todgarh Tahsil was inspected by the Extra Assistant Commissioner, Merwara and the Ajmer Tahsil was inspected by the Assistant Commissioner, Ajmer.

Processes.

165. Fifty-one writs, 73 warrants of arrest and 53 warrants of attachment were issued for the recovery of dues of land and water revenue and taccavi but no person was imprisoned for default of payment.

Revenue business

166. In Ajmer 14 cases were pending from last year and 6,568 cases were instituted during the year under report, of which 6,570 were disposed of. In Merwara the numbers of institutions and disposals of the cases were 4,688 and 4,601 respectively.

167. Six biswas of land were taken up in the district for railways and 21 biswas and 14 biswansis for buildings and miscellaneous works, on account of which a sum of Rs. 250-12-5 was paid by way of compensation and Rs. 16-11-6 represented the annual reduction in the Government rent roll. In Merwara land measuring 3 acres was taken up for roads but no reduction in the Government Jama was necessitated thereby. Acquisition of land for public purposes and reduction of Government Jama.

168. There was no case of alienation of Government land nor assignment of land revenue during the year. Alienation of Government land.

169. The first quinquennial wage census of Ajmer-Merwara was taken in March 1911 and a report of the results was submitted to the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner in July 1912. Wage Census.

(2) Opium, Excise and Drugs.

170. The gross receipts from Excise, Opium and Drugs amounted to Rs. 3,46,320 against Rs. 3,52,796 in the preceding year, showing a decrease of Rs. 6,476. The expenditure on the excise establishment amounted to Rs. 18,143 as compared with Rs. 18,433 in the preceding year. The net profit on the year's working thus amounted to Rs. 3,28,177 against Rs. 3,34,363 in the year 1910-11. Excise, vide Statements Nos. 36—40.

171. The year under review is the 4th year of the contract supply system. The rates at which country spirits are supplied by the contractor are as follows:— Country spirits.

	Mohwa.		Gur.
	25 U. P.	50 U. P.	25 U. P.	50 U. P.
Rate per gallon .	0-13-6	0-8-0	0-15-0	0-9-6

172. The receipts under the head country spirits amounted to Rs. 2,98,229 as compared with Rs. 2,97,886 in the year 1910-11.

173. The total sales of country liquor were 53,248·9 proof gallons as against 65,214·5 gallons in 1910-11. The decrease in consumption was due to the unfavourable season and also to the fact that the year 1910-11 was a prosperous and auspicious year for Hindu marriages, and death ceremonies were also observed that year with greater pomp and more lavish expenditure than in preceding years. The still-head duty on spirits issued for consumption in urban and rural areas was as follows:—

	Rs.	a.	p.
Urban area	4	6	0	per proof gallon.
Rural area	3	12	0	„ „ „

174. The number of country liquor shops in the district was the same as last year, viz., 128. The shops at Baghana and Pipli in the Todgarh Tahsil, however, remained closed for want of a contractor.

175. The question of restricting the issue of temporary licenses for the sale of spirits at fairs and festivals was kept in view, but no change in the present practice appeared necessary.

176. The privilege of tapping and vending tari is held by a contractor. A sum of Rs. 200 was recovered in advance on account of the contract money for the year 1912-13. The number of shops for vending tari was 4; 960 trees were tapped, the yield being 7,138·2 gallons of tari.

177. The number of licenses issued during the year for the sale of foreign liquor was the same as last year, viz., 17. The license fees for the wholesale and retail vend of foreign spirits and foreign fermented liquor amounted to Rs. 2,162 against Rs. 2,722 in the preceding year. The decrease is due to the fact that license fees amounting to Rs. 1,815 for the year 1911-12 were recovered in advance and credited in the accounts of the preceding year.

178. The receipts under opium amounted to Rs. 29,113 against Rs. 35,352 in 1910-11. The decrease is chiefly visible under the head of contract money and is due to the fact that a major portion of the contract money for the rural area for the years 1910-1911 and 1911-1912 was credited into the Treasury during the year 1910-1911. Opium.

179. A quantity weighing 54 maunds 10 seers 5 chataks 4 tolas and 4½ mashas was imported for consumption in Ajmer-Merwara, the import duty realised being Rs. 8,681. No opium was exported to Bombay.

180. The total number of licenses issued during the year for the wholesale vend of opium was 14 as against 13 in 1910-11.

181. The number of shops for retail vend was 41, viz., 8 in the Municipal and 33 in the rural areas.

182. No license was issued for the cultivation of opium during the year under review. A cultivator who cultivated without permission 3½ biswas of land in the Beawar Tahsil was prosecuted and convicted; the estimated produce was 2 chataks but actually there was no outturn and no excise duty was recovered.

183. The contraband opium received and sent to the Ghazipur factory amounted to 6 seers and 9½ chataks.

Hemp drugs.

184. The receipts from Hemp drugs amounted to Rs. 16,458 against Rs. 16,260 in the preceding year.

185. The number of shops for the retail vend of intoxicating drugs was the same as in the preceding year, viz., 16.

Prosecutions.

186. During the year 44 persons were prosecuted under the Excise Act, of whom 41 were convicted. Under the Opium Act 8 persons were prosecuted and 7 were convicted. Two chandu and one madak den keepers were prosecuted and convicted. The number of opium smoking dens was 13 as against 12 in the preceding year, 198 persons against 115 last year were convicted under the Police Act for drunkenness during the year under report.

General remarks.

187. The only change in the Excise Administration during the year under report was the raising of duty on country spirits by 10 annas per proof gallon from the 1st April 1911. The increase in duty seems to have had no effect on the consumption of liquor as during the first three months of the year the consumption was greater than that of first quarter of the preceding year. The consumption began to fall as the pinch of scarcity made itself felt owing to the failure of the monsoon. Notwithstanding the bad season and the consequent fall in consumption the revenue derived from country spirits was more than in any previous year. This was due to the increase in receipts from license fees.

188. The results of the Excise Administration for the year under report are satisfactory and the Madras system has continued to work well. These facts are creditable to the Excise staff.

(3) Stamps.

189. The gross income from stamps amounted to Rs. 1,66,890 as against Rs. 1,68,627 in the year 1910-1911 as detailed below :—

	1910-11.	1911-12.	Difference.
Judicial stamps	1,21,004	1,17,249	—3,755
Non-Judicial stamps	47,623	49,641	+2,018

190. The decrease of Rs. 3,755 in the sale of judicial stamps is due to the prevalence of scarcity. The increase of Rs. 2,018 in the sale of non-judicial stamps is apparently due to large monetary transactions during the year under report which may also be said to be due to scarcity.

191. No prosecution took place for any breach of the Stamp Law nor was anything recovered on account of pauper suits. There was no change in the number of stamp vendors during the year. The discount paid amounted to Rs. 3,088 as against Rs. 3,027 in the year 1910-1911.

192. The total charges in connection with the working of the Stamp Department amounted to Rs. 18,228 as compared with Rs. 17,558 in the previous year.

(4) Income Tax.

193. The number of persons assessed to income tax during the year under report was 852 against 778 last year.

194. The final demand and the collections as compared with those for 1910-11, are as follows :—

	1911-12.	1910-11.
Final demand	69,734	61,514
Collections	67,185	58,923

195. The gross collections, including arrears and penalties, amounted to Rs. 69,784, as against Rs. 61,230 in the previous year, as shown below :—

	1911-12.	1910-11.
Arrears	2,595	2,307
Penalties	4	23
TOTAL	69,784	61,230

196. There were no prosecutions during the year, but Rs. 4 were collected on account of penalties. The cost of collection was Rs. 6,801 (including refunds, Rs. 5,509), against Rs. 1,194 last year; the net profit accruing to Government on the year's working was thus Rs. 62,983 compared with Rs. 60,036 in the preceding year.

197. The Extra Assistant Commissioner I, Ajmer, exercised the powers of a Collector for making all assessments under Part IV up to the sum of Rs. 250 on an income of Rs. 9,600 and for hearing and passing orders on objections filed under section 26 of the Act against the assessments made by him. The Collector of Ajmer exercised the revisional powers of the Commissioner under section 27 of the Act, in regard to petitions preferred against all orders made by the Extra Assistant Commissioner I, under section 26 of the Act.

198. The number of objections was 89, 1 under Part II and 88 under Part IV. Of these, 13 were allowed, 26 were partly accepted, 2 remained pending and 48 were rejected. Four applications for revision were presented under section 27 of the Act and remained pending. No application for revision was presented to the Commissioner from the orders of the Collector.

199. The percentage of Collections under Parts I, II, III and IV of the Income Tax Act came respectively to Rs. 31·66, 6·23, 6·29 and 29·70, and the incidence of Income Tax per head of population in the city of Ajmer calculated on the amount collected during the year was annas four only against annas three and pies nine in the previous year.

B.—REVENUE AND FINANCE OTHER THAN IMPERIAL.

200. The year opened with a cash balance of Rs. 31,589. Receipts amounted to Rs. 45,624 as against Rs. 45,974 in the last year. The corresponding figures of expenditure are Rs. 45,544 and Rs. 44,562 respectively. The receipts decreased by Rs. 350 and the expenditure increased by Rs. 982. The increased expenditure is due to— District Fund (excluding Dispensary Fund).

(a) more money having been spent on road repairs during the year under report than in the year 1910-1911;

(b) extra expenditure on account of coronation medals and sweets distributed to school boys during the last coronation;

(c) more money having been spent during the year on account of construction of school buildings in Merwara than in the previous year;

(d) repairs executed to certain cattle pounds.

201. The veterinary dispensary and shoeing forge at Ajmer continued to work satisfactorily. The two Nagore bulls stationed at Ramsar and Jethana covered 37 cows during the year as against 53 in the preceding year. The result is not quite satisfactory. The question as regards the employment of these bulls in future is under consideration.

202. The closing balance of the District Fund on the 31st March 1912 stood at Rs. 31,669 as compared with Rs. 31,589 in 1910-1911.

203. The Board held two meetings during the year.

Local Funds.

Dispensary Fund.

204. The cash balance at the credit of the Dispensary Fund at the beginning of the year was Rs. 3,997. The receipts amounted to Rs. 7,880 against Rs. 8,626 last year, showing a decrease of Rs. 746 which is explained by the fact that the receipts in the last year included arrears of certain subscriptions—no such arrears having been realised during this year.

205. The expenditure amounted to Rs. 7,218 as against Rs. 7,365, showing a decrease of Rs. 147. The year closed with a cash balance of Rs. 4,659 besides Rs. 23,500 invested in Government securities.

206. The cash balance at the credit of the several dispensaries at the close of the year was as follows :—

	Rs.
Ajmer	2,659
Kekri	870
Pisangan	258
Deolia	417
Ramsar	744
Beawar	1,012
Todgarh—Deficit	1,302

207. The Todgarh dispensary shows a debit balance of Rs. 1,302 as against Rs. 1,110 in the last year, showing an increased amount of deficit of Rs. 192. The financial condition of this dispensary is unsatisfactory and requires to be improved. The matter is under consideration.

Chaukidari Fund.

208. The receipts amounted to Rs. 10,687 as compared with Rs. 12,999 in 1910-1911. The decrease of Rs. 2,312 is due to diminished income on account of the unfavourable season. The expenditure amounted to Rs. 17,292 as against Rs. 10,867 in 1910-1911 an increase of Rs. 6,425 which is attributed to the fact that a Government Promissory Note worth Rs. 5,000 was purchased and uniforms valued at Rs. 1,347 were supplied to the Chaukidars. The cash balance at the close of the year stood at Rs. 9,051.

Police Chanda Fund.

209. The receipts amounted to Rs. 3,239 as against Rs. 2,854 in 1910-1911. The increase of Rs. 385 occurs under (a) entrance donations consequent on the enrolment of more Sowars than in the preceding year, and (b) horse allowances for the horses fed from the Fund. The expenditure amounted to Rs. 2,927 against Rs. 2,723 in the preceding year, showing an increase of Rs. 204, which is due to the purchase of a stock of medicines from Bombay for the use of the Hospital of the Salotri attached to the Police lines. The cash balance at the close of the year was Rs. 2,116.

Nasirabad Cantonment Fund.

210. The total receipts amounted to Rs. 65,197 as compared with Rs. 61,962 in 1910-1911, the increase of Rs. 3,235 being due to the imposition of a water tax and to the satisfactory expansion of revenue under all heads. The expenditure amounted to Rs. 67,145 as against Rs. 64,573 in the preceding year. The increase of Rs. 2,572 is due to certain extraordinary original works having been carried out during the year under report. The cash balance at the close of the year was Rs. 17,360.

SECTION VI.

PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

211. The number of educational institutions at the end of the year under report rose to 222 from 186 in the previous year, the increase being due entirely to private enterprise whereby a considerable addition was made to the number of private institutions which numbered 132 against 96 in the year 1910-1911. The number of pupils at both kinds of institutions, public and private, increased bringing the total of both sexes to 11,134 against 9,078 in the previous year. Of these the pupils at public institutions numbered 6,626 and at private institutions 4,508. The percentage of the population of school going age receiving instruction was 24·26 among males and 4·11 among females as compared with 19·52 and 3·64 respectively in the year 1910-1911. General vide tables at Appendices Nos. 46 to 52.

212. The average number on the rolls and the average daily attendance at institutions maintained by the educational department were 2861·02 and 2231·26 respectively against 2703·83 and 2098·60 in 1910-1911.

213. The total expenditure on public instruction rose from Rs. 1,55,365 in 1910-11 to Rs. 1,71,227 in the year under report. The details of the expenditure as also the sources from which it was met are given below:—

Kind of Institution.	From Imperial Revenues.	From Local and Municipal Funds.	From fees and private bodies.	Total.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Arts College . . .	16,341	2,580	3,808	22,729

TOTAL .	54,480	24,769	91,978	1,71,227

214. Throughout the year under report Mr. E. F. Harris, B.A., continued to be the Principal of the Government College with no change in its staff. A few changes took place in the staff of the schools attached to the College. Rao Sahib Pandit Narsingh Das who held the office of Head Master of the City Branch School retired on pension on 30th April 1911 and Mr. Kanhaya Lal, B.A.L.T., 4th Master, Government High School, was appointed Head Master. Mr. L. B. Tarlekar, B.A., 6th Master, having been offered a larger increase of salary elsewhere resigned the service in February 1912 and two graduate ex-students of the College were appointed masters in connection with the vacancies. Government College and Schools, Ajmer.

The number of students in the College classes was 50 and in the school classes located in the College building 201 as against 39 and 198 in 1911. In the Branch School the number on the rolls was 434.

The results of the different examinations are given below:—

B.A. Examination	3	out of	10 passed
Intermediate Examination	7	„	9 „
Matriculation Examination	32	„	45 „
Middle Examination	35	„	50 „

215. Two important events took place during the year in connection with the College.

(1) A Board of Inspectors from the University of Allahabad inspected the College on the 12th March 1912 and except in respect of equipment as regards staff and building required by the regulations they are believed to have been thoroughly satisfied with its management and the work it is doing; (2) a sum of Rs. 7,000 was given by R. B. Pandit Sham Nath, retired Executive Engineer, to found two scholarships of Rs. 10 each tenable by B.Sc. students to be nominated from Ajmer.

216. The Boarding Houses continued to be managed as before.

Aided Schools.

217. There was no change in the number of aided schools which stood at 13, but the number of pupils attending them rose to 2,029 from 1,878 on the 31st March 1911.

Village Schools.

218. During the year under report no new village school was opened: the status of 4 Secondary Schools was reduced to that of Upper Primary and from the savings thus effected 5 incomplete Upper Primary Schools were raised to the full Upper Primary grade. The total number of schools on the 31st March 1912 was 51 as shown in the table below :—

District.	Secondary.	Upper primary.	Semi upper primary.	Lower primary.	Total.
Ajmer	4	7	16	8	35
Merwara	...	4	7	5	16
TOTAL .	4	11	23	13	51

The daily average number on the rolls and the daily average attendance at these schools both improved during the year under report, the numbers rising to 2,015 and 1,628 from 1912 and 1,422 in 1910-1911.

219. Eighteen candidates from the 4 secondary schools and 7 more from the Beawar Municipal School which is also under the direct supervision of the Inspector of Schools appeared for the vernacular Final Examination, of these 9 passed. In the primary schools the same curriculum of studies which was introduced in 1910-1911 was followed and a distinct improvement was observable in the results achieved in object lessons, Hindi grammar, mental arithmetic, vernacular writing and drawing, credit being principally due to the two Deputy Inspectors of schools who carried out their duties with faithfulness and zeal, creating in the teachers by practical demonstration and personal instruction a keen interest in their work.

220. The total expenditure on the village school education in Ajmer-Merwara amounted to Rs. 33,821, of which Rs. 14,609 were provided from Imperial Funds, Rs. 13,356 from Municipal and District Funds, Rs. 2,329 from fees, Rs. 3,209 from Mission funds and Rs. 318 from other sources.

School Sports.

221. The Rajputana School Sports which are held usually at Ajmer during the first week of December could not be held during the year under review on account of His Majesty's Coronation Durbar at Delhi.

Rajputana Middle School Examinations.

222. The annual Rajputana Middle School examinations were conducted as usual at Ajmer by the Principal, Government College, and 38 schools from Ajmer-Merwara and various Native States in Rajputana against 34 in 1910-1911 presented candidates.

Durbar Day.

223. The 12th of December 1911 was observed as a day of rejoicing and of loyal celebrations in every class of school, both public and private, throughout the districts. Local Committees were formed at Ajmer, Nasirabad and Beawar to carry out a programme of celebrations at all the schools in the city and the towns and for the rural areas revenue officials were made responsible for the same. Sweetmeats and coronation medals were distributed among all the pupils who, the Inspector of Schools remarks, seemed to be beaming with happy and grateful recollections of the memorable occasion.

SECTION VII.

GENERAL (MISCELLANEOUS).

224. The annual religious Fair at Pushkar was held between the 2nd and the 6th November 1911. The attendance at the fair was rather poor in comparison with last year when there were special reasons for the unusually large gathering. The general arrangements were ably carried out by the Committee which as usual was formed for the purpose. The sanitary arrangements were all that could be desired and no epidemic disease of any kind occurred during the fair. Pushkar Fair.

225. The Horse Show and Cattle Fair formed a prominent part of the programme of the fair as usual. The Police arrangements were excellent and no serious crime occurred during the fair.

226. Owing to unfavourable rains the kharif crop failed in the district and the Agricultural and Industrial Exhibition was not held this year.

227. The annual Urs Fair in connection with the Shrine of the Durgah Khwaja Sahib at Ajmer was held from the 29th June 1911 to the 4th July 1911. The usual Police arrangements were made and no violent crime occured nor did any disturbance take place. The attendance was larger than usual. Urs Fair.

228. The Tejaji Fair at Beawar was held from the 2nd to the 4th September 1911. The gathering at the fair is estimated at between 10,000 and 13,000 persons. Beawar Tejaji Fair.

229. The Tejaji Fair at Kekri was abandoned this year owing to the unfavourable prospects of the season at the time. Kekri Tejaji Fair.

230. At the beginning of the year 1911 there were 9 Printing Presses. One press was not in working order and a new one named "Ailanul Haq" was started during the year; thus the number of presses at the close of the year was the same, i.e., 9 as in the previous year. Printing Presses vide Table No. I, Serial No. 53.

231. Two newspapers (including one named "Akhbar Sulah Kul" newly started from the new press) and five periodicals in all were issued from these Presses during the year.

232. Three books in English, 4 in Sanskrit, 16 in Hindi and one in Polyglot were printed during the year under report.

233. The Assistant Commissioner, Ajmer, held the usual ceremony of receiving the Bhumias and their Nazarana on the 3rd June 1911, the day appointed for the official observance of the Birthday of His Majesty the King Emperor. Out of the total demand on account of the Nazarana amounting to Rs. 3,961 a sum of Rs. 3,924 was recovered at the Durbar; of the balance Rs. 30 remained outstanding at the end of the year. Bhumias.

234. No case of treasure trove was dealt with in the Ajmer District during the year 1911-1912. Treasure Trove.

On the 6th May 1911, the following coins were found by a labourer who was engaged in building a house at Dewair in the Todgarh Tehsil in the Merwara District :—

1.	Coins of Mohomed Shah of Delhi	26
2.	Old Bundi Coins	54
3.	Bijey Shahi Coins	10
4.	Akhey Shahi Coins	10
5.	Bhilwari Coins	40
6.	Jaipuri Coins	2
7.	Ujjain Indore Suraj-Mark Coins	2
		144

The Coins having been sent to the Numismatic Secretary, Asiatic Society of Bengal, for examination, he declared them to be of no particular numismatic value and their acquisition was therefore not recommended.

The find was then dealt with in accordance with the provisions of sections 5, 9 and 12 of the Treasure Trove Act VI of 1878, the finder and the person in whose property the coins were discovered each receiving half of the find.

(2) "Abetments" should be included with the substantive offences abetted.
(3) When giving the list of special and local laws against which offences have been committed, care should be taken to specify the title of each Act quoted, as well as its number and year. An Act of a local legislature should be distinguished by initial letters placed after the number of the Act.

Column 2.—All offences (cases) of which information was given, complaint made, or cognizance taken under Chapters IV, V, XIV, XVI, C. P. C., for the first time during the year, are to be shown, although some of the charges may not have been prosecuted, or may have turned out to be false.

Column 3.—This column should be the total of column 2, less the number of cases dismissed under section 203, C. P. C., and less all other cases in which a Magistrate declared that the charge was false, and that the offence never occurred, or which were dismissed as frivolous and vexatious, and in which the complainant was fined under section 250, C. P. C.

Column 5.—This column should be the total of columns 6 to 9, plus column 9 of previous statement.

Column 8.—Persons transferred from one court to another in the same Province are not to be entered in this column.

Column 9.—A note should be added in the column of remarks showing respectively the number of persons who died, escaped or were transferred.

General Cases committed or referred should not be included in this statement by the committing or referring Magistrates. The results of the trials in these cases should be shown by the Courts to which the cases are committed or referred. If the total of column 7 of Statement 4 be deducted from the total of column 2 of that Statement, the difference should correspond with the total of column 5 of this statement.

Column 1, Sub-head "Superior Courts."—Includes cases decided by the High Courts on reference under sections 307 and 374, C. P. C.

Column 2.—That is, the total of the entries in columns 3 to 8. The cases of persons transferred from one Court to another in the same province will appear only against the Court by which decided, or in which pending at the end of the year if not decided.

Column 3.—A note against the figure for each Court should be made in the column of remarks showing separately how many accused persons were transferred to other provinces.

Columns 5 and 6.—Persons whose cases were referred to a Superior Court for higher punishment, for orders under section 562, Criminal Procedure Code, or for confirmation of sentence will be entered in column 7, and not in columns 5 and 6, against the Court making the reference. Against the Court receiving the reference they will be shown as convicted or acquitted, according to the orders passed by it, or as pending, if orders have not been passed.

Column 7.—These cases will also be shown against the Magistrates who made the reference, entry being made as directed above.

Column 8.—An insane accused who has been sent to a lunatic asylum should be kept on the file and entered in this column until he has been tried and either convicted or acquitted.

Column 9.—Omit cases in which the accused died, escaped or was transferred.

Column 10.—In calculating the duration before the Magistrates' Courts, the starting point to be taken is not the date of complaint or information, but that of apprehension, or attendance on summons or otherwise of the accused. As regards Courts of Sessions, the actual number of days occupied should be given, commencing from the date of commitment. Cases in which the accused has absconded before arrest or has escaped from custody should be taken off the file till the persons implicated appear again.

General.—The figures in this statement should agree with those of Statement No. 2 and should include nothing else.

NOTES.—Column 1, Sub-head "Courts of Sessions."—Includes cases decided by Sessions Judges on reference under sections 31, 34 and 123, C. P. C.

Column 1, Sub-head "Superior Courts."—Includes cases decided by the High Court on reference under sections 307 and 374, C. P. C.

Column 19.—Includes fines realized during the year, though imposed in previous years. This column is intended to show the realized portion of fines imposed by officers in the exercise of original jurisdiction only.

Column 20.—Represents compensation awarded to complainants under section 545, Act X of 1882. These awards should also be shown under the head fines "imposed" and "realized" in columns 18 and 19, for they form part of such fines.

General.—(1) The total of columns 5, 6 and 11 should correspond with the total of columns 21 to 25 (both inclusive), and the total of column 8 should correspond with the totals of columns 12 to 17 inclusive.

(2) This statement is meant to exhibit every sentence passed, and, where two penalties are inflicted on the same offender, to exhibit them both. Further to reconcile the number of persons entered in this statement as punished, with the number entered as convicted in statement 4, it is necessary to note cases such as those in which fulfilment of contract is ordered under Act XIII of 1859 in a footnote. As regards persons whose cases were referred for higher punishment or for confirmation of sentence, the punishment, if any, sanctioned by the higher Courts should be entered against such higher Court, and not against the Court making the reference.

Notes.—Column 2.—Total of columns 3 to 12. Cases transferred from one Court to another in the same Province will appear only against the Court by which decided, or in which pending at the end of the year, if not decided. The words "Applicants for revision" in the heading of this column should be held to include only accused persons on whose behalf an application for revision is made or in whose interest the Magistrate or Judge may take steps to obtain revision on his own motion. Where such application is made, or such steps are taken, on behalf of a complainant, the fact should be noted, with the number o complainants concerned, in the column of Remarks. In the latter case, the accused persons against whom the application is made, though not appearing in this column, will fall into their proper places in columns 3 to 13, according to the result of such application. This note is held to apply also to cases dealt with by the High Court on review of returns.

Column 5.—Appeals dismissed under section 423, C. P. C., should be entered in this column.

Column 9.—Orders of discharge set aside by a Superior Court under section 436, C. P. C., should be entered in this column.

Column 10.—When a sentence is reversed or proceedings are quashed on appeal, and a new trial or further enquiry is at the same time ordered, the Appellate Court should not fill in column 8 as well as column 10, or column 9 as well as column 10, in each case respectively, but should make the entry in column 10 only.

Column 12.—Duration of appeals, applications for revision, or reference should be calculated thus—

(1) Appeals from date of receipt in office of the petition of appeal;
(2) Applications for revision—from the date of application;
(3) Cases dealt with by the Court otherwise than on application—from date of the order calling for the records; and
(4) Cases sent to the High Court by lower Courts for revision—from the date of the letter from the Court making the reference.

General.—Persons whose appeals were rejected under section 421, Criminal Procedure Code, should be entered in column 4, in which should also be included applicants for revision whose cases the Courts have refused to submit to the High Court. In columns 5 to 10, should be shown, opposite the sub-heads for Magistrates of District and Courts of Sessions, persons whose cases were disposed of by those Courts without reference to the High Court, and in column 11 all persons whose cases these Courts referred to the High Court.

Cases transferred from one Court to another in the same Province will appear only against the Court by which decided, or in which pending at the close of the year, if not decided. The number of cases pending from the preceding year should be noted in the column of 'Remarks, and when deducted from the total of column 2 should leave a balance corresponding with the total of column 38 of Statement VII. If after deducting the arrears shown at the end of the previous year, the balance does not agree with the figures in column 38 of Statement VII, the difference should be explained.

Column 6.—When under section 102, C. P. C., a decree is wholly or partially made in favour of an absent plaintiff on the admission of the defendant, the case should be entered in this column.

Column 8.—A case in which defendant appears, but a plaintiff does not, and defendant does not confess judgment and the case is thereupon dismissed, the case should be entered in this column.

Columns 15 and 16.—As regards the average duration of suits, the date of their presentation of the plaint shall be considered as the date of institution, unless some defect or omission requires to be amended before the plaint can be admitted, in which case the date of admission after amendment shall be regarded as the date of institution. With regard to applications to execute decrees, the date of their presentation should alone be considered. In calculating average duration, the time that the suit has been actually pending in the particular Court should alone be calculated. The interval should be omitted during which an application for review which has been granted, or an appeal in which an order of remand has been passed, been pending in the superior Court. Revived suits are to be treated as if newly instituted on revival.

I.—Fractions of a rupee are to be omitted.

II.—If the income of any school maintained by the Department (or by a Local or Municipal Board) exceeds the expenditure, the return of Government (or Local or Municipal) expenditure should be reduced accordingly, the income and expenditure of the school being thus equalised. If in such school the income from fees or other private sources alone exceeds the expenditure, the excess income and the sources from which it is derived should be shown in the column of Remarks.

III.—If the income of any aided school exceeds the expenditure, the excess should be proportionately deducted from the sub-heads of endowments, subscriptions, and other sources; or, if the receipts from those sources are insufficient, from the sub-head of Fees also. The actual receipts from Imperial Revenues and from Local and Municipal Funds should be shown in full.

IV.—In calculating the expenditure from Imperial Revenues or any other Funds, all payments or contributions from Fees or other sources credited to that Fund should be deducted. Such payment should be shown as expenditure under the sub-heads to which they belong.

V.—The expenditure under "University," "Direction" and "Inspection" should be shown only in column 6 and its sub-divisions, and not in the preceding columns.

VI.—The expenditure on stipends held in Training Schools should be shown as part of the expenditure in those schools, not under the head of scholarships.

N.B.—The headings prescribed by the Government and not required for this district have been omitted.

FROM

THE HON'BLE SIR ELLIOT GRAHAM COLVIN, K.C.S.I.,
Chief Commissioner of Ajmer-Merwara,

To-

THE SECRETARY TO THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA IN THE FOREIGN DEPARTMENT.

Dated Mount Abu, the 17th October 1913.

SIR,

I have the honour to submit the annual administration report of Ajmer-Merwara for the year 1912-1913, compiled by the Commissioner Mr. A. T. Holme, I.C.S., with my remarks thereon.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient servant,

E. G. COLVIN,
Chief Commissioner of Ajmer-Merwara.

Remarks by the Honourable the Chief Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara.

The year was only a moderately good one, the rabi crop being very poor in the Todgarh Tahsil, and the Kharif crop having failed in portions of the Beawar Tahsil.

2. Imperial revenues showed a small surplus of Rs. 45,654.

3. The Excise receipts increased by Rs. 5,641, chiefly under the head of country spirits, in spite of the enhanced rates imposed during the preceding year on country liquor.

4. The Ajmer Municipality are to be congratulated on having at last matured a scheme, which affords good prospects of success for an additional water-supply to the city and on their amicable negotiations with the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway authorities in regard to taxation and co-operation (paragraphs 164 to 166); also on the utilisation of the Government grant of Rs. 1,20,000 improving their conservancy system.

5. The year has been noticeable for a great expansion in the number of Co-operative Credit Societies and for the introduction of measures under the Ajmer Taluqdars Loan Regulation (1911). These matters should receive more detailed notice in the report for next year.

By order,

A. D. BANNERMAN, Lt.-Colonel,
First Assistant to the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner of Ajmer-Merwara.

REPORT

ON THE

ADMINISTRATION OF AJMER-MERWARA.

FOR

1912-1913.

SECTION I.

GENERAL ADMINISTRATION.

Personnel.

1. The charge of the office of Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara, was held as follows :—

Lieutenant-Colonel W. C. R. Stratton, C.I.E., I.A., from 1st to 30th April 1912 ; Captain W. G. Hutchinson, I.A., from 1st May to 9th June 1912 ; and Mr. A. T. Holme, I.C.S., from 10th June 1912 to 31st March 1913.

2. Mr. B. J. Glancy, I.C.S., held the office of Assistant Commissioner, Ajmer, from 1st April 1912 to 11th March 1913, on which date he handed over charge to Mr. D. G. Mackenzie, M.A., I.C.S.

3. Pandit Brij Jiwan Lal Sharma, B.A., held charge of the office of Extra Assistant Commissioner, Merwara, throughout the year under report.

4. Lieutenant Colonel W. H. B. Robinson, I.M.S., held charge of the office of Civil Surgeon, Ajmer, from 1st April 1912 to 6th November 1912, on which date he was relieved by Lieutenant-Colonel R. C. MacWatt, F.R.C.S., I.M.S., who continued to hold the appointment to the end of the year.

5. Mr. R. E. Coupland held the office of Superintendent of Police, Ajmer-Merwara, from 1st April 1912 to 14th February 1913, on which date he handed over charge to Mr. L. B. Goad.

Revenue and expenditure (Vide Statement 42).

6. The total revenue (Imperial and Local) of Ajmer-Merwara for the year amounted to Rs. 17,45,488 as compared with Rs. 14,64,571 last year and the total expenditure was Rs. 15,47,759-2-7 as against Rs. 16,29,562 in 1911-1912. Imperial revenues rose from Rs. 9,64,514 in 1911-12 to Rs. 10,87,448 in the year under report, while the expenditure fell from Rs. 10,99,261 in the preceding year to Rs. 10,41,794 in 1912-13.

There was thus a surplus of Rs. 45,654 in the imperial revenues in 1912-13 as compared with a deficit of Rs. 1,34,747 in the year 1911-12.

The increase was due to increase in receipts and decrease in expenditure principally under the following heads :—

Receipts.	Rs.
Land Revenue	+72,832
Stamps	+12,155
Customs	+11,255
Interest	+6,909
Law and Justice	+7,944

Expenditure.	Rs.
Land Revenue	—1,846
Interest	—2,30,272
Jails	—3,248

SECTION II.

ADMINISTRATION OF THE LAND.

COURT OF WARDS.

Year ending 31st July 1913.

7. Rai Sahib Munshi Gopi Nath held charge of the office of General Manager, Court of Wards, throughout the year.

Agricultural Aspects.

8. From an agricultural point of view, the year (Sambat 1969) was a poor one. The rainfall was much below the average and not sufficient to fill the tanks or to supply sufficient percolation to wells. Consequently the barani or dry crops both in the kharif and rabi harvests were very poor. The rains in the month of August 1912, however, improved the growth of grass and the crops sown on well land. The prices of agricultural produce which ruled high throughout the year, as also the fodder which was more than sufficient, went a great way to mitigate the stress of the scarcity, so far as the estates and their tenants were concerned.

Estates under management.

9. At the beginning of the year there were ten estates under management, viz.:—

1. Masuda, 2. Kalahera-Bogla, 3. Kerot, 4. Goela, 5. Basundni, 6. Richmalian, 7. Kanai Kalan, 8. Sadara, 9. Gangwana, and 10. Rajgarh.

1. Pranhera.
2. Bhinai.
3. Jharwasa Bhattiani.

10. The three estates noted in the margin came under management during the year.

11. Thakur Ranjit Singh of Pranhera having been convicted of a criminal offence was declared incapable of managing his estate, under Section 7 (1) (c) (ii) of the Ajmer Government Wards Regulation, I of 1888, and the Pranhera estate came under the Court's management in March 1913.

12. Raja Sadul Singh of Bhinai, who had been placed in charge of his estate in April 1912, became seriously ill, and was declared physically unfit to manage his property under Section 7 (1) (c) (i) of the Ajmer Government Wards Regulation. His estate was again placed under the superintendence of the Court of Wards in June 1913.

13. Mir Meherban Ali, Jagirdar of Jharwasa Bhattiani, being heavily involved in debt, was declared incapable of managing his property under Section 7 (1) (c) (iv) of the Regulation. His estate came under the Court's supervision on the 14th July 1913.

14. Thus there were 13 estates under the Court's management at the close of the year.

15. The year under report opened with a cash balance of Rs. 86,674 besides Government Promissory notes of the face value of Rs. 3,62,100.

16. The income of the estates under management was Rs. 2,11,944. The total credit including opening balance amounted to Rs. 2,98,618 as detailed below:—

	Rs.
Bhinai	15,136
Masuda	2,03,625

2. Kalahera Estate—
Loan to Banne Singh of Kalahera . .	125
Grand total . . .	20,375

18. The household expenditure included the following special items :—

(1) Rs. 2,750 spent on the marriage of the minor Thakur Nathu Singh of Kalahera ;

(2) Rs.1,992 on account of the marriage of the daughter of Raja Bijai Singh, late Jagirdar of Gangwana ; and

(3) Rs. 2,000 spent on ceremonies in connection with the Chhatris built in memory of the late Rao Sahib Thakur Bahadur Singh of Masuda and his son Sawai Ram Singh.

19. The expenditure under the head "Public works" includes payment of Rs. 8,554-4 on account of the Bijai Sagar tank at Sheopura, and Rs. 1,187-7-0 in sinking wells in the Masuda estate. The Bijai Sagar tank project was taken in hand in 1911 and finished before the rains of 1912 at a total cost of Rs. 42,885-4-0. In the Kerot estate, necessary repairs to tanks were carried out at a cost of Rs. 1,378-15-2.

20. The closing balance at the credit of all the estates on the 31st July 1913 was Rs. 1,16,154 as under :—

	Rs.
Bhinai	3,912
Masuda	84,180
Other estates	28,062
	1,16,154

besides Government Promissory notes of the face value of Rs. 3,62,100 held in deposit by the Comptroller, India Treasuries, on behalf of :—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Total .	3,62,100	0	0

Cost of management.

21. The cost of management amounted to Rs. 23,520, or 7·87 per cent. of the gross receipts of the estates.

Demand and collections.

22. At the beginning of the year, the outstandings of all kinds were Rs. 8,153 while the current demand from all sources was Rs. 2,11,922; the total demand being as follows:—

	R.	a.	p.
Masuda	1,43,267	0	0
Total	2,20,075	0	0

23. The collections amounted to Rs. 2,11,943 as under:—

	Rs.	a.	p.
Masuda	1,40,041	0	0
Total	2,11,944	0	0

24. Remissions of Rs. 182 were given and the outstanding balance at the close of the year was Rs. 7,949.

25. The following table shows the demand, collections, remissions and outstandings of income under the head "rents and cesses":—

Estates.	Demand.	Collections.	Remissions.	Outstandings.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Bhinai	12,859	12,859	...	...

Total	1,53,479	1,52,212	45	1,222

26. The instalments of Government dues for the kharif and rabi harvests for the year under report were paid in full by all estates. None of the estates under management owes either takavi or dami to Government.

27. The following table shows the liabilities on account of the private debts of the estates under management as they stood on the 31st July 1913.

28. The estate of Pranhera came under the management of the Court of Wards in March 1913, with a list of heavy debts, which, on enquiry under the Taluqdars Loan Regulation, II of 1911, were compromised for Rs. 22,591 and have been liquidated since the close of the year by means of a loan advanced by Government under the said Regulation.

29. The debts of the Bhinai and Jharwasa estates are under scrutiny. Proposals to take advantage of the Taluqdars Loan Regulation in order to liquidate these debts are now under consideration.

Education of the Wards.

The following Wards, viz :—

1. Thakur Bijaya Singh of Masuda,
2. Thakur Nathu Singh of Kalahera,
3. Thakur Udai Singh of Kerot,
4. Thakur Udai Singh of Basundni,
5. Thakur Ranjit Singh of Goela,
6. Kunwar Sobhag Singh, younger brother of the Thakur of Goela,
7. Raja Raj Singh of Rajgarh,
8. Raja Kalyan Singh of Gangwana,

1. Kunwar Sawai Singh of Pranhera,
2. Kunwar Zorawar Singh of Pranhera,
3. Thakur Madho Singh of Sadara,
4. Thakur Narain Singh of Kanai Kalan, received their education in the Kekri Municipal school, their financial position not permitting their enrolment in the Mayo College. The general progress reports of all the Wards at the College were satisfactory.

Health of the Wards.

30. The health of all the Wards with the exception of Kunwar Sobhag Singh and Raja Sadul Singh was good throughout the year. Sobhag Singh of Goela suffered for about two months from typhoid fever and was placed under the treatment of the Civil Surgeon, Ajmer.

31. Raja Sadul Singh fell ill in January 1913 and remained at Bhinai under the treatment of Hakims till the end of April. During the months of May and June he was under the immediate treatment of the Civil Surgeon, in the latter's house at Ajmer; but as the case proved hopeless he was allowed to go back to Bhinai on the 27th June 1913 at the request of his relatives under the care of an Assistant Surgeon and a nurse. In spite of all that could be done for him he succumbed to his long illness on 2nd August 1913 at the early age of 23.

SECTION III.

PROTECTION.

(1) AJMER-MERWARA POLICE. (YEAR ENDING THE 31ST DECEMBER 1912).

Vide Statements Nos. 4 to 100.

Compiled by L. M. Kaye, Esq., Inspector-General of Police, Ajmer-Merwara.

32. Mr. R. E. Coupland held charge of the office of Superintendent of Police throughout the year.

INCREASE AND DECREASE IN REPORTED COGNIZABLE CRIME.

33. The total volume of cognizable crime reported in 1912 was 5,419 as compared with 4,730 in 1911 and 3,784 in 1910. These figures include cases reported to the police and also those reported direct to Magistrates. Comparing the figures under each of those heads with the figures for 1911 it will be found that cases reported to the police have increased by 15 per cent. and those reported to Magistrates by 4 per cent.

34. Following the practice of former years a table is given below from which details of the figures for each of the last two years under the main divisions of crime as shown in Statement A can be ascertained :—

This statement shows that, once again, the increase in reported crime is entirely confined to cases falling in Class VI, namely, miscellaneous offences which do not come under the Indian Penal Code.

35. In the two years ending December 31st, 1912, the number of such offences has risen from 1,545 to 3,514. This increase is entirely under the sub-head "Public Nuisances." The Superintendent of Police explains the increase for 1912 in the following words :—

> "The number of cases of public nuisances depends entirely on the activity or inactivity of the police in enforcing the provisions of Section 34 of the Police Act and of Municipal and Cantonment

Bye-laws. In a district like this where the urban population is such a large percentage of the total population, the effect of such activity affects the crime returns to a remarkable extent. The increased activity of the police in this direction commences from the close of 1909 when plague was rampant throughout the district and my attention was drawn to the comparative neglect of the police in dealing with sanitary and other similar offences. It may be objected that the action taken is unnecessarily harassing but in answer to this I would point out that such cases come before Cantonment Magistrates or Honorary Magistrates, that the former have not brought to notice any abuse of authority and that the latter, who are generally inclined to sympathise with petty breaches of sanitary laws, have shown their confidence in police action by convicting 98 per cent. of cases that came before them."

36. This is no doubt quite true but the number of sanitary offences instituted by the police in Ajmer-Merwara during 1912 stands at 27 per thousand of the total urban population as compared with 3 in the United Provinces as a whole. The great increase in such cases in 1911 was held to be justified by the special circumstances of the year but those same circumstances did not exist in 1912 and the explanation given by the Superintendent of Police hardly meets the case in view of the remarks made in the report for 1911. The matter will form the subject of a separate enquiry.

37. Excluding cases in class VI, the total volume of reported crime shows a decrease of 44 cases or approximately 3 per cent. In view of the conditions which existed in 1911 a somewhat lighter crime return might have been expected for 1912 but in the report for 1911 it was pointed out that the rise in ordinary crime that year had not been nearly as marked as might have been expected, in view of the almost total failure of the monsoon in Ajmer-Merwara, and this was attributed in part to the fact that, for several years immediately preceding 1911, exceptionally good harvests had been obtained. Moreover the figures are swelled by a further increase in cases reported direct to Magistrates.

The incidence of cognizable crime as a whole, excluding false cases, was 106 per 10,000 of population for 1912 as compared with 92 for 1911. The large number of sanitary offences included in the returns is chiefly responsible for those very high figures, however, and, if such cases be eliminated, the incidence for 1912 stands at 38·9 as compared with 39·2 for 1911 and 36·6 for 1910. In the United Provinces the incidence (excluding sanitary offences) was 29 for 1911.

38. The Superintendent of Police attributes the comparatively high crime returns of Ajmer-Merwara to the causes already detailed in the report for 1911, namely:—

(i) the proportionately large urban population, and

(ii) the great attention paid by the local police to the question of obtaining a full report of crime.

There is little reason to question this explanation and the encouragement which reporting receives from the local police is shown by the fact that constables on beat-duty are declared to have been instrumental in obtaining no less than 32 per cent of the total number of reports laid to the police and the percentage of cases in which a written report was accepted at police-stations, without complainants being called upon to appear in person, rose from 13 to 20. This is all very satisfactory.

39. Cases of non-cognizable crime decreased by 1,326 during the year under report. This decrease was entirely among offences against Municipal Regulations. There was an increase of 609 cases in 1911.

POLICE CASES—ALL CLASSES.

40. The total number of cognizable offences reported to the police during 1912 was 5,003 as compared with 4,330 in 1911. As already mentioned, these high figures are entirely due to increased vigilance in connection with prosecutions for breaches of sanitary laws in Ajmer itself and the other towns of Ajmer-Merwara. If such cases be excluded the number of offences reported stands at 1,609 for 1912 against 1,668 for the preceding year.

41. No investigation was made into 587 (or 36 per cent.) of the cases reported. In 1911 the number of cases into which no enquiry was made was 636 (or 38 per cent). It is noticeable that whilst investigation was refused in a larger percentage of cases of housebreaking or burglary enquiries into cases of petty theft were proportionately more numerous than in the preceding year and the Superintendent of Police admits that certain members of the investigating staff are still prone to undertake enquiries without consulting the wishes of the complainant, though he adds that, as a whole, the discretion vested in the police to refuse investigation is fairly exercised. The subject calls for further attention but, as mentioned in previous reports, Ajmer-Merwara is not, in this respect, on all fours with regulation provinces and the proportion of cases investigated will always be comparatively high. It is worth noting, too, that, in his report on the administration of the United Provinces Police for the year 1911, the Inspector-General notes that there are indications that the option of investigation is overstrained in those provinces and that cases which should be enquired into are not.

42. The total number of police cases decided during 1912 was 3,905 against 3,175 in the preceding year. Of cases investigated 85 per cent. ended in conviction as compared with 82 per cent. in 1911 and 95 per cent. of the persons arrested by the police were convicted—that percentage being the same as for 1911. If prosecutions instituted for breaches of the sanitary laws (in the majority of which conviction is, practically, a foregone conclusion) be excluded the percentage of cases convicted to investigations stands at 45 for the year under report as compared with the same figure in 1911 and 43 in 1910, and the percentage of persons convicted to arrests at 82 against 84 and 79 in the two preceding years.

43. These figures compare very favourably with the statistics of the United Provinces for the year 1911 and, in consideration of the very large proportion of cases reported which were investigated, may be taken as indicating good work

Class I.—Offences against the State, Public Tranquillity, Safety and Justice.

44. The number of true cases in this class dealt with by the police in 1912 was 16, of which total 11 ended in conviction while 2 were still undertrial at the close of the year.

45. Two offences relating to coin are returned for 1912 both of which were prosecuted to conviction. One was a case in which a man endeavoured to put into circulation a number of counterfeit two-anna pieces. He was convicted but the origin of the coins could not be discovered. The other was a petty case in which a pice coated with mercury was passed as an eight anna piece.

46. Five escapes from custody occurred during the year under report as compared with 1 in the preceding year. In only one of those cases were the police to blame, however, and all but one of the absconders were re-arrested and convicted. Two constables were punished departmentally in connection with that one case.

47. Six cases of rioting or unlawful assembly were dealt with during the year, three of which ended in conviction while 1 was withdrawn and 1 was still pending at the close of 1912.

48. The only case of any importance was a riot which took place at Bhinai in connection with the Holi. Some time before that festival certain Mahomedans residing at Bhinai had objected to the route along which the Hindus proposed to take their Holi procession and to the singing of obscene songs. The matter was reported to the district authorities with the result that a route had been laid down for that procession which would avoid offence and interference. In spite of this, however, when the time came the Mahomedans made an entirely unwarranted attack on the Hindus and drove them away. There was more than a suspicion that the local police were mixed up in this affair and, as they failed to take proper action after the riot had occurred, the Sub-Inspector was punished departmentally. Nineteen persons were sent up for trial for participating in the riot and were, with one exception, sentenced to various terms of imprisonment and fine.

None of the other cases were of special interest or called for detailed notice.

Class II.—Serious offences against the person.

49. Ninety-nine cases falling in this class were dealt with by the police in 1912 as compared with 88 in the preceding year. Fifty-three of those cases came before the Courts with the result that 35 were convicted, 13 acquitted and 5 were still under trial at the close of the year.

50. Cases of murder numbered 9 as compared with 10 in the preceding year In five of those cases the victims were prostitutes who were strangled and robbed of their ornaments by persons who visited them at their houses. Two similar cases had taken place before the close of 1911 and the failure of the police to detect the perpetrators of any of those crimes up to August 1912 had caused a considerable amount of uneasiness in Ajmer. The gang which ultimately proved to have been responsible for at least three of those murders became emboldened by this and was finally accounted for by the police in connection with the murder of a prostitute named Mussammat Dhuli in August 1912. As a result two men and a woman were sent up for trial whilst a third man was made an approver. Those three persons were convicted by the Sessions Judge but, on appeal to the Chief Commissioner, the conviction was set aside in the case of the two men. Subsequently the approver was himself convicted under section 404, Indian Penal Code, for dishonest possession of the ornaments of a woman who had been murdered in the previous April. In addition to that gang there would appear to have been another man committing murders of the same type unless, indeed, as is possibly the case, he belonged to the same gang but was not named by his accomplices for some special reason.

51. That man attempted to murder yet another woman of the same class as the other victims, in September 1912, but failed in his object and the injured woman subsequently gave a full description of him to the police. It then transpired that a man of the same description had been connected with murders which had occurred in the previous June and in October 1911 but had not been traced. Further search was made for him in connection with this case but it has so far proved unavailing. Every precaution has been taken to ensure that immediate information is given to the police if a man of his description visits any woman of the unfortunate class but the Superintendent of Police is convinced that he was not a resident of Ajmer and as the offer of rewards and the publication of his descriptive roll in Police Gazettes has failed to elicit any further clue there is not much hope that he will now be traced. Since that last case no more murders of the same type have occurred in Ajmer and there is little doubt that the gang already mentioned were responsible for most if not all of those murders.

52. No other cases in this class call for special mention or presented any extraordinary features.

Class III.—Serious offences against person and property or against property only.

53. The total number of true cases of this class dealt with by the police in the year under report was 496 against 541 in 1911. Two hundred and eighty-seven of those cases were not investigated and, of the remainder, 63 were sent up for trial with the result that 52 ended in conviction, 6 in acquittal and 5 were still pending at the close of the year.

54. The number of dakaitis returned for 1912 is six as compared with ten in the preceding year. These were all attacks on travellers journeying along unfrequented roads and village bye-paths. Three of those dakaitis occurred in the course of one week, in January, in the Masuda Circle. Sansis of Mewar were once again suspected and, on information being received that a large gang of that tribe was encamped just across the border, the Sub-Inspector of Masuda prevailed upon the Mewar Police to raid that encampment with the result that much suspicious property was recovered. Part of it was claimed by the complainants in these cases but the identification was not sufficiently convincing to justify those cases being sent up for trial.

55. In another case which occurred in the month of April between the Deoli Cantonment and a village in Jaipur State the complainant professed to recognize, as the perpetrators, some Kanjars who were encamped in Jaipur territory close by. Before action could be taken, however, the gang moved off and could not subsequently be traced. The Superintendent of Police points out that here once again the refusal of the Jaipur Durbar to allow the Ajmer-Merwara Police to cross the border in the course of their investigations or to make any arrests without previously obtaining a parwana seriously hampered the investigation of this case and is much to be deprecated.

56. From May to December the district remained immune from this form of crime but on December 2nd a party of Mahajans were set upon in one of the passes leading from Marwar to Todgarh by a gang of men armed with guns, bows and arrows, and swords and were dispossessed of all their property. In spite of a very full and careful enquiry this case, too, remained undetected though it was strongly suspected to be the work of certain Minas of the Sirohi State who were also believed to be responsible for two serious dakaitis which took place about that same time in the Sojat police circle (Marwar) in villages at no great distance from the scene of this occurrence.

57. The lack of success in dealing with these cases is much to be regretted, but as the Superintendent of Police remarks the return for 1912 proves yet once again how necessary it is that the police of the States which surround Ajmer-Merwara should be permitted to co-operate with the Ajmer Police as freely as the police of districts in British India co-operate with one another and that it is the lack of such co-operation which is mainly responsible for the greater portion of the dakaitis which occur in Ajmer-Merwara. Since the commencement of 1913 both the Udaipur and Jaipur Durbars have been addressed yet once again on this subject and it is to be hoped that the matter will receive more favourable consideration on their part than has been the case in the past.

58. Twelve cases of robbery are returned for 1912 as compared with 4 in the preceding year. Three of those cases ended in conviction, but the remainder were untraced.

59. The sudden rise in this serious form of crime is not satisfactory, but it must be borne in mind that the line separating robbery from dakaiti is a very thin one and that the returns show a considerable decrease in dakaitis. For some years, too, the number of robberies returned has been extraordinarily low and whereas, from 1906 to 1908, the average was 16 cases per annum, from 1909 to 1911 that average dwindled to five.

60. The Superintendent of Police has offered no explanation of these variations but the return for 1912 appears to have been swelled by three cases which occurred within half-a-mile of the Marwar border immediately after the Pushkar fair and by two technical robberies in which women suffered hurt from burglars at night. All of those cases remained undetected.

61. The only other form of crime included in Class III which calls for special notice is housebreaking or burglary (serial No. 29). The number of true cases falling in that category stands at 472 for 1912 as compared with 516 in 1911.

62. The Superintendent of Police points out that the decrease occurred chiefly in the towns (Ajmer, Beawar and Nasirabad) where a regular system of patrolling is in force and attributes it to more efficient patrolling; the figures support this contention. The success met with in cases investigated has not been very marked but compares fairly favourably with the return for 1911. Of 189 cases investigated 58 came before the Courts and, of 53 tried out, 48 ended in conviction. Moreover in a considerable number of cases property stolen by burglars was recovered from receivers which were prosecuted to conviction under section 411, Indian Penal Code. Altogether, though there has been no very marked success in dealing with this form of crime the work has been up to the average and compares favourably with that of the United Provinces Police. No cases of special importance occurred in the year under report.

Class IV.—Minor offences against the person.

63. Only two cases are returned under this class for 1912, of which one was compounded whilst the other was still pending at the close of that year.

Class V.—Minor offences against property.

64. Eight hundred and twenty-seven cases of this class were dealt with by the police in the year under report as compared with 848 in the preceding year. Investigation was made into 537 of those cases with the result that 311 were sent up for trial, 280 being convicted, 20 acquitted and 11 being still pending at the close of 1912.

65. Thefts of cattle rose from 52 to 70. Eight of those cases are returned as not enquired into. Of the remainder, 18 were sent up for trial with the result that 15 ended in conviction, and 2 in acquittal whilst 1 was still pending at the close of the year.

66. In addition to cattle-thieves convicted for the original offence 13 receivers were convicted under sections 411 to 414, Indian Penal Code, so that the number of convictions for cattle-thieving and cognate offences was 28. This is a slightly higher figure than in the two previous years.

67. On the other hand the number of cattle reported to have strayed which were never recovered rose from 176 to 226 and there can be little doubt that a considerable number of those animals were stolen.

68. The special difficulties met with by the Ajmer-Merwara Police in the matter of following up and tracing lost cattle have been dealt with fully in previous reports but as an illustration of this, it may be mentioned that the Superintendent of Police states that in no less than 15 of the cases returned as undetected in 1912 the stolen cattle were subsequently traced to adjacent Native States. In such circumstances it is of the greatest importance that, when cases are successfully worked out, really deterrent sentences should be passed. That this has not hitherto been the case is shown by the following extract from the report of the Superintendent of Police:—

> "In cattle-theft cases the sentences are peculiarly lenient, the average sentence inflicted in 1912 on persons convicted of the original offence of theft or burglary in which cattle were stolen being only four months' imprisonment and Rs 7 fine, while the average sentence inflicted in cases of unlawful possession of stolen cattle was only 1½ months imprisonment and Rs. 12 fine."

The attention of the District Magistrate has been drawn to these facts.

None of the other offences in this class call for special notice.

Class VI.—Other offences not specified above.

69. The number of cases of this class increased from 2,811 to 3,531. That increase was confined to offences falling under the head of "Public Nuisances" and has already been noticed in paragraph 3 of this report.

70. All but seven of those cases came before the Courts with the result that 3,429 were convicted, 68 acquitted or discharged and 36 were still under trial at the close of the year.

71. Prosecutions for vagrancy and bad livelihood numbered 38 as compared with 47 in 1911. Only 4 of those cases came within the purview of section 110 of the Code of Criminal Procedure while the remainder were prosecutions for vagrancy under section 109 of that Code.

72. All the four persons proceeded against under section 110 were ordered to furnish security, the average amount demanded being Rs. 237 with an alternative of 13½ months' imprisonment. Security was furnished by two of those persons, the other two going to prison in default.

73. Of the prosecutions under section 109, Criminal Procedure Code, 22 resulted in security being demanded, while in 5 cases the persons concerned were discharged and 8 were still under trial at the close of the year.

74. The average security demanded in those cases was Rs. 75 with an alternative of 7 months' imprisonment; security was furnished in 8 cases.

75. The police were not quite as successful in such prosecutions as in former years and the Superintendent of Police refers to the injudicious action of one of his subordinates in proceeding on insufficient grounds against certain Naiks of Ajmer who were found masquerading as Sadhus in Beawar. It is desirable that the institution of such prosecutions should be kept by the Superintendent of Police in his own hands.

76. The very large number of suspicious strangers who have been successfully prosecuted under the preventive sections during the last few years has, however, undoubtedly had a marked effect on the crime returns of this district and is probably responsible to no inconsiderable extent for the decrease in organized heinous crime and cases of housebreaking which has taken place in the last six years.

77. Prosecutions for breaches of the Excise and Opium Acts increased from 36 to 53. All but 4 of those cases resulted in conviction.

78. Several of them were cases in connection with the illicit importation and sale of cocaine and one important case of opium smuggling was detected which resulted in the arrest and conviction of a smuggler with 13½ seers of opium in his possession. The police are stated to have earned a considerably larger sum in rewards than in the previous year but the Superintendent of Police has failed to specify the exact amount.

79. The work under this head shows a marked improvement and may be looked on as very satisfactory.

Property stolen and recovered.

80. The amount of property stolen was valued at Rs. 65,444 or Rs. 17,338 more than in 1911. The percentage of recovery, on the other hand, fell from 25 to 12.

81. The variation between the figures of the two years is considerable but there was an even greater variation between the figures of 1910 and 1911; losses in the former year totalling Rs. 99,487 and the percentage of recovery being 13.

82. So many factors have to be taken into consideration when analyzing statistics under this head, however, that it has long been a generally accepted axiom that too much reliance should not be placed on such returns.

Identification by means of finger impressions.

83. The finger-impression slips of 121 persons were sent to the Bureau for search during the year under report as compared with 204 in the preceding year. Thirty-one of those slips resulted in the identity of previously-convicted offenders being established. There has been a considerable falling off both in the number of slips sent for search and in the percentage which resulted in the identity of the persons concerned being established.

Proclaimed offenders.

84. The names of 61 proclaimed offenders figured on the registers of this district at the commencement of 1912. Thirteen names were added during the year making a total of 74 for disposal. Fifteen of those persons were arrested and the names of seven others were expunged for special reasons leaving a closing balance of 52.

85. The result of the special instructions given by the Superintendent of Police to Inspectors and Sub-Inspectors, to which reference was made in the report for 1911, is very apparent as the number of arrests effected in 1912 exceeds the combined total for the two preceding years. It is to be hoped that this important subject will continue to receive the attention which it merits.

SURVEILLANCE OVER PERSONS WHOSE HISTORY-SHEETS HAVE BEEN PREPARED.

86. The number of history-sheets still maintained at the close of 1911 was 530. In the annual report for 1911 that number was quoted as 483 but it would appear that the correct number is as now stated. One hundred and eighty-seven of those history sheets were discontinued for various causes, during 1912, but 118 new sheets were added.

87. At the close of the year under report therefore 461 history-sheets were still maintained and, of this number, 36 referred to criminals who had been re-convicted during the year.

88. The number of persons who figured on the surveillance register at the close of 1912 was 94 and the percentage of persons whose history-sheets were maintained but who were themselves untraced was 15 as compared with 17 at the close of the preceding year. The difficulties met with by the Ajmer-Merwara Police in maintaining effective supervision over such criminals has been fully dealt with in previous reports and, until adjoining States will introduce the system in force in British India and will see that it is acted up to by their police, there is little hope of improvement in this respect.

CO-OPERATION WITH THE POLICE OF NATIVE STATES.

89. The Superintendent of Police reports that relations with the police-officials of the Kishengarh State and Shahpura Chiefship continued to be all that could be desired during 1912 and that a certain amount of assistance was received from the Marwar Police. He still complains of lack of co-operation on the part of the Jaipur and Mewar States officials but it is to be hoped that representations which have recently been made to those Durbars may result in an improvement in the relations with the police-officials of those States also.

STRENGTH, COST AND EMPLOYMENT OF THE POLICE.

90. An increase of 1 Head Constable and 11 Constables took place in the year under report. This was in connection with the relief of the Kekri Municipality from all police charges and the substitution of constabulary for the chaukidari force formerly maintained in that town. All Municipalities in Ajmer-Merwara have now been relieved of police charges. The actual cost of the force rose from Rs. 1,90,309 to Rs. 1,98,573. This increase was due, in part, to the addition to the force referred to above and in part, to better recruitment.

REWARDS AND PUNISHMENTS.

91. One hundred and twenty-one members of the force were rewarded in 1912 as compared with 122 in the preceding year. The total amount paid in rewards, from all sources was Rs. 1,719 : in 1911 it was Rs. 1,794. This variation does not call for any explanation.

92. The total number of punishments inflicted was 38 as compared with 39 in 1911 and included 3 judicial punishments, 17 dismissals and 18 other departmental punishments.

93. It is satisfactory to note that the punishment-roll is once again not a heavy one. In no case was it found necessary to interfere with the order of the Superintendent of Police on appeal and Mr. Coupland is to be congratulated on the discrimination he has shown in taking up departmental cases against his subordinates.

HEALTH.

94. The health of the force was not quite so good as in the preceding year but compared favourably with that for 1910. Nine deaths occurred in 1912 and admissions to hospital totalled 49 per cent. of the actual strength. In 1911 the figures were 4 and 37 respectively.

CASUALTIES.

The following casualties occurred during the year:—

(1) Pension or gratuity	13
(2) Resignation without pension or gratuity	68
(3) Dismissal	19
(4) Discharge otherwise than above	52
(5) Desertion	...
(6) Death	9

95. These figures are slightly in advance of those for 1911 (when casualties totalled 151) and this is partly due to the increase in deaths and partly to an increase in the number of recruits who were discharged within their probationary period as unlikely to make efficient police-officers. As regards this latter cause it was almost inevitable that there should be such an increase in view of the large number of recruits enlisted in 1911.

96. On the other hand it is satisfactory to note that there has been, yet once again, a fall in the number of resignations, even though it is only a small one, and that the prophecy of the Superintendent of Police, as recorded in his report for 1911, that resignations would increase considerably in 1912 has not been fulfilled. It must be admitted, however, that recruiting was not nearly as brisk as in the preceding year and the short rainfall of 1912 may possibly have induced some recruits to stay on who would otherwise have returned to agricultural pursuits.

GENERAL REMARKS.

97. The work of the police has once again been satisfactory. In dealing with some of the more serious forms of crime the success met with has not been very marked but the figures as a whole compare favourably with those of former years and there are numerous satisfactory features in the year's work, not the least of which are the decrease in cases of house-breaking in the larger towns, the capture of the gang of murderers in Ajmer and the low dakaiti return.

98. The conduct and discipline of the force have been excellent and the punishment-roll is, once again, a short one.

99. All police-stations were inspected at least once by a gazetted officer and twice by a Circle-Inspector.

100. The most important building project undertaken during the year was the erection of a new police-station at Todgarh. Family quarters have now been added to all but the largest police-stations and the comfort of subordinate officers has been much increased thereby.

101. Since the commencement of 1913 Mr. Coupland's long connection with Ajmer-Merwara has come to an end as he has proceeded on long leave and will not return to Ajmer-Merwara at the end of it.

102. The change he has effected in the work, conduct and general bearing of the Ajmer-Merwara Police since he first assumed charge of that Force in 1906 has been very marked and he is fully entitled to the thanks of the Administration for the excellent work he has done and the great improvement he has achieved.

(2) CRIMINAL JUSTICE (YEAR ENDING THE 31ST DECEMBER 1912).

(Vide Statements Nos. 11 to 16 and 25.)

103. During the year under report the office of District Magistrate, Ajmer and Merwara, was held by Mr. B. J. Glancy, I.C.S.

104. The total number of offences reported was 10,698, of which 9,205 were returned as true.

105. Of these, 2,963 were reported under the Police Act against 2,368 in the preceding year.

106. The number of cases under the Opium Act was 14 as against 20 in the year 1911 and 13 in 1910.

107. The number of persons under trial in the year was 12,969 ; of these 7,968 were convicted.

108. The corresponding figures for 1911 were 11,214 and 6,573 respectively.

109. The number of persons placed on trial before the Honorary Magistrates was 7,157 as against 5,826 in 1911.

110. The average duration of each case was 27·17 days as against 27·54 in 1911.

111. The number of witnesses examined was 4,699 as against 4,637 in the year 1911.

112. The number of persons placed on trial before the District Magistrate was 96.

113. The Court of Session dealt with the cases of 13 persons as against 19 in 1911, of these 8 were convicted, 2 were discharged, and 3 remained under trial.

114. The Railway Magistrate tried 123 persons of whom 101 were convicted.

115. The number of appeals and revisions (excluding Railway cases) dealt with by the District Magistrate was 161 out of which 92 were summarily disposed of and rejected.

116. The sentence in 58 cases was reversed and 11 remained pending.

117. The number of appeals and revisions, excluding Railway cases, dealt with by the Sessions Judge was 128, out of which 81 cases were summarily disposed of and rejected.

118. The sentence in 10 cases was reduced and in 24 reversed.

119. Fresh trials were ordered in 3 cases; 3 cases were referred to the High Court and 7 remained pending at the close of the year.

120. The Courts of the (1) Honorary Magistrate, Pisangan, (2) Honorary Magistrate, Bhinai, (3) Honorary Magistrate, Sawar, (4) Extra Assistant Commissioner, III, Kekri, (5) Cantonment Magistrate, Nasirabad, (6) Cantonment Magistrate, Deoli, and (7) Honorary Magistrates of Ajmer were inspected by the District Magistrate, Ajmer.

121. The following Courts were inspected by the Commissioner :—(1) Cantonment Magistrate, Nasirabad, (2) Extra Assistant Commissioner, III, Kekri, (3) Deputy Magistrate, Beawar, (4) Tahsildar, Beawar, (5) Naib Tahsildar, Beawar, (6) Honorary Magistrate, Kharwa.

(3) Civil Justice (year ending 31st December 1912.)

122. The number of Courts during the year was 29 excluding the Court of the Naib Tahsildar, Todgarh, who does not exercise Civil powers. (Vide Statements Nos. 17 to 25).

123. The total number of suits (including miscellaneous suits) was 8,844 as against 8,525 in the year 1911, showing an increase of 319.

124. The total value of civil suits instituted this year was Rs. 7,63,318 as against Rs. 4,19,738 in 1911.

125. Suits of all kinds, the value of which did not exceed Rs. 50, numbered 3,930.

126. The total number of suits of all kinds for disposal including arrears was 10,509. The number of contested suits disposed of was 1,106; 113 suits were decided by arbitration and 5,356 without any contest—the number disposed of without trial was 2,063 ; and 78 suits were transferred to other Courts. The pending file at the close of the year was 1,793 as compared with 1,665 in the preceding year, and of the former 309 suits had been pending for more than three months. The average duration of contested civil suits was 170·00 days and that of uncontested suits 51.

Appeal—

127. On the appellate side, there were 408 appeals from decrees and orders, and the pending file at the close of the year was 221 against 128 in the preceding year; the average duration of appeals was 208·00 days against 178·00 in the preceding year.

128. The number of applications for execution of decrees was 15,227 against 14,465 in 1911. The number pending at the end of the year was 2,260 as compared with 2,301 in the last year.

129. No judgment debtor was imprisoned in execution of a decree during the year. During the year the Commissioner inspected the Courts of Cantonment Magistrate and Sub-Judge, 1st class, Nasirabad, Extra Assistant Commissioner, III, Kekri, Deputy Magistrate and Sub-Judge, Beawar, Tahsildar and Naib Tahsildar, Beawar, and Honorary Munsif of Kharwa.

130. On account of heavy arrears in the Court of the Judicial Assistant Commissioner, Ajmer, 52 suits were transferred during the year, from his Court to the following Courts:—

1 Assistant Commissioner	12
2 Revenue Extra Assistant Commissioner	40

(4) REGISTRATION (YEAR ENDING THE 31ST DECEMBER 1912).

131. The total number of all classes of documents presented for registration during the year under report was 6,368 as against 4,677 in the preceding year. The increase of 1,691 which occurred chiefly under the head of Book No. I, that is to say, non-testamentary documents relating to immovable property, may be accounted for by the execution of a larger number of documents in consequence of the unsatisfactory harvests of the year, coupled with the increased activity of the Co-operative Credit Societies and the pressure for punctual repayment of instalments and demand of better security on the part of money lenders, purchase of more land by the cultivators and Mahajans and realization of the benefits of registration by the people in Merwara.

132. Out of the total number of documents presented for registration, 3,309 documents or 51·96 per cent. of the whole as against 55·27 per cent. in the preceding year were registered by the Sub-Registrar, Ajmer.

133. The area of agricultural land transferred by sale during the year was 11,128 bighas as compared with 7,831 bighas in the year 1911, showing the large increase of 3,297 bighas. Similarly the area of agricultural land transferred by mortgage also shows the very remarkable increase of 5,984 bighas, i.e., from 13,227 bighas in the preceding year to 19,211 bighas in the year under report. In 1910 the corresponding figures were: area sold 5,424 bighas, area mortgaged 7,580 bighas.

134. The total value of the land transferred by sale and mortgage amounted to Rs. 7,02,479 or Rs. 1,62,821 more than in the preceding year.

135. The total receipts and expenditure of the year amounted to Rs. 11,466 and Rs. 3,595 as against Rs. 9,138 and Rs. 2,528, respectively, in 1911 showing a surplus of Rs. 7,871.

136. The system of recording thumb impressions worked well throughout the year.

Vide Statements Nos. 27 to 30.

(5) MUNICIPALITIES (YEAR ENDING THE 31ST MARCH 1913.)

Ajmer Municipality.

137. The principal event of the year was the visit of Their Excellencies Lord and Lady Hardinge to Ajmer in November 1912.

The constitution of the Ajmer Municipal Committee remained unchanged.

138. During the year under report the Committee held 26 Meetings, of which five were special and 21 ordinary. The average attendance at each meeting was 5·76 and 21·18 respectively.

139. The total income of the year was Rs. 3,96,353, including Rs. 1,20,000 granted by Government for sanitary purposes, as against Rs. 2,83,266 in 1911-1912. The expenditure amounted to a Rs. 2,96,759 as against Rs. 3,23,406 in the previous year, and the closing balance was Rs. 1,62,085.

140. If refunds are excluded, which amounted to Rs. 41,189 in 1911-1912 and Rs. 46,682 in 1912-1913, the figures for the two years compare as below :—

	1911-1912.	1912-1913.	Difference.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Income	2,42,077	3,49,671	+1,07,594
Expenditure . . .	2,82,217	2,50,077	— 32,140

141. The increase in receipts is mainly due to the Government grant made to the Municipality for sanitary improvements.

142. The decrease in expenditure is chiefly under the heads "Police," "Conservancy," "Roads," and "other items."

143. There was no expenditure under head "Police." Under head "Conservancy" the decrease is due to no abnormal expenditure having been incurred during the year.

144. The decrease under head "Roads" is due to no extraordinary repairs having been executed during the year.

145. The gross and net receipts from Octroi in the two years are shown below :—

	Gross.	Net.
	Rs.	Rs.
1911-1912	1,94,438	1,53,249
1912-1913	2,10,085	1,63,403
	+15,647	+10,154

146. The increase of Rs. 15,647 in gross receipts has occurred chiefly under the items "other articles of food," "Sugar" and "Grains," and may be ascribed to large imports in consequence of the year being a favourable one for marriages.

147. The total disbursements during the year under report amounted to Rs. 2,96,759 against Rs. 3,23,406 in the previous year.

148. The variations chiefly occurred under the following heads :—

	Increase.	Decrease.
	Rs.	Rs.
Refunds	5,493	—
Police	—	6,890
Water-supply	20,652	—
Conservancy	—	34,780
Veterinary charges	1,628	—
Roads	—	3,397
Public Instruction	1,590	—
Other items	—	12,166

149. The decrease under heads "Police," "Conservancy," "Roads," and "other items" has already been explained.

150. The increase under head "Refunds" may be attributed to the increase in Octroi receipts.

151. The increase of Rs. 20,652 under heads "Water-supply" is chiefly due to pumping tests at Sagarmati, which amounted to Rs. 16,563, and to pumping water from Budha Pushkar for the greater part of the year.

152. The increase of Rs. 1,628 under head "Veterinary charges" is due to the Committee's contribution to the Veterinary shoeing forge for two years, at Rs. 820 per annum.

153. The increase under head "Public Instruction" is chiefly due to the payment of contribution towards the Dayanand Assam Anglo Vedic High School and a gratuity to Rao Sahib Pandit Narsingh Das, late Head Master-City Branch School.

154. A sum of Rs. 16,790 was paid during the year towards the liquidation of Government loans.

155. The balance of the loan still due from the Municipality amounted to Rs. 1,93,503 at the end of the year.

156. The incidence of taxation rose from Rs. 1-12-4 to Rs-1-14-2.

157. The management of the Ajmer Water Works was in the hands of Mr. P. A. L. Cantin, Executive Engineer, Ajmer Provincial Division, with Mr. J. Gorman, Assistant Engineer and Sub-Divisional Officer, Ajmer, to assist him.

158. The first rainfall, registered on the 9th July 1912, was ·52 inches when the Foysagar lake rose from ·99 feet, the lowest point reached, to 3·22 feet, representing a rise of 2·23 feet. From this date the water level began to rise.

159. The total depth of the Foysagar between the sill of the lowest sluice and full supply level is 24 feet, and the highest point recorded after the hot weather was 15·10 feet on 1st September 1912.

160. The water level of the lake on the 1st April 1912 was 7·48 feet, so that between this and the 9th July 1912, the date of the first rainfall registered, the water level dropped 6·49 feet, as against 4·24 feet registered from 1st April to 13th June of the previous year.

161. The total rainfall between June and September 1912 was only 14·08 inches, while for the whole year under report it was 15·09 inches, the normal fall being 21·09 inches.

162. The supply of water by gravitation being insufficient, pumping had to be resorted to for 194 days in July 1912 and from September 1912 to March 1913.

163. In addition to this, the Railway had to be called in to help and the water supplied by them from Budha Pushkar amounted to 24·06 million gallons

164. The question of taxing the Railway for indirect services rendered to them by the Municipality has been concluded by an amicable arrangement according to which the Railway will pay a fixed sum annually for a period of years.

165. From the tests carried out in the Sagarmati Valley there is good reason to hope for success in an additional water-supply from that valley. An estimate of the cost amounting to Rs. 4,39,085 has been prepared by the Superintending Engineer, Rajputana, and is under the consideration of the Committee who propose to make an application to Government for a loan with a view to starting work as soon as possible.

166. The Committee are likely to enter into a partnership with the Railway in regard to all existing and future water schemes to the advantage of both parties, but the completion of the Sagarmati valley project will not be delayed pending the settlement of this question.

167. The scheme for replacing so far as practicable the present bullock power in Conservancy system by steam traction has been sanctioned by the Local Administration and it is proposed to utilize the whole of the Government grant of Rs. 1,20,000 in this scheme, and in the renewal of rolling stock which it urgently required.

168. The number of recorded births rose from 1,572 to 1,694 and that of deaths decreased from 3,418 to 2,820.

169. The birth and death rate per mille of population was 19·63 and 32·22 against 18·22 and 39·61 respectively in the preceding year.

170. The mortality among children under five years of age was 1,246 (44·18 per cent. of the total mortality) against 1,751 in the previous year.

171. 13 deaths from cholera and 28 from small-pox were reported.

172. The total number of vaccinations performed in the Ajmer town and suburbs was 2,692 against 3,935 in the previous year. The number of primary vaccinations was 2,599 and of re-vaccinations 93 against 3,458 and 477 respectively last year.

173. Forty-one hoppers and 10 hand carts were received during the year under report. One new five seated galvanized iron urinal and one new four seated galvanized iron latrine have been provided in the city. The number of Conservancy carts, etc., is insufficient.

173. The sanitary arrangements which were insuffieient and backwrad are receiving attention.

174. There was no change in the Municipal boundaries during the year.

Beawar Municipality.

175. During the year under report the Commitee held 21 meetings of which 12 were special and 9 ordinary as compared with 7 special and 5 ordinary in 1911-12.

176. The total net income of the year amounted to Rs. 91,189 as against Rs. 70,531 in 1911-12 and the expenditure to Rs. 87,000 as against Rs. 77,184. The closing balance amounted to Rs. 83,131 exclusive of Rs. 10,000 invested in Government paper.

177. The increase of Rs. 20,658 in the income is chiefly due to the grant of Rs. 25,000 from Government for sanitary purposes, but the head Octroi shows a decrease of Rs. 3,115, which is mainly due to the fact that "Gur" that was imported last year was exported this year.

178. The incidence of Octroi taxation on a population of 22,800 was Rs. 2-11-3 per head as against Rs. 2-13-4 in the year 1911-12.

179. Compared with the previous year the expenditure shows a decrease of Rs. 20,184 which occurred chiefly under the heads "General Administration," "Police," and "Roads."

180. The Water-Supply Scheme for Beawar from Jalia drawn up by the Superintending Engineer, Rajputana, amounting to Rs. 77,541 has been approved by the Municipal Committee, Beawar, and the Local Government has granted Rs. 25,000 towards this scheme out of the Government grant of 1½ lakhs allotted to Ajmer-Merwara for sanitary purposes.

181. The number of births and deaths registered during the year was 1,058 and 1,089 as against 1,021 and 1,189 in 1911-1912.

Kekri Municipality.

182. There have been the following changes in the constitution of the Committee during the year under report:—

(1) Appointment of Vias Nathulal in place of Prohit Nawal Kishore.

(2) Appointment of Munib Mangi Lal in place of Munib Lakhshmi Narayan.

183. The Committee held three ordinary and three special meetings.

184. The total income and expenditure during the year amounted to Rs. 14,545 and Rs. 9,413 as against Rs. 9,716 and Rs. 9,958 respectively in the year 1911-12. The closing balance on the 31st March 1913 amounted to Rs. 11,232 inclusive of Rs. 2,000 invested in Government securities.

185. The increase of Rs. 4,838 in receipts is mainly under head Octroi which is the chief source of income of the Municipality and shows an increase of Rs. 4,677. This increase is chiefly due to a considerable increase in the imports of commodities owing to the celebration of a large number of marriages and the holding of funeral feasts this year, as also to the introduction of the new Octroi schedule.

186. The decrease of Rs. 545 in expenditure was mainly under heads "Police," "Conservancy," and "Garden and Arboriculture."

187. The Committee have been relieved of all expenses incurred in connection with the maintenance of the Municipal Police from 1st May 1912.

188. The incidence of Octroi taxation was Rs. 2-0-4 per head of the population during the year under report as against Rs. 1-3-9 in 1911-12.

189. The number of births and deaths recorded during the year was 232 and 231 as against 173 and 246 respectively during 1911-12.

190. Rules regarding the assessment and collection of Octroi in the Kekri Municipality and the new Octroi schedule were sanctioned by the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara, during the year 1912-13.

SECTION IV.

PRODUCTION AND DISTRIBUTION.

Agriculture Summary.

191. The year under report com prises Rabi 1319 Fasli and Kharif 1320 Fasli.

192. The Rabi crops which depended on the rainfall of 1911 were generally fair to good (14 annas) in the Ajmer Tahsil, fair (12 annas) in the Beawar Tahsil and bad (5 annas) in the Todgarh Tahsil.

193. The Kharif crops depending on the rainfall of 1912 were fair in Ajmer and fair to good in Merwara, giving an average outturn of 12 annas in the rupee in the Ajmer Tahsil, 10 annas in the Beawar Tahsil and 16 annas in the Todgarh Tahsil.

Ajmer.

194. The area sown for the Rabi of 1911-12 was 43,015½ acres of which 1,490½ failed. The outturn was estimated at 4,69,284 maunds. The area under cultivation for the Kharif of 1912-13 was 1,20,364½ acres of which 29,140 (or more than 24 per cent.) failed.

195. The outturn was estimated at 3,02,219 maunds. The actual collections on account of these two harvests amounted to Rs. 2,40,018 against Rs. 2,10,030 last year.

196. The arrears of revenue realised amounted to Rs. 25,261.

197. The total collections during the year came to Rs. 2,65,279 as against Rs. 2,34,534 in 1911-12. A sum of Rs. 6,502 was remitted on account of agricultural calamities. The amount of revenue outstanding at the close of the year was Rs. 19,066.

198. There were many applicat ons this year for Takavi under the Land Improvement Loans Act for digging or deepening wells, as in some villages the wells had little or no percolation, the tanks on which they depend having received only a scanty supply of water during the rains of 1912. Rs. 16,690 was advanced on this account and Rs. 14,476 for the construction of tanks in Jagir and Istimrari estates. Under the Agriculturists Loans Act only Rs. 100 was advanced during the year. The recoveries of both principal and interest under the two Acts amounted to Rs. 4,357 against a demand of Rs. 51,780, out of which Rs. 4,021, representing old and irrecoverable arrears, was remitted under the orders of the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner.

Merwara.

199. The area sown for the Rabi of 1911-12 was 24,149 acres of which 4,199½ acres failed. The outturn was estimated at 1,55,409 maunds. In the Kharif of 1912-13, 66,105 acres of land were brought under cultivation of which 27,701½ or more than 42 per cent. failed.

200. The outturn was estimated at 2,62,844 maunds. The collections of revenue on account of these two harvests amounted to Rs. 78,639 as compared with Rs. 55,205 in 1911-12 and Rs. 22,352 was realised on account of previous years, the total collections thus amounting to Rs. 1,00,991. During the year under report Rs. 21,333 was remitted on account of agricultural calamities in the two Tahsils in the District, and Rs. 2,489 was suspended.

201. Rupees 8,964 was advanced under the Land Improvement Loans Act and Rs. 11,320 under the Agriculturists Loans Act. The realizations under both Acts amounted to Rs. 8,757 including Rs. 2,270 on account of interest. The total amount of advances which remained outstanding under the two Acts at the close of the year in both the Tahsils of Merwara was 1,38,062.

Exploring Licenses.

Mines.

202. During the year under report three licenses to explore for minerals in the Merwara District were granted each for a year, one to Mr. Pestonji Jehangir and two to Mr. Sorabji Dadabhoy.

203. No such license was issued in the Ajmer District.

Prospecting Licenses.

204. One license for mica in the Ajmer District was granted for one year to Mr. W. C. Morley. In the Merwara District, 25 licenses were issued each for a year, one to Messrs. G. F. Guy and W. C. Morley, three to Mr. Sorabji Dadabhoy, seven to Mr. Pestonji Jehangir (for mica), and fourteen to Mr. Mani Lal Prem Chand (for mica and graphite).

Mining Leases.

205. No lease was granted either in the Ajmer or the Merwara District.

Mining Contracts in Istamrari Estates.

206. Four mining contracts were sanctioned in the Istamrari estates as noted below :—

Name of estate.	In whose favour.	For what Mineral.	Period.
Padlia	Seth Inder-Chand Chintaman Das, Dhores of Jaipur.	Garnet . . .	1 year.
Deogaon, Baghera	Messrs. G. F. Guy and W. C. Morley.	Mica . . .	3 years.
Jetpura, Jedana	Seth Gopi Chand Dhore of Jaipur..	Garnet . . .	3 years.
Basundni	Mr. W. C. Morley on behalf of the Rajputana syndicate.	Mica and Tantalum .	4 years.

Trade.

207. The returns of the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway metregauge, show an increase in the number of passengers booked from stations in Ajmer-Merwara from 13,15,725 in 1911 to 13,64,028 in 1912 (calendar year).

208. The grain traffic of the two most important local trade centres for the year under report and the previous year is given below :—

	1911. Tons.	1912. Tons.
Ajmer—
Imports	9,750	14,749
Exports	220	402
Balance in favour in imports . .	9,530	14,347
Beawar—
Imports	4,590	15,706
Exports	5,077	6,048
Balance in favour of exports . .	487	...
Balance in favour of imports . .	...	9,658

209. It will be seen that in Ajmer the imports of grain rose by 51 per cent. and in Bewar by as much as 242 per cent.

210. The exports also rose in both districts.

211. Imports of cotton at Bewar rose from 3,186 to 5,676 tons during the year 1911.

Public Works.

212. During the year under review the total expenditure incurred on Public Works in the Ajmer-Merwara Districts (exclusive of Irrigation Works, Canals and Railways) amounted to Rs. 2,48,435 of which Rs. 2,38,512 were spent on works within the jurisdiction of the Commissioner as against Rs. 2,29,575 in 1911-1912.

The chief works carried out during the year were—

Making additions and alterations to the District Court at Ajmer.

Providing iron gratings and shelves to Barracks Nos. 18 and 19 in the Central Jail, Ajmer.

Constructing family quarters at Rupnagar Police out-post.

Constructing new record rooms and dais for the Naib Tahsildar's Court at Beawar.

Converting the old-Veterinary School building at Ajmer into a Normal School.

Constructing additional out houses for Bandanwara Inspection Bungalow.

213. The expenditure on communications amounted to Rs. 1,30,602. Revenue credited to Imperial Civil Works during 1912-13 on account of Ajmer-Merwara was Rs. 8,788 including Rs. 940, Rs. 568 and Rs. 660 on account of rent of the Agency House at Deoli, the Agency Surgeon's quarters at Deoli, and the Cantonment Magistrates, Bungalow at Nasirabad, respectively.

Roadside plantation.

Arboriculture Roadside tree plantation.

214. At the beginning of the year the total length of roads with avenues was 70 miles 1 furlong.

215. During the year 6 miles 3 furlongs of Imperial and 4 miles 4 furlongs of District Fund roads were planted with young trees, thereby making a total length of 81 miles of avenue roads. The number of trees planted to fill up blankets was 2,252. The total cost of planting and maintaining the trees on both Imperial and District Fund roads amounted to Rs. 6,013 against Rs. 4,699 in the previous year. The increase in expenditure is chiefly due to the larger supply of iron tree guards on the Neemuch-Nasirabad road, and to the additional cost incurred on fodder owing to the scarcity which was very acute from 1st April to 30th June 1912, on Ajmer-Kishengarh, Nasirabad-Deoli, and Beawar-Sendra roads.

216. Four water tanks for the Imperial roads were prepared and charged to this year's accounts.

217. The expenditure on Imperial roads was Rs. 3,984 and on District Fund roads Rs. 2,029.

218. The cost incurred on the maintenance of nurseries was Rs. 312 from Imperial and Rs. 15 from the District Fund.

219. The income derived from the sale of dry wood, grass, and babul pods, etc., amounted to Rs. 493 against Rs. 358 in the preceding year.

Inspection of Raingauges.

220. The number of raingauges maintained in Ajmer-Merwara during the year 1912-1913 was 86 (including 28 raingauges kept in the Public Works Department stores which are only used during the rainy season for recording rainfall at certain tanks) against 58 shown in the report for 1911-1912. All the raingauges were inspected from time to time by the district officers and found in efficient condition. All except one are Symon's gauges.

SECTION V.

REVENUE AND FINANCE.

A.—IMPERIAL.

(1) Land and water Revenue.

Character of the season. (Vide statement No. 31.)

221. The year under report, which includes the accounts for the Rabi harvest of 1319 Fasli and the Kharif of 1320 Fasli, was on the whole comparatively more favourable than its predecessor, the average rainfall of the year being 14·46 inches (vide table 31) against the normal for the district of 19·22 inches. The outturn of the Rabi harvest was generally poor owing to the scanty rains of the previous year but that of the Kharif harvest was fair to good. Remissions of a portion of the revenue demand for the former harvest had accordingly to be granted.

Variable assessment.

222. The system of fluctuating assessment in the 46 villages selected at the time of the settlement worked well, and the villagers' liking for it showed signs of increasing, as 4 villages under fixed assessment have applied to have the variable system extended to them.

223. The practical results, both in regard to the area sown and the revenue realized, show a decrease when compared with the standard fixed at the time of the settlement. This is due to the scanty rainfall of the year, specially in the Beawar Tahsil.

224. The following table compares, for the variable villages, the revenue actually assessed for the year 1320 Fasli with the standard fixed at the settlement :—

Tahsil.	Standard.			Annual crop rate tank revenue for 15 years including famine.	Actuals for 1320 Fasli.			Average crop rate tank assessed 1320 Fasli.

Demand, collection, etc., vide statement No. 32 of appendices.

225. The current demand on account of land and water revenue for the year amounted to Rs. 3,71,826 against 3,49,435 for the year 1911-12, the increase of Rs. 22,391 being chiefly due to a larger area having been cultivated and assessed during the year on account of better rainfall. Including the arrears of previous years the total demand aggregated Rs. 4,67,384. Out of this Rs. 3,66,270 were realized, as against Rs. 2,93,196 in the previous year as shown below :—

	1911-12.	1912-13.
	Rs.	Rs.
Arrears	27,958	47,613
Revenue of the year . . .	2,65,238	3,18,657
	2,93,196	3,66,270

226. The figures for 1912-13 include Rs. 442-7-2 on account of surplus collections of previous years taken into account during the year under report and exclude Rs. 22-10-3 collected as surplus to be taken into account next year.

227. During the year under report the total amount remitted was Rs. 66,837, of which Rs. 3,000 represented suspended arrears long out-standing against the Istimrardars of Jotayan, Arwar and Koda. The balance, Rs. 63,837, represents the demand of Kharif and Rabi harvests of 1319 Fasli (1912 A.D.) which was remitted on account of insufficient rainfall.

Prices.

228. The retail prices of the principal food grains (barley and maize) varied in April 1912 from 11 seers 12 chhataks in the Ajmer Tahsil to 14 seers in Beawar.

229. In May to September they remained between 10 seers 9 chhatks and 14 seers 14 chhataks. In October the prices ranged from 12 seers 14 chhataks to 14 seers 4 chhataks, while from November 1912 to the end of the year they showed a slight tendency to fall.

Gratuitous Relief.

230. In Todgarh Tahsil, where conditions were unfavourable, arrangements were made for the distribution of gratuitous relief on a restricted scale to deserving persons.

Agricultural stock.

231. The table below compares with the two previous years the results of the enumeration of agricultural stock in Ajmer-Merwara during the year under report :—

	1910-11.	1911-12.	1912-13.
Cows and bullocks . .	1,76,994	1,90,047	1,88,563
Buffaloes	19,850	23,183	26,494
Sheep and goats . . .	2,77,447	2,76,188	2,29,848

232. There was no epidemic disease among the cattle throughout the year except foot and mouth disease and small-pox, which prevailed in the Beawar Tahsil.

233. Fodder for cattle was insufficient in Merwara and consequently a grass depôt was opened at Beawar, from which 11,500 maunds of grass were distributed as takavi to the agricultural classes.

234. Local forest reserves were also thrown open for grazing cattle.

Boundary marks disputes.

235. Boundary pillars and survey and plot marks were inspected by the Revenue officials from time to time : 8 boundary pillars were found damaged and steps were taken to put them in order. The number of boundary cases pending from the last year was 9, and 95 cases were instituted during the year under report making a total of 104. Of these 92 were disposed of, leaving 12 pending at the close of the year which it is proposed to make over to a special Boundary Settlement Officer for settlement during the ensuing cold weather.

Records and staff.

236. In accordance with the rules regarding the correct maintenance of the new khasras and maps, 4,544 corrections were made during the year under report. The Tahsildars and Naib Tahsildars constantly made inspecting tours in the district and spent on an average 107 days in the Ajmer Tahsil, and 129 and 150 days in the Beawar and Todgarh Tahsils respectively.

237. The Todgarh Tahsil was inspected by the Extra Assistant Commissioner, Merwara, and the Ajmer Tahsil by the Assistant Commissioner, Ajmer.

Revenue Processes.

238. 144 writs, 105 warrants of arrest and 14 warrants of attachment were issued for the recovery of dues of land and water revenue and takavi, but no person was imprisoned for default of payment.

239. In Ajmer 12 cases were pending from the last year and 6,607 cases were instituted during the year under report, of which 6,607 were disposed of. In Merwara the numbers of institutions and disposals of cases were 11,929 and 11,560 respectively.

Acquisition of land for public purposes and reduction of Government Jama.

240. 62 bighas and 7 biswas of land were taken up in the Ajmer district for Railways and 4 Bighas and 14 biswas for buildings and miscellaneous works.

241. A sum of Rs. 35,859-13-2 was paid by way of compensation and Rs. 22-15-3 represented the amount of reduction in the Government roll.

Alienation of Government land.

242. There was no case of alienation of Government land nor assignment of land revenue during the year.

(2) Opium, Excise and Drugs.

Excise, (vide statements Nos. 36—40.)

243. The gross receipts from excise opium and drugs amounted to Rs. 3,51,961 against Rs. 3,46,320 in the preceding year, showing an increase of Rs. 5,641, which is chiefly noticeable under the head of Country Spirits and is due to comparatively high bids having been offered at the time of sale of country spirit shops by the bidders owing to keen competition. The expenditure on the excise establishment amounted to Rs. 18,468 as compared with Rs. 18,143 in the preceding year. The net profit on the year's working thus amounted to Rs. 3,33,493 against Rs. 3,28,177 in the year 1911-12.

244. The year under review is the 5th year of the contract supply system. The rates at which country spirits are supplied by the contractor are as follows :— Country spirits.

	MOHWA		GUR
	25 U. P.	50 U. P.	25 U. P.	50 U. P.
Rate per gallon	0—13—6	0—8—0	0—15—0	0—9—6

245. The receipts under the head Country Spirits amounted to Rs. 3,02,9 7 as compared with Rs. 2,98,229 in the year 1911-12.

246. The total issues of country liquor from the Ajmer distillery were 51,779·7 proof gallons as against 53,248·9 gallons in 1911-12. The decrease in consumption was due to the unfavourable season. The still-head duty on spirits issued for consumption in urban and rural areas was as follows :—

	Rs. a. p.
Urban area	4— 6—0	per proof gallon
Rural area	3—12—0	„ „ „

247. The number of country liquor shops in the district was the same as last year, viz., 128. The shops at Baghana and Dawair, however, remained closed, the latter for want of a purchaser and the former because of the contractor not making a profit by the sale of liquor at the shop.

248. The question of restricting the issue of temporary licenses for the sale of spirits at fairs and festivals was kept in view, but no change in the present practice appeared necessary.

249. The privilege of tapping and vending tari is held by a contractor. A sum of Rs. 275 was recovered in advance on account of the contract money for the year 1913-14. The number of shops for vending tari was 5; 1,080 trees were tapped, the yield being 7,321 gallons and 1 bottle of tari. Tari.

250. The number of licenses issued during the year for the sale of foreign liquor was 16 against 17 last year. The license fees for the wholesale and retail vend of foreign spirits and foreign fermented liquor amounted to Rs. 2,144 against Rs. 2,168 in the preceding year. Statistics showing the wholesale and retail vend and consumption of foreign liquors are given in appendices 40-B and 40-C. Foreign Liquors.

251. The receipts under opium amounted to Rs. 29,059 against Rs. 29,113 in 1911-12. Opium.

Opium weighing 42 Maunds 37 seers 13 ch. 5 mashas was imported for consumption in Ajmer-Merwara, the import duty realized being Rs. 6,872 against 54 Maunds 10 seers 4 ch. 4 tolas 4½ mashas and Rs. 8,681 respectively in the preceding year. The decrease in the import duty is due to a less quantity of opium having been imported from outside because there was a stock of locally produced opium with the licensed vendors.

252. The total number of licenses issued during the year for the wholesale vend of opium was 10 as against 14 in 1911-12.

253. The number of shops for retail vend was 41, viz., 8 in the Municipal and 33 in the rural areas.

254. No license was issued for the cultivation of opium during the year under review.

255. The contraband opium sent to the Ghazipur factory amounted to 14 seers and 4½ ch.

256. The receipts from hemp drugs amounted to Rs. 17,364 against Rs. 16,458 in the preceding year. The increase is due to larger bids at the time of the sale of shops owing to keen competition. Hemp Drugs.

257. The number of shops for the retail vend of intoxicating drugs was the same as in the preceding year, viz., 16.

Prosecution.

258. During the year 75 persons were prosecuted under the Excise Act, of whom 57 were convicted. Under the Opium Act, 22 persons were prosecuted and 20 were convicted. No chandu or madak denkeeper was prosecuted during the year. The number of opium smoking dens was 12 as against 13 in the preceding year. 152 persons against 108 last year were convicted under the Police Act for drunkenness during the year under report—vide statement No. 40-A.

General Remarks.

259. The results of the excise administration for the year under report are satisfactory and are creditable to the excise staff. The cocaine habit has greatly increased in the Ajmer City and it is doubtful whether the maximum punishment prescribed by the law, viz., three months' imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 1,000, is sufficiently deterrent.

(3) STAMPS.

Vide Statement No. 41.

260. The gross income from stamps amounted to Rs. 1,79,071 as against Rs. 1,66,890 in the year 1911-12 as detailed below :

	1911-12	1912-13	Difference.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Judicial stamps	1,17,249	1,23,186	+5,937
Non-judicial	49,641	55,885	+6,244

261. The increase of Rs. 5,937 in the sale of judicial stamps is due to the institution of a large number of suits. The increase in the sale of non-judicial stamps is attributed to larger monetary transactions during the year under report.

262. No prosecution took place for any breach of the Stamp Law nor was anything recovered on account of pauper suits.

263. The number of stamp vendors was the same as in the last year. The discount paid amounted to Rs. 3,432 as against Rs. 3,088 in 1911-12.

264. The total charges in connection with the working of the stamp department amounted to Rs. 18,202 as compared with Rs. 18,228 in the previous year.

(4) Income Tax.

265. The number of persons assessed to income tax duing the year under report was 866 aginst 852 last year.

266. The final demand and collections as compared with those for 1911-12 are as follows :—

	1912-13.	1911-12.
	Rs.	Rs.
Final demand	72,781	69,734
Collections	73,521	67,185

267. The gross collections including arrears amounted to Rs. 72,230, as against Rs. 69,784 in the previous year, as shown below :—

	1912-13.	1911-12.
	Rs.	Rs.
Tax	69,736	67,185
Arrears	2,494	2,595
Penalties	...	4
TOTAL . . .	72,230	69,784

268. There were no prosecutions during the year nor was anything collected as penalties. The cost of collection was Rs. 5,628 (including refunds Rs. 4,420) against Rs. 6,801 last year ; the net profit accruing to Government on the year's working was thus Rs. 66,602 compared with Rs. 62,983 in the preceding year.

269. The Extra Assistant Commissioner I, Ajmer, exercised the powers of a Collector for making all assessments under Part IV up to the sum of Rs. 250 on an income of Rs. 9,600 and for hearing and passing orders on objections filed under Section 26 of the Act against the assessments made by him. The Collector of Ajmer exercised the revisional powers of the Commissioner under Section 27 of the Act, in regard to petitions preferred against all orders made by the Extra Assistant Commissioner I, under Section 26 of the Act. The number of objections was 66, all under Part IV. Of these, 10 were allowed, 15 were partly accepted, 5 were enhanced, 8 remained pending and 28 were rejected. One application for revision was presented under Section 27 of the Act, and was rejected. No application for revision was presented to the Commissioner from the orders of the Collector.

270. The collections under Parts I, II, III and IV of the Income Tax Act were respectively 30·17, 7·84, 1·55 and 31·01 per cent of the entire assessment in Ajmer-Merwara. The incidence of Income Tax per head of population in the city of Ajmer calculated on the amount collected during the year was annas 4, as in the previous year.

B.—REVENUE AND FINANCE OTHER THAN IMPERIAL.

District Fund.

271. The year opened with a cash balance of Rs. 31,669. Receipts amounted to Rs. 58,151 as against Rs. 45,624 in the last year. The corresponding figures of expenditure are Rs. 43,497 and Rs. 45,544 respectively. The receipts increased by Rs. 12,527 and the expenditure decreased by Rs. 2,047. The increase in receipts is chiefly due to an income of Rs. 8,697 on account of the Pushkar Fair Capitation tax, newly imposed for the first time in 1912. The toll on the Pushkar road was made a permanent one, leviable all the year round instead of only during the fair. This toll gave an additional increase of Rs. 1,797. The decrease in expenditure is chiefly due to the fact that no new school house was constructed during the year under report at the expense of the District Board. The Veterinary Dispensary and Shoeing Forge at Ajmer continued to work satisfactorily. The two Nagore bulls stationed at Ramsar and Jethana covered 109 cows as against 37 in the preceding year, which shows that their presence is beginning to be appreciated. The closing balance of the District Fund on the 31st March 1913, stood at Rs. 46,322 as compared with Rs. 31,669 in 1911-1912.

Excluding dispensary Fund. (Vide Statements Nos. 43 to 45.)

The Board held two meetings during the year.

Local Funds.

Dispensary Fund.

272. The cash balance at the credit of the Dispensary Fund at the beginning of the year was Rs. 4,659. The receipts amounted to Rs. 5,720 against Rs. 7,880 last year, showing a decrease of Rs. 2,160 which is due to certain annual subscriptions not having been received during the year.

273. The expenditure amounted to Rs. 7,392 as against Rs. 7,218 showing an increase of Rs. 174. The year clored with a cash balance of Rs. 2,987 besides Rs. 23,500, invested in Government securities.

275. The cash balance at the credit of the several dispensaries at the close of the year was as follows :—

	Rs.
Ajmer	1,843
Kekri	822
Pisangan Deficit	6
Deolia	239
Ramsar	720
Beawar	343
Todgarg Deficit	974

275. The deficit balance of Rs. 6 in the case of the Pisangan dispensary is due to the annual subscription of Rs. 300 not having been paid by the Istimrardar within the year. The Todgarh dispensary also shows a debit balance of Rs. 974 as against Rs. 1,302 in the last year. The financial condition of this dispensary is unsatisfactory and requires to be improved. The matter is under consideration.

276. The Deolia dispensary was abolished on 31st December 1912 as it was found not to supply any real public want.

Chaukidari Fund.

277. The receipts amounted to Rs. 13,866 as compared with Rs. 10,687 in 1911-12. The increase of Rs. 3,179 is due to the fact that arrears were recovered during this year. The expenditure was Rs. 12,369 as against Rs. 17,292 in 1911-12, a decrease of Rs. 4,923 attributable to the fact that in 1911-12 a Government promissory note worth Rs. 5,000 was purchased.

Police Chanda Fund.

278. The receipts amounted to Rs. 4,101 as against Rs. 3,239 in 1911-12. The increase of Rs. 862 is due to recoveries on account of sale of grass; no such income accrued last year. The expenditure came to Rs. 2,961 as against Rs. 2,927 in the preceding year.

Nasirabad Cantonment Fund.

279. The total receipts amounted to Rs. 74,170 as compared, with Rs. 65,197 in 1911-12, the increase of Rs. 8,973 being chiefly due to increase in the Octroi receipts, license fees on bullock carts and other items, and to a satisfactory expansion of revenue under all heads. The expenditure amounted to Rs. 70,703 as against Rs. 67,147 in the preceding year. The increase of Rs. 3,558 is due to increase in the ordinary recurring expenditure, and to certain original works having been carried out during the year. The closing balance at the close of the year was Rs. 20,827.

SECTION VI.

PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

General vide (Tables at Appendices Nos. 46 to 52.)

280. The number of educational institutions at the end of the year under report rose to 250 from 222 in the previous year showing an increase of 28 as detailed below :

Secondarys chools	4
Primary „	11
Private Institutions	13

281. The number of pupils in public and private institutions increased, bringing the total of both sexes to 12,399 against 11,134 in the previous year. Of these the pupils at public institutions numbered 7,551 and those in private institutions 4,848. The percentage of the population of school-going age receiving instruction was 26·93 among males and 4·66 among females, as compared with 24.26 and 4·11 respectively in the year 1911-12.

282. The average number on the rolls and the average daily attendance at institutions maintained by the educational department were 3,559·57 and 3,013·82 respectively, against 2,861·02 and 2,231·26 in 1911-12.

283. The total expenditure on public instruction rose from Rs. 1,71,227 in 1911-12 to Rs. 2,08,825 in the year under report. The details of the expenditure as also the sources from which it was met are given below :—

Government College and Government Schools, Ajmer.

284. Mr. E. F. Harris, B. A., Principal of the Government College, was on leave from the commencement of the summer vacation until 5th November 1912. During his absence Mr. A. Miller, M. A., acted as Principal.

285. In October 1912 the reorganisation of the College and High School came into force. With the additional recurring Government grant of Rs. 28,000 for education generally, in addition to an increase in fees of the College and High School estimated at Rs. 4,650, it has been possible to assign separate staffs to the (1) College, (2) the High School and (3) the Model Vernacular School. The College teaching staff now consists of 7 Professors besides the Principal and a Demonstrator. The High School staff comprises 21 teachers besides a games instructor, a laboratory assistant and a clerk; and the Model School has 5 teachers.

286. The number of students on the roll of the College on the 31st March 1913 was 63 against 50 in 1912 ; in the High School 462 against 460 ; in the Model School 194 against 175.

The results of the different examinations are given below :—

B. A. Examination	3	passed out of	8
Intermediate Examination	19	„	22
Matriculation Examination	25	„	47
Middle Examination	47	„	64

287. The College laboratory was inspected towards the close of the year by Professor A. W. Ward, M. A., of the Canning College, Lucknow. In order to provide separate supervision of the High School boarding-house an allowance of Rs. 20 has been sanctioned with effect from the 1st October 1912.

288. An allowance of Rs. 30 per mensem has also been sanctioned for a Sub-Assistant Surgeon for visiting the boarding-house daily with effect from 1st November 1912.

Aided schools, village schools.

289. There was no change in the number of aided schools which stood at 13, but the number of students attending them rose from 2,029 to 2,069.

290. The following changes took place in the year under report:—

(1) The system by which monitors acted as assistant teachers on Rs. 2 per mensem was abolished.

(2) The minimum pay of a Primary School teacher was fixed at Rs. 10 per mensem and the maximum pay of a Secondary teacher at Rs. 40.

(3) The strength of the staff was increased from 71 to 132 men.

(4) Thirteen new Primary Schools were opened.

(5) The stipend of students training in the Ajmer Normal School for teacherships was raised from Rs. 5 to Rs. 7 per mensem.

(6) A Normal School of standard type was established.

291. The above changes were rendered possible owing to the Government of India making an annually recurring grant of Rs. 15,476 for the improvement of primary and secondary schools.

292. The total number of village schools was 64 as against 51 in the last year. These were graded as follows:—

District	Secondary.	Upper Primary.	Lower Primary.	Total.
Ajmer	6	18	20	44
Merwara	2	8	10	20
	8	26	30	64

293. The daily average number on the rolls and the daily average attendance at these schools rose to 2,659 and 2,235 from 2,015 and 1,628 respectively in 1911-12.

294. Eighteen students from 4 of the secondary schools and 4 from the Beawar Municipal School, which is also under the direct supervision of the Inspector of Schools, appeared for the Vernacular final examination. Of these 16 passed.

295. In connection with physical culture drill is now well established in almost every school. In many schools country games are regularly played.

296. The total expenditure on village school education in Ajmer-Merwara amounted to Rs. 38,153, of which Rs. 18,309 was provided from Imperial Funds, Rs. 13,218 from Municipal and District Funds, Rs. 3,096 from fees, Rs. 3,193 from Mission Funds and Rs. 337 from other sources.

School sports.

297. The annual Rajputana sports were held at Ajmer in the month of December 1912. The Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner's gold medal was won by a student of the Government High School, Ajmer.

298. The 12th of December 1912, being the anniversary of the Imperial Coronation ceremony at Delhi, was observed as a day of festivities. Sports were held by various schools in the evening and prizes given to the winners from voluntary subscriptions.

299. The annual Rajputana Middle School Examination was, as usual, conducted by the Principal, Government College, Ajmer. The total number of examinees was 360 (342 from 37 schools in Ajmer-Merwara and various States in Rajputana and 18 private candidates) against 335 (318 from 38 schools and 17 private candidates). Of these 228 passed against 172 in 1911-12.

SECTION VII.

GENERAL (MISCELLANEOUS).

Pushkar Fair.

300. The annual religious fair at Pushkar was held between the 20th and 24th November 1912. The attendance of pilgrims was poor chiefly owing to the scanty rainfall and the prevalence of plague in Jaipur. The general arrangements were excellently carried out by the Committee which as usual was formed for the purpose. The sanitary arrangements were highly successful and no epidemic disease of any kind occurred during the fair. The horse show and cattle fair formed a prominent part of the programme. As a mart for the sale of horses, cattle and camels this fair has eclipsed all previous records. The Police arrangements were good and no serious crime occurred during the fair. Owing to the premature cessation of the rains the Agricultural and Industrial Exhibition was again not held this year. A capitation tax on the sale of the horses, cattle, and camels was levied for the first time at this year's fair and yielded Rs. 8,696. The details of the sales were as follows:—

	Number brought to the fair.	Number sold.	Average price.	Highest price.	Lowest price.
			Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Horses	1,408	842	110	1,100	5
Cattle	14,725	4,875	51	363	4
Camels	4,229	4,039	74	230	10

Urs Fair.

301. The annual Urs fair in connection with the shrine of the Dargah Khwaja Sahib at Ajmer was held from the 17th to the 22nd June 1912. The attendance at the Fair was well above the average. The usual Police arrangements were made and no crimes, other than the usual minor thefts, occurred, nor did any disturbance take place. "Ring games" and other forms of gambling were stopped this year.

Beawar Tejaji Fair.

302. The Tejaji fair at Beawar was held on the 21st and 22nd September 1912. The gathering at the fair was estimated at between 10,000 and 12,000 persons.

Kekri Tejaji Fair.

303. The Tejaji fair at Kekri was held from the 19th to 21st September 1912. The gathering at the fair was about 15,000 and included people from the neighbouring Native States.

Printing Presses. Vide Statement No. 53.

304. At the beginning of the year 1912 there were 9 printing presses. The press which was reported as not in working order last year recommenced work during the year under report. No other new press was started. Thus the number of presses at the close of the year was 10.

305. Two newspapers and five periodicals in all were issued from these presses during the year.

306. Four books in English, 3 in Sanskrit, 24 in Hindi, 1 in Arabic, 1 in Latin and 2 in Polyglot were printed during the year under report.

Bhumias.

307. The Assistant Commissioner, Ajmer, conducted the usual ceremony of receiving the Bhumias and their nazarana on the 3rd June 1912, the day appointed for the official observance of the Birthday of His Majesty the King Emperor. Out of the total demand on account of nazarana, amounting to Rs. 3,961, a sum of Rs. 3,902 was realised at the Darbar and the balance was recovered afterwards.

308. A sum of Rs. 60 was recovered from Bhumia Amar Singh of Untra as a fine imposed on him for his failing to attend the Darbar for three years.

Treasure Trove.

309. No information of the finding of treasure trove was received during the year 1912-13.

Emigration.

310. There were 4 emigration depôts during the year 1912-13 against 1 in the previous year. Three hundred and fifty persons were registered at Ajmere for colonial emigration against 59 in the previous year.

311. The increase in the number of emigrants is due to the increase in the number of depôts.

312. Out of the 350 emigrants 36 belonged to Ajmer-Merwara and the rest to Native States in Rajputana or to other provinces.

313. One depôt was closed during the year under report.

NOTES—Column 1.—(1) "Attempts" should be entered immediately after the offences to which they relate.
(2) "Abetments" should be included with the substantive offences abetted.
(3) When giving the list of special and local laws against which offences have been committed, care should be taken to specify the title of each Act quoted, as well as its number and year. An Act of a local legislature should be distinguished by initial letters placed after the number of the Act.

Column 2.—All offences (cases) of which information was given, complaint made, or cognizance taken under Chapters IV, V, XIV, XVI, C. P. C., for the first time during the year, are to be shown, although some of the charges may not have been prosecuted, or may have turned out to be false.

Column 3.—This column should be the total of column 2, less the number of cases dismissed under section 203, C. P. C., and less all other cases in which a Magistrate declared that the charge was false, and that the offence never occurred, or which were dismissed as frivolous and vexatious, and in which the complainant was fined under section 250, C. P. C.

Column 5.—This column should be the total of columns 6 to 9, plus column 9 of previous statement.

Column 8.—Persons transferred from one court to another in the same Province are not to be entered in this column.

Column 9.—A note should be added in the column of remarks showing respectively the number of persons who died, escaped or were transferred.

General Cases committed or referred should not be included in this statement by the committing or referring Magistrates. The results of the trials in these cases should be shown by the Courts to which the cases are committed or referred. If the total of column 7 of Statement 4 be deducted from the total of column 2 of that Statement, the difference should correspond with the total of column 5 of this statement.

Notes.—Column 1.—Sub-head "Courts of Sessions."—Includes cases decided by Sessions Judges on reference under section 123, C. P. C.

Column 1.—Sub-head "Superior Courts."—Includes cases decided by the High Courts on reference under sections 307 and 374, C. P. C.

Column 2.—That is, the total of the entries in columns 3 to 8. The cases of persons transferred from one Court to another in the same province will appear only against the Court by which decided, or in which pending at the end of the year if not decided.

Column 3.—A note against the figure for each Court should be made in the column of remarks showing separately how many accused persons were transferred to other provinces.

Columns 5 and 6.—Persons whose cases were referred to a Superior Court for higher punishment, for orders under section 562, Criminal Procedure Code, or for confirmation of sentence will be entered in column 7, and not in columns 5 and 6, against the Court making the reference. Against the Court receiving the reference they will be shown as convicted or acquitted, according to the orders passed by it, or as pending if orders have not been passed.

Column 7.—These cases will also be shown against the Magistrates who made the reference, entry being made as directed above.

Column 8.—An insane accused who has been sent to a lunatic asylum should be kept on the file and entered in this column until he has been tried and either convicted or acquitted.

Column 9.—Omit cases in which the accused died, escaped or was transferred.

Column 10.—In calculating the duration before the Magistrates' Courts, the starting point to be taken is not the date of complaint or information, but that of apprehension, or attendance on summons or otherwise of the accused. As regards Courts of Sessions, the actual number of days occupied should be given, commencing from the date of commitment. Cases in which the accused has absconded before arrest or has escaped from custody should be taken off the file till the persons implicated appear again.

General.—The figures in this statement should agree with those of Statement No. 2 and should include nothing else.

Column 1, Sub-head "Superior Courts."—Includes cases decided by the High Court on reference under sections 307 and 374, C. P. C.
Column 19.—Includes fines realized during the year, though imposed in previous years. This column is intended to show the realized portion of fines imposed by officers in the exercise of original jurisdiction only.
Column 20.—Represents compensation awarded to complainants under section 545, Act X of 1882. These awards should also be shown under the head fines "imposed" and "realized" in columns 18 and 19, for they form part of such fines.
General.—(1) The total of columns 5, 6 and 11 should correspond with the total of columns 21 to 25 (both inclusive), and the total of column 8 should correspond with the totals of columns 12 to 17 inclusive.
(2) This statement is meant to exhibit every sentence passed, and, where two penalties are inflicted on the same offender, to exhibit them both. Further to reconcile the number of persons entered in this statement as punished, with the number entered as convicted in statement 4, it is necessary to note cases such as those in which fulfilment of contract is ordered under Act XIII of 1859 in a footnote. As regards persons whose cases were referred for higher punishment or for confirmation of sentence, the punishment, if any, sanctioned by the higher Courts should be entered against such higher Court, and not against the Court making the reference.

Notes.—Column 2.—Total of columns 3 to 12. Cases transferred from one Court to another in the same Province will appear only against the Court by which decided, or in which pending at the end of the year, if not decided. The words "Applicants for revision" in the heading of this column should be held to include only accused persons on whose behalf an application for revision is made or in whose interest the Magistrate or Judge may take steps to obtain revision on his own motion. Where such application is made, or such steps are taken, on behalf of a complainant, the fact should be noted, with the number of complainants concerned, in the column of Remarks. In the latter case, the accused persons against whom the application is made, though not appearing in this column, will fall into their proper places in columns 3 to 13, according to the result of such application. This note is held to apply also to cases dealt with by the High Court on review of returns.

Column 5.—Appeals dismissed under section 423 of C. P. C., should be entered in this column.

Column 9.—Orders of discharge set aside by a Superior Court under section 436, C. P. C., should be entered in this column.

Column 10.—When a sentence is reversed or proceedings are quashed on appeal, and a new trial or further enquiry is at the same time ordered, the Appellate Court should not fill in column 8 as well as column 10, or column 9 as well as column 10, in each case respectively, but should make the entry in column 10 only.

Column 12.—Duration of appeals, applications for revision, or reference should be calculated thus—

(1) Appeals from date of receipt in office of the petition of appeal;
(2) Applications for revision—from the date of application;
(3) Cases dealt with by the Court otherwise than on application—from date of the order calling for the records; and
(4) Cases sent to the High Court by lower Courts for revision—from the date of the letter from the Court making the reference.

General.—Persons whose appeals were rejected under section 421, Criminal Procedure Code, should be entered in column 4, in which should also be included applicants for revision whose cases the Courts have refused to submit to the High Court. In columns 5 to 10, should be shown, opposite the sub-heads for Magistrates of District and Courts of Sessions, persons whose cases were disposed of by those Courts without reference to the High Court, and in column 11 all persons whose cases these Courts referred to the High Court.

Notes.—Column 2.—Total of the entries in columns 3 to 13. Cases transferred from one Court to another in the same Province will appear only against the Court by which decided, or in which pending at the close of the year, if not decided. The number of cases pending from the preceding year should be noted in the column of Remarks, and when deducted from the total of column 2 should leave a balance corresponding with the total of column 38 of Statement VII. If after deducting the arrears shown at the end of the previous year, the balance does not agree with the figures in column 38 of Statement VII, the difference should be explained.

Column 6.—When under section 102, C. P. C., a decree is wholly or partially made in favour of an absent plaintiff on the admission of the defendant, the case should be entered in this column.

Column 8.—A case in which defendant appears, but a plaintiff does not, and defendant does not confess judgment and the case is thereupon dismissed, the case should be entered in this column.

Columns 15 and 16.—As regards the average duration of suits, the date of their presentation of the plaint shall be considered as the date of institution, unless some defect or omission requires to be amended before the plaint can be admitted, in which case the date of admission after amendment shall be regarded as the date of institution. With regard to applications to execute decrees, the date of their presentation should alone be considered. In calculating average duration, the time that the suit has been actually pending in the particular Court should alone be calculated. The interval should be omitted during which an application for review which has been granted, or an appeal in which an order of remand has been passed, been pending in the superior Court. Revived suits are to be treated as if newly instituted on revival.

FROM

THE HON'BLE SIR ELLIOT GRAHAM COLVIN, K.C.S.I.,
Chief Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara,

To

THE SECRETARY TO THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA IN THE FOREIGN AND POLITICAL DEPARTMENT.

Dated Mount Abu, the 6th November 1914.

SIR,

I have the honour to submit the annual administration report of Ajmer-Merwara for the year 1912-1913, compiled by the Commissioner Mr. A. T. Holme, I.C.S., with my remarks thereon.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient servant,

E. G. COLVIN,
Chief Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara.

Remarks by the Honourable the Chief Commissioner, Ajmer Merwara.

The year under review was one of scarcity and inadequate rainfall, but a heavy burst of rain over Ajmer in early December did much to relieve the situation.

The scarcity was felt most in the Bewar tahsil but the relief work, opened in that neighbourhood, never attracted any large numbers. The measures adopted to render fodder available, coupled with remissions of revenue, liberal advances of taccavi and the help of the co-operative credit systems sufficed to carry the people through without serious distress, though prices ruled high from October onwards.

2. The land-revenue for the year fell from Rs. 3,18,657 in 1912-1913 to Rs. 2,83,630.

3. The decrease in excise revenue and in consumption of country liquor was extraordinarily little.

4. The total Imperial receipts fell from Rs. 10,87,448 in 1912-1913 to Rs. 10,30,985; and the total Imperial expenditure exclusive of interest charges, from Rs. 9,92,702 to Rs. 8,92,900.

5. The authorities should consider what further measures can be taken for the suppression of the illicit cocaine traffic in Ajmer.

6. The Municipality of Ajmer are to be congratulated on the important measures for improved water-supply, sanitation and drainage which they have been engaged on during the year. It is to be regretted that the negotiations with the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway authorities in regard to taxation and in respect of co-operation in the water-supply have not fructified.

7. It is satisfactory that the Bewar Municipality have also completed their new water supply scheme from Jalia.

8. The year has been noticeable for the first completion of schemes under the Ajmer Taluqdars' Loan Regulation, the introduction of the Ajmer Alienation of Land Regulation, and the great advances made in the domain of "Public Instruction".

9. It is especially pleasing to notice that the public have contributed Rs. 7,032 towards the equipment of the Science Laboratories in the Ajmer Government College, and that Rai Bahadur Seth Nemi Chand has lent a house free of charge for the use of the Lower Primary Classes of the Government High School.

E. G. COLVIN,

Chief Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara.

November 3rd, 1914.

REPORT

ON THE

ADMINISTRATION OF AJMER-MERWARA

FOR

1913-14.

SECTION I.

GENERAL ADMINISTRATION.

1. Throughout the whole year, the charge of the office of Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara, was held by Mr. A. T. Holme, I.C.S., and that of the office of Assistant Commissioner, Ajmer, by Mr. D. G. Mackenzie, M.A., I.C.S. Personnel.

2. Rai Sahib Pandit Brij Jiwan Lal Sharma, B.A. held charge of the office of Extra Assistant Commissioner, Merwara, throughout the year under report.

3. Lieutenant-Colonel R. C. Macwatt, F.R.C.S., I.M.S. held charge of the office of Civil Surgeon, Ajmer, from the 1st April 1913 to 5th November 1913, on which date he was relieved by Lieutenant-Colonel W. H. B. Robinson, I.M.S., who continued to hold the appointment to the end of the year.

4. Mr. L. B. Goad held the office of Superintendent, Police, Ajmer-Merwara, throughout the whole year except from the 6th May 1913 to the 9th June 1913 during which period Mr. E. D. Smith officiated for him.

5. The total Revenue (Imperial and Local) of Ajmer-Merwara for the year amounted to Rs. 13,06,010 as compared with Rs. 17,45,488 last year and the total expenditure was Rs. 20,20,441 as against Rs. 15,47,759 in 1912-13. Revenue and Expenditure (vide statement 42).

6. Imperial revenues fell from Rs. 10,87,448 in 1912-13 to Rs. 10,30,985 in the year under report, while the expenditure amounted to Rs. 11,35,479 as against Rs. 10,41,794 in 1912-13.

7. There was thus a deficit of Rs. 1,04,494 in the Imperial Revenues in 1913-14 as compared with a surplus of Rs. 45,654 in the year 1912-13.

8. The deficit was due to variations in receipts and expenditure principally under the following heads :—

Receipts.	Rs.
Land Revenue	—61,098
Stamps	— 9,794
Excise	+ 5,268
Assessed Taxes	+ 7,242

9. The decrease in receipts under head "Land Revenue" is due to the scarcity which prevailed in the district.

10. The increase in expenditure under the head "Interest" is owing to accumulated arrears of interest paid on account of Promissory Notes held by His Highness the Maharaja of Jaipur.

11. The increase in expenditure under the head "Superannuation allowances and pension" is due to increase in the number of pensioners during the year under report.

12. The decrease in expenditure under the head "Medical" is accounted for by the fact that the Government of India sanctioned in the previous year a grant of Rs. 1,50,000 for the Ajmer, Beawar and Kekri Municipalities for sanitary improvements.

13. The increase in expenditure under the head "Scientific, etc.," is due to additional establishment sanctioned for the Co-operative Credit work in the district.

Reorganization of the District staff.

14. A reorganization of the administration of the district was sanctioned by the Government of India during the year and brought into effect from the 1st April 1914. The main features of the scheme are :—that Ajmer-Merwara becomes a single district, of which the Commissioner is the District Magistrate, that civil judicial work is separated from criminal and rent-case work, and that the bulk of the judicial appellate and of the original Sessions work is done by a new Additional District and Sessions Judge, and that the District is divided into three sub-divisions for revenue and magisterial purposes.

SECTION II.

ADMINISTRATION OF THE LAND.

COURT OF WARDS.

Year ending 31st July 1914.

Tenure of office.

15. The charge of the office of General Manager, Court of Wards, was held by Rai Sahib Munshi Gopi Nath, until 1st of October 1913, on which date he was relieved by Munshi Chagan Lal, Manager of the Masuda estate, who held charge, in addition to his own duties until 15th October 1913 ; for the rest of the year, Munshi Mithan Lal remained in charge of the office.

Agricultural aspects.

16. From an agricultural point of view, the year (Sambat 1970) was a bad one. The rainfall during the year was very scanty, being 11·84 inches, against 14·53 last year (Sambat 1969), the latter figure even being much below the normal ; and this too was not sufficiently heavy and opportune. It did not bring any water into the tanks, not to speak of percolation in the wells, most of which had already dried up. The result was that both in the kharif and the rabi, the unirrigated and tank irrigated areas totally failed, while the well irrigated crops and those sown in the beds of tanks were comparatively small and yielded a very poor outturn, estimated at from 3 to 5 annas in the rupee. There was no growth of grass for cattle which had to be sent away to Malwa and elsewhere for grazing. For milch cattle and others kept for use at home, fodder was imported from Malwa, Mewar, and Gujrat, as the Government of India were pleased to reduce the Railway freight on the import of fodder. Had this concession not been made, it would have been next to impossible to save the remaining cattle in the District. The prices of fodder, however, rose towards the end of the year, for a short time, so much so that in June 1914 it was sold at even less than 20 seers for a rupee. Prices of food grains ruled high throughout the year, the cheapest rate of barley and maize not being more than 12 seers for a rupee. Above all, drinking water for men and cattle was not sufficient. However a fall of about 2 inches of rain in December 1913 brought some water into the tanks and walled fields, and this greatly alleviated the stress of the scarcity of drinking water, improving at the same time, to some extent, the prospects of the rabi crops on the well-irrigated area. On the whole, the year was a famine year, and pressed all the harder on the Zamindars by having been preceded by a year of scarcity during which they had already suffered hardships.

Estates under management.

17. The year commenced with 13 estates under management, namely :—

1. Masuda, 2. Kalahera-Bogla, 3. Kerot, 4. Goela, 5. Basundni, 6. Richmalian, 7. Kanai-Kalan, 8. Sadara, 9. Gangwana, 10. Rajgarh, 11. Pranhera, 12. Bhinai, and 13. Jharwasa-Bhattiani. Of these 2 estates were released during the year:—

(1) Bhinai.—Raja Jagmal Singh succeeded Raja Sardul Singh, who died in August 1913, after a long illness. Raja Jagmal Singh being 25 years of age was invested with the management of his estate on the 16th November 1913 ;

(2) Richmalian.—The Istimrardar of the estate, Thakur Zalim Singh having recovered his health and finding that his estate had become free from debt and was in a good financial position, applied for its release. His application was sanctioned, and his estate was made over to him on the 26th November 1913.

The following 4 estates were placed under the Court's superintendence :—

(1) Rajosi.—This is a minor Istimrari estate. Jamshed Khan, the Istimrardar, being heavily involved in debt, was, on his own application, declared incapable of managing his own property, and the charge of his estate was assumed on the 29th December 1913.

(2) Karan Mal's estate.—This estate consists of only a small area of culturable land at Beawar (village) and other surrounding villages. The owner of the estate, Karan Mal, who is a Mahajan by caste, being a lunatic was declared incapable, of managing his own property, which came under the court's supervision on the 12th February 1914.

(3) The Diwan's estate.—This is a Jagir estate owned by Sayed Sharfuddin Ali Khan, Diwan of the Dargah Khawaja Sahib, Ajmer. The Diwan having applied that owing to his old age, he was unable to manage his estate, was declared incapable of managing it. He made over charge of his property to the Court of Wards on the 17th April 1914.

(4) Makhupura.—This is a Jagir village belonging to the Dargah of Piran Pir Sahib, Ajmer. Mir. Mehrban Ali, the Mutwalli of the Dargah, on his own application, was declared incapable of managing the property of the Dargah, and the charge of the village was taken over by the Court of Wards on the 15th April 1914.

18. Thus at the end of the year, the number of estates under management was 15, besides the estate of Bhagirath lunatic, a Jat of Dorai which is managed under the provisions of the Lunacy Act, and the estate of the Dargah Miran Sahib, which is supervised by the General Manager Court of Wards, Ajmer as Receiver.

19. The estate of Bhinai having been released in November 1913, its figures relate only to a portion of the year.

Receipts and Expenditure of the year.

20. The closing balance for 1912-13, as given in last year's report was Rs. 1,16,154. If to this be added the balances of the Rajosi estate and that of Karan Mal, the year under report opened with a cash balance of Rs. 1,16,295-8-7 (besides Government Promissory Notes of the face value of Rs. 3,62,100), to which the income of the year, amounting to Rs. 2,10,139-0-2 as detailed in the margin being added, the gross receipts amounted to Rs. 3,26,434-8-9.

(b) For Mosar and other funeral expenses, on his death	14,247	15	6
Total	15,856	11	9

(3) Rs. 1,902-14-0 were paid to Thakur Zalim Singh of Richmalian on the date of the release of his estate as the cash balance in hand.

B. Under the head "Public Works"—

(1) Rs. 13,726-13-7 were spent as part payments towards buildings under construction at Masuda and Jalia—

	Rs.	a.	p.
(a) Darikhana at Masuda	3,512	5	10
(b) Dispensary building at Masuda	6,671	5	1
(c) Rest House at Jalia	3,543	2	8
Total	13,726	13	7

(2) Rs. 1,577 were spent in repairs to the Gopa Baori tank at Rajgarh.

C. Under the head "Investments—Takavi, and loans" on behalf of the Masuda estate—

	Rs.	a.	p.
(1) Deposit in the Beawar Central Bank	15,000	0	0
(2) Loan to the Masuda Rural Society	500	0	0
(3) Loan to the Kanpura Rural Society	150	0	0
(4) Takavi advances to Hamira of Dholadanta	20	0	0

D. Under the head "other charges"—

(1) Rs. 1,000 were paid from Masuda estate as a donation to the Government College Laboratory Improvement Fund, Ajmer.

(2) Rs. 4,778-15-8 were spent in the maintenance and improvement of the Jalia Model farm.

Cost of management.

24. The cost of management amounted to Rs. 24,628-3-6 or 11·24 per cent. of the year's receipts of the estates. The present percentage is higher than that of the previous years because of the calculation having been made on the year's receipts instead of the receipts and opening balance taken together.

Demand and Collections.

25. At the beginning of the year, the outstandings of all kinds were Rs. 7,948-15-3, while the demand for the current year from all sources was Rs. 2,16,897-15-9 making the total demand Rs. 2,24,846-15-0 as follows:—

	Rs.	a.	p.
Bhinai	33,035	8	3
Masuda	1,36,357	13	10
Other estates	55,453	8	11
Total	2,24,846	15	0

Masuda	1,31,147	7	0
Other estates . . .	45,956	0	11
Total .	2,10,139	0	2

26. The collections amounted to Rs. 2,10,139-0-2 as noted in the margin, and Rs. 762-3-0 having been remitted, the outstanding balance at the close of the year stood at Rs. 13,945-11-10.

27. The Demand, Collections and outstandings under the head "rents and cesses" were as under :—

Government dues and loans.

28. The instalments of Government Jama due in kharif and rabi harvests for the year under report were paid in full by all estates except the Pranhera estate which is in very straitened circumstances. None of the estates owed takavi but a dami loan of Rs. 22,591 is due by the Pranhera estate to the Government. The dami instalments due by that estate on 1st January and 1st July 1914 could not be paid for want of funds.

Private debts.

29. The following table shows the liabilities on account of private debts of the estates as they stood on the 31st July 1914 :—

30. Rupees 58-8-0 were admitted on account of a private debt against the deceased Raja Chander Singh of Rajgarh and paid during the year.

31. The debt against Sadara was liquidated in full from the cash balance in hand, and that against Pranhera was liquidated by taking a Government Dami loan ; the debts of no other estates could be paid on account of famine.

32. The estates of Rajosi and of the Diwan which have recently been placed under the Court's superintendence are indebted to the extent of about Rs. 45,000 and Rs. 20,000, respectively. To liquidate these debts, an application for loan under the Ajmer Talukdar's Loan Regulation, II of 1911, on behalf of the Diwan has already been entertained by the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner while in the case of Rajosi, too, advantage of the said Regulation will be taken. The estate of Makhupura is also encumbered with debts which amount to about Rs. 6,000, of which the accounts are under scrutiny.

1. Thakur Bijey Singh of Masuda.
2. Thakur Nathu Singh of Kalahera.
3. Thakur Udai Singh of Kerot.
4. Thakur Udai Singh of Basundni.
5. Thakur Ranjit Singh of Goela.
6. Kunwar Sobhag Singh, younger brother of the Thakur of Goela.
7. Raja Raj Singh of Rajgurh.
8. Raja Kalyana Singh of Gangwana.

33. At the Mayo College, Ajmer, the wards named in the margin continued their studies throughout the year while the following received their education at the Kekri Municipal school :— Education of the wards.

1. Kunwar Sawai Singh of Pranhera.
2. Kunwar Zorawar Singh of Pranhera.
3. Thakur Madho Singh of Sadara.
4. Thakur Narain Singh of Kanai Kalan.

34. It is under contemplation to send the young Thakur of Sadara to the Mayo College from the next session.

35. The general progress reports of all the wards at the College and the Kekri school were satisfactory, especially that of Thakur Bijey Singh of Masuda, but the boys noted in the margin failed in their annual examinations. The help of a private tutor for them is under consideration.

1. Thakur Ranjit Singh of Goela and (2) his brother.
3. Thakur Nathu Singh of Kalahera.

36. The health of all the wards was good throughout the year. The health of the wards.

SECTION III.

PROTECTION.

(1) AJMER-MERWARA POLICE. (YEAR ENDING THE 31ST DECEMBER 1913.)

Vide Statements Nos. 4 to 10.

Compiled by L. M. Kaye, Esq., Inspector-General of Police, Ajmer-Merwara.

37. Mr. R. E. Coupland held charge of the office of Superintendent of Police from the commencement of the year till the 14th February when he proceeded on long leave. He was succeeded by Mr. L. B. Goad who was in charge for the remainder of the year with the exception of the period from the 6th May to the 9th June when, during his absence on short leave, Mr. E. D. Smith, Assistant Superintendent of Police, officiated for him.

INCREASE AND DECREASE IN REPORTED COGNIZABLE CRIME.

38. The total volume of cognizable crime reported in 1913, including the number of true cases reported to Magistrates, was 4,903 as compared with 5,419 in 1912 and 4,730 in 1911.

39. In illustration of the chief variations in the different classes of crime the statistics for the last two years are given in the subjoined table.

This statement shows that the decrease in crime reported to the police excluding sanitary offences (which was one of the features of the returns for 1912) has continued though, on the other hand, there has been a slight increase in cases reported to Magistrates.

In view of the fact that the rainfall during the monsoon of 1912 was very deficient in most parts of Ajmer-Merwara and that there was an even greater deficiency in 1913, the police are to be congratulated on the fact that there has been no marked increase in crime.

The variations in the total number of reports under each of the main heads are, except in the case of Class VI, so small that I do not consider any detailed analysis required, though further mention of these variations will be found later on in this report. The decrease under Class VI is declared by the Superintendent of Police to be due to less activity having been shown in the prosecution of offences against sanitary laws in consequence of the remarks made in last year's review.

40. The incidence of cognizable crime as a whole, excluding false cases, works out at 96 per 10,000 of population for 1913 against 106 for 1912. As noted in former years, these high figures are due to the large proportion of sanitary offences included in the returns. If such cases be eliminated, the incidence for 1913 stands at 38·5 as against 38·9 for 1912 and 39·2 for 1911. In the United Provinces the incidence (excluding sanitary offences) was 28·5 for 1912, the last year the statistics for which are available.

41. The comparatively high crime returns of Ajmer-Merwara are attributable to the causes mentioned in former years, namely:—

(i) the proportionately large urban population, and

(ii) the continued attention paid by the local police to the question of obtaining a full report of crime.

Constables on beat-duty were once again instrumental in obtaining practically one-third of the total number of reports laid to the police and once again there was an increase, if only a slight one, in the percentage of cases in which a written report was accepted at a police-station without the victim of the crime being called upon to attend in person.

42. Cases of non-cognizable crime increased by 1,784 during the year under report. This increase is confined almost entirely to offences against Municipal Regulations, the figures of which rose from 371 to 2,102. It is noteworthy that the statement of non-cognizable crime for 1912 showed a decrease of 1,326 cases on the figures of the previous year.

Police cases—all classes.

43. The total number of cognizable offences reported to the police during 1913 was 4,358 as compared with 5,003 in 1912 and 4,330 in 1911. The decrease is almost entirely among offences against sanitary laws (serial No. 41) the total number of prosecutions instituted under that head falling from 3,787 to 2,767. Excluding such cases the number of offences reported stands at 1,591 for 1913 as compared with 1,616 for the preceding year.

44. Investigation was refused in 489 cases in the year under report as against 587 in 1912. This gives a far higher proportion of investigations to reports than is to be found in the crime returns of the United Provinces but, as mentioned in previous years, the proportion of cases investigated will always be high in Ajmer-Merwara, owing to local conditions, and the report of the Superintendent of Police shows that he keeps a close watch for any abuse of the discretionary powers given to the police in the matter of the investigation of reported crime both as regards taking up enquiries unnecessarily and refusing enquiries where they appear to be called for. In this latter respect it may be noted that, though it is notorious that subordinate police-officers are inclined, if left to themselves, to shirk the investigation of cases of housebreaking or burglary when no clue is given at the time of first report, the percentage of cases under that head which was enquired into is increasing year by year and is now well in advance of the corresponding percentage in the United Provinces.

45. The total number of police cases tried out during the year under report was 3,346 as compared with 3,905 in 1912. Of cases investigated, including those pending from previous years, 83 per cent. ended in conviction as against 85 per cent. in 1912 and 82 per cent. in 1911. The percentage of the persons arrested by the police who were convicted stands at 93 for the year 1913. It was 95 for each of the two preceding years.

These are very high figures but they are chiefly due to the very large proportion of cases instituted for breaches of the sanitary laws, in the majority of which, conviction is, practically, a foregone conclusion. If such cases be excluded from the returns the percentage of cases convicted to investigated falls to 44 (as compared with 45 for each of the two preceding years) and the percentage of persons convicted to persons arrested to 82 (against 82 and 84 in 1912 and 1911).

Though the results, as a whole, are not quite se satisfactory as for 1912 they compare very favourably with the statistics of the United Provinces for that same year and, in view of the little assistance given to the local police by the officials of some of the most important States bordering Ajmer-Merwara, when clues have to be followed up outside the district, they may be accepted as indicating fairly good work.

46. The number of cases reported to the police which were ultimately struck off the registers as false fell from 74 to 31 but on the other hand, cases struck off as due to mistakes of law or fact or because they were declared non-cognizable rose from 3 to 58. These variations do not call for special notice, however, in view of the fact that there is no very great variation in the sum total of the two columns. It must frequently be a matter of opinion whether an exaggerated report was due to intentional malice or a desire to obtain police protection when the matter was not really one in which the police were empowered, under the law, to intervene.

Class I.—Offences against the State, Public tranquillity, safety and justice.

47. The number of true cases, in this class, dealt with by the police in 1913 was 22. Of this total, all but one were sent up for trial with the result that 12 ended in conviction and 2 in acquittal while no less than 7 were still under trial at the close of the year.

48. Five offences relating to coin are included in this return, all of which came before the courts. Two were petty cases of a very common type in which copper coins covered with mercury were passed as silver: both of them resulted in conviction. In two other cases counterfeit four and two-anna pieces made of base metal formed the subject-matter of the crime. One of them ended in conviction whilst in the other case guilty knowledge was held not to have been established and the accused (a mere lad) was acquitted. The remaining case which, though still pending at the close of 1913 has since been convicted, was of a more serious type. On the receipt of information at the Beawar police-station that a man had been endeavouring to pass counterfeit rupees at the shop of a cloth-merchant, a search was made with the result that the individual in question was found to be one of a party of wandering Faqirs encamped in the vicinity and two counterfeit rupees were found on his person at the time of his arrest. The remaining members of the gang escaped and enquiries into the antecedents of this person failed to prove anything beyond the fact that he was a member of a gang which was in the habit of wandering about the Bahawalpur State during harvest times. The Superintendent of Police is, however, convinced that this man was a professional coiner and, on the face of it, he seems to have been leniently treated in being sentenced to only 10 months' rigorous imprisonment. In connection with offences falling under this head the Superintendent of Police gives an interesting note regarding the variation in the number of counterfeit coins reported by the Rajputana Malwa Railway Audit Office at Ajmer to be found in the earnings of Railway stations situated in the Rajputana railway-police district.

The number of such coins shown in the returns of that office has for long attracted attention and special enquiries have been made time after time with but little result beyond arousing a suspicion that certain subordinates in the Audit Office were in league with counterfeit coiners and made a considerable profit by substituting counterfeit for genuine rupees when the bags containing station-earnings were received. During the year under report a very serious case of criminal breach of trust (which will be found dealt with at length in paragraph 63 of this report) occurred in that office and was made over to the police for enquiry. It resulted in the conviction of the chief cashier and the dismissal of several of the "potdars." The effect of the removal of these officials on the number of counterfeit coins shown in the returns was so marked as to fully substantiate the suspicion referred to above. Unfortunately no proof as to the actual sources from which these dishonest officials obtained the coins was forthcoming though the Superintendent declares that, as a result of his enquiries, certain men in Ajmer city, suspected to be coiners, took fright and transferred their sphere of operations to Native State territory.

49. Seven escapes from custody or cognate offences occurred in 1913 as compared with five in 1912. In two of these cases police-officers were to blame and were suitably punished. It is satisfactory to note that none of the fugitives benefitted much by their temporary freedom as all had been re-arrested before the close of the year.

The number of such cases in which individual police-officers are to blame shows no signs of diminution, however, and if matters do not improve in this respect the advisability of prosecuting criminally every police-officer from whose custody prisoners escape will have to be seriously considered.

50. Nine cases of rioting or unlawful assembly were dealt with during the year, four ending in conviction while all the remaining five were under trial at the close of 1913. The only case deserving of special mention was a case of unlawful assembly which occurred in Ajmer itself. The scene of that occurrence was the house of one Askaran, Mahajan, which was forcibly taken possession of by a large crowd of Mahomedans who alleged that it was the site of an ancient mosque. After obtaining possession of the building they lit it up and held evening prayers in it. Seventeen persons were arrested and sent up for trial in this case and all but three were convicted in the court of the District Magistrate. There appeared to be no truth whatever in the allegation of these men. The most unsatisfactory part of the case was the grave misconduct of the City Inspector, of a Head-constable and a constable (all Mahomedans), but for which the case could never have reached the stage it did. They were all suitably dealt with, the Inspector being reduced to the rank of Sub-Inspector.

Class II.—Serious offences against the person.

51. Cases of this class dealt with by the Police numbered 117 in 1913 as compared with 99 in the preceding year. Sixty-eight of them came before the courts for trial (excluding 14 which were ultimately compounded) with the result that 53 were convicted and 12 acquitted, 3 being still under trial at the close of the year.

52. Twelve cases of murder are included in these figures as compared with 9 in 1912. In one of these cases the murderer committed suicide after shooting his wife and, in all but three of the remainder, the accused were brought to trial, six cases being convicted and two acquitted.

The most important case, in which a whole family consisting of a man and his wife and 2 children was done to death, was a murder which occurred in the Srinagar circle early in the year, which was very exceptionally well handled by the local police. Information of this crime was not received by them till some 12 days after it had occurred when an insanitary odour from the house where this tragedy had been enacted caused the neighbours to suspect foul play. The house was then broken open and the body of a woman, in an advanced state of decomposition, was found tied up in a sack. The corpse was at once identified as that of Musammat Subhani, the owner of the house, but no clue of the husband and children was found till 2 days later when their bodies were discovered under the floor of the house where they had been buried by the murderers. Death proved in each case to have been caused by strangulation and suspicion fell on certain relatives of the deceased woman who was known to have been well to do. Search was made for those persons in the direction of Ahmedabad and on arriving there the police-officer deputed for this purpose learned that one of the persons he was after had been arrested there on suspicion with two other men but had been released and that they had all three left for Bombay. At Bombay it was found that they had again been arrested and were under trial for offences under sections 328 and 380, Indian Penal Code. They ultimately confessed to this crime though not till one of them had attempted to commit suicide by jumping from the upper storey of a house while being interrogated by the police. Finally they were brought back to Ajmer and were placed on their trial with two other men who had been arrested locally. The case ended in two of the men arrested in Bombay being sentenced to undergo the extreme penalty of the law while the third was granted a pardon under section 337, Criminal Procedure Code. The two other men were acquitted. It is noteworthy that when arrested at Ahmedabad these persons were found to be in possession of dhatura and that they were believed to have drugged their victims before strangling them.

Another case deserving of passing notice was one in which three persons were sentenced to death and transportation for life respectively by the Sessions Judge for a brutal murder due to sexual jealousy. The case was acquitted on appeal by the High Court but as a sequel to it another accused who had been an approver but had changed his statement was convicted and sentenced to transportation for life under sections 302—109, Indian Penal Code.

None of the remaining cases call for special notice but before leaving this subject it should be added that no murders of the type so common in 1911 and 1912, in which prostitutes were strangled and robbed of their ornaments, occurred in the year under report and the belief expressed in the annual report for 1912, that the local police had tracked down the gang responsible for those crimes, though only one person was succesfully prosecuted to conviction, seems to have been fully justified.

53. Three attempts at murder are included in the returns for the year 1913. One calls for special notice because, but for the prompt action taken by Messrs. Goad and Williams, it might have had even more serious consequences. The would-be-murderer was a police constable on sentry-duty at the Railway Audit Office who after shooting and bayoneting the Head-constable of his Guard, with whom he was on bad terms, absconded with his musket and 9 rounds of ammunition. This occurred at about 2 A.M. in the morning and, within half an hour, Mr. Goad and Mr. Williams had set out in search of the constable with every available man of the District and Railway Police reserves while, later on the services of 4 squads of picked trackers were obtained from the 44th Merwara regiment. It was not till late the following afternoon however that any trace of the absconder was found when, a police search party discovered him in Makerwali village and succeeded in arresting him without further casualties. He was, in due course, convicted and sentenced to 10 years' rigorous imprisonment.

54. Two cases of administering stupifying drugs to cause hurt are included in the returns for the year under report. One of them, in which the complainant (who was a caste-fellow of the accused's) changed his statement in court, resulted in acquittal and the other in conviction. In this last case the accused administered dhatura mixed in milk to his father and two other persons and then disappeared with cash and ornaments to the value of Rs. 58 which belonged to his victims. He was finally traced to Karachi, arrested and brought back to Ajmer to stand his trial which resulted in his being sentenced to undergo three years' imprisonment and pay a fine of Rs. 50.

55. The only other class of crime falling under this head which calls for special mention is "Kidnapping." There was a considerable increase in such offences during 1913, the number dealt with rising from 8 to 21. The increase was chiefly in cases which occurred in Ajmer City and, in the earlier part of the year, a scare arose that professional kidnappers were at work disguised as Sadhus and Emigration agents. In two instances as a result of this scare, the people took the law into their own hands, attacking an emigration depôt and assaulting a Punjabi faqir whom they suspected to be a kidnapper. There was reason to believe that the scare was fostered by an Emigration agent with a view to get certain rival depôts closed but this offence could not be brought home to him and with the conviction of one Ali Buksh of Rampur, an ex-convict with several convictions for kidnapping, confidence in the police was restored. With that conviction offences of this class ceased in Ajmer City and the Superintendent is of opinion that that man was responsible for other cases of this class, reported in 1913, besides that in which he was proved guilty.

In dealing with such cases as a whole the police cannot be held to have been very successful as no less than 11 cases remained undetected.

One of the cases which was successfully worked out shows that there is some reason to suspect that the traffic in marriageable girls which has, for some years past, been going on between the western districts of the United Provinces and the Punjab has extended to Ajmer. In this instance, three girls were enticed away from Beawar to Quetta where one of them (a widow) was sold for Rs. 400 and re-married. Negotiations were in progress for the disposal of the other two girls when the conduct of the principals concerned in these transactions attracted the attention of the Quetta police and a reference to Rajputana resulted in the plot being exposed and the three kidnappers being sent to Ajmer to stand their trial. The case was still before the court at the close of the year but has since resulted in the conviction of all three of the parties concerned.

Class III.—Serious offences against person and property or against property only.

56. The total number of true cases of this class dealt with by the police in the year under report was 521 against 496 in the previous year. 273 of those cases were investigated. Eighty-three of that number were sent up for trial, and, of 81 tried out before the close of the year, 70 ended in conviction and 11 in acquittal..

57. Only four cases of dakaiti are returned for 1913 as compared with six in the preceding year. Once again these were all of a more or less petty character and consisted of attacks on travellers journeying along unfrequented roads and village byepaths. It is now many years since any case of house dakaiti has occurred in this district.

One case was successfully prosecuted to conviction and for this result the police are chiefly indebted to a subordinate forest official without whose prompt assistance it would probably have remained undetected.

That dakaiti occurred in the Todgarh circle in a pass in the hills close to Lalpura. The dakaits (one of whom was armed with a sword) after robbing their victims retreated into the jungle but, as soon as they were out of sight, the two complainants set off for Lalpura and, meeting an employé of the Forest Department with some coolies, related what had occurred to them. A pursuit was promptly organised and the gang held up and surrounded. In the scuffle which ensued three of the dakaits succeeded in escaping but the remaining two were captured and carried off to the station-officer of Todgarh who happened to be at the Bhim outpost at the time. The arrested dakaits gave up the names of their accomplices and ultimately all five of the persons concerned were apprehended and sentenced, on conviction, to periods varying from 18 months to 7 years' rigorous imprisonment. The services of the men responsible for the original capture were situably rewarded.

The remaining three dakaitis all took place in the early part of the year, two occurring in the Kekri police-circle and one in Sawar.

The Superintendent of Police attributes these offences to gangs of wandering Sansis of the Jaipur State and it is probable that he is correct in this.

Though the success met with under this head has not been very great it is satisfactory to find, yet once again, a decrease in the number of dakaitis committed and, if a case which occurred on the outskirts of Beawar City (which was certainly not an ordinary case of dakaiti by a wandering gang) be excluded, it is now over 18 months since any case of dakaiti was reported in Ajmer-Merwara.

58. Twenty-three cases of robbery are returned for 1913 as compared with 12 in the preceding year. The Superintendent attributes this increase partly to scarcity, partly to more accurate classification of cases of theft or burglary accompanied by hurt and partly to defective supervision of criminal tribes in adjoining Native States which has resulted in members of those gangs making periodical raids into Ajmer-Merwara.

There appears no reason to believe, however, that the supervision exercised over members of criminal tribes in adjoining Native States was any more effective in previous years than in the year under report and such increase as has occurred is more probably due to the other reasons mentioned, namely, scarcity and more accurate classification. An analysis of the cases shows that one of them ultimately proved to be an ordinary theft and was expunged from the returns after the close of 1913, while seven were aggravated forms of burglary. Of the other robberies two were cases which occurred in Ajmer itself in which constables were the offenders and yet another case was the work of some sepoys of the 90th Punjabi regiment at Nasirabad. Of the remainder all but one were highway robberies, the exception being a technical case which ended in conviction. Of 10 highway robberies not already accounted for, three were cases in which ex-convicts operating by themselves held up solitary travellers: all those cases ended in conviction. The remaining seven were untraced. With the exception of one case in which villagers were held up in the immediate vicinity of their own village and which is very unlikely to have been the work of a wandering criminal tribe on a marauding expedition, no undetected case of highway robbery occurred before September and five of the seven cases returned as undetected occurred in November and December, when the pinch of scarcity had begun to make itself severely felt. These facts seem to justify the contention that any increase there has been is due to causes other than to a further relaxation of the supervision exercised over criminal tribes in adjoining Native States. The question has been gone into at some length because of the severe criticisms passed by the Superintendent of Police and the Assistant Commissioner regarding that particular point. As a matter of fact a reference to the annual report for 1912 will show that the extraordinary variations in the number of robberies returned of recent years received special notice at that time. The annual average up to some four years ago was nearer 20 than 10 but dropped to 5 for the years 1909 to 1911 without any satisfactory explanation being offered. The figures for 1913 are not therefore so extraordinarily high as to call for special justification and, indeed, are not nearly so high as the figures in many districts in the United Provinces.

The total number of robberies sent up for trial in 1913 was nine. Of that number eight were successfully prosecuted to conviction and one was still under trial at the close of the year.

The most important case was one in which four burglars, when interrupted in their work, used violence to their would-be-captors. A free fight ensued which ended in the capture of two men but the remainder escaped. One of the men arrested, subsequently died of the hurts he had received but the other was duly convicted and sentenced to 2 years' rigorous imprisonment.

In the case committed by some sepoys of the 90th Punjabi regiment, no arrests were made at the time of occurrence but the complainant subsequently identified one of his assailants and that man was sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment.

One of the two cases in which police constables were concerned resulted in conviction. The offender was on guard duty over an encampment at the time he committed the robbery and was charged with extorting a sum of Rs. 2-1 from a passing cartman whom he had threatened to run in for a breach of a Municipal bye-law. He was sentenced to one year's rigorous imprisonment. In the other case the charge could not be proved. The complainant alleged that he had been decoyed into the house of a constable stationed in the Reserve Lines by a woman of loose morals and had there been robbed of such money as he had on his person by the owner of the house and a brother constable. As a result of this charge, however, a departmental enquiry was instituted which terminated in the dismissal of one of the two constables for misconduct.

59. The only other form of crime included in this class which is deserving of special notice is that of burglary or house-breaking.

The number of true cases returned under that head stands at 484 as compared with 472 for 1912 and 516 for 1911.

Once again the success met with in dealing with this form of crime has not been very great. Of 238 cases investigated only 71 came before the Courts and, of 70 tried out, no less than 11 ended in acquittal. Fifteen other cases in which property plundered by burglars was recovered from receivers were, however, successfully prosecuted to conviction under section 411, Indian Penal Code.

Few of these cases were of any importance but the four cases mentioned below are of some local interest:—

(1) The house of a Mahajan of Ajmer was broken into early in March and jewelry valued at Rs. 1,015 was stolen from a strong room on the ground-floor which had been secured with a six lever lock. Suspicion fell on three persons and part of the jewelry was recovered from the possession of two of them and as a result they were convicted under section 411, Indian Penal Code, and sentenced to a year's rigorous imprisonment, each.

(2) Early in August the police at Beawār received reliable information that certain bad characters had planned to break into the house of a Mahajan in the Beawar City that night. A police trap was arranged which proved successful and three bad characters were captured after a severe struggle in the course of which the Sub-Inspector, a Head-constable and several constables were slightly injured. These three persons were convicted and sentenced to imprisonment for periods ranging from 21 months to 2 years.

(3) On September 7th two service-pattern Webley revolvers (·450 bore were stolen from the quarters of an orderly attached to one of the officers of the 90th Punjabi regiment, stationed at Nasirabad. A very careful enquiry was made but, up to the close of 1913, no clue to the case was obtained. After the commencement of 1914, however, both revolvers were recovered from the possession of a dismissed follower of the 90th Punjabi regiment who was arrested by the Railway Police at Ajmer railway station on suspicion and that man was convicted under section 411, Indian Penal Code.

(4) On December 24th the house of a well-to-do Jat in the Mangliawas police-circle was broken into and property, consisting of jewelry and articles of clothing, valued at Rs. 2,375, was stolen. To obtain entrance to the house the burglars had to cut through a wall of solid masonry and there were clear indications that this was the work of professional criminals. A searching enquiry was made under the immediate direction of the Circle Inspector but no clue could be obtained.

Class IV.—Minor offences against the person.

60. Eight cases of this class are returned for 1913, as compared with 2 in the preceding year. Three of them remained undetected and three were still pending trial at the close of 1913. A 7th case ended in conviction and, in the 8th case, the accused absconded. One of these cases, which was handed over to the Military Authorities for disposal, is deserving of notice, in that the offender was a British soldier stationed at Nasirabad who was out shooting without a pass. The original charge was that this man had deliberately fired at and wounded a boy who had objected to his attempt to retrieve a pigeon which he had shot and which had fallen inside a temple courtyard. The truth appeared to be, however, that the accused had fired at and missed a pigeon which was on the ground and had hit the boy who was, unknown to him, in the line of fire. The weapon used was a miniature rifle and the wound was not a very serious one luckily. This case is shown as pending in the returns for 1913 but has since terminated in the accused being sentenced to six months' rigorous imprisonment by a District Court-martial.

Class V.—Minor offences against property.

61. Cases of this class dealt with by the police in the year under report aggregated 767 as compared with 837 in the preceding year. Five hundred and thirty-one of those cases were investigated with the result that 321 were sent up for trial. Fourteen of those cases were still before the Courts at the close of the year and, of the remainder, 283 ended in conviction and 24 in acquittal.

62. Cases of cattle-theft fell from 70 to 57, all but one of which were enquired into by the police. Nineteen of them were sent up for trial, 17 ending in conviction and 1 in acquittal while one was still under trial at the close of 1913.

In addition to this, 14 receivers were convicted under section 411, Indian Penal Code in respect to stolen cattle (an increase of 1 on the figure for 1912) so that the convictions for cattle-thieving and cognate offences totalled 31. In 1912 only 28 such convictions were obtained though the number of cases dealt with was considerably larger.

It is satisfactory to note that the number of cattle reported to have strayed which were never recovered fell from 226 to 175, though the number of reports of strayals did not decrease materially.

The Superintendent refers to two cases of special interest. One of these was the capture of a gang of Chakras (professional cattle-thieves) who had "lifted" cattle from four villages in the Goela circle and carried them into Jaipur territory. It is refreshing to see that in this case assistance was given by a station-officer of the Jaipur Police and that he was promptly rewarded. The result was the conviction of seven professional cattle-thieves.

The 2nd case was chiefly remarkable for the reckless daring shown by the accused, a sowar in the Poona Horse. Coming to his home, on leave, he seized and carried off into Jaipur territory a valuable mare belonging to a local Rajput with whom he had a feud and, subsequently, twice returned to that village by night and set fire to stacks of fodder, valued at several thousand rupees, belonging to that same man. On these occasions he was seen by the villagers but, as he was armed with a gun and sword which he threatened to use if interfered with, they allowed him to escape unmolested. Finally, however, this man gave himself up to the District Magistrate at Pushkar and received the reward for his crimes in a sentence of five years' rigorous imprisonment under sections 379 and 435, Indian Penal Code.

63. There was a considerable increase in the number of cases of criminal breach of trust dealt with by the police, no less than 46 true cases, falling under head being dealt with in 1913 as compared with 30 in the preceding year. No special reasons are given for this increase and the local police do not seem to have coped with it very successfully as only 28 of those cases came before the courts and the number of convictions actually obtained (22) was exactly the same as in 1912.

One case was of considerable importance and calls for special notice. This was breach of trust on the part of the chief cashier of the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway Audit Office at Ajmer. The case came to light in consequence of certain information which was given to the Deputy Auditor by his Head Clerk. That Officer, acting on the information he had received, checked the balance in the chief cashier's possession, unexpectedly, with the result that he found defalcations to the value of Rs. 52,000. The case was then handed over to the police with the ultimate result that the cashier was placed on his trial and convicted, being sentenced to five years' rigorous imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 10,000.

64. None of the other offences in this class calls for special notice.

Class VI.— Other offences not specified above.

65. Cases falling in this class numbered 2,903 for the year under report as compared with 3,531 for 1912. The decrease is confined almost entirely to offences falling under the head "Public Nuisances" and has been explained in paragraph 39 of this report.

All but seven of those cases came before the courts for trial and 2,834 terminated in conviction and 45 in acquittal while 17 were still under trial at the close of the year.

66. Excluding nine cases subsequently cut out as mistakes of law or fact and one case which was withdrawn, 52 prosecutions were instituted for vagrancy and bad livelihood. The number of prosecutions in 1912 and 1911 was 47 and 38 respectively, but no less than eight of the cases dealt with in 1913 had been initiated before the close of 1912.

All but eleven of these cases were prosecutions for vagrancy under section 109 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. It has always been found difficult to initiate prosecutions under section 110, Criminal Procedure Code in Ajmer-Merwara and no doubt one of the reasons is that given by the Superintendent of Police, namely, that only the District Magistrate has hitherto been empowered to deal with cases under that section. It is to be hoped that the Superintendent's recent representations on this subject to the Commissioner will receive sympathetic treatment.

Of the 11 prosecutions under section 110, Criminal Procedure Code, seven resulted in security being demanded from the persons concerned but, in two cases, no justification for demanding such security was found. The remaining two cases were still under trial at the close of the year.

Of the 41 prosecutions instituted under section 109, Criminal Procedure Code (including eight which were brought forward from 1912) 35 ended in security being demanded and six in the persons implicated being discharged.

These results are not equal to those obtained under this head in former years and the necessity for the Superintendent to keep the institution of such cases in his own hand appears to have been somewhat overlooked. Unsuccessful prosecutions under section 110, Criminal Procedure Code usually do more harm than good and the institution of cases of vagrancy followed by their subsequent withdrawal as mistakes of law or fact is a new departure which should not have been possible had proper care been exercised before action was taken.

The average security demanded in cases under section 110, Criminal Procedure Code amounted to Rs. 243 with an alternative of approxmately 25½ months' imprisonment. Security was furnished in all but one instance.

In cases under section 109, Criminal Procedure Code the average security demanded was Rs. 65 with the alternative of slightly less than 7 months' imprisonment. Only one of the vagrants dealt with under that section was able to produce a surety for good behaviour.

67. Forty-three prosecutions for breaches of the Excise and Opium laws were instituted by the police during 1913 as compared with 53 in 1912 and 36 in 1911. Prosecutions under the Gambling Act also decreased from 24 to 12.

The Superintendent attributes these decreases to the various changes in the post of City Inspector which occurred during the year. It is undoubted that inactivity on the part of a City Inspector usually results in a decrease of such prosecutions and that informers will not assist the local police in such matters unless they are convinced that they will receive support. The subject should continue to receive the attention of the Superintendent of Police.

Property stolen and recovered.

68. The total amount of property stolen was valued at Rs. 1,23,794 as compared with Rs. 65,444 in the preceding year. The percentage of recovery fell from 12 to 8 but scrutiny of the figures included in the return for 1913 shows clearly how little attention should be paid to such variations.

Practically the entire increase in the sum total of losses is due to the prosecution of the chief cashier of the Audit Office at Ajmer, details of which have already been furnished at paragraph 63 of this report. The defalcations in that case were computed at Rs. 52,000 while recoveries are shown as nil, though there is every reason to believe that a considerable portion of the sum embezzled will ultimately be recovered as a result of the civil action which is now pending.

Identification by means of Finger Impressions.

69. The finger impression slips of 160 persons were sent to the Bureau for search during 1913 as compared with 121 in the preceding year. Thirty-nine of those slips resulted in the identity of previously-convicted offenders being established. The work under this head continues to improve and the Superintendent reports that he is arranging for all literate constables to be taught how to take rolled finger impressions accurately. One head-constable qualified as a "Proficient" during the year.

Absconded Offenders.

70. The names of 52 absconders figured on the registers of proclaimed offenders at the commencement of 1913. Fifteen names were added during the year bringing the total to 67. Twelve of those persons were, however, arrested during 1913 and the names of two others expunged for special reasons so that the closing balance was 53.

It is satisfactory to find that the improvement in the work under this head which took place in 1912 was sustained in the year 1913 and that the list of absconded offenders is not, all things considered, a very long one. As pointed out by the Superintendent the actual whereabouts of several of these absconders are known but the Extradition treaties do not permit of application being made for their surrender.

Surveillance over persons whose history-sheets have been prepared.

71. The number of history-sheets of convicts and suspects which were maintained at the close of 1912 was 461. During the year under report 109 new history-sheets were prepared making a total for disposal of 570.

Eighty-three of these were closed during 1913 for various reasons leaving a balance of 483 at the close of the year. Fifty-six of these are the dossiers of criminals who were reconvicted and imprisoned during the year.

The names of 107 persons figured on the surveillance register at the close of 1913 and proceedings were instituted under section 110, Criminal Procedure Code against 6 of them during that year. The percentage of persons whose history-sheets are maintained but who are themselves untraceable (14) is still high but, as mentioned in previous reports, till Native States will arrange for an effective supervision of such persons when they go outside British India there is but small hope of any material improvememt in this direction.

Co-operation with the police of Native States.

72. The Superintendent complains bitterly of the little assistance he has received from the police of adjoining Native States and especially of the obstructive attitude of the Mewar police. The Assistant Commissioner endorses his remarks on this subject and they both of them make suggestions as to the manner in which they consider relations might be improved. An annual report is scarcely a fitting document in which to deal with such questions but it may be noted that these officers are apparently unaware that on several occasions during the past seven years, at least, endeavours similar to those proposed by them have been made with a view to better co-operation but have failed owing to the attitude of the Durbars chiefly concerned.

Strength, cost and employment of the police.

73. There was no change in the sanctioned strength during the year under report. The actual cost of the force rose from Rs. 1,98,573 to Rs. 1,99,209 which is due to fortuitous circumstances.

Rewards and Punishments.

74. Two hundred and thirty-eight members of the force were rewarded in 1913 as compared with 165 in the preceding year. The total amount paid in rewards from all sources was Rs. 2,439 an increase of 720 on the aggregate paid in 1912. This increase was in rewards paid for meritorious services and in gambling cases. In addition to this, 16 chaukidars and 55 private persons were rewarded with sums aggregating Rs. 113 and Rs. 442 respectively. The Superintendent states that owing to lack of funds the payment of certain rewards which were earned in 1913 had to be postponed till after the close of the financial year but this is not quite a correct exposition of the case.

An additional grant was applied for and sanctioned but the orders of the Government of India were received too late for that additional grant to be ultilised.

75. The total number of punishments inflicted was 35 as compared with 38 in the previous year. This figure includes 7 judicial punishments, 15 dismissals and 13 other departmental punishments. The judicial punishments include the conviction of one Sub-Inspector and one Head-constable under sections 193 and 218, Indian Penal Code, the conviction of three constables under other sections of the Penal Code and of two constables under section 29 of the Police Act. The case in which the two officers were concerned was a particularly disgraceful one and they richly deserved the sentences of four and three years' rigorous imprisonment respectively passed upon them. Their actual offence was preparing a bogus inquest report to account for the disappearance of a woman of the Banda district who was suspected to have been made away with. They received a very substantial bribe to induce them to do this and it was a mere chance which brought the case to light.

One of the constables was convicted under section 304, Indian Penal Code, for killing a fellow-constable with whom he had had a quarrel when-under the influence of liquor.

In spite of these individual cases it is satisfactory to note that the punishment-roll is not a heavy one though Mr. Goad hints that it would have been heavier had not local conditions inclined him towards leniency in all but the most flagrant cases.

Health.

76. The health of the force was considerably better than in 1912. Deaths decreased from 9 to 4 and admissions to hospital totalled only 38 per cent. of the actual strength as compared with 49 in 1912.

Casualties.

77. The following casualties occurred during the year:—

(1) Pension or gratuity	17
(2) Resignation without pension or gratuity	81
(3) Dismissal	22
(4) Discharge otherwise than above	29
(5) Desertion	13
(6) Death	4
	166

These figures show, once again, a slight advance on those of the previous year (when casualties totalled 161). This increase is chiefly in resignations which rose from 68 to 81.

The Superintendent has much to say regarding these resignations and the difficulties which stand in the way of his obtaining a sufficient supply of recruits, a question which has received special mention on various occasions of recent years. As, however, the whole question is being dealt with separately and certain proposals are about to be submitted which will, it is hoped, if accepted improve the existing state of affairs, it is unnecessary to discuss this matter further in this report.

General Remarks.

78. The work of the Ajmer-Merwara police has once again been satisfactory as a whole.

Isolated cases have occurred in which officers and men have shown up badly, but it is a truism to state that such cases will occur from time to time in the best-regulated police force and a considerably larger number of instances in which exceptionally praiseworthy work was done could be quoted if space permitted and this was the proper place in which to enter such details.

The Superintendent passes severe strictures on the discipline of the force as a whole but longer experience of the district will probably alter his views to a certain extent in this respect and the heavier reward-roll and short list of punishments are evidence that things are not very unsatisfactory.

All police-stations and out-posts were inspected by a gazetted officer as well as by Circle Inspectors during the year. The new police-station at Todgarh was completed and handed over to the police during 1913 and other building projects carried through during the year were (1) alterations and additions to the Kekri police-station and (2) the erection of family quarters at two outposts in the Beawar police-circle.

Mr. Goad has for years borne the reputation of a hardworking, zealous and capable police-officer and since he assumed charge of the Ajmer-Merwara police he has more than maintained the reputation he has gained elsewhere. He may be relied upon to do all in his power to improve the work of his subordinates. The present standard of efficiency is, however, a marked improvement on the state of affairs which existed some years back and will bear comparison with that of many police forces in other parts of India.

(2) CRIMINAL JUSTICE. (YEAR ENDING THE 31ST DECEMBER 1913.)

79. During the year 1913, the office of District Magistrate, Ajmer-Merwara, was held by Mr. B. J. Glancy, I.C.S., from 1st January to 11th March on which date he handed over charge to Mr. D. G. Mackenzie, M.A. I.C.S., who held it till the close of the year.

80. The total number of offences reported was 9,216 of which 8,014 were returned as true. Of these 2,088 were reported under the Police Act, against 2,963 in the preceding year.

81. The number of cases under the Opium Act was 5 as against 14 in the year 1912 and 20 in 1911.

82. The number of persons under trial in the year was 11,356; of these 6,939 were convicted.

83. The corresponding figures for 1912 were 12,969 and 7,968 respectively.

84. The number of persons placed on trial before the Honorary Magistrates was 6,424 as against 7,157 in 1912.

85. The average duration of each case was 29·3 days as compared with 27·17 in 1912.

86. The number of witnesses examined was 3,569, against 4,699 in the preceding year.

87. The number of persons placed on trial before the District Magistrate was 113.

88. The Court of Sessions dealt with the cases of 28 persons, as against 13 in 1912; of these 14 were convicted, 12 were discharged and 2 remained under trial.

89. The Railway Magistrate tried 107 persons, of whom 82 were convicted.

90. The number of appeals and revisions (excluding railway cases) dealt with by the Sessions Judge was 153 out of which 122 were rejected.

91. The sentence in 14 cases was reduced and in five reversed and a new trial was ordered in one case. The Courts of the Extra Assistant Commissioner, III and Magistrate, 1st Class, Kekri, the Honorary Magistrates, Baghera, Kharwa, Pisangan and the Cantonment Magistrate and Magistrate, 1st class, Nasirabad were inspected by the District Magistrate during the year under report.

92. The following Courts were inspected by the Commissioner:—

the Extra Assistant Commissioner, Merwara, the Deputy Magistrate, Beawar, the Tehsildar, Beawar, and the Naib Tehsildar, Beawar.

(3) CIVIL JUSTICE (YEAR ENDING THE 31ST DECEMBER 1913.)

Vide Statements Nos. 17 to 25.

93. The number of Courts during the year was 31.

94. The total number of suits (including miscellaneous) was 8,143 against 8,844 in the year 1912, showing a decrease of 701.

95. The total value of suits instituted this year was Rs. 7,38,476 as against Rs. 7,63,318.

96. Suits of all kinds, the value of which did not exceed Rs. 50, numbered 3,493.

97. The total number of suits of all kinds for disposal, including arrears, was 9,936. The number of contested suits disposed of was 942 ; 56 were decided by arbitration, and 5,214 without any contest. The number disposed of without trial was 2,063, and 211 suits were transferred to other Courts. The pending file at the close of the year was 1,450 as compared with 1,793 in the preceding year, and of the former 491 had been pending for more than three months. The average duration of contested civil suits was 136·7 days and that of uncontested suits 65·8.

APPEAL.

98. On the apellate side there were 463 appeals from decrees and orders, and the pending file at the close of the year was 226, against 221 in the preceding year. The average duration of appeals was 216·4 days, as against 208·0.

99. The number of applications for execution of decrees was 12,894, against 15,227. The number pending at the close of the year was 1,359, as compared with 2,260.

100. Judgment debtors were imprisoned in seven cases.

101. During the year the Commissioner inspected the Courts of the Extra Assistant Commissioner, Merwara, Deputy Magistrate, Beawar, Tehsildar, Beawar and Naib Tehsildar, Beawar.

102. Lieutenant-Colonel R. B. Berkely held charge of the post of additional District Judge for two months (November and December) during the year under report, and disposed of 18 civil and miscellaneous appeals.

(4) REGISTRATION. (YEAR ENDING THE 31ST DECEMBER 1913.)

Vide Statement No. 26.

103. The total number of all classes of documents presented for registration during the year under report was 6,572 as against 6,368 in the preceding year. The increase of 204 occurred chiefly under the head of non-testamentary documents relating to immovable property.

104. Out of the total number of documents presented for registration 3,014 documents or 45·56 per cent. of the whole as against 51·96 per cent. in the preceding year were registered by the Sub-Registrar, Ajmer.

105. The area of the agricultural land transferred by sale during the year was 11,218 bighas as compared with 11,128 bighas in the year 1912. The area of agricultural land transferred by mortgage was 14,467 bighas as compared with 19,211 bighas in 1912. The decrease seems largely due to the facilities available for obtaining loans from the Co-operative Credit Societies and villagers were not driven so largely to the necessity of having recourse to Mahajans for raising money.

106. The total value of the land transferred by sale and mortgage amounted to Rs. 7,04,308 or Rs. 1,829 more than in the preceding year.

107. The total receipts and expenditure of the year amounted to Rs. 11,935 and Rs. 3,698, as against Rs. 11,466 and Rs. 3,595 respectively in 1912 showing a surplus of Rs. 8,237.

108. The system of recording thumb impressions worked well during the year.

SECTION III.

PROTECTION.

Vide Statements Nos. 27 to 30.

(5) MUNICIPALITIES. (YEAR ENDING THE 31ST MARCH 1914.)

Ajmer Municipality.

109. The constitution of the Ajmer Municipal Committee remained unchanged.

110. During the year under report the Committee held 28 meetings, of which 9 were special and 19 ordinary. The average attendance at each meeting was 11·88 and 12·99 respectively.

111. The total income of the year was Rs. 5,22,246 as against Rs. 3,96,353 in 1912-13. The expenditure amounted to Rs. 6,30,196 as against Rs. 2,96,759 in the previous year, and the closing balance was Rs. 54,135.

112. If refunds are excluded, which amounted to Rs. 46,682 in 1912-13 and Rs. 40,336 in 1913-14, the figures for the two years compare as below :—

	1912-13	1913-14	Difference.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Income	3,49,671	4,81,910	1,32,239
Expenditure . . .	2,50,077	5,89,860	3,39,783

113. The increase in receipts is mainly due to the first instalment amounting to Rs. 2,50,000 of the Government loan of Rs. 4,00,000 for the Bhaonta water works scheme having been drawn during the year under report.

114. The increase in expenditure is chiefly visible under the heads " water supply " and " conservancy."

115. The increase under the head " water supply " is due to the revised Bhaonta water supply scheme framed by the Superintending Engineer, Rajputana, for a supplementary supply of water to Ajmer, having been accepted and put in hand during the year.

116. Under the head " conservancy," the increase is accounted for by the substitution of steam power for bullock traction from the tramway station to the trenching ground which is a distance of 3½ miles and by the purchase of additional rolling stock.

117. The gross and net receipts from Octroi in the two years are shown below :—

	Gross.	Net.
	Rs.	Rs.
1912-13	2,10,085	1,63,403
1913-14	2,08,134	1,67,798

118. The decrease of Rs. 1,951 in gross receipts has occurred chiefly under the items " sugar," " cloth," " metals " and " grain " and may be ascribed to the general scarcity prevailing in Ajmer and the surrounding districts.

119. The increase of Rs. 4,395 in net receipts is attributed to the fact that refunds fell short by Rs. 6,346 owing to less imports.

120. As stated above the total disbursements during the year under report amounted to Rs. 6,30,196 against Rs. 2,96,759 the previous year.

121. The variations chiefly occurred under the following heads :—

Heads.	Increase.	Decrease.
	Rs.	Rs.
Office Establishment, etc.	1,102	...
Collection of taxes	1,434	...
Refunds	...	6,546
Lighting	1,275	...
Water supply	2,37,834	...
Drainage	2,497	...
Conservancy	95,662	...
Roads	2,670	...
Public Instruction	...	1,164

122. The increase under the heads "water supply" and "conservancy" has already been explained, as also the decrease under the head "refunds."

123. The increase under the head "office establishment, etc.," is due to increments to the Municipal staff.

124. The construction of additional rooms to certain Octroi out-posts and the tentative engagement of two extra peons to watch taxable articles taken by importers by the new Usri gate and the road from Risala-ki-Baori to the Phutakote are the causes which led to an increase under the head "collection of taxes."

125. The fact that 7 extra Aladdin lamps were provided in the city and suburbs explains the excess under the head "Lighting."

126. The increase under the head "Drainage" is due to the construction of two new drains and repairs to the Ganda Nala.

127. The increase under the head "Roads" is chiefly attributed to repairs to the Srinagar Road.

128. The decrease under the head "Public Instruction" is due chiefly to the fact that last year a gratuity of Rs. 500 was paid to the late headmaster of the city branch school.

129. A sum of Rs. 17,122 was paid during the year towards the liquidation of Government loans.

130. The balance of the loan still due from the Municipality amounted to Rs. 1,76,381 at the end of the year.

131. The incidence of taxation rose from Rs. 1-14-2 to Rs. 1-15-1.

132. The management of the Ajmer water works was in the hands of Mr. P. A. L. Cantin, Executive Engineer, Ajmer Provincial Division, up to the 4th December 1913 and from that date in the hands of Captain C. C. H. Hogg, R.E., with Mr. J. Gorman, Assistant Engineer and Sub-Divisional Officer, Ajmer Sub-Division, to assist them.

133. The first rainfall, registered on the 10th June 1913, was 1·55 inches when the Foy Sagar lake rose from 3·16 feet, the lowest point reached, to 4·80 feet. From this date the water level began to rise.

134. The total depth of the Foy Sagar between the sill of the lowest sluice and full supply level is 24 feet and the highest point recorded after the hot weather was 15·10 feet on the 1st September 1913.

135. The water level of the lake on the 1st April 1913 was 8·16 feet, so that between this and the 10th June 1913, the date of the first rainfall registered, the water level dropped 5·13 feet as against 6·49 feet registered from the 1st April to the 9th July of the previous year.

136. The total rainfall between June and September 1913 was only 8·25 inches, while for the whole year under report it was 14 inches, the normal fall being 21·09 inches.

137. The supply of water by gravitation being insufficient pumping had to be resorted to for 198 days from April to October 1913.

138. In addition to this, the Railway had to be called in to help and the water supplied by them from Budha Pushkar amounted to 92·30 million gallons.

139. On the 5th December 1913, Ajmer was favoured by a most providential fall of rain which measured 4·21 inches and the Foy Sagar lake was filled up to 9·75 feet above sluice level. The water was allowed to settle for a period of 30 days and then turned on to the city.

140. Regarding the question of taxing the Railway at Ajmer for indirect services rendered to them by the Municipality, which the Committee were willing to compound, the exact amount proposed on that account was Rs. 16,000 per annum with an assurance that for ten years the Municipality would not increase its present rates or impose any new tax for direct services rendered to the Railway. The matter has not, however, yet been definitely settled.

141. The revised estimate framed by the Superintending Engineer, Rajputana, amounting to Rs. 5,19,462 for a supplementary supply of water from Bhaonta in the Sagarmati valley was adopted and submitted for sanction. An application was made to Government for a loan of Rs. 4,00,000 at Rs. 4 per cent. per annum repayable in 30 years. The loan applied for has been sanctioned and the first instalment of Rs. 2,50,000 has been paid. The Committee are very grateful for the contribution of Rs. 1,00,000 made by the Supreme Government to this Scheme and to the Local Government for permitting the Superintending Engineer, Rajputana, to execute the work which it is understood is nearing completion.

142. The proposal of the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway to become a partner with the Municipal Committee in the existing and future water works schemes, was not agreed to by the Municipal Committee.

143. A scheme for issuing steam power instead of bullock traction to remove the excreta from the collecting station to the trenching ground is nearing completion.

144. A preliminary survey for a comprehensive drainage scheme is shortly to be carried out by Messrs. Lane Brown and Company of Lucknow.

145. The number of recorded births was practically the same as in the last year, viz., 1,689 in 1913-14 and 1,694 in 1912-13.

146. The number of recorded deaths rose from 2,820 to Rs. 2,927.

147. The birth and death rate per mille of population was 19·58 and 33·95 against 19·63 and 32·22 respectively in the preceding year.

148. The mortality among children under five years of age was 1,492 (50·97 per cent. of the total mortality) against 1,246 in the previous year.

149. Seven deaths from Cholera and one from Small-pox were reported.

150. The total number of vaccinations performed in the Ajmer town and suburbs was 3,071 against 2,692 in the previous year. The number of primary vaccinations was 3,066 and of re-vaccinations 5 against 2,599 and 93 respectively last year.

151. 61 hoppers, 1 cart frame, 16 trollies, 3 iron tanks, 7 crowly carts, 2 steam engines and 160 hoppers with trollies have been purchased during the year.

152. One two-seated new moveable galvanized iron latrine and two one-seated moveable urinals have been provided near the Police Chowki at the Railway Station. Some more moveable public latrines and urinals are still required to be provided in different places in the city and suburbs. Many private privies are being improved so as to take moveable galvanized iron receptacles.

153. Three incinerators on trial are still in use and sanction has been given to construct more masonry incinerators.

Beawar Municipality.

154. There was no change in the Municipal boundaries during the year.

155. During the year under report, the Committee held 22 meetings of which 12 were Special and 10 Ordinary as compared with 12 Special and 9 Ordinary in 1912-13.

156. The total net income of the year amounted to Rs. 80,275 as against Rs. 91,189 in 1912-13 and the expenditure to Rs. 1,37,147 as against Rs. 57,000. The closing balance amounted to Rs. 26,258 exclusive of Rs. 10,000 invested in Government paper.

157. The decrease of Rs. 10,914 in the income is chiefly due to the Government grant of Rs. 25,000 made last year for Sanitary purposes but the head Octroi shows an increase of Rs. 13,893 which is mainly due to larger imports in consequence of the year being a favourable one for marriages, funeral feasts, etc., and to the realization of a larger amount from Kappas owing to the favourable rates of the market.

158. The incidence of Octroi taxation on a population of 22,800 was Rs. 3-4-11 per head as against Rs. 2-11-3 in the year 1912-13.

159. Compared with the previous year, the expenditure shows an increase of Rs. 80,147 which occurred chiefly under the heads "General Administration," "Water Supply" and "Miscellaneous Works."

160. The Water Supply Scheme for Beawar from Jalia, which was matured last year, was brought into effect during the year under report.

161. The number of births and deaths registered during the year was 1,068 and 940 as against 1,058 and 1,089 in 1912-13.

Kekri Municipality.

162. There has been no change in the constitution of the Committee except the appointment of Sub-Assistant Surgeon Ibrahim Khan Bhai in place of Sub-Assistant Surgeon Doctor Chail Behari Lal, during the year under report.

163. The Committee held five Ordinary and five Special Meetings.

164. The total income and expenditure during the year amounted to Rs. 18,951 and Rs. 11,334 as against Rs. 14,545 and Rs. 9,413 respectively in the year 1912-13. The closing balance on the 31st March 1914 was Rs. 18,849 inclusive of Rs. 2,000 invested in Government securities.

165. The increase of Rs. 4,406 in receipts is chiefly due to the Government grant of Rs. 5,000 for sanitary improvements.

166. The increase of Rs. 1,920 in expenditure was mainly under the heads "Octroi," "Conservancy," "Public Instruction" and "Gardens and Arboriculture" and "General Miscellaneous" which includes Rs. 393 on account of the purchase of a Type-writer.

167. The incidence of Octroi taxation was Rs. 1-15-5¾ per head of the population during the year under report, as against Rs. 2-0-4 in 1912-13.

168. The number of births and deaths recorded during the year was 205 and 182 as against 232 and 231 respectively in the preceding year.

169. The accounts of this Municipality were checked by the Auditors of the Local Funds Accounts, United Provinces, Allahabad, during November 1913.

SECTION IV.

6. Providing certain accommodation for the Extra Assistant Commissioner's court at Beawar.

7. Providing family quarters to the Kekri Police Station.

8. Making additions and alterations to the Public Works Department Office at Beawar.

9. Constructing a Civil inspection bungalow at Ajmer.

10. Constructing Residency Surgeon's and Chief Medical Officer's Office and servant's quarters at Ajmer.

11. Widening the 2nd mile of the Ajmer-Beawar road.

12. Widening miles 2, 3 and 4 of the Ajmer-Nasirabad road.

13. Improving and reconstructing the Beawar road Sub-drains along King Edward Memorial, Ajmer.

14. Widening the 2nd, 3rd, and 4th miles of the Ajmer-Jaipur road.

15. Converting road drains into culverts on the Nasirabad-Deoli road.

16. Constructing a bridge on the Beawar-Dawair road at 18 mile 7 f.

17. Making new plantations on Imperial roads in Ajmer-Merwara.

194. The expenditure on communications amounted to Rs. 1,34,209. Revenue credited to Imperial Civil Works during 1913-14 on account of Ajmer-Merwara was Rs. 7,700 including Rs. 1,129, Rs. 852 and Rs. 660 on account of rent of the Agency House at Deoli, the Agency Surgeon's quarters at Deoli and the Cantonment Magistrate's bungalow at Nasirabad, respectively.

Roadside plantation.

Arboriculture, roadside tree plantation.

195. At the beginning of the year the total length of the roads with avenues was 81 miles. During the year 8 miles of Imperial and 3 miles of District Fund roads were planted with young trees, thereby making a total length of 92 miles of avenue roads. The number of trees planted to fill up blanks was 1,580. The total cost of planting and maintaining the trees on both Imperial and District Fund roads amounted to Rs. 6,734 against Rs. 6,013 in the previous year. The increase in expenditure is mainly due to the larger supply of iron tree guards on the roads noted in the margin and to the additional cost of fodder owing to the scarcity.

Imperial—
Ajmer-Kishengarh.
Beawar-Sendra.
District Fund—
Beawar Jawaja.

196. The expenditure on Imperial roads was Rs. 4,670 and on District Fund roads Rs. 2,064.

197. The maintenance of Nurseries cost Rs. 263 from Imperial and Rs. 127 from the District Fund.

198. The income derived from the sale of dry wood and babul pods, etc., amounted to Rs. 710 against Rs. 493 in the previous year.

Inspection of raingauges.

199. The number of raingauges maintained in Ajmer-Merwara during the year 1913—1914 was 87 (including those kept in the stores of the Public Works Department and used in the rainy season only for recording rainfall at certain tanks) against 86 shown in the report for 1912-1913. All the raingauges were inspected by District Officers and found in efficient condition. All except one are Symon's gauges.

Co-operative Credit Societies.

200. The progress made during the year under report has been on the whole satisfactory. The number of all kinds of societies has risen from 282 to 357, the membership from 8,611 to 11,162 and the gross working capital from

Rs. 9,95,450 to Rs. 14,85,833. Two new urban banks, with limited liability, to finance the rural societies, were established during the year, namely, at Pisangan and Kekri, while there has been an addition of 73 rural societies with unlimited liability, against 279 last year. The working capital of the five central societies was Rs. 7,50,323 against Rs. 4,92,245 while that of the agricultural societies was Rs. 7,35,510 against Rs. 5,03,205. These figures include Rs. 6,60,927 received from the central societies against Rs. 4,12,096 last year. After deducting this amount there is a net working capital of all kinds of societies of Rs. 8,24,905 against Rs. 5,83,353. To the capital of central societies (Rs. 7,50,323), the Ajmer Central Bank contributed Rs. 5,45,039 against Rs. 4,21,901, Beawar Rs. 1,77,934 against Rs. 66,853, Nasirabad Rs. 17,488 against Rs. 3,491, Pisangan Rs. 9,205 and Kekri Rs. 657.

The Ajmer Central Bank, Limited.

201. Out of the share capital of Rs. 1,00,000 in the Ajmer central bank, Rs. 98,750 have been already fully subscribed. Of this Rs. 74,800 is the share capital of members and Rs. 23,950 that of its affiliated agricultural societies, against Rs. 65,750 last year. The deposits of all kinds including the reserve fund amount to Rs. 4,46,289 against Rs. 3,56,151, thus bringing the total working capital to Rs. 5,45,039 against Rs. 4,21,901. The number of members of this central bank is 381 individuals and 186 rural societies against 270 and 171 last year.

202. Loans issued during the year to individual members were Rs. 48,790 and to rural societies Rs. 2,24,276 to the central bank, Beawar Rs. 25,000, total Rs. 2,98,066, to which the balance of last year, Rs. 3,95,091 may be added, thus the total loan issued comes to Rs. 6,93,157. The amount recovered during the year was Rs. 2,03,953. The balance recoverable was Rs. 4,89,204.

The Beawar Central Bank, Limited.

203. The share capital of individual members was Rs. 14,475 against Rs. 13,250 last year and of the affiliated societies Rs. 4,100. Loans from Government Rs. 25,000 for reproductive purposes and Rs. 6,667 for grass : besides a loan of Rs. 25,000 from the Ajmer Central Bank Rs. 1,02,551 on account of deposits and the reserve fund was Rs. 141-2-6. The total working capital thus comes to Rs. 1,77,934. The number of members rose from 40 to 151. Loans issued during the year to 127 rural societies were Rs. 1,87,324 given out of the last year's balance and the receipts of this year.

The Nasirabnd Co-operative Bank, Limited.

204. The working capital was thus formed :—

	Rs.
Share capital	3,750
Deposits	13,738
	17,488

Eleven societies having 301 members were financed to the extent of Rs. 21,003, while Rs. 1,700 were given to individual members out of the balance of last year and receipts of this year.

The Pisangan Co-operative Bank, Limited.

205. This Bank was established in October 1913. Its capital was fixed at Rs. 50,000 divided into 2,000 shares of Rs. 25 each, to finance the rural societies in Khalsa villages within a distance of 20 miles from Pisangan as also the individual members of the bank. The share capital during the year was

Rs. 550 while the deposits of all sorts amounted to Rs. 8,655, bringing the working capital to Rs. 9,205. Five societies were financed during the year.

The Kekri Central Bank, Limited.

206. This was established on 7th May 1914 and before the close of the year could only collect a working capital of Rs. 657, from this a loan of Rs. 307 was issued to one society of Para village.

Agricultural Societies.

207. Of the 352 societies, 75 are in istimrari villages, 49 in jagir or minor istimrari villages and 228 in khalsa villages 99 in Ajmer and 129 in Merwara). Of these Societies 3 have not worked and 4 of these depend for their finance on the Masuda estate and 3 on the Bhina estate. The remaining 342 were financed by the central banks as under:—

Ajmer	198
Beawar	127
Kekri	1
Nasirabad	11

208. Loans issued during the year to rural societies in the Ajmer district amounted to Rs. 2,53,034 and in Merwara to Rs. 2,14,910, total Rs. 4,67,944. Balance of the last year's loans was Rs. 4,78,190. Thus the total loans amounted to Rs. 9,46,134; of these Rs. 1,56,890 was recovered from members of the rural societies in Ajmer and Rs. 81,861 from Merwara; total Rs. 2,38,751, leaving a balance of Rs. 7,07,383, against Ajmer Rs. 5,04,595 and against Merwara Rs. 2,02,787.

209. Considering the year of scarcity, which was general in the district, the recovery of the loans appears to be satisfactory. The net profit of all the 5 central societies was Rs. 23,026 as compared with Rs. 11,382. The amount of last year's reserve fund was Rs. 7,373 while that of 1911-12 was Rs. 2,231.

210. The charges on account of the Registrar's administrative staff amounted to Rs. 8,802. None of the societies had to lodge any suits in the civil courts.

211. Mr. S. Wilberforce, I.C.S., of the Punjab, was deputed to Ajmer-Merwara during the cold weather and made an extensive tour in the district. His interesting and valuable report shows that there is excellent promise for the success of co-operative societies in this district.

212. In order to judge the progress effected the special features of the year must be taken into consideration inasmuch as the district was suffering from scarcity, approaching to famine in Merwara. The central banks have been invaluable agencies for the relief of distress in Ajmer-Merwara.

213. The Ajmer central bank recovered Rs. 1,65,730 out of a total demand of Rs. 5,75,377, or less than one-third and postponed the rest. The loans issued in Ajmer during the year were less than those of the last year for the reason that those who could restrict their needs did not take new loans as they thought they could not repay them, but simply asked for postponement of their repayment instalments. With the Beawar central bank the case was different. It had a financial crisis, in which it was assisted by a loan of Rs. 35,000 from the Mosuda estate, Rs. 20,000 from the King Edward Memorial fund, Rs. 25,000 from the Ajmer central bank, Rs. 25,000 as Government takavi for reproductive purposes, and Rs. 6,667 on account of grass takavi, besides other loans; and thus obtained sufficient funds to meet the needs of the rural societies and was able to tide over the time till the 30th June.

214. The purposes for which loans were given are detailed below :—

	Ajmer.	Merwara.	Total.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1. Purchase of land	1,100	...	1,100
2. Improvement of land and wells . .	23,099	57,064	80,163
3. Payments of old debts . . .	23,844	8,610	32,454
4. Redemption of land	6,977	1,878	8,855
5. Purchase of bullocks	18,216	6,795	25,011
6. Purchase of milch cattle . . .	2,842	4,627	7,469
7. Purchase of seed	41,002	29,404	70,406
8. Purchase of agricultural implements .	3,116	1,202	4,318
9. Trade purposes	4,109	3,326	7,435
10. Marriages and deaths	6,333	2,308	8,641
11. Building and repair of houses . .	540	...	540
12. Purchase of fodder	99,359	82,148	1,81,507
13. Payment of rent	1,367	4,489	5,856
14. Maintenance	5,000	6,000	11,000
15. Weeding, etc., charges . . .	13,024	2,000	15,024
16. Miscellaneous	3,105	5,059	8,164
	2,53,033	2,14,910	4,67,943

215. Thus it will appear that loans have been given freely for all kinds of purposes, and it is believed that they have generally been applied to the purposes for which they were taken.

SECTION V.

REVENUE AND FINANCE.

A.—IMPERIAL.

(1) Land and water revenue.

Character of the season. Vide statement No 31.

216. The year under report, which includes the accounts for the Rabi harvest of 1320 and the kharif of 1321 fasli, was a year of scarcity. The average rainfall of the year was 11·88 inches, the normal being 21 inches. The outturn of the rabi was fair and that of the kharif poor.

Variable assessment.

217. The system of fluctuating assessment in the 46 villages selected at the time of the settlement again worked well.

218. The practical results both in regard to the area sown and the revenue realised show a decrease when compared with the standard fixed at the time of the settlement. This is due to the scanty rainfall and failure of crops.

219. The following table compares for the variable villages, the revenue actually assessed for the year 1321 fasli with the standard fixed at the settlement.

Tahsil.	Standard.			Annual crop rate tank revenue for 15 years including famine.	Actual for 1321 Fasli.			Average crop rate tank assessed 1321 Fasli.

Demand, collection, etc., vide statement No. 32.

220. The current demand on account of land and water revenue and miscellaneous receipts for the year amounted to Rs. 3,56,295 against Rs. 3,71,826 for the year 1912-13. The decrease of Rs. 15,531 was due to scanty rainfall. Including the arrears of previous years the total demand aggregated Rs. 3,90,434. Out of the Rs. 3,05,218 were realised as against Rs. 3,66,270 in the previous year as shown below :—

	1912-13.	1913-14.
	Rs.	Rs.
Arrears	47,613	21,588
Revenue of the year	3,18,657	2,83,630
	3,66,270	3,05,218

221. During the year under report the total amount remitted was Rs. 8,276, of which Rs. 470 only represented suspended arrears long outstanding against the Istimrardars of Para, Kodah, Rughunathgarh and Manoherpura. Rs. 25,709 are under provisional remission in the Khelsa villages.

Prices.

222. The retail prices of the principal food grains, barley and maize varied in April 1913 from 12 seers 13 chattacks in the Ajmer Tahsil to 14 seers 12 chattacks in Beawar.

223. In May to September they remained between 13 seers 2 chattacks and 15 seers 4 chattacks.

224. From October to the end of the year the prices showed a tendency to rise and ranged from 11 seers 8 chattacks to 14 seers.

225. Since conditions were unfavourable in the autumn of 1913 arrangements were made for opening test works at Jaswantpura (in Ajmer Tahsil) and Kheradand (in Beawar Tahsil). The Jaswantpura test work was however closed almost at once as very few persons came to it. A good fall of rain in the first week of December 1913 in the Ajmer Tahsil relieved the situation greatly, and no further test works were required. At the Kheradund work people from the affected parts of the Beawar Tahsil which had received practically no rain in the cold weather continued to work until nearly the end of March 1914. Gratuitous Relief also was distributed in some villages of the Ajmer and Beawar Tahsils where distress prevailed. Relief measures.

226. The table below compares the results of the enumeration of agricultural stock during the year under report with the two previous years :— Agricultural stock.

	1911-12.	1912-13.	1913-14.
Cows and bullocks . . .	190,047	188,563	190,757
Buffaloes	23,183	26,494	35,114
Sheep and goats . . .	276,188	229,848	244,768

227. There was no epidemic disease among cattle throughout the year except foot and mouth disease which prevailed in Gegal (Ajmer Tahsil) and Small-pox in Pipli (Todgarh Tahsil).

228. Local fodder for cattle was extremely scarce, and supplies had to be imported from Gujrat, Malwa and elsewhere. A concession in Railway freight was granted by the Government of India and proved of the utmost value, saving the lives of thousands of head of cattle which would otherwise have inevitably starved. Fodder.

229. These fodder Depôts were opened at Ajmer, Nasirabad and Beawar and grass takavi was issued from there to the villagers who stood in need of it. In Ajmer District 14,978 maunds 34 seers of grass valued at Rs. 12,870-6-2 was distributed as takavi to the agriculturists and in Merwara 20,273 maunds valued at Rs. 18,020-7-1. 7,500 maunds of grass costing Rs. 6,666-10-8 was issued to the Co-operative Credit Societies.

230. Besides the arrangements made by Government a number of private depôts were opened where fodder was sold to the public and the local forest reserves were also thrown open for grazing purposes.

231. Boundary pillars and survey and plot marks were inspected by the Revenue officials from time to time—261 pillars and survey and plot marks were found damaged and steps were taken to put them in order. Boundary Marks Disputes.

232. The number of boundary cases pending from the last year was 12. These cases, except one (struck off owing to its having been compromised), have already been proposed to be made over to a special boundary settlement officer as soon as one is appointed.

233. No new boundary disputes have been instituted during the year.

234. In accordance with the rules regarding the correct maintenance of the Khasra and maps, 3,399 corrections were made during the year under report. The Tahsildars and Naib Tahsildars constantly made inspecting tours in the district and spent on an average 93 days on tour in the Ajmer Tahsil and 102 and 129 days in the Beawar and Todgarh Tahsils respectively. Records and Staff.

235. The Ajmer and Beawar Tahsils were inspected by the Revenue Extra Assistant Commissioner and the Todgarh Tahsil by the Extra Assistant Commissioner, Merwara.

Eighty-seven writs, 75 warrants of arrest and 12 warrants of attachment were issued for the recovery of land and water revenue and takavi, but no person was imprisoned in default of payment. Nine warrants of attachment were issued against the Istimrardars for the recovery of revenue due by them. Revenue processes.

236. In the Ajmer Tahsil 5,607 mutation cases were instituted and disposed of during the year under report. In Merwara the number of institutions and disposals of such cases was 4,868 and 4,586 respectively. Mutation cases.

237. In the Ajmer District land measuring 2 bighas 10 biswas was acquired for a cemetery and 1 biswa for the extension of Negelao Police outpost. A Acquisition of land for public purposes and reduction of Government land revenue.

sum of Rs. 2,420 was paid on account of compensation and land revenue amounting to two annas and three pies was remitted.

238. Land measuring ·04 acres at Sonia was acquired for the water works scheme of the Beawar Municipality, on payment of Rs. 3,585-14 by way of compensation.

239. In the Istimrari Estates of Pisangan and Jalia land measuring 30,788 and 2,760 square yards respectively was taken for the construction of secondary schools without payment of any compensation on the condition that in the event of the abolition of the schools, the building would be the property of the estate.

Alienation of Government land.

240. Government Forest land at Ajmer in Mahwa Bir, measuring 6 biswas 3 biswansis at an estimated market value of Rs. 160 was sold to Colonel C. H. Pritchard, I. A., of the Indian Political Department, whose wife's tomb is situated there.

Loans to Taluqdars.

241. The Ajmer Taluqdars Loan Regulation II of 1911 received the assent of the Governor-General on the 25th May 1911, and rules were published under section 20 thereof on the 8th May 1912. Loans aggregating Rs. 1,41,283 with interest at 6¼ per cent. were granted during the year under report for discharging the liabilities of 9 Taluqdars.

242. Out of the demand of Rs. 4,319, Rs. 182 were paid up during the year 1913-14 and Rs. 810 (besides Rs. 5-12-2 on account of over-due interest) after the close of the year, while the recovery of the balance Rs. 3,327 had to be postponed to future dates owing to the scarcity prevailing in the district.

Land Alienation Regulation.

243. The Ajmer Alienation of Land Regulation III. of 1914 came into force with effect from the 28th March 1914.

(2) Opium, Excise and Drugs.

Excise—vide statements Nos. 36—400.

244. The gross receipts from excise, opium and drugs amounted to Rs. 3,57,233 against Rs. 3,51,961 in the preceding year, showing an increase of Rs. 5,272, which is chiefly noticeable under the head of hemp drugs and is due to comparatively high prices having been offered at the time of sale of the hemp drugs farms by the bidders owing to keen competition. The expenditure on the excise establishment amounted to Rs. 18,687 as compared with Rs. 18,468 in the preceding year. The net profit on the year's working thus amounted to Rs. 3,38,546 against Rs. 3,33,493 in the year 1912-13.

Country Spirits.

245. The year under review is the sixth year of the contract supply system. The rates at which country spirits are supplied by the Contractor are as follows:—

	Mohwa.	Gur.
	25 U. P.—50 U. P.	25 U. P.—50 U. P.
Rate per gallon.	0 13 6—0 8 0	0 15 0—0 9 6.

246. The receipts under the head Country Spirits amounted to Rs. 3,03,954 as compared with Rs. 3,02,976 in the year 1912-13.

247. The total issues of country liquor from the Ajmer distillery were 50856·4 proof gallons as against 51779·7 gallons in 1912-13. The decrease in consumption was due to the unfavourable season. The still head duty on spirits issued for consumption in urban and rural areas was as follows:—

	Rs.	a.	p.
Urban area	4	6	0	per proof gallon.
Rural „	3	12	0	Do.

248. The number of country liquor shops in the District was the same as last year, viz., 128.

249. The question of restricting the issue of temporary licenses for the sale of spirits at fairs and festivals was kept in view, but no change in the present practice appeared necessary.

Tari.

250. The privilege of tapping and vending tari is held by a Contractor. A sum of Rs. 275 was recovered in advance on account of the contract money for the year 1914-15. The number of shops for vending tari was 4; 320 trees were tapped, the yield being 7,154 gallons of tari.

Foreign Liquors.

251. The number of licenses issued during the year for the sale of foreign liquor was 19 against 16 last year. The license fees for the wholesale and retail vend of foreign spirits and foreign fermented liquor amounted to Rs. 1,749 against Rs. 2,144 in the preceding year. The decrease is due to the fact that the fees for three licenses which were due in March 1914 were recovered and credited into the treasury in 1914-15 instead of in 1913-14. Statistics showing the wholesale and retail vend and consumption of foreign liquors are given in appendices 40-B and 40-C.

Opium.

252. The receipts under opium amounted to Rs. 30,825 against Rs. 29,059 in 1912-13. The increase is due to comparatively high bids having been offered at the time of sale of contracts by bidders.

253. Opium weighing 39 maunds 16 seers 12 chattaks 6 mashas was imported for consumption in Ajmer-Merwara, the import duty realized being Rs. 6,308 against 42 maunds 37 seers 13 chattaks 5 mashas and Rs. 6,872 respectively in the preceding year.

254. The total number of licenses issued during the year for the wholesale vend of opium was the same as last year, viz., 10.

255. The number of shops for the retail and wholesale vend of opium was 40, viz., 8 in the Municipal and 32 in the rural areas.

256. No license was issued for the cultivation of opium during the year under review.

257. The contraband opium sent to the Ghazipur factory amounted to 3 seers 10 chattaks 1¼ tola.

Hemp Drugs.

258. The receipts from hemp drugs amounted to Rs. 20,239 against Rs. 17,364 in the preceding year. The increase is due to larger bids at the time of the sale of shops owing to keen competition.

259. The number of shops for the retail vend of intoxicating drugs was the same as in the preceding year, viz., 16.

Prosecution.

260. During the year 76 persons were prosecuted under the Excise Act of whom 57 were convicted. Under the Opium Act 5 persons were prosecuted and 4 were convicted. No chandu or madak denkeeper was prosecuted during the year. The number of opium smoking dens was 8 as against 12 in the preceding year. 89 persons against 152 last year were convicted under the Police Act for drunkenness during the year under report, vide statement No. 40-A.

Cocaine Traffic.

261. Restrictions have been placed on the importation of cocaine which is permitted only under cover of permits and "no objection" certificates granted by the Collector, such permits being granted only to Managers of hospitals and charitable dispensaries and to medical practitioners. The quantity imported thereunder was 2 oz. 5 drams 65 grains during the year 1913-14. The export and transport of drugs are not provided for in the rules and the possession of cocaine is strictly and carefully limited.

262. In spite of the restrictions placed upon the traffic, cocaine is smuggled from (1) Delhi, (2) Bombay, (3) Karachi, but mostly from Delhi. There are various ingenious methods of smuggling cocaine. It is smuggled in (1) fruit parcels, (2) railway parcels, (3) Post Office parcels, (4) shoes, (5) looking glasses, (6) Harmoniums and other instruments used for singing.

263. When it is smuggled by persons from Delhi or Bombay, the persons employed for the purpose are generally old miserable looking men or women or persons in disguise of fakirs, etc., one man is not sent more than once for bringing cocaine.

264. The wholesale dealers in cocaine at Delhi generally send this drug with servants to Ajmer. These persons sometimes change their railway tickets at Jaipur or Phalera. They are generally new to the business and cannot be suspected as smugglers by the excise staff, who without reasonable doubt do not search the body or luggage of the passengers. The cocaine thus received is taken by the wholesale vendors at Ajmer, who sell it in quantities of not less than an ounce or two at time to their selected customers. The price of cocaine is taken a few hours before sale and the money received is not kept in the house through fear that some coins marked by an Excise Officer may have been introduced. The cocaine vendors do not generally keep cocaine in their houses. Very often a house is taken on rent without a rent note being executed in a building which under the law cannot be called a house in exclusive possession of the cocaine vendor.

265. The methods of selling cocaine by retail are also very ingenious. The sale proceeds of cocaine are taken a few hours before sale. The vendor himself does not sell cocaine to a purchaser unless he is a man whom he can trust. Very often small boys are employed for the purpose. They are paid about Re. 1 per diem and are given a small quantity of cocaine for eating.

266. Sometimes small packets of cocaine are placed in the holes of the walls of the houses which are guarded by the servants of the vendors. The purchasers are shown the places from some distance by the guards.

267. In one or two cases it has been noticed that the vendor sits in a room with two or three of his friends which is locked from the inside and in the walls of which two small holes are made. The purchasers pass the money through one hole and the cocaine is given through another hole by one of the gang. The doors being very strong cannot be quickly broken, and on an alarm being given the cocaine can be easily destroyed. A number of females are addicted to the use of cocaine. It has found access to the zenana and has produced many harmful effects. The cocaine is sometimes sold in streets in the night. The sale of cocaine has been brought to an incredibly fine art and the vendors are protected by an organisation that is both efficient and invulnerable. There are spies, watchmen, sellers, inducers, etc. One lb. 15 ozs. 2 drams of cocaine was confiscated during the year 1913-14. Despite the many raids and arrests of cocaine smugglers by the Excise staff, among whom special mention may be made of Munshi Pearey Lal in charge of the urban area the illicit traffic of cocaine does not seem to decrease. The Excise Officers will be able to accomplish much more if the present Act is so amended as to bring all these auxiliaries within the clutches of the law and make spies and other agents liable to prosecution. There being a large profit in the sale of cocaine the vendors do not give up this malpractice and are prepared to run serious risks; but they take all possible precautions at the time of sale. The detection of such cases is not an easy matter. It may sometimes even involve grave bodily danger to an Excise Officer. Picked men with good pay and with good future prospects are therefore needed to suppress this smuggling. With the scope of law widened and with a strong Excise staff, it is believed that an appreciable stand could be made in Ajmer-Merwara against the traffic in this pernicious drug.

268. Seventeen persons were prosecuted for possession or sale of cocaine during the year of whom 15 were convicted and two acquitted.

General remarks.

269. The Excise Criminal Intelligence Bureau was established in May 1913 when Mr. Comber visited Ajmer. No gazette is issued from this district as the smuggling of exciseable articles from and to British provinces is comparatively small. The Assistant Commissioner and Collector of Excise is the Superintendent of Excise Intelligence Bureau at Ajmer. He is kept informed of all cases of smuggling that come to the notice of the Excise Officers. Information of interest concerning any British Province is communicated to the Superintendent of the Excise Intelligence Bureau of that Province. A Criminal register is maintained in accordance with Mr. Comber's suggestion.

(3) Stamps.

Vide Statement No. 41.

270. The gross income from stamps amounted to Rs. 1,69,241 as against Rs. 1,79,071 in the year 1912-1913 as detailed below:—

	1912-13.	1913-14.	Difference.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Judicial stamps . .	1,23,186	1,18,123	5,063
Non-Judicial stamps .	55,885	51,118	4,767

271. The decrease of Rs. 9,830 in the sale of stamps is due to the scarcity prevailing in the district.

272. No prosecution took place for any breach of the stamp law nor was anything recovered on account of pauper suit.

273. The number of stamp vendors was the same as in the last year, namely 32. The discount paid to them amounted to Rs. 3,186 as against Rs. 3,432 in 1912-13.

274. The total charges in connection with the working of the stamp department amounted to Rs. 19,098 as compared with Rs. 18,202 in the previous year.

(4) Income Tax.

275. The number of persons assessed to income tax during the year under report was 882 against 866 last year.

276. The final demand and collections as compared with those for 1912-13 are as follows :—

	1913-14 Rs.	1912-13 Rs.
Final demand	79,065	72,781
Collections	77,702	73,521

277. The gross collections including arrears amounted to Rs. 79,894 as against Rs. 72,230 in the previous year as shown below :—

	1913-14 Rs.	1912-13 Rs.
Tax	77,702	69,736
Arrears	2,180	2,494
Penalties	12	—
Total .	79,894	72,230

278. There were no prosecutions during the year under report. A sum of Rs. 12 was recovered on account of penalties. The cost of collection was Rs. 1,634 (including refunds Rs. 237) against Rs. 5,628 last year, the net profit accruing to Government on the year's working was thus Rs. 78,260 compared with Rs. 66,602 in the preceding year.

279. In the Ajmer District the Extra Assistant Commissioner I. Ajmer exercised the powers of a Collector for making all assessments uuder Part IV up to the sum of Rs. 250 on an income of Rs. 9,600 and for hearing and passing orders on objections filed under section 26 of the Act against the assessments made by him. The Collector of Ajmer exercised the revisional powers of the Commissioner under section 27 of the Act, in regard to petitions preferred against all orders made by the Extra Assistant Commissioner I. under section 26 of the Act. The number of objections was 82, all under Part IV. Of these 12 were allowed, 14 were partly accepted, 2 were enchanced, 54 were rejected and no objection remained pending. Two applications for revision were presented under section 27 of the Act to the Commissioner from the orders of the Extra Assisstant Commissioner, Merwara, of these one was rejected and the other was partly accepted. The Extra Assistant Commissioner, Merwara, exercised the powers of a Collector for the Merwara District.

280. The collections under Parts I, II, III and IV of the Income Tax Act were respectively 29·28, 7·57, 7·90 and 29·42 per cent of the entire assessment in Ajmer-Merwara. The incidence of Income Tax per head of population in the city of Ajmer calculated on the amount collected during the year was annas 5 as against annas 4 in the previous year.

B.—Revenue and Finance other than Imperial.

District Fund. Excluding Dispensary Fund, vide statements Nos. 43 to 45.

281. The year opened with a cash balance of Rs. 46,322. Receipts amounted to Rs. 51,237 as against Rs. 58,151 in the last year. The corresponding figures of expenditure are Rs. 42,100 and Rs. 43,497 respectively. The receipts decreased by Rs. 6,914 and the expenditure by Rs. 1,389. The decrease in receipts is mainly due to the fact that owing to scarcity prevailing in the District during 1913-14, the full amount of cesses was not recovered and the Pushkar fair having been abandoned no capitation tax was levied.

282. The decrease in expenditure is also chiefly due to the abandonment of the Pushkar fair.

283. The Veterinary Dispenary and Shoeing Forge at Ajmer continued to work satisfactorily.

284. The number of cows covered by the two Nagore bulls stationed at Ramsar and Jethana during 1913-14 was 26 as against 109 in 1912-13. The bull at Jethana covered only two cows and both cases proved unsuccessful. It has, therefore, been decided to make this bull over free of charge to the village committee at Jethana if they will agree to maintain it for breeding purposes and will promise not to ill-treat it in any way.

285. The closing balance of the District Fund on the 31st March 1914 stood at Rs. 55,451 as compared with Rs. 46,322 on the same date in 1912-13.

286. The Board held two Meetings during the year.

Local Funds.

Dispensary Fund.

287. The cash balance at the credit of the Dispensary Fund at the beginning of the year was Rs. 2,851, a sum of Rs. 136 on account of expenditure through the Public Works Department having been adjusted after the publication of the last year's report. The receipts amounted to Rs. 10,622 against Rs. 5,720, showing an increase of Rs. 4,901 which is due to certain arrears having been recovered during the year.

288. The expenditure was Rs. 8,686, against Rs. 7,392, an increase of Rs. 1,294 to be attributed to increase in the demand for medicines and other charges of the dispensaries. The year closed with a cash balance of Rs. 4,786 as detailed below :—

	Rs.
Ajmer	1,021
Kekri	1,092
Pisangan	598
Ramsar	643
Deolia	1,150
Beawar	1,183
Todgarh	—904
	4,786

289. The Todgarh Dispensary again shows debit balance of Rs. 904, against Rs. 974, last year. The financial condition of the Dispensary is as usual unsatisfactory and recommendations are being made to improve its condition by charging some of the expenditure to Imperial funds.

Chowkidari Fund.

290. The receipts amounted to Rs. 14,666 as compared with Rs. 13,866 in 1912-13. The increase of Rs. 800 is due to the interest drawn on Promissory Notes. The expenditure was Rs. 12,144 as against Rs. 12,369 in 1912-13.

Police Chanda Fund.

291. The receipts were Rs. 1,524 as against Rs. 4,101 in 1912-13, showing a decrease of Rs. 2,577, which was due to the fact that last year the cost of grass purchased and issued to sowars during 1911-12 was realized while no such recovery was made in 1913-14. The expenditure came to Rs. 3,166 as against Rs. 2,961 in the preceding year.

Nasirabad Cantonment Fund.

292. The total receipts amounted to Rs. 64,258 as compared with Rs. 74,170 in 1912-13, the decrease of Rs. 9,912 being chiefly due to the remission and reduction of cultivation and grazing fees owing to scarcity coupled with the loss in Octroi tax in consequence of the absence of troops at Neemuch and the non-performance of Brigade concentration. The expenditure totalled Rs. 66,012 as against Rs. 70,703 in the preceding year. The decrease of Rs. 4,691 is due to reduction of non-recurring charges on account of the reduced income and to the desire to keep a sufficient balance in hand for providing funds for the Cantonment Hospital which is to be erected this year. The closing balance at the close of the year was Rs. 19,073.

SECTION VI.

PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

293. The number of educational institutions at the end of the year under report was 251 against 250 in the previous year. Two new village primary schools for boys were opened while the number of private girls' schools decreased by one. General—vide tables at Appendices Nos. 46 to 52.

294. The number of pupils in public and private institutions increased, bringing the total of both sexes to 13,368 against 12,399 in the previous year. Of these the pupils at public institutions numbered 8,330 and those in private institutions 5,038 against 7,551 and 4,848 last year. The percentage of the population of school-going age receiving instruction was 29·58 among males and 4·38 among females as compared with 26·93 and 4·66 respectively in the year 1912-13.

295. The average number on the rolls and the average daily attendance at institutions maintained by the Educational Department were 4,285·76 and 3,613·36 respectively, against 3,559·57 and 3,013·82 in 1912-13.

296. The total expenditure on public institutions rose from Rs. 2,08,825 in 1912-13 to Rs. 2,24,922 in the year under report. The details of the expenditure as also the sources from which it was met are given below:—

	From Imperial Revenues.	From Local and Municipal funds.	From fees and private bodies.	Total.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Arts Colleges	21,181	2,580	5,213	28,974
Secondary Schools	29,168	11,356	69,427	1,09,951

Furniture and apparatus	3,000	...	...	3,000
Total	99,078	23,245	1,02,599	2,24,922

297. Mr. E. F. Harris, B.A., continued to hold charge of the combined appointment of Principal of the College and Inspector of Schools. Government College and Government Schools, Ajmer.

298. For want of provision to teach science in the Higher College Classes the numbers in the College had gone down in 1911 to such an extent that the desirability of retaining the College at all was questioned. On the one hand it was not found possible to obtain any increased allotment of funds for the College until the expenditure could be justified by larger enrolment of pupils, and on the other hand the Allahabad University insisted on the complete separation of the College from the High School, and threatened to disaffiliate the College. The desired separation in staff was effected in October 1912. The separation in buildings was effected in July 1913 by locating the High School Classes in the City Branch School, where four new rooms have been added. The Lower Primary School Classes formerly housed in the branch school, have been temporarily transferred to a private building in the vicinity belonging to Rai Bahadur Seth Nemi Chand, who kindly lent it free of charge for the purpose. The Government of India has recently sanctioned the construction of an entirely new High School building.

299. In the re-organisation in October 1912 due provision for studies for the B.Sc. degree was made and the University authorities were moved to affiliate the College in science with effect from July 1913. The request has been accepted and the equipment of the Science laboratories is being supplemented with apparatus to be paid for from subscriptions amounting to Rs. 7,032 contributed by the public for this purpose.

300. The number of pupils on the rolls of the College on 31st March 1914 was 83 against 63 in 1913, in the High School 497 against 462 and in the Model School 207 against 194.

301. The results of the different Examinations are given below :—

	Presented.	Passed.
B. A. Examination . . .	8	2
B. Sc. Examination . . .	1	Nil.
Intermediate Examination . .	33	20
Matriculation Examination . .	55	35
Middle Examination . . .	52	30

Aided Schools.

302. There was no change in the number of Aided Schools, which stood at 13 but the number of students attending them rose from 2,069 to 2,250. The Government grant to these schools was Rs. 21,013 (including Rs. 3,000 a special grant for furniture) against Rs. 13,616 in 1912-13.

303. These schools are thus classified :—

	High.	Middle.	Primary.	Total.
European Schools . . .	2	0	4	6
A. V. Boys' Schools . . .	4	1	0	5
Girls' Schools . . .	0	1	1	2
Total .	6	2	5	13

Training Schools.

304. The only Government training institution is the Ajmer Normal School which was reorganised and placed on its present basis on 1st April 1913. It has a competent staff of trained teachers and suitable boarding house arrangements. There is also a model vernacular school attached to it where lessons in the practice of teaching are regularly given. The number of pupils on the roll of the Normal School on 31st March 1914 was 23. Eight students who were sent up for the vernacular Teachers' Certificate Examination have all passed. The United Free Church of Scotland Mission have their own Normal School at Beawar but the standard attained there is no higher than that of the Vernacular Final Examination.

305. For training female teachers the Christian Girls' Boarding School at Nasirabad has a training class attached to it.

Village Schools for boys.

306. The number of village schools for boys was 66 against 64 in 1912-13. The two new schools opened were those at Bargaon and Piplaj. These schools were graded as follows :—

	Vernacular Final.	Upper Primary.	Lower Primary.	Total.
Ajmer .	7	18	21	46
Merwara .	2	8	10	20
Total .	9	26	31	66

307. The daily average number on the rolls and the daily average attendance rose to 3,282 and 2,721 from 2,669 and 2,235 respectively in 1912-13.

308. Fourteen students from four of the secondary schools and four from the Beawar Municipal School, which is also under the direct supervision of the Inspector of Schools, appeared at the Vernacular Final Examination and eight passed.

Girls' Schools.

309. The number of Government girls' schools was six the same as last year. The number of pupils on the roll on 31st March 1914 was 200 and the average daily attendance during the year under report was 146. With the exception of the Central Girls' School, Ajmer, which has three teachers and 66 pupils, all the other schools are very elementary with one teacher in each.

310. Besides the Government schools there are two aided schools, American Methodist Episcopalian girls' school and the Arya Putri Pathshala at Ajmer, the former of which teaches up to the A. V. Middle Standard, and an unaided middle school, the Christian Girls' Boarding School at Nasirabad managed by the United Free Church of Scotland Mission.

311. Drill and country games are now regularly practised in all the schools in Ajmer-Merwara. School Sports.

312. The annual Rajputana Schools Sports were not held this year owing to the prevalence of scarcity in the district.

313. The annual Rajputana Middle School Examination was, as usual, conducted by the Inspector of Schools. The total number of examinees was 411 (396 from 38 schools in Ajmer-Merwara and various States in Rajputana and 15 private candidates) against 360 (342 from 37 schools and 18 private candidates) in the previous year. Of these only 163 passed against 228 last year. The Government of India have sanctioned 4 scholarships of Rs. 5 each, to be awarded to the first four students from recognised schools in Ajmer-Merwara in order of merit on the result of this examination. Rajputana Middle School Examination.

SECTION VII.

GENERAL (MISCELLANEOUS).

Pushker Fair.

314. The annual religious festival at Pushker was held from the 9th to the 14th November 1913. Owing however to scarcity of water-supply and fodder in the Ajmer city and district the horse-show and cattle fair at Pushker were abandoned, and the gathering of pilgrims was consequently not large.

Urs Fair.

315. The annual Urs Fair in connection with the shrine of the Dargah Khwaja Sahib at Ajmer was held from the 7th to the 12th June 1913. The attendance was below the average owing to strikes on the Railways. The usual police arrangements were made and no crimes other than usual minor thefts occurred nor did any disturbance take place. Ring games and other forms of gambling were not allowed.

Beawar Tejaji Fair.

316. The Tejaji Fair at Beawar was held on the 10th and 11th September 1913. The gathering at the fair was estimated at between 10,000 and 13,000 persons.

Kekri Tejaji Fair.

317. The Tejaji Fair at Kekri was held from the 8th to the 10th September 1913. The gathering at the fair was about 6,000 and included people from the neighbouring Native States.

Printing Presses vide Statement No. 53.

318. At the beginning of the year 1913, there were 10 printing Presses. Two new Presses were started during the year under report. Thus the number of Presses at the close of the year 1913 was 12.

319. One Newspaper and 7 periodicals were issued from these Presses during the year.

320. One book in English, 15 in Hindi, 6 in Urdu and 1 in English and Hindi were printed during the year under report.

Bhumias.

321. The Superintendent of Police, Ajmer-Merwara, on behalf of the Assistant Commissioner conducted the usual ceremony of receiving the Bhumias and their Nazrana on the 3rd June 1913, the day appointed for the official observance of the birthday of His Majesty the King-Emperor. Out of the total demand on account of Nazrana amounting to Rs. 3,961, a sum of Rs. 3,937was realized at the darbar leaving a balance of Rs. 24 outstanding.

322. Six Bhumias were fined having unsatisfactory equipment.

Treasure Trove.

323. No information of the finding of Treasure Trove was received during the year 1913-14.

Emigration.

324. There were two emigration depôts during the year 1913-14 as against 4 in the previous year. Fifty-nine persons were registered at Ajmer for Colonial emigration as given below, compared with 350 persons in the preceding year.

	Emigrants.		Dependents.
For the Fiji Islands	12		2
„ Trinidad	28		7
„ Jamaica	8		2
Total	48	+	11	= 59

325. Out of 59 emigrants only 4 belonged to Ajmer-Merwara.

326. Out of the two depôts one was closed for the major part of the year under report.

327. The decrease in emigration was probably due to the kidnapping scare towards the close of 1912-13.

NOTES—Column 1.—(1) "Attempts" should be entered immediately after the offences to which they relate.
(2) "Abetments" should be included with the substantive offences abetted.
(3) When giving the list of special and local laws against which offences have been committed, care should be taken to specify the title of each Act quoted, as well as its number and year. An Act of a local legislature should be distinguished by initial letters placed after the number of the Act.

Column 2.—All offences (cases) of which information was given, complaint made, or cognizance taken under Chapters IV, V, XIV, XVI, C. P. C., for the first time during the year, are to be shown, although some of the charges may not have been prosecuted, or may have turned out to be false.

Column 3.—This column should be the total of column 2, less the number of cases dismissed under section 203, C. P. C., and less all other cases in which a Magistrate declared that the charge was false, and that the offence never occurred, or which were dismissed as frivolous and vexatious, and in which the complainant was fined under section 250, C. P. C.

Column 5.—This column should be the total of columns 6 to 9, plus column 9 of previous statement.

Column 8.—Persons transferred from one court to another in the same Province are not to be entered in this column.

Column 9.—A note should be added in the column of remarks showing respectively the number of persons who died, escaped or were transferred.

General Cases committed or referred should not be included in this statement by the committing or referring Magistrates. The results of the trials in these cases should be shown by the Courts to which the cases are committed or referred. If the total of column 7 of Statement 4 be deducted from the total of column 2 of that Statement, the difference should correspond with the total of column 5 of this statement.

Notes.—Column 1.—Sub-head "Courts of Sessions."—Includes cases decided by Sessions Judges on reference under Section 123, C. P. C.

Column 1.—Sub-head "Superior Courts."—Includes cases decided by the High Courts on reference under Sections 307 and 374, C. P. C.

Column 2.—That is, the total of the entries in columns 3 to 8. The cases of persons transferred from one Court to another in the same province will appear only against the Court by which decided, or in which pending at the end of the year if not decided.

Column 3.—A note against the figure for each Court should be made in the column of remarks showing separately how many accused persons were transferred to other provinces.

Columns 5 and 6.—Persons whose cases were referred to a Superior Court for higher punishment, for orders under Section 562, Criminal Procedure Code, or for confirmation of sentence will be entered in column 7, and not in columns 5 and 6, against the Court making the reference. Against the Court receiving the reference they will be shown as convicted or acquitted, according to the orders passed by it, or as pending if orders have not been passed.

Column 7.—These cases will also be shown against the Magistrates who made the reference, entry being made as directed above.

Column 8.—An insane accused who has been sent to a lunatic asylum should be kept on the file and entered in this column until he has been tried and either convicted or acquitted.

Column 9.—Omit cases in which the accused died, escaped or was transferred.

Column 10.—In calculating the duration before the Magistrates' Courts, the starting point to be taken is not the date of complaint or information, but that of apprehension, or attendance on summons or otherwise of the accused. As regards Courts of Sessions, the actual number of days occupied should be given, commencing from the date of commitment. Cases in which the accused has absconded before arrest or has escaped from custody should be taken off the file till the persons implicated appear again.

General.—The figures in this statement should agree with those of Statement No. 2 and should include nothing else.

Column 20.—Represents compensation awarded to complainants under section 545, Act X of 1882. These awards should also be shown under the head fines "imposed" and "realized" in columns 18 and 19, for they form part of such fines.

General.—(1) The total of columns 5, 6 and 11 should correspond with the total of columns 21 to 25 (both inclusive), and the total of column 8 should correspond with the totals of columns 12 to 17 inclusive.

(2) This statement is meant to exhibit every sentence passed, and, where two penalties are inflicted on the same offender, to exhibit them both. Further to reconcile the number of persons entered in this statement as punished, with the number entered as convicted in statement 4, it is necessary to note cases such as those in which fulfilment of contract is ordered under Act XIII of 1859 in a footnote. As regards persons whose cases were referred for higher punishment or for confirmation of sentence, the punishment, if any, sanctioned by the higher Courts should be entered against such higher Court, and not against the Court making the reference.

Notes.—Column 2.—Total of columns 3 to 12. Cases transferred from one Court to another in the same Province will appear only against the Court by which decided, or in which pending at the end of the year, if not decided. The words "Applicants for revision" in the heading of this column should be held to include only accused persons on whose behalf an application for revision is made or in whose interest the Magistrate or Judge may take steps to obtain revision on his own motion. Where such application is made, or such steps are taken, on behalf of a complainant, the fact should be noted, with the number of complainants concerned, in the column of Remarks. In the latter case, the accused persons against whom the application is made, though not appearing in this column, will fall into their proper places in columns 3 to 13, according to the result of such application. This note is held to apply also to cases dealt with by the High Court on review of returns.

Column 5.—Appeals dismissed under section 423 of C. P. C., should be entered in this column.

Column 9.—Orders of discharge set aside by a Superior Court under section 436, C. P. C., should be entered in this column.

Column 10.—When a sentence is reversed or proceedings are quashed on appeal, and a new trial or further enquiry is at the same time ordered, the Appellate Court should not fill in column 8 as well as column 10, or column 9 as well as column 10, in each case respectively, but should make the entry in column 10 only.

Column 12.—Duration of appeals, applications for revision, or reference should be calculated thus—

(1) Appeals from date of receipt in office of the petition of appeal;
(2) Applications for revision—from the date of application;
(3) Cases dealt with by the Court otherwise than on application—from date of the order calling for the records; and
(4) Cases sent to the High Court by lower Courts for revision—from the date of the letter from the Court making the reference.

General.—Persons whose appeals were rejected under section 421, Criminal Procedure Code, should be entered in column 4, in which should also be included applicants for revision whose cases the Courts have refused to submit to the High Court. In columns 5 to 10, should be shown, opposite the sub-heads for Magistrates of District and Courts of Sessions, persons whose cases were disposed of by those Courts without reference to the High Court, and in column 11 all persons whose cases these Courts referred to the High Court.

Notes.—Column 2.—Total of the entries in columns 3 to 13. Cases transferred from one Court to another in the same Province will appear only against the Court by which decided, or in which pending at the close of the year, if not decided. The number of cases pending from the preceding year should be noted in the column of remarks, and when deducted from the total of column 2 should leave a balance corresponding with the total of column 38 of Statement VII. If after deducting the arrears shown at the end of the previous year, the balance does not agree with the figures in column 38 of Statement VII, the difference should be explained.

Column 6.—When under section 102, C. P. C., a decree is wholly or partially made in favour of an absent plaintiff on the admission of the defendant, the case should be entered in this column.

Column 8.—A case in which defendant appears, but a plaintiff does not, and defendant does not confess judgment and the case is thereupon dismissed, the case should be entered in this column.

Columns 15 and 16.—As regards the average duration of suits, the date of their presentation of the plaint shall be considered as the date of institution, unless some defect or omission requires to be amended before the plaint can be admitted, in which case the date of admission after amendment shall be regarded as the date of institution. With regard to applications to execute decrees, the date of their presentation should alone be considered. In calculating average duration, the time that the suit has been actually pending in the particular Court should alone be calculated. The interval should be omitted during which an application for review which has been granted, or an appeal in which an order of remand has been passed, been pending in the superior Court. Revived suits are to be treated as if newly instituted on revival.

I.—Fractions of a rupee are to be omitted.

II.—If the income of any school maintained by the Department (or by a Local or Municipal Board) exceeds the expenditure, the return of Government (or Local or Municipal) expenditure should be reduced accordingly, the income and expenditure of the school being thus equalised. If in such school the income from fees or other private sources alone exceeds the expenditure, the excess income and the sources from which it is derived should be shown in the column of Remarks.

III.—If the income of any aided school exceeds the expenditure, the excess should be proportionately deducted from the sub-heads of endowments, subscriptions, and other sources; or, if the receipts from those sources are insufficient, from the sub-head of Fees also. The actual receipts from Imperial Revenues and from Local and Municipal Funds should be shown in full.

IV.—In calculating the expenditure from Imperial Revenues or any other Funds, all payments or contributions from Fees or other sources credited to that Fund should be deducted. Such payment should be shown as expenditure under the sub-heads to which they belong.

V.—The expenditure under "University," "Direction" and "Inspection" should be shown only in column 6 and its sub-divisions, and not in the preceding columns.

VI.—The expenditure on stipends held in Training Schools should be shown as part of the expenditure in those schools, not under the head of scholarships.

N.B.—The headings prescribed by the Government, and not required for this district, have been omitted.

Inspector of Schools, Ajmer-Merwara.

No. $\frac{2157}{111}$ of 1915.

FROM,

THE HON'BLE SIR ELLIOT GRAHAM COLVIN, K.C.S.I.,
Chief Commissioner, Ajmer-Me wara,

To

THE SECRETARY TO THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA IN THE FOREIGN AND POLITICAL DEPARTMENT.

Dated Mount Abu, the 29th October 1915.

SIR,

I have the honour to submit the annual administration report of Ajmer-Merwara for the year 1914-1915 compiled by the Commissioner, Mr. A. T. Holme, I.C.S., with my remarks thereon.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

E. G. COLVIN,
Chief Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara.

Remarks by the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara.

1. The year under review from an agricultural point of view was slightly below the average. The land revenue collected amounted to Rs. 3,10,083, while Rs. 67,290 was remitted.

2. The total Imperial receipts were Rs. 9,83,432, and total Imperial expenditure Rs. 13,66,939. Deducting from the latter Rs. 1,29,000 on account of Takkavi Loans, written off as irrecoverable, and Rs. 2,35,258 on account of freight of fodder (a famine relief item), the expenditure would stand at Rs. 10,02,681.

3. The effect of the Ajmer Land Alienation Regulation is very noticeable, as can be seen from the following figures:—

Agricultural Land.

—	1913.	1914.
Sold	11,218 bighas	2,585 bighas
Mortgaged	14,467 „	3,141 „
Value	Rs. 7,04,308	Rs. 2,86,849

4. Outstanding questions between the Ajmer Municipality and the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway were satisfactorily adjusted during the year. Good progress was made with the new water-supply scheme from Bhaonta.

The Jalia water-works were a boon to Beawar, and Seth Nath Mal's gift of a third well at Jalia has been much appreciated.

5. The Mewar cotton-duty referred to in paragraph 191 is under the separate consideration of the Chief Commissioner.

6. Considering the nature of the season, the Agricultural Societies have done fairly well. It is specially satisfactory to see that the largest item among objects of expenditure, after purchase of seed and manure, was "payment of old debts". Rs. 33,363 was also spent on "redemption of land".

7. The new Excise Regulation (No. I of 1915) came into force during the year.

8. The Report shows that the war has had but little effect on the routine of district work.

October 25th, 1915.

E. G. COLVIN,

Chief Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara.

REPORT

ON THE

ADMINISTRATION OF AJMER-MERWARA

FOR

1914-15.

SECTION I.

General Administration.

Personnel.

1. Throughout the year the office of Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara, was held by Mr. A. T. Holme, I.C.S., except for 14 days from 25th June 1914 to 8th July 1914, when he was on privilege leave and Mr. H. D. Graves Law, M.A., I.C.S., the Assistant Commissioner, held charge. The office of Additional District and Sessions Judge was held by Diwan Bahadur Munshi Damodar Lal.

2. The appointment of Assistant Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara, was held by Mr. D. G. Mackenzie, M.A., I.C.S., from the 1st to 30th April 1914, by Mr. H. D. Graves Law, M.A., I.C.S., from 2nd May 1914 to 23rd March 1915 and by Mr. L. G. L. Evans, M.A., I.C.S., from 29th March 1915 to the end of the year. During the period from the 24th to the 28th March 1915, the Commissioner held charge of that office.

3. The post of Extra Assistant Commissioner, Ajmer, was held by Munshi Phul Chand, B.A., from 1st April 1914 to 5th November 1914, and thereafter by Rai Sahib Munshi Gopi Nath to the end of the year.

4. Rai Sahib Pandit Brij Jiwan Lal, Sharma B.A., continued to hold the appointment of Extra Assistant Commissioner, Merwara, and Munshi Bhagwati Lal that of Sub-Divisional Officer, Kekri, throughout the year.

5. Lieutenant-Colonel W. H. B. Robinson, I.M.S., occupied the office of Civil Surgeon, Ajmer, from the 1st April 1914 to 20th September 1914, when he was relieved by Lieutenant-Colonel R. C. Macwatt, F.R.C.S., I.M.S., who continued in office to the end of the year.

6. The appointment of Superintendent of Police, Ajmer-Merwara, was held by Mr. L. B. Goad from 1st to 25th April 1914, by Mr. A. G. Phillips from 26th April 1914 to 7th September 1914, again by Mr. L. B. Goad from 8th September 1914 to 23rd March 1915, by Mr. J. G. Hogan from 24th to 25th March and by Mr. S. T. Hollins from 26th March 1915 to the end of the year.

Revenue and Expenditure (vide Statement No. 42).

7. The total revenue (Imperial and Local) of Ajmer-Merwara for the year amounted to Rs. 16,33,824 as compared with Rs. 13,06,010 last year and the total expenditure was Rs. 20,00,810 as against Rs. 20,20,441.

8. Imperial revenue fell from Rs. 10,30,985 in 1913-14 to Rs. 9,83,432 in the year under report, while the expenditure amounted to Rs. 13,66,939 as against Rs. 11,35,479 in 1913-14.

9. Thus there was a deficit of Rs. 3,83,507 in the Imperial revenue in 1914-15 as compared with a deficit of Rs. 1,04,494 in the preceding year.

10. The deficit was principally due to variations in the Revenue and Expenditure under the following heads:—

Receipts.	Rs.
(1) Excise	22,642
(2) Customs	16,095
(3) Assessed Taxes	19,480

Expenditure.	Rs.
(1) Interest	—1,88,229
(2) Law and Justice (Courts of Law)	+ 12,900
(3) Education	+ 34,015
(4) 52.— Miscellaneous	+1,32,173
(5) Famine Relief	+2,35,258

11. The decrease in receipts under the head of "Excise" is due to a general per capita reduction in consumption of liquor caused by the high prices of food grains and partly to a local reduction in Ajmer, Nasirabad and Deoli, through the removal of the troops and in Ajmer, through working short time at the Railway workshops. Under the head "Customs" the falling-off is due to the restricted sale of cloth in the mills of Beawar owing to the war.

12. The decrease under the head "Assessed Taxes" is due to the fact that a large amount remained uncollected during the year under report.

13. The decrease in expenditure under the head "Interest" is owing to the payment in 1913-14 of the accumulated arrears of interest on account of Government Promissory Notes held by His Highness the Maharaja of Jaipur.

14. The increase under the head "Law and Justice (Courts of Law)" is mainly due to the reorganization of the District Establishment which was brought into force during the year under report.

15. The increase under the head "Education" is to be attributed to special grants having been made to the Husband Memorial and other schools in the district.

16. The large increase perceptible under the head "32—Miscellaneous" is due to the writing-off of irrecoverable Takavi Loans to the extent of Rs. 1,29,000; while that under the head Famine Relief was caused by the payment by the Government to the Railway of the difference between the full rates and the special concession rates granted by the Government on fodder imported into Ajmer-Merwara:—

SECTION II.

ADMINISTRATION OF THE LAND.

COURT OF WARDS.

(Year ending the 31st July 1915.)

Tenure of office.

17. The charge of the office of General Manager, Court of Wards, was held by Munshi Mithan Lal until 1st of April 1915, on which date he was relieved by Mr. J. A. Desouza, who held charge of the office for the rest of the year.

Agricultural aspects.

18. From an agricultural point of view the year Sambat 1971 was on the whole satisfactory. The total rainfall during the year was 22·49 inches against 11·84 in the preceding year. The monsoon rainfall was not sufficiently heavy and opportune, and the result was that the Kharif crop was a partial failure, the tanks were not replenished, and there was not much percolation in the wells. The supply of fodder was however plentiful and a good fall of rain in February and March greatly benefited the rabi crops, which produced a satisfactory yield, and made up in some measure for the deficiency in the Kharif outturn. The average outturn of the Kharif and rabi harvests was about 12 annas in the rupee. Prices of food grains ruled high throughout the year owing to the general rise in prices. The average prices of maize and barley during the year ranged between 10 and 12 seers per rupee.

States under management.

19. The year commenced with 15 estates under management, namely:— 1. Masuda. 2. Kalahera Bogla. 3. Kerot. 4. Goela. 5. Basundni. 6. Kanai Kalan. 7. Sadara. 8. Gangwana. 9. Rajgarh. 10. Pranhera. 11. Jharwasa-Bhattiani. 12. Rajosi. 13. Karan Mal's estate. 14. The Dewan's estate, and 15. Makhupura.

20. Of these, the Kerote estate was released on 1st November 1914, owing to its owner, Thakur Udai Singh, having attained his majority; while one estate, owned by Musammat Hussein Bano (widow of the late Diwan Munshi Imamudin Ali Khan, of the Dargah Khawaja Sahib, Ajmer), who is a muafidar of the Ajmer district, was placed on 18th March 1915 under the Court's management. Thus, at the end of the year, the number of estates under management was 15, besides the estate of Bhagirath lunatic, a Jat of Dorai, which is managed under the provisions of the Lunacy Act, and the estate of the Dargah Miran Sahib, which is supervised by the General Manager, Court of Wards, Ajmer, as Receiver.

Receipts and expenditure of the year.

21. Excluding Rs. 554-10-9 of the Bhinai estate, the year under report opened with a cash balance of Rs. 1,02,000-4-11 (including Rs. 40 on account of Imprests with the Kamdars of Kalahera and Kanai Kalan estates) to which the income of the year amounting to Rs. 2,38,321-11-0 as detailed in the margin, being added, the gross receipts amounted to Rs. 3,40,321-15-11.

	Rs.	a.	p.
Masuda	1,46,817	13	9
Other estates . . .	91,503	13	3
Total . .	2,38,321	11	0

22. The expenditure of the year amounted to Rs. 1,95,361-11-7* as detailed below:—

	Rs.	a.	p.
*Masuda	1,15,565	14	3
Other estates . . .	79,795	13	4
Total . .	1,95,361	11	7

	Rs.	a.	p.
1. Government dues	19,945	5	11
2. House-hold	58,970	8	0
3. Management	24,933	5	1
4. Police	2,860	3	0
5. Works	14,016	0	4
6. Subscriptions	6,254	4	0
7. Liabilities	8,679	14	10
8. Investments	9,800	0	0
9. Other charges	49,902	2	5
Total. . .	1,95,361	11	7

23. The closing balance at the credit of all the estates on 31st July 1915 stood at Rs. 1,44,960-4-4, of which Rs. 1,14,511-5-0 belongs to Masuda and Rs. 30,448-15-4 to the other estates, under the Court of Wards. In addition to their closing balances, the estates mentioned in the margin possess investments in Government Promissory Notes, the Alliance Bank of the Simla, and local Co-operative Credit Banks, to the extent of Rs. 4,17,112 as specified against each.

29. The instalments of Government jama due in the Kharif and rabi harvests for the year under report were paid in full by all the estates. The Pranhera estate was further able to pay one arrear instalment of jama, and there is now only a sum of Rs. 1,077-1-4 outstanding against the estate on account of Government jama due for the Kharif of sambat 1970 (1913-14). Government dues and loans.

30. The statement below shows the total amount of takavi loans, and loans taken under the Ajmer Talukdar's Loan Regulation (II of 1911), which are locally known as dami loans, due by the estates under management, and instalments paid during the year :—

32. For the expenses in connection with the marriage of the Thakur of Goela which took place in May last, a loan of Rs. 2,000 had to be taken from the Alliance Bank of Simla, of which Rs. 1,000 with interest has been repaid to the Bank, since the close of the year.

33. The private debts of the Kanai Kalan estate have been paid in full except a balance of Rs. 390, out of the dami loan of Rs. 4,456, granted to the estate during the year, supplemented by a sum of Rs. 182-10-0, from the cash balance in hand.

34. The Jharwasa estate is hopelessly involved in debt. Under the orders of the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner, the surplus balance of the estate's income will be rateably distributed among creditors holding civil court decrees. The claim of Rai Bahadur Seth Sobhag Mal amounting to Rs. 1,173 for which he held a civil court decree was compromised for Rs. 173 and paid off during the year.

35. In the case of Rajosi it has been decided not to apply for a dami loan as the surplus income of the estate is not sufficient to repay the loan that would have to be obtained for the liquidation of the debts.

36. The Dewan's estate is another estate which has a large debt. The claims of the creditors of the estate are being investigated and if they can be compounded for a reasonable amount a dami loan will be asked for, for the liquidation of the debts.

Education of the Wards.

1. Thakur Bijai Singh of Masuda.
2. Thakur Nathu Singh of Kalahera.
3. Thakur Udai Singh of Basundni.
4. Thakur Ranjit Singh of Goela.
5. Kunwar Sobhag Singh, younger brother of the Thakur of Goela.
6. Raja Raj Singh of Rajgarh.
7. Raja Kalyan Singh of Gangwana.

37. The Wards named on the margin continued their studies throughout the year at the Mayo College, while the Thakur of Sadara was admitted there in January 1915. Thakur Narain Singh of Kanai Kalan is receiving his education at the Kekri Municipal school. Kanwar Sawai Singh of Pranhera and his younger brother left the Kekri school in March last.

Health of the Wards.

38. Thakur Bijai Singh of Masuda was bitten by a rabid dog in July 1915 and was sent for treatment to the Pasteur Institute at Kasauli from which he returned on the 30th July 1915. Raja Guman Singh, one of the share-holders of the Gangwana estate who was aged over 60 years, died in April last. He has been succeeded by his son, Raghunath Singh. The health of all other wards was good throughout the year.

SECTION III.

PROTECTION.

(I) AJMER-MERWARA POLICE (YEAR ENDING THE 31ST DECEMBER 1914.)

Compiled by L. M. Kaye, Esq., Inspector-General of Police, Ajmer-Merwara.

39. Mr. L. B. Goad held charge of the office of Superintendent of Police from January 1st to April 25th and again from September 8th to December 31st 1914. During his absence on leave, from April 26th to September 7th Mr. A. G. Phillips, Assistant Superintendent, officiated for him. Vide Statements Nos. 4 to 10.

INCREASE AND DECREASE IN REPORTED COGNIZABLE CRIME.

40. The total volume of cognizable crime reported in 1914, including all true magisterial cases, was 5,345 as against 4,903 in 1913 and 5,419 in 1912. The table given below shows the principal variations in the different classes of such crime for the last two years :—

41. The most noticeable thing in the figures given in this statement is the fact that, though reports of cognizable crime as a whole rose by over nine per cent, reports to the police decreased by no less than twenty-two per cent.

42. A scrutiny of the statement shows that the chief fluctuation occurs under Class VI, the cases in that class reported to Magistrates rising from 96 to 1,163 whilst reports to the police decreased from 2,881 to 1,833. With few exceptions the cases falling in that class come under the head of "Public Nuisances" and consist of offences against sanitary laws. The extraordinary activity shown by the Ajmer-Merwara Police in instituting prosecutions for such offences has formed the subject of comment in the annual review for several years past and that a change should have resulted is not an altogether unexpected or undesirable result.

43. Even excluding such cases, however, the returns show an entirely disproportionate increase in the number of cases reported direct to Magistrates as compared with reports to the police and give rise to a suspicion that sufficient activity has not been shown, by the police, in 1914, in the matter of obtaining information of occurrences which they were legally bound to take cognizance of. Not only do the magisterial figures, as a whole, account for practically one-third of the sum-total of reported crime (a far higher proportion than in previous years) but they include numerous offences such as murder, attempt at murder, dakaiti and robbery of which the police should, apparently, have had cognizance. This is an entirely new feature in the returns and will form the subject of separate enquiry.

44. The variations in the different classes of crime, taking both cases reported to police officers and magisterial cases together, are numerically greatest in Class V (minor offences against property), Class III (serious offences against person and property or property only) and Class II (serious offences against the person). With the exception of Class IV, however, all classes show an upward tendency and the total incidence of reported crime works out at 106·6, per 10,000 of population, as compared with 97·8 in the preceding year. These figures are swelled by a certain number of false cases but, even if these are eliminated, the incidence for 1914 stands at 105 as compared with 96 for 1913.

45. What high figures these are, is shown by the returns of the United Provinces for 1912 and 1913 (the last two years the statistics for which are available). In 1912 the proportion of crime stood, in those Provinces, at 33·2 per 10,000 of population and, in 1913, at 33·5. As already mentioned, sanitary offences are, in the case of Ajmer-Merwara, responsible for a large part of the difference but, even excluding those cases, the incidence of crime for 1913 was 38·5 in Ajmer-Merwara as compared with 29·0 in the United Provinces and the incidence in Ajmer-Merwara for 1914 actually rose to 52·6.

46. The Superintendent attributes the marked rise in almost all classes of crime to (i) the scarcity and high prices which prevailed in the early months of the year and (ii) the effect of the war on local industries. There is but little doubt that the cotton industries were seriously affected by the war and that the number of hands thrown out of employ owing to local factories having to reduce their establishments coupled with the extraordinary rise in the price of wheat had much to do with the increase in crime.

47. The relatively heavy incidence of crime in Ajmer-Merwara when compared with the United Provinces has been discussed in more than one review in recent years and is mainly attributable to the proportionately large urban population of this district and the immediate proximity of various States with very primitive police arrangements.

48. Cases of non-cognizable crime totalled 4,315 in the year under report as compared with 4,336 in 1913. No very marked variations occurred in the figures under any one head.

(1) Police cases—all classes.

49. The total number of cognizable offences reported to the police during 1914 was 3,417 as compared with 4,358 in 1913 and 5,003 in 1912. The decrease is, once again, almost entirely among offences against sanitary laws (Serial No. 41) and prosecutions under that head, instituted on police report totalled only 1,710 in the year 1914 as compared with 2,767 and 3,387 in the two preceding years. Excluding such cases, the number of offences reported stands at 1,707 for the year under review, as against 1,591 for 1913 and 1,616 for 1912.

50. Investigation was refused in 432 cases, in 1914, as against 489 in 1913. The proportion of cases investigated is considerably higher than that which obtains in the United Provinces but, as mentioned in previous reviews, this is to be accounted for by local conditions. The Superintendent admits, it is true, that cases have occurred during the year which were, in his opinion, investigated needlessly but such cases have been few and far between and steps have been taken to prevent the recurrence of this state of affairs.

51. The total number of police cases tried out during the year fell from 3,346 for 1913 to 2,350 for 1914. Of cases investigated (including those brought forward from previous years) 76 per cent. ended in conviction as against 83 per cent. in 1913, while, of persons arrested in those cases, 92 per cent were convicted as compared with 93 per cent in the preceding year. As pointed out in previous reviews, these high percentages are chiefly due to the large number of sanitary offences included in the returns, in the majority of which cases conviction is a foregone conclusion, and, if such cases be eliminated, the returns show the conviction of only 43 per cent of cases investigated in 1914 (as compared with 44 per cent. in 1913) and 80 per cent. of the persons arrested during that year.

52. Though once again, there has been some falling-off in the percentages, taken as a whole, the returns compare very favourably with those of the United Provinces Police for 1913 (the last year for which the returns are available) and in view of the fact that, if sanitary offences be left out of consideration, the police crime returns are heavier than in 1913, the results of the year are not unsatisfactory.

53. The number of cases reported to the police which were ultimately struck off the registers as false fell from 31 to 29 and the number removed as due to mistake of law or fact or because they were declared non-cognizable totalled 24 in 1914 as compared with 58 in the preceding year. It is satisfactory to note that the Superintendent of Police records that the number of false complaints made to the police has undoubtedly decreased of late years.

Class I.—Offences against the State, Public Tranquility, Safety and Justice.

54. The number of true cases in this class, dealt with by the police in 1914, was 28. All but three of those cases were sent up for trial with the result that 24 ended in conviction and 1 in acquittal.

55. Nine offences relating to coin are included in that total, all but one of which were convicted. With one exception these cases were all of a petty nature, the accused, in most instances, merely endeavouring to put into circulation isolated counterfeit coins which they had come by unwittingly. The exception was a case in which implements for counterfeiting together with some spurious coin were recovered from the house of a brocade-embroiderer in the Kekri circle. He was convicted and sentenced to 2 years' rigorous imprisonment by the Additional Sessions Judge.

56. Seven cases of resisting arrest or escapes from custody occurred in 1914, the same number as in the previous year. Three of these were escapes from police custody while one escape was effected from the Ajmer Jail. In no case did the fugitives benefit more than temporarily by their action as they were all re-arrested within the year.

57. One of the escapes from police custody was the result of a serious defect in the Magisterial lock-up at Kekri which has since been remedied. A 2nd was entirely due to negligence on the part of two constables, who narrowly escaped a criminal prosecution, whilst the 3rd was, apparently, deliberately connived at by a village chaukidar who was on friendly terms with the absconder. The Chaukidar was prosecuted for this offence but was still under trial at the close of the year.

58. Eleven cases of rioting or unlawful assembly were dealt with during 1914, eight ending in conviction and 1 in acquittal. None of these cases were of a serious nature or call for special notice.

Class II.—Serious Offences against the Person.

59. One hundred and twenty-five cases falling in this class were dealt with by the police in 1914. Sixty-seven of those cases came to trial (excluding 14 which were ultimately compounded) with the result that 50 were convicted, 11 acquitted and 6 were still pending at the close of the year.

60. Twelve cases of murder are included in this figure, the same number as were reported to the police in 1913. The success met with in dealing with that crime in 1913 was not repeated in the year under review however and only six of these cases reached the Courts two of which ended in acquittal. In one of the cases which was acquitted, a woman was charged with the murder of her illegitimate child but the Additional Sessions Judge found that the death of the child was purely accidental.

61. The cases which remained undetected include (i) the murder of a Sadhu in a temple by thieves who also carried off property lodged in that building to the value of Rs.485 and (ii) the murder of a child, some 7 years of age, for the sake of the ornaments which she was wearing. In both those cases death was caused by strangulation and no clue to the perpetrators could be found.

62. In the one case in which the accused is absconding, the victim was a youth, some 16 years of age, with whom the murderer had been on terms of unnatural intimacy, sexual jealousy being the motive for the crime.

63. None of the other cases are deserving of special notice.

64. Two cases of administering stupifying drugs to cause hurt figure in the returns for 1914. In one of those cases, which was sent up for trial but was still pending at the close of the year, the accused, a woman, in prosecution of an intrigue, administered dhatura mixed in food to her husband and certain other relations but subsequently confessed her guilt.

65. In the 2nd case the motive appears to have been robbery as not only was the custodian of a temple at Beawar and three companions drugged but, when this crime was discovered, it also came to light that the jewels with which an image in the temple had been adorned had been carried off. Suspicion fell on a Brahmin hailing from the United Provinces who had been sojourning temporarily at the temple but the police enquiry failed to establish that man's identity or to unearth any clue to the case. This is the more to be regretted as there appeared some reason to believe that the crime was the work of a professional poisoner.

66. The only other crime falling in this class which calls for special notice is "Kidnapping". The number of such cases dealt with by the police in the year under report was 17 as compared with 21 in the preceding year. Ten of those cases came before the courts for trial but two of them were still pending at the close of the year and, of the remainder, 6 were convicted and 2 acquitted. It is disappointing to find that the increase in such offences, which commenced in 1913, still continues, though, in the review for 1913, an opinion was expressed that it was due to special causes which had ceased to operate before the close of that year. The attention of the Superintendent will be called to the prevalence of this form of crime and he will be asked to take special steps in the matter.

Class III.—Serious Offences against Person and Property or against Property only.

67. The total number of true cases of this class dealt with by the police in the year under report was 555 as compared with 521 in the preceding year. 313 of those cases were investigated; 76 sent up for trial and, of 70 which had been tried out by the close of the year, 65 ended in conviction and 5 in acquittal.

68. It is satisfactory to find, yet once again, a decrease in the number of dakaitis. Only three cases were reported in 1914 against four in 1913 and six in 1912. One of those cases ended in conviction but the others remained untraced. The most serious case was a determined attack which was made, by an armed gang, on a treasure-cart while on its way from Beawar railway-station to Beawar City. The treasure, which belonged to Seth Umed Mal Ajmer, consisted of Rs. 20,000 and was escorted by a guard consisting of seven persons including two police-constables. For some unexplained reason it was despatched to Beawar by a train which did not arrive there till almost 9 p. m. and had the simple precaution of sending it by day been taken, it is very improbable that any dakaiti would have occurred. As the party neared the Chang Gate of the City the wire to the "Kitson lamp" over that gate was cut and a gang of 8 or 10 men, armed with guns, swords and lathis, threw themselves on the cart. The two constables and a local Rajput stood their ground but the remainder of the escort took to their heels so soon as the first shot was fired. One of the constables, Subhan Khan by name, and the Rajput were wounded by slugs and the 2nd constable was severely beaten with lathis. The dakaits finally succeeded in extracting one bag, containing Rs.6,000, from the cart and made off just as men from the City ran up attracted by the noise. The pursuit was so hot that even the bag of money, which the dakaits had snatched from the cart, was dropped among some stones by the road-side from which place it was recovered later by the police, and the criminals retired empty-handed but also, unfortunately, unidentified. A protracted enquiry was made but the perpetrators of this crime were never discovered. That enquiry proved however that Constable Subhan Khan had acted with exceptional bravery, seizing one of the dakaits even after he had been wounded and hanging on to him till the remainder of the gang rescued him.

69. The case which ended in conviction also occurred close to Beawar. The original report gave a very garbled version of what had taken place and, as a result, the case was, in the first instance, registered as one of robbery. According to that report, one Nathu Lal, Mahajan, and a caste-fellow, both of whom had been drinking somewhat heavily, when easing themselves outside the town, were seized by 4 or 5 men who threatened to hand them over to the police for committing a nuisance. On this pretext, Nathu Lal was carried off in one direction and his caste-fellow, who was wearing golden ornaments to the value of over Rs.400, was taken off in another. The latter was relieved of his ornaments by his captors and then both men were released. The police enquiry established the identity of the accused as certain local bad characters and eight men were ultimately sent up for trial, six of whom were convicted and sentenced to rigorous imprisonment for 5 years each while the remaining two were acquitted. It is worth noting that two of the persons convicted were sepoys of the 43rd (Erinpura) Regiment who were home on leave at the time.

70. The 3rd dakaiti was a typical jungle dakaiti which occurred in the Todgarh police circle on December 24th on the Marwar border. The victims were a party of Banias who were proceeding to a village in Marwar and they were held up by a band of some 15 to 20 men, armed with guns, knives, etc. and were stripped of property to the aggregate value of Rs.200. This same gang committed several other dakaitis close by in Marwar on that same date and appears to have consisted of certain Minas and Bhils of the Sirohi State. The actual perpetrators could not be traced, however, and the case remained undetected.

71. Twenty-four true cases of robbery are returned for the year under review as compared with 23 in the preceding year. Only six of these cases came up for trial with the result that four were convicted, one acquitted and one was still pending at the close of the year.

72. With the exception of two cases which occurred on the Marwar border, in which members of a gang of Sansis settled in that State were said to have been identified (though they were not sent up for trial for want of proof) there is little to justify the assertion of the Superintendent that any of these robberies were the work of members of criminal tribes hailing from Native States and a special feature of the return of dakaiti and robbery cases for 1914 is the entire absence of such crime in circles adjoining the Udaipur, Bundi and Jaipur States which have, in past years, accounted for the majority of such cases. Though it is stated that 10 high way robberies occurred in the year, few of them showed any signs of being the work of professional criminals and it is noteworthy that in only 8 out of the 24 robberies reported were the perpetrators said to have exceeded two in number.

73. The most important case was one which actually took place in September 1913 but was at the time hushed up by the local police. It came to light in consequence of certain information received from the Inspector-General, Indore State Police, in November 1913 but it was not till February 1914 that it was registered. From the information received it appeared that an unknown Sadhu had, while staying at Pushkar, been drugged by two other Sadhus and had been robbed of the money he then had on him which consisted of sovereigns and silver coins. Investigation proved that such a crime had been committed and that the local police had received information of it but, because the parties had left Pushkar before report was laid and were unknown locally, they had taken no action. The victim was believed to belong to the Patiala State but every endeavour to trace him failed and the case was finally returned as undetected. The local police officer, who was responsible for this affair being hushed up in the first instance, was suitably punished.

74. The work of the local police under this head during 1914 can only be classed as very unsatisfactory. In two instances Station-officers were found to have been guilty of misconduct in dealing with such offences and had to be punished while in no single case was any detective ability shown or any real assistance given by the police.

75. The only other form of crime included in this class which calls for special notice is that of burglary or house-breaking. The total number of true cases of that kind dealt with by the police in 1914 was 518 as compared with 484 in 1913 and 472 in 1912.

76. Even less success was met with in dealing with such cases in the year under report than in the preceding year. Investigations increased from 238 to 278 but only 66 of those cases came before the courts in 1914 as compared with 71 in 1913. More care seems to have been taken in the preparation of such cases as were sent up for trial, however, as only 4 ended in acquittal against 11 in 1913. Moreover in addition to 57 cases in which conviction was obtained for the original offence, 16 other cases ended in the conviction of receivers under section 411, Indian Penal Code. For all that, the results, as a whole, are the worst obtained for many years and reflect little credit on the police.

77. Few of these cases were of much importance but the following are of some local interest:—

(1) A report was laid on May 23rd at the Sawar police-station that during the absence of the Sawar Istimrardar, a safe in his treasure-room had been broken open and valuables to the tune of Rs. 7,809 had been stolen. An enquiry was instituted which revealed, at a very early stage, that this was the outcome of domestic troubles between the Thakur and his family and ultimately all but some two hundred rupees worth of the missing property was recovered. The facts were reported to the Honourable the Chief Commissioner for his orders and it was ultimately decided not to prosecute and the papers were filed.

(2) On May 30th information was received at the Todgarh police-station that the house of a "Zargar" had been broken into on the previous night and property to the value of Rs. 2,241 had been stolen. The police enquiry showed that the burglars had effected entrance by cutting through the roof of the house and had dug up the vessel containing this property from a place in which it had been buried in the ground. This showed that the crime was the work of some person or persons who were intimately acquainted with the ways of the house but nothing further could be discovered and the case was finally returned as untraced.

(3) On December 8th a report was lodged at the City Kotwali that the house of one Radha Kishan had been visited by burglars on the previous night and property valued at Rs. 4,189 stolen. The police investigation threw suspicion on certain local bad characters and, ultimately, three men were arrested and part of the missing property, to the value of Rs. 502, was recovered from their possession. Those persons were still under trial at the close of the year but have since been convicted.

Class IV.—Minor Offences against the Person.

78. Eleven cases of this class figure in the returns for 1914 as compared with eight for 1913. Six of them came before the courts and, up to the close of the year, five of them had been tried out, of which number 2 had been convicted and 3 acquitted. None of them call for special notice.

Class V.—Minor offences against Property.

79. Offences of this class dealt with by the police in the year under report aggregated 840, the total for 1913 being 767. Six hundred and seventy-five of those cases were investigated and 377 came before the courts for trial. Up to the end of the year 330 had been convicted and 38 acquitted, while 9 were still pending.

80. True cases of cattle-theft rose from 57 to 107 which is far and away the highest figure recorded during the last six years. The Superintendent accounts for this increase in three ways, namely,—

(i) Increased activity on the part of trans-border cattle-lifters.
(ii) Scarcity.
(iii) The return of cattle from grazing-grounds outside the district.

81. His arguments are not very convincing however and entirely fail to explain why this form of crime should have been so much more popular in 1914 than in other years of greater scarcity. On the other hand it is noteworthy that the total number of strays has now dropped to 408 and it seems possible that more faithful registration is partly responsible for the alleged increase in the number of such crimes. The success met with in dealing with those cases has not kept pace with the increase in reports. In 30 cases, cattle-lifters were sent up for trial while in 17 other cases receivers were prosecuted and of the total number, 40 ended in conviction and 5 in acquittal while 2 were still pending at the close of the year. In 1913 the total number of cases which came up for trial was 33, of which 31 ended in conviction.

82. The number of unrecovered strays fell from 175 to 161 but the percentage of recoveries to losses fell from 67 to 61. Inspections of stations during the past tour-season have shown that there is still much room for improvement in the matter of obtaining early information of the loss of and making proper search for lost cattle.

83. No cases of special interest occurred in the year.

84. Cases of criminal breach of trust once again increased, the return of true cases for 1914 showing 49 reports as compared with 46 in 1913. At the same time it must be pointed out that this increase was not in occurrences of the year but was the result of 9 cases which were brought forward from previous years. Considerably more success was met with in dealing with offences of this class; convictions in 1914 totalling 30 as compared with 22 in 1913.

85. The only case which calls for special notice is one in which a police constable was convicted. The property embezzled consisted of some gold ornaments taken possession of by the police, on suspicion, in January 1913, which was forwarded to the court of the Sub-divisional officer at Kekri for disposal under section 523, Criminal Procedure Code. It was not till March 1914 that final orders were issued in accordance with which the property had to be returned to the person from whose possession it had been originally taken. The owner was summoned but refused to take delivery, protesting that imitations had been substituted for some of the ornaments while others were missing. An enquiry was instituted and resulted in eight other cases being found of a kindred nature. Ultimately these were all brought home to a clerk constable who had held the post of police reader in the Sub-divisional officer's court and he was convicted and sentenced to 4 years' rigorous imprisonment under sections 409, 420, 466 and 467, Indian Penal Code.

86. None of the other offences in this class call for special notice.

Class VI.—Other offences not specified above.

87. The total number of true cases, falling in this class, dealt with by the police in 1914 was 1,847 as compared with 2,903 for 1913 and 3,531 for 1912. For the 2nd year in succession the decrease is, for all practical purposes, confined to serial No. 41 (Public Nuisances) and has already been discussed in paragraph 42 of this review. All but 4 of those cases came before the courts for trial with the result that 1,795 terminated in conviction and 27 in acquittal, while 17 were still pending at the close of the year.

88. Fifty-one prosecutions for vagrancy and bad livelihood were instituted in 1914 but two of these were subsequently withdrawn. Forty-eight of those cases came before the courts and 41 ended in conviction. Four cases were still under trial at the close of the year.

89. Six of those prosecutions fell under section 110, Criminal Procedure Code, but one of them proved abortive owing to the person concerned being admitted to bail while the case against him was still pending with the result that he promptly absconded from British India. The remaining 5 all proved successful, security being demanded from the five persons concerned. In two instances, security was furnished but three persons went to jail in default. The average security demanded amounted to Rs. 165 and the alternative imprisonment to approximately 17 months.

90. The remaining 45 prosecutions were for vagrancy and came under section 109, Criminal Procedure Code. 36 of them proved successful while 4 were still pending at the close of 1914. The average amount of security demanded was Rs. 96 and the alternative 7 months' imprisonment. Security was furnished in only 8 of those cases.

91. Thirteen of the persons prosecuted under the preventive sections were previously convicted offenders and three figured on the surveillance register.

92. The work under this head has been satisfactory so far as it goes but, as the Superintendent himself admits, more vigorous action is required in prosecuting local bad characters and now that magistrates in charge of sub-divisions have been empowered to try such cases, the local police have little excuse if they fail to take such action.

93. Forty-eight prosecutions for breaches of the Excise and Opium laws were instituted by the police during 1914 as compared with 43 in 1913 and 53 in 1912. Forty-one of these had a successful termination and 4 were still pending at the close of the year. It is satisfactory to note that this important subject has received more attention than in 1913 but, at the same time, no very important captures were made.

94. Prosecutions under the Gambling Act rose from 12 to 20 but even this latter figure is a low one and during the past two years not nearly as much activity has been shown in dealing with such offences as was formerly the case.

Property Stolen and Recovered.

95. The total value of the property stolen in the year under review is placed at Rs. 86,202 as compared with Rs. 1,23,794 in the preceding year. The percentage of recovery rose from 8 to 34, a far higher figure than has been attained for many years. A scrutiny of these figures affords, yet once again, however, clear testimony of how undesirable it is to place too much reliance on the returns under this head or to judge the work of the police by the percentage of property recovered. Practically half the total value of recoveries occurred in connection with the Beawar dakaiti and Sawar burglary (to which reference has been made in paragraphs 68, 69, 70, 75, 76 and 77 of this review) the first of which remained undetected whilst, in the second case, prosecution was considered undesirable.

Identification by means of Finger impression Slips.

96. The finger-impression slips of 136 persons were sent to the Bureau for search, in 1914, as compared with 160 in 1913. Only 32 of those slips resulted in the identity of previously convicted offenders being established against 49 in 1913. The falling-off is to be regretted but calls for no special explanation. The Superintendent reports that 27 officers and men were taught how to take rolled finger-impressions accurately during the year.

Absconded Offenders.

97. The names of 53 absconders figured on the registers of proclaimed offenders at the commencement of 1914. Twelve fresh names were added during the year bringing the total up to 65. Twelve arrests were made, however, so that the balance to be accounted for at the close of 1914 was the same as the opening balance, namely, 53. It is satisfactory to find, yet once again, that the importance of accounting such persons has not been lost sight of. At the same time, no less than 7 of the 12 persons accounted for only absconded in 1914 while all but two of the remainder were men who absconded in the preceding year and no very important arrests were made. All things considered, however, the list of absconders is not a very long one, and nearly one-fourth of the total number are fugitive criminals whose identity and residence has never been fully established.

Surveillance over persons whose history-sheets have been prepared.

98. The number of persons whose history-sheets were maintained at the close of 1913 was 487 and the number of new history-sheets prepared during the year 1914 was 73, giving a total of 560. One hundred and fifty-seven of these sheets were closed during the year, either because the persons concerned were found to have returned to honest livelihood, had emigrated or died. The closing balance for 1914 was therefore 403. Forty-four of them refer to persons who were reconvicted during the year while ninety-six are the history-sheets of persons whose names figure on the surveillance register.

99. It is to be regretted that the percentage of persons whose history-sheets are maintained but who are themselves untraceable (14) is still high but the local police are not to blame for this and till Native States will introduce some effective supervision over such persons when they go outside British India, there is but small hope of any material improvement in this direction.

Co-operation with the Police of Native States.

100. The Superintendent states that relations with the Kishengarh, Shahpura, Tonk, Jaipur and Bundi Police are satisfactory but complains of want of co-operation on the part of the Udaipur State Police and that police arrangements on the Marwar border are not satisfactory. The Jaipur, Tonk, Kishengarh and Shahpura Durbars recently applied for assistance with a view to the reorganisation of their police forces, and the re-organisation of the Marwar Police was taken in hand by an experienced officer of the Punjab Police in April 1914. The special attention of all those Durbars has been invited to the paramount necessity of co-operation between their own police officers and those of adjoining States and districts in British India; so it is to be hoped that some improvement in existing arrangements will take place shortly.

Strength, cost and employment of the Police.

101. There was no change in the sanctioned strength during the year under report. The actual cost of the Force rose, however, from Rs. 1,99,209 to Rs. 2,11,835. The increase in expenditure was chiefly the result of grain compensation allowances having to be paid in 1914 owing to high prices.

Rewards and Punishments.

102. Two hundred and sixty-three members of the Force were rewarded in 1914 as compared with 238 in 1913. The total amount paid in rewards from all sources was Rs. 2,511, an increase of Rs. 98 on the aggregate for 1913. Rewards paid for meritorous service in ordinary police cases increased by Rs. 196 and rewards paid in opium and excise cases and in cases under the Gambling Act rose by Rs. 121 and Rs. 42 respectively. In addition to rewards paid to members of the Force, 17 chaukidars were rewarded with Rs. 61 and 38 private persons (informers) with Rs. 230.

103. The total amount paid in rewards has increased by almost 50 per cent. during the last two years and the returns for 1914 show that more than a quarter of the force received rewards during that year and that those rewards averaged practically Rs. 10 each. There has been no corresponding improvement in the work as a whole during this period and there is some reason to doubt whether rewards have not been given on too lavish a scale. The attention of the Superintendent has recently been called to this and the need for closer supervision has been impressed upon him.

104. The total number of punishments inflicted was 32 as compared with 37 in the previous year. This figure includes 9 judicial punishments, 6 dismissals and 18 other departmental punishments. The judicial punishments include two convictions under section 29 of the Police Act, one under section 223, Indian Penal Code, one under section 392, Indian Penal Code, and five under other sections of the Penal Code. The cases under sections 392 and 223, Indian Penal Code, were the sequel to certain matters dealt with in the review for 1913 and the most serious offence committed by a member of the Force, during 1914, was that which has already received mention in paragraphs 84 and 85 of this report. The return of departmental punishments is the lightest for 5 years and it is satisfactory to find that dismissal had only to be resorted to in 6 such cases.

Health.

105. The health of the Force was not so satisfactory as in 1913. Deaths increased from 4 to 12 and admissions to hospital totalled 52 per cent of the actual strength as compared with 38 in 1913. Quinine was freely distributed as a prophylactic during the rainy season and the only explanation which can be given for the variation in the figures is that 1914 was more unhealthy than the preceding year.

Casualties.

106. The following casualties occurred during the year :—

(1)	Pension or gratuity	25
(2)	Resignation without pension or gratuity	60
(3)	Dismissal	14
(4)	Discharge otherwise than above	3
(5)	Desertion	8
(6)	Death	12

107. Casualties of all classes totalled 166 in the year 1913 so that there was a considerable decrease in the year under report, which is satisfactory. The only increases which occurred come under the heads of pension or gratuity and death which may be looked on as natural causes. It is satisfactory to find that the number of men who resigned (though still proportionately large) decreased by more than one-third and the Superintendent's action in tracing out, arresting and prosecuting, under section 29 of the Police Act, two of the men who deserted in the year is probably mainly responsible for the decrease in desertions. Once again the Superintendent writes at length on the difficulty he has in obtaining recruits. As, however, proposals have already been submitted to the Government of India which will, it is hoped, remove those difficulties, it is unnecessary to make further mention of the matter in this report.

General Remarks.

108. The Superintendent admits that the work of the Ajmer-Merwara Police was not as good during 1914 as in previous years. He attributes this to various causes but as most of them would have applied equally well to the state of affairs which existed before the work began to deteriorate it is only necessary to consider two of the reasons advanced which were peculiar to 1914. One of these was incontinuity of administration and the other repeated changes in the posts of Inspector and Sub-Inspector.

109. As regards the first of these, the district no doubt suffered by the absence of Mr Goad for some four and a half months but, as Mr Goad has himself recorded, the officer appointed to officiate for him worked in a most conscientious manner.

110. There is little doubt, however, that the numerous changes of Inspector and Sub-Inspector were calculated to result in a deterioration of the work. Towards the close of the year it came to notice that two Inspectors, who had assumed charge of their circles during the summer months of 1914, had availed themselves of a recent order restricting the formal inspection of police-stations to one detailed annual inspection, between the months of April and October, to systematically neglect all police-stations which had been formally inspected by their predecessors during 1914. One of those officers has since been reverted to the investigating staff and steps have been taken to prevent the recurrence of such neglect.

111. It is, however, undoubted that the most unsatisfactory feature in the year's work is the manner in which Sub-Inspectors have been shifted from station to station, often, it must be stated, without any real justification. A return recently called for regarding such changes showed that the charge of the most important police-station of the district had changed hands no less than seven times during the year, that two other police-stations had changed hands five times and three others four times each. In point of fact there were only two police-stations the charge of which did not change hands during the year and one of them was the most insignificant charge in the whole district. Such a state of affairs would, of itself, account for such deterioration as there has been in the work. Steps have recently been taken to prevent wholesale transfers of station-officers without urgent necessity and it is anticipated that such deterioration as may have occurred during 1914 will speedily vanish.

(2) CRIMINAL JUSTICE (YEAR ENDING THE 31ST DECEMBER 1914).

112. During the year 1914, the office of District Magistrate, Ajmer-Merwara, was held by Mr. D. G. Mackenzie, M.A., I.C.S., from 1st January to 31st March and from 1st April till the close of the year it was held by Mr. A. T. Holme, I.C.S. Vide Statements Nos. 11 to 16 and 25.

113. The total number of offences reported was 8,181, of which 7,173 were returned as true; of these 1918 were reported under the Police Act, against 2,088 in the preceding year.

114. The number of cases under the Opium Act was 21 as against 5 in the year 1913 and 14 in 1912.

115. The number of persons under trial in the year was 10,376, of these 5,856 were convicted. The corresponding figures for 1913 were 11,356 and 6,939 respectively.

116. The number of persons placed on trial before the Honorary Magistrates was 5,842 as against 6,424 in 1913.

117. The average duration of each case was 23·1 days as compared with 29·3 in 1913.

118. The number of witnesses examined was 4,002 against 3,569 in the preceding year.

119. The number of persons placed on trial before the District Magistrate was 25.

120. The Court of Sessions dealt with cases of 43 persons, as against 28 in 1913, of these 23 were convicted, 15 acquitted and 5 remained awaiting trial.

121. The Railway Magistrate tried 149 persons, of whom 89 were convicted.

122. The number of appeals and revisions, dealt with by the Sessions Judge and the Additional Sessions Judge, was 132, out of which 106 were rejected; the sentence in 10 cases was reduced, in 4 reversed and a new trial was ordered in one case.

123. Diwan Bahadur Munshi Damoder Lal held the office of Additional Sessions Judge, from 1st April till the close of the year, and passed judgment in 21 Sessions cases.

(3) CIVIL JUSTICE (YEAR ENDING THE 31ST DECEMBER 1914.)

124. The number of Courts, during the year was 32.

125. The total number of suits (including miscellaneous) was 8,452 against 8,143 in the year 1913, showing an increase of 309. Vide Statements Nos. 17 to 25.

126 The total value of suits instituted this year was Rs. 8,98,348 as against Rs. 7,38,476.

127. Suits of all kinds, the value of which did not exceed Rs. 50, numbered 3,984.

128. The total number of suits of all kinds for disposal including arrears was 10,363. The number of contested suits disposed of was 1,344 while 82 were decided by arbitration, and 5,328 without any contest. The number disposed of without trial was 2,206 and 262 suits were transferred to other courts. The pending file at the close of the year was 1,141 as compared with 1,450 in the preceding year, and of the former 508 had been pending for more than three months. The average duration of contested civil suits was 135·2 days and that of uncontested suits 60·5.

Appeals.

129. On the appellate side there were 561 appeals from decrees and orders, and the pending file at the close of the year was 201 against 226 in the preceding year. The average duration of appeals was 139·4 days as against 216·4.

130. The number of applications for execution of decrees was 12,527 against 12,894.

131. The number pending at the close of the year was 1,893 as compared with 1,359.

132. Judgment debtors were imprisoned in one case only.

133 Diwan Bahadur Munshi Damodar Lal held the office of Additional District Judge, from 1st April till the close of the year and disposed of 251 Civil and Miscellaneous appeals.

(4) REGISTRATION (YEAR ENDING THE 31ST DECEMBER 1914.)

Vide Statement No. 25.

134. The number of offices and strength of staff remained unchanged throughout the year.

135. The system of payment of the Registration officials has been changed from August of the year under report. Till that month Sub-Registrars and Registration Moharrirs took one quarter each of the total registration receipts of their respective offices. The payment to Sub-Registrars of any allowance on account of their registration work has now been abolished, and Moharrirs are given a fixed monthly pay fixed with relation to the volume of work in each office.

136. The total number of documents of all classes presented for registration during the year under report was 3,099 as against 6,572 in the preceding year, or less than half. This decrease is due partly to the introduction of the Land Alienation Regulation, partly to a reaction after the rush to register documents before the enforcement of that Regulation, and partly to the cramping of the money market on account of the war. Some revival has already been shown in the Ajmer Sub-Registry and the present figure cannot be held to be normal.

137. Of the total number of documents presented for registration 1,898 documents or 61·21 per cent were registered in the Ajmer Sub-Registry as against 45·56 and 51·96 in the two preceding years.

138. The area of agricultural land transferred by sale during the year was 2,585 bighas as compared with 11,218 bighas in 1913, and of this amount the bulk was transferred in the initial months of the year before the Land Alienation Regulation came into force. The figure may therefore still further decrease in the next year.

139. The area of agricultural land mortgaged was 3,141 bighas as compared with 14,467 bighas in 1913.

140. This decrease is in some degree attributable to the operations of Co-operative Credit Societies.

141. The total value of land sold and mortgaged amounted to Rs. 2,86,849 as against Rs. 7,04,308 in 1913, a decrease of 59 per cent.

142. The total receipts and expenditure of the year amounted to Rs. 6,770 and 1,850-0-0 as compared with Rs. 11,935, and 3,968 respectively in 1913, showing a surplus of Rs. 4,920.

143. The decrease in fees is due to the decrease in the number of documents registered, whilst the decrease in expenditure is attributable to the abolition of payment of Sub-Registrars and substitution of fixed pay in place of a share in the fees for Moharrirs.

144. The offices of the Sub-Registrars, Ajmer, Beawar and Todgarh were inspected once each during the year under report.

145. The work of the first named was greatly improved by the end of the year.

(5) MUNICIPALITIES (YEAR ENDING THE 31ST MARCH 1915).

146. During the year under report, the Ajmer Municipal Committee consisted of 23 members, of whom 6 were nominated and 17 elected, 2 were officials and 21 non-officials, 8 Europeans and 15 Indians. Vide Statement Nos. 27 to 30. Ajmer Municipality.

147. The Committee held during the year 36 meetings, of which 16 were special and 20 ordinary. The average attendance at each Meeting was 14·12 and 15·75, respectively.

148. The total income of the year was Rs. 5,37,348 as against Rs. 5,22,246 in 1913-14. The expenditure amounted to Rs. 5,49,274 as against Rs. 6,30,196 in the previous year and the closing balance was Rs. 42,209.

149. If refunds are excluded, which amounted to Rs. 40,336 in 1913-14 and Rs. 34,897 in 1914-15, the figures for the two years compare as below :—

	1913-14. Rs.	1914-15. Rs.	Difference. Rs.
Income	4,81,910	5,02,451	+20,541
Expenditure	5,89,860	5,14,377	−75,483

150. The increase in receipts is mainly due to a contribution of Rs. 37,500, received from the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway as composition in lieu of Municipal taxation at the rate of Rs. 15,000 per annum from the 1st January 1913 to the 30th June 1915.

151. The decrease in expenditure is chiefly visible under the heads "drainage" and "conservancy", and is due to no abnormal work under the former head having been taken in hand during the year and to the greater portion of the expenditure under the latter head in connection with steam traction having been met in the previous year.

152. The gross and net receipts from octroi in the two years are shown below :—

	Gross. Rs.	Net. Rs.
1913-14	2,08,134	1,67,798
1914-15	1,82,985	1,48,088
	−25,149	−19,710

153. The decrease of Rs. 25,149 in gross receipts has occurred chiefly under the items "cloth", "metals" and "other articles of food", and may be ascribed to the war in Europe.

154. The same reason, which resulted in less imports, accounts for the decrease of Rs. 19,710 in net receipts and the consequent decrease of Rs. 5,439 in refunds.

155. As stated above, the total disbursements during the year under report amounted to Rs. 5,49,274 against Rs. 6,30,196 in the previous year.

156. The variations occurred chiefly under the following heads :—

Heads.	Increase. Rs.	Decrease. Rs.
Office establishment, etc.	1,238	...
Refunds	...	5,439
Lighting	...	1,063
Water Supply	4,168	...
Drainage	...	2,545
Conservancy	...	78,850
Buildings	2,005	...
Deposits	1,465	...

157. The decrease under the heads "drainage", "conservancy" and "refunds" have already been explained.

158. The increase under the head "office establishment, etc." is due to the annual increments drawn by officials during the year in accordance with the graded scale.

159. The fact that no Aladdin lamps were purchased during the year for street lighting accounts for the decrease under the head "lighting".

160. The increase of Rs. 4,168 under the head "water supply" is explained by the fact that the balance of the estimate for the Bhoanta water supply scheme was paid to the Executive Engineer, Ajmer Division.

161. The construction of a godown and water room in the compound of the Trevor Town Hall and repairs to Garden Lodge are the causes, which led to an increase under the head "buildings".

162. The increase under the head "deposits" is attributable to the refund of security deposits made by the various contractors in the preceding year for the works completed during the year under the report.

163. A sum of Rs. 17,470 was paid during the year towards the liquidation of Government loans.

164. The balance of the loan due from the Municipality at the end of the year amounted to Rs. 5,58,911 including Rs. 4,00,000 advanced by Government for the Bhoanta water supply scheme.

165. The incidence of taxation was Rs. 1-11-6 against Rs. 1-15-1 in the preceding year.

166. The management of the Ajmer water works was in the hands of the Executive Engineer, Ajmer Division.

167. The first rainfall, registered on the 7th June 1914, was 1·32 inches, when the Foy sagar lake rose from zero to 4·94 feet. From this date, the water level began to rise.

168. The total depth of the Foy sagar between the sill of the lowest sluice and full water level is 24 feet and the highest point recorded after the hot weather (1st September 1914) was 12·22 feet.

169. The water level of the lake on the 1st April 1914 was 5·47 feet, so that between this date and the 7th June 1914, the date of the first rainfall registered, the water level fell by 5·47 feet as against 5·13 feet registered from the 1st April to the 10th June of the previous year.

170. The total rainfall between June and September 1914 was 17·10, while for the whole year under report it was 19 11 inches, the normal fall being 21·09 inches.

171. The supply of water by gravitation being insufficient, pumping had to be resorted to throughout the year.

172. In addition to this, the Railway had to be called in to help and the water supplied by them from Budha Pushkar amounted to 37·75 million gallons.

173. The question of taxing the Railway at Ajmer has at length been amicably settled, the Railway having agreed to contribute a sum of Rs. 15,000 per annum from the 1st January 1913 in lieu of Municipal taxation.

174. The agreement with the Railway at Ajmer for the supply of water was revised during the year. The salient points of the agreement are that the Municipality will pay the Railway the actual cost of pumping subject to a maximum charge of 6 annas for 1,000 gallons instead of 8 annas per 1,000 gallons as before when pumping is resorted to from Budha Pushkar and, that the Municipality will charge the Railway on both Foy sagar and Bhaonta water at rates in force for private consumers instead of the concessional rate of 5 annas per 1,000 gallons hitherto in force for Foy sagar water.

175. The concession in respect to the ground rent of sites in Kaiserganj was withdrawn during the year and rent at Rs. 3 per 900 square feet is now charged instead of Rs. 2 as before.

176. In view of the system in force at present of removing all sullage-water by carts, which will on an increased water supply become almost prohibitive in cost and impracticable, and of the urgency of surface drainage repeatedly emphasised by the sanitary authorities, Messrs. Lane, Brown and Hewlett, Civil Engineers, Lucknow, were invited to make a preliminary inspection of Ajmer so as to prepare a scheme of scientific surface drainage for the town. Their report shows that a scheme could be formulated at a total cost of 10 lakhs of rupees, the preparation of which is estimated at Rs. 20,000. The scheme would bring in a probable annual saving of over Rs. 20,000 besides the income that may accrue from the sale of sewage to cultivators. The sum of Rs. 20,000 required for the preparation of the scheme could not, however, be provided for in revised budget estimates of the Municipality for the year under report owing to a falling-off in octroi receipts in consequence of the existing war in Europe and the high rates prevailing for the common necessaries of life. But it is hoped that the requisite funds will be provided before long and thus a complete drainage scheme secured, its actual construction being carried out bit by bit as funds become available, after which the paving of the city can be considered.

177. During the year, the Ajmer Municipalities Regulation V of 1886 and the rules and bye-laws framed thereunder were revised by the Committee. The objections and suggestions that have been received could not be considered by the Committee before the close of the year. The matter is now receiving the Committee's attention.

178. The number of recorded births was 1,922 against 1,689 in the previous year.

179. The number of recorded deaths fell from 2,927 to 2,873.

180. The birth and death rates per mille of population was 22·29 and 33·31 against 19·58 and 33·95 respectively in the preceding year.

181. The mortality among children under five years of age was 1,500 (52·22 per cent of the total mortality) against 1,492 in the previous year.

182. Two deaths from cholera and one from small-pox were reported.

183. The total number of vaccinations performed in the Ajmer town and suburbs was 3,370 against 3,071 in the previous year. The number of primary vaccinations was 3,270 and of re-vaccinations 100 against 3,066 and 5 respectively last year.

184. Most of the conservancy rolling stock has been renewed; the old carts still in use are unserviceable and leaky and require renewal.

185. One two-seated galvanised iron latrine, one four-seated and two two-seated urinals have been provided in the suburbs, and one one-seated urinal in the city. Some of the privies have been improved and efforts are being made to put all in a good sanitary condition.

186. Three incinerators are still in use, and sanction for the construction of several more has been accorded, but they have not yet been provided.

187. The Municipal accounts were test-audited by the Examiner of Local Fund Accounts, United Provinces.

188. There was no change in the Municipal boundaries during the year. Beawar Municipality.

189. The Committee held 19 meetings, of which 12 were special and 7 ordinary as compared with 12 special and 10 ordinary in 1913-14.

190. The total net income of the year amounted to Rs. 65,463 as against Rs. 80,275 in 1913-14, and the expenditure to Rs. 71,256 as against Rs. 1,37,147. The closing balance was Rs. 20,465 exclusive of Rs. 10,000 invested in Government paper.

191. The decrease of Rs. 14,812 in the income is mostly visible under the head "octroi and bonded-ware-house" and is due to (1) the low sale price of cotton and (2) a prohibitive rate imposed by the Mewar Durbar on the export of unginned cotton.

192. The incidence of octroi taxation on a population of 22,800 was Rs. 2-9-3 per head as against Rs. 3-4-11 in the year 1913-14.

193. Compared with the previous year, the expenditure shows a decrease of Rs. 65,891, which was due to the water supply scheme having been completed.

194. Most of the wells in the town dried up, but the Jalia water works scheme was a success. Only one of the two Committee's wells at Jalia supplied the whole of the water required for the consumption of the town, the second well having proved a failure. A third well is being sunk at Jalia, the whole cost of which Seth Nath Mal, Ranka, of Beawar has promised to defray. The management of the water works was in the hands of the Municipal Secretary and Engineer.

195. The proposal for an extension of the pipe line partly in the town and to the Beawar cantonment is under the consideration of the Superintending Engineer, Rajputana.

196. The number of births and deaths registered during the year was 1,130 and 933 as against 1,068 and 940 in 1913-14.

197. The accounts were audited by the Local Fund Audit Department of the United Provinces.

Kekri Municipality.

198. The only changes in the constitution of the Committee during the year were—

(1) the appointment of Munshi Chail Behari Lal, Sub-Assistant Surgeon, in place of Doctor Ibrahim Khanbhai, and
(2) the appointment of Sah Sri Niwas in place of Munshi Mangi Lal.

199. The Committee held 2 ordinary and 4 special meetings to transact their business throughout the year.

200. The total income and expenditure amounted to Rs. 12,451 and Rs. 12,325 as against Rs. 18,951 and Rs. 11,333 respectively in the preceding year.

201. The decrease of Rs. 6,500 in receipts is mainly due to the fact that last year a sum of Rs. 5,000 was received as a special grant from the Government of India for the improvement of the sanitation of the town. The octroi income also fell off on account of the effects of the present war. The increase of Rs. 992 in expenditure chiefly occurs in the following heads :—

(1) Head Office (allowance to a clerk for typing).
(2) Collection of taxes (grain compensation allowance).
(3) Lighting, and
(4) Garden and Arboriculture } (high prices of grain and fodder).

202. The incidence of octroi taxation was Rs. 1-10-4½ per head of the population during this year as against Rs. 1-15-5 3/4 in the year 1913-14.

203. The number of births and deaths recorded during the year was 199 and 270 as against 205 and 182 respectively in the year 1913-14, the death rate thus having risen considerably.

204. The accounts of this Municipality were checked in March 1915 by the Auditor of Local Fund Accounts, United Provinces.

205. The balance to the credit of the Municipal Committee at the close of the year was Rs. 18,976, including investments of Rs. 7,000.

(6) Medical (year ending the 31st December 1914.)

206. The number of Government dispensaries in the Ajmer-Merwara District was 6. The number of indoor and outdoor patients treated at these dispensaries during the year under report was 76,942. The number of surgical operations of all kinds was 4,629. Of these 1,920 were performed at the Victoria Hospital, Ajmer. The total income of the Ajmer Victoria Hospital and the Dispensaries in the Ajmer and Kekri Sub-Divisions amounted to Rs. 17,980. The total expenditure was Rs. 15,891.

SECTION IV.

PRODUCTION AND DISTRIBUTION.

Agricultural Summary.

207. The year under report comprises Rabi 1321 Fasli and Kharif 1322 Fasli.

208. The Rabi Crops which depended on the rainfall of 1913 were fair (11 annas in the rupee in the wet area and 3 annas in the rupee in the dry area) in the Ajmer Tahsil and bad (2 annas 4 pies and 4 annas in the rupee respectively) in the Beawar and Todgarh Tahsils.

209. The Kharif Crops depending on the rainfall of 1914 were fair in the Ajmer Tahsil (10 annas in the rupee) and good in the Beawar and Todgarh Tahsils where the average outturn was 13 annas and 16 annas respectively.

Ajmer.

210. The area sown for the Rabi of 1913-14 was 26,030 acres, of which 3,122 failed. The outturn was estimated at 292,463 maunds. The area under cultivation for the Kharif of 1914-15 was 125,457 acres, of which 15,607 or 12·45 per cent failed. The outturn was estimated at 422,816 maunds.

211. The actual collections on account of the two harvests amounted to Rs. 2,05,420 against Rs. 2,01,064 last year.

212. The arrears of revenue realized amounted to Rs. 29,162.

213. The total collections came to Rs. 2,34,582 as against Rs. 2,18,616 in 1913-14.

214. Rupees 27,926 were remitted on account of agricultural calamities.

215. The revenue outstanding out of the current year's demand at the close of the year was Rs. 41,014.

225. Rupees 23,105 were advanced under the Land Improvements Loans Act and Rs. 37,220 under the Agriculturists' Loans Act.

226. The realizations under both Acts amounted to Rs. 22,678 against a demand of Rs. 68,243.

227. The advances which remained unrealized under the two Acts at the close of the year in both the Tahsils of Merwara, were Rs. 1,23,414.

Prospecting licenses.

Mines.

228. During the year under report 2 licenses to prospect for mica and other minerals in the Ajmer sub-district were granted each for a year to Mr. Sorabji D. Vakil of Ajmer. Four licenses were issued in the Merwara sub-district, three to Mr. Sorabji D. Vakil for mica or other minerals and one to Messrs. Guy and Morley of Ajmer for mica.

Mining leases.

229. No lease was granted.

Mining contracts in Istimrari estates.

230. Five mining contracts were sanctioned in the Istimrari estates as noted below :—

No.	Name of estate.	In whose favour.	For what mineral	Period.
				Years.
1	Para . . .	Mr. D. C. Pillai of Sawar . .	Mica	5
2	Deolia Khurd . .	Messrs. G. F. Guy and W. C. Morley of Ajmer	Mica	5
3	Junia . . .	Ditto	Mica	5
4	Kadera . . .	Ditto	Mica	10
5	Tiswaria . .	Ditto	Mica	5

Trade.

231. The Returns of the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway, metre gauge show a decrease in the number of passengers booked from stations in Ajmer-Merwara from 1,485,626 in 1913-14 to 1,404,143 in the year 1914 1915.

232. The grain traffic of the two most important local trade centres for the year under report and the previous year is given below :—

	1913-14. Tons.	1914-15. Tons.
Ajmer—
Imports	14,627	14,027
Exports	231	285
Balance in favour of imports .	14,396	13,742
Beawar—
Imports	9,921	9,955
Exports	1,794	1,224
Balance in favour of imports .	8,127	8,731

233. Imports of cotton at Beawar were 709 tons only during the year under report, as compared with 8,940 tons in 1913-1914 and exports of raw cotton were 6,453 tons, as against 9,295 in 1913-1914.

Public Works.

234. During the year under review the total expenditure incurred on Public Works in the Ajmer-Merwara District (exclusive of Irrigation Works, Canals and Railways) amounted to Rs. 4,32,707, of which Rs. 4,07,899 were spent on works within the jurisdiction of the Commissioner as against Rs. 2,79,810 in 1913-14.

235. The chief works carried out during the year were :—

(1) Additions and alterations to the Todgarh Tahsil.

(2) Additions to boarding house attached to the Government College, Ajmer.

(3) Additions to cook-house for additional boarders, Government College, Ajmer.

(4) Additions and alterations to the Principal's house at the Mayo College, Ajmer.

(5) Improvement to water-supply to the Government College, Ajmer.

(6) Constructing Secondary Vernacular Schools in Ajmer-Merwara.

(7) Additions and alterations to Branch School, Ajmer.

(8) Acquisition of site for the construction of a new building for the High School at Ajmer.

(9) Widening miles 2, 3 and 4 of the Ajmer-Jaipur Road.

(10) Widening berms of Nasirabad-Deoli Road.

(11) Improvements to Beawar-Dawair Road in 4th furlong of 25th mile.

(12) Cutting of corners of the Beawar-Dawair Road.

236. The expenditure on Communications amounted to Rs. 1,76,750. The Revenue credited to Imperial Civil Works during 1914-15 on account of Ajmer-Merwara was Rs. 7,178 including Rs. 1,200, Rs. 298, and Rs. 660 on account of rent realized from the Agency House, Deoli Agency Surgeons' quarters, Deoli, and Cantonment Magistrate's Bungalow, Nasirabad, respectively.

Arboriculture Road-side three plantation.

237. At the beginning of the year, the total length of the roads with avenues was 92 miles. During the year 4 miles of the District Fund roads were planted with young trees and 7 miles 4 furlongs of the Nasirabad Deoli road were transferred to the Public Works Department, the trees having become established on them, thus the length of the avenue roads was 88 miles 4 furlongs at the close of the year. The number of trees planted to fill up blanks was 1,065. The total cost of planting and maintaining the trees on both Imperial and District Fund Roads amounted to Rs. 5,049 against Rs. 6,734 in the previous year. The decrease in expenditure is mainly due to no funds being allowed on "New work", "Tools and plant" and the consequent reduction of establishment on some roads for want of sufficient money being available for "maintenance".

238. The expenditure on Imperial roads was Rs. 2,513 and on District Fund roads Rs. 2,538.

239. The maintenance of nurseries cost Rs. 171 from Imperial and Rs. 138 from the District Fund.

240. The income derived from the sale of dry wood and babul pods, etc. amounted to Rs. 960 against Rs. 710 in the previous year.

Inspection of raingauges.

241. The number of raingauges maintained in Ajmer-Merwara during the year 1914-15 was 70 against 87 shown in the report for 1913-14, the decrease being chiefly due to the exclusion from the present report of the gauges kept in the stores of the Public Works Department for occasional use. All the raingauges were inspected by District Officers and found in efficient condition.

242. All except one are Symon's gauges.

PRODUCTION AND DISTRIBUTION.

Co-operative Credit Societies, Ajmer-Merwara (year ending the 30th June 1915).

243. This year (1914-15), coming as it did after a year of scarcity, was not suited for the registration of new societies. For this reason all efforts were directed towards the consolidation and improvement of the old ones. The number of Central Banks remained five as in the last year, while the number of agricultural societies rose from 352 to 355, and that of the members from 10,387 to 11,264.

244. The working Capital of the five Central Societies was. Rs 8,15,242 against Rs. 7,50,323, while that of the rural societies was Rs. 7,03,016 against Rs. 7,35,510, altogether Rs. 15,18,258. These figures include Rs. 5,84,515 received from the central banks against Rs. 6,60,927 last year, after deducting this amount, there remains a net working capital of all kinds of societies of Rs. 9,33,743 against Rs. 8,24,905. To the capital of the central societies Rs. 8,15,242) the Ajmer Central Bank contributed Rs. 5,41,730 against

Rs. 5,45 039; the Beawar Central Bank Rs. 2,02,893 against Rs. 1,77,934; the Nasirabad Co-operative Bank Rs. 48,710 against Rs. 17,488; the Pisangan Co-operative Bank Rs. 14,776 against Rs. 9,205, the Kekri Central Bank Rs. 7,133 against Rs 657.

The Ajmer Central Bank, Limited.

245. The number of the members of this Bank was 389 individual and 185 rural societies against 381 and 186 last year. The share capital of Rs. 1,00,000 has now been fully subscribed, Rs. 75,000 is the share capital of the individual members and Rs. 25,000 that of the agricultural societies. Besides this, Rs. 5,294 is held in deposit by the Central Bank on behalf of these agricultural societies, and this sum will be turned into shares as soon as the Ajmer Central Bank has approved the suggestion of the Local Government to increase their capital by Rs. 50,000 in the interests of the agricultural societies.

246. Loans issued during the year were as under:—

	Rs.
To individual members	41,975
To rural societies	2,89,720
To Pisangan Central Bank	1,750
Total ...	3,33,445

To this may be added the balance of the last year's loan:—

	Rs.
Individual members	54,557
Societies	4,09,647
Central Bank	25,000
	4,89,204

247. The total loans thus issued come to Rs. 8,22,649. Of this sum Rs. 4,67,735 were recovered during the year, leaving Rs. 3,54,914 as balance recoverable on the 30th June 1915.

The Beawar Central Bank, Limited.

248. The number of individual members rose from 58 to 64 and that of the societies from 93 to 122. The share capital of the individual members was Rs. 16,890 and of the agricultural societies Rs. 6,225, while the amount of loans, deposits and the reserve fund amounted to Rs. 1,79,768. The total working capital thus comes to Rs. 2,02,883. The loans issued during the year to the rural societies were Rs. 68,493; by adding the balance of the last year's loans, Rs. 1,76,529 the total issues come to Rs. 2,45,022. By deducting the recoveries Rs. 59,138 the balance recoverable on the 30th June 1915, amounted to Rs.1,85,884. The Beawar Central Bank has paid Rs. 3,333 to the Government towards the repayment of the grass takavi loan and Rs. 5,000 on account of the takavi loan given for reproductive purposes. This was according to the instalments fixed by the Collector.

The Nasirabad Co-operative Bank, Limited.

249. The working capital rose to Rs. 48,711 against Rs. 17,488 and consists of the share capital Rs. 6,525 and of the loans and deposits Rs. 42,186. During the year Rs. 80,083 were given to 32 societies and Rs. 3,300 to individual members. By adding to this last year's loans of Rs. 16,723 the total comes to Rs. 1,00,106. By deducting from this the recoveries Rs. 52,319 the balance on the 30th June, remains Rs. 47,787.

The Pisangan Co-operative Bank, Limited.

250. This bank has financed seven rural societies during the year to the extent of Rs. 16,731 as against Rs. 9,205 to five societies last year. The working capital was Rs. 14,776 and consisted of share capital of Rs. 675 and loans and deposits Rs. 14,101. The loans issued during the year were Rs. 16,731

Balance of the last year was Rs. 9,221. Total Rs. 25,952. Recoveries during the year Rs. 11,071. The balance recoverable on the 30th June 1915 was Rs. 14,881.

The Kekri Central Bank, Limited.

251. The working capital was Rs. 7,133 as against Rs. 657 and consists of shares worth Rs. 1,125 and deposits and loans Rs. 6,000. It has financed 7 rural societies against one rural society last year.

	Rs.
252. Loans issued during the year	10,165
Add to this last year's balance	307
Total	10,472
Deduct recoveries during the year	5,397
Balance recoverable on the 30th June 1915	5,075

The Agricultural Societies.

253. Of the 355 societies 6 did little or no work, while 5 depended on private sources for finance, the remaining 344 societies were financed by the Central Banks as noted below:—

	Rs.
Ajmer	171
Beawar	127
Pisangan	7
Kekri	7
Nasirabad	32

254. The working capital of all the Agricultural societies was Rs. 7,03,016. Loans issued during the year to members of the rural societies in the Ajmer district amounted to Rs. 3,85,911 and in Merwara to Rs. 70,026 in all Rs. 4,55,937. The balance of the last year's loan was Rs. 7,07,383, the total loans thus amounted to Rs. 11,63,320. Of these Rs. 4,46,231 were recovered in the Ajmer District and Rs. 42,499 from Merwara. Total Rs. 4,88,730 leaving a recoverable balance of Rs. 6,74,590, against Ajmer Rs. 4,44,275, and against Merwara Rs. 2,30,315. Considering the after effects of the scarcity, the recovery of the loans appears to be satisfactory.

255. The net profit of all the five central societies was Rs. 21,885 against Rs. 23,026.

256. The amount of the reserve fund was Rs. 14,330 against Rs. 7,372 last year.

257. The charges on account of the Registrar's administrative staff amounted to Rs. 8,164 as against Rs. 8,802.

258. Three of the societies in the Merwara District were sued by the Beawar Central Bank and their claims were decreed.

259. The purposes for which the loans were given are detailed below:—

	4,55,937

SECTION V.

REVENUE AND FINANCE.

A.—IMPERIAL.

(1) Land and Water Revenue.

Character of the season (vide statement No. 31).

260. The year under report which includes the accounts for the rabi harvest of 1321 and the kharif of 1322 Fasli, was more favourable than last year. The average rainfall of the year was 20·5 inches, the normal being 21 inches. The outturn of the rabi harvest was fair and that of the kharif good.

Variable assessment.

261. The system of fluctuating assessment in the 46 selected villages has continued to work well.

262. The following table compares the assessment made in 1914-15 with the standard revenue fixed for these villages :—

Tahsil.	Standard.		Total.	Actual collection for 1914-15.		Total.
	Land revenue.	Water revenue.		Land revenue.	Water revenue.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Ajmer	15,411	1,517	16,928	13,673	731	14,404
Beawar	2,800	1,054	3,854	1,690	140	1,830
TOTAL .	18,211	2,571	20,782	15,363	D 871	16,234*

* Includes Rs. 234 on account of Akhri Jagir share, the net income is Rs. 16,000.

263. As compared with the standard there has been an appreciable decrease in the amount assessed, which is due to the fact that the cultivation in the rabi of 1321 Fasli, (1914) was restricted and a good deal of the dry area in the Beawar Tahsil failed in the kharif. The demand for both the harvests was recovered in full.

Demand and collection, etc., land and water revenue, vide statement No. 32.

264. The current demand on account of land and water revenue for the year amounted to Rs. 3,54,253 against Rs. 3,42,395 for the year 1913-14 as detailed below :—

	1914-15.	1913-14.
	Rs.	Rs.
Khalsa villages	2,23,519	2,12,910
Variable villages	16,000	14,751
Istimrari area	1,14,734	1,14,734
TOTAL .	3,54,253	3,42,395

265. The reason for the increase is that the kharif harvest was good.

266. Including the arrears of previous years the total demand aggregated Rs. 4,30,258 against Rs. 3,74,424 for the year 1913-14.

267. Out of this demand a sum of Rs. 67,290 on account of kharif and rabi 1321 Fasli was remitted.

268. Including the arrears of previous years the total recovery amounted to Rs. 3,01,612 against Rs. 2,90,235 for the year 1913-14 as detailed below :—

	1914-15.	1913-14.
	Rs.	Rs.
Khalsa villages	1,82,817	1,81,678
Variable villages	16,000	14,751
Istimrari area	1,02,795	93,806
TOTAL .	3,01,612	2,90,235

269. Besides this a surplus amount of Rs. 136 was recovered during the year under report on account of collections for the next year.

270. The balance of land and water revenue which remained outstanding on 31st March 1915 was Rs. 61,356, of which Rs. 58,692 relate to the Istimrari jama and the remaining Rs. 2,664 to Khalsa villages of Ajmer-Merwara. Out of the Istimrari jama outstanding the recovery of Rs. 30,098 was suspended till 1st January 1916.

271. The miscellaneous income during the year amounted to Rs. 8,471 against Rs. 14,983 in 1913-14, the reason of this decrease is that the last year's figures included a sum of Rs. 5,254 on account of succession nazrana recovered from the Thakur of Nagola. Land revenue miscellaneous receipts, vide statement No. 32.

272. The retail prices of the principal food grains, barley and maize were as follows :— Prices.

	Barley.		Maize.
	Highest.	Lowest.	Highest.	Lowest.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Ajmer Tahsil Seers	10 2	11 8	10 0	12 12
Beawar „ „	10 12	11 12	11 0	13 12
Todgarh „ „	10 8	11 12	10 12	15 0

273. The prices of barley and maize generally continued high throughout the year.

274. The table below compares the results of the enumeration of Agricultural stock during the year under report with the 2 previous years :— Agricultural stock.

	1912-13.	1913-14.	1914-15.
Cows and bullocks . .	1,88,563	1,90,757	1,84,244
Buffaloes	26,494	35,114	46,038
Sheep and goats . . .	2,29,848	2,44,768	2,66,020

275. There was some small-pox and foot and mouth disease in some villages of Ajmer and Todgarh Tahsils. Fodder.

276. Local fodder was generally available.

277. Boundary pillars and survey and plot marks were inspected by the Revenue officials from time to time. One hundred and eighty two pillars and survey and plot marks were found damaged at the time of inspection and steps were, as usual, taken to put them in order. Boundary marks and disputes.

278. The number of boundary cases pending during the year under report was 13. These cases, except one, have already been proposed to be made over to a special boundary settlement officer as soon as one is appointed.

279. In accordance with the rules regarding the correct maintenance of the Khasra and maps 3781 corrections were made during the year under report. The Tahsildars and Naib Tahsildars constantly made inspecting tours in the district and spent on an average 71 days on tour in the Ajmer Tahsil and 95 and 136 days in the Beawar and Todgarh Tahsils respectively. Records and staff.

280. The Ajmer, Beawar and Todgarh Tahsils were inspected by the Commissioner and the Extra Assistant Commissioners.

281. One hundred and seventy seven writs, 31 warrants of arrest and 6 warrants of attachment were issued for the recovery of land and water revenue and Takavi in Khalsa villages. In Ajmer Tahsil, 3 persons were kept under restraint in default of payment and one in Beawar Tahsil. Fifty-seven warrants of attachment were issued against the Istimrardars for recovery of revenue and other dues. Revenue processes.

Mutation cases.

282. In the Ajmer Tahsil 4,325 mutation cases were instituted and disposed of during the year under report. In Merwara, the number of institutions and disposals of such cases was 1,034 and 2,582 respectively.

Acquisition of land for public purposes and reduction of Government land revenue.

283. The statement below gives the area of land acquired for public purposes and the amount of compensation paid therefor :—

Number.	Name of village.	Area of land acquired.	Amount of compensation paid.	Amount of land revenue reduced.	Purpose.	Remarks.
		B. B. B.	Rs. A. P.	Rs. A. P.

6	Ajesar, Minor, Istimrari .	6—8—11	.....	.....	Ditto . .

Alienation of Government land.

284. There was no case of alienation of Government land during the year under report.

Loans to Talukdars.

285. Loans aggregating Rs. 50,665 with interest at 6¼ per cent. were granted during the year under report for discharging the liabilities of 3 Talukdars.

286. Out of the demand of Rs. 15,217-13-3 (Principal and Interest) on account of instalments which fell due during the year under report, a sum of Rs. 5,090-10-5 was recovered, leaving a balance of Rs. 10,127-2-10 at the close of the year. Besides this a sum of Rs. 5-12-2 was recovered on account of overdue interest.

Land Alienation Regulation.

287. In accordance with the provisions of the Ajmer Alienation of Land Regulation III of 1914, 112 applications for sale of land were received during the year under report, of which 53 were granted and 59 rejected. The number of applications for lease of land for a term exceeding 20 years was 5, of which 2 were granted and 3 left pending at the close of the year. Under section 16 of the Regulation, a decree was transferred to the Collector by a Civil Court, in which the land was placed in the decree-holder's possession for a term of 7 years. Most of the applications for permission to sell land which were granted related to land within Municipal limits.

(2) Opium, excise and drugs.

Excise-(vide Statements Nos. 36-40 C).

288. The gross receipts from excise, opium and drugs amounted to Rs. 3,33,807 against Rs. 3,57,233 in the preceding year, showing a decrease of Rs. 23,426 which is chiefly noticeable under the head of "country spirit." The expenditure on the excise establishment was Rs. 19,198 as compared with Rs. 18,687 in the preceding year. The net profit on the year's working thus amounted to Rs. 3,14, 609 against Rs. 3,38,546 in the year 1913-14.

289. The net excise revenue per head of the population was 10 annas 7 pies against 11 annas 4 pies in the preceding year.

Country spirits.

290. The year under review is the 7th year of the contract supply system. The rates at which country spirits are supplied by the contractor are as follows :—

	Mohwa.		Gur.
	25° U. P. Re. A. P.	50° U. P. Re. A. P.	25° U. P. Re. A. P.	50° U. P. Re. A. P.
Rate per gallon	0 13 6	0 9 0	0 15 0	0 10 0

291. The receipts under the head "country spirits" amounted to Rs. 2,79,929 as compared with Rs. 3,39,054 in the year 1913-14. The total issues of country liquor from the Ajmer Distillery were 45,682·8 proof gallons as against 50856.4 gallons in 1913-14. The decrease in consumption was due partly to the high prices of food grains and partly to a local reduction in Ajmer, Nasirabad and Deoli, through the removal of troops and in Ajmer also on account of the Railway Workshops working short-time. The still head duty on spirits issued for consumption in urban and rural areas was as follows :—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Urban area	4	6	0	per proof gallon.
Rural area	3	12	0	„ „ „

292. The number of country liquor shops in the district was the same as last year, viz., 128. One shop at Kanpura was closed from the 1st January 1915, there being very little demand for liquor there.

293. The question of restricting the issue of temporary licenses for the sale of spirits at fairs and festivals was kept in view, but no change in the present practice appeared necessary.

294. The privilege of tapping and vending tari is held by a contractor for Rs. 500 for a period of two years. 280 trees were tapped, the yield being 7,451 gallons of tari. Tari.

295. The number of licenses issued for the sale of foreign liquor was the same as last year, viz., 19. The license fees for the wholesale and retail vend of foreign spirits and foreign fermented liquor amounted to Rs. 2,886 against Rs. 1,749 in the preceding year. The increase is due to the fact that the fees for most of the licenses for the year 1914-15, which should have been collected in advance in the year 1913-14 were collected and credited into the Treasury during the year 1914-15. Statistics showing the wholesale and retail vend and consumption of foreign liquors are given in appendices 40-B and 40-C. Foreign liquors.

296. The receipts under opium amounted to Rs. 29,998 against Rs. 30,825 in 1913-14. Opium weighing 47 maunds, 16 seers, 12 chataks, 3 tolas and 4 mashas was imported for consumption in Ajmer-Merwara, the import duty realized being Rs. 7,660, against 39 maunds, 16 seers, 12 chataks, and 6 mashas and Rs. 6,308 respectively in the preceding year. Opium.

297. The total number of licenses issued during the year for the wholesale vend of opium was the same as last year, viz., 10.

298. The number of shops for the retail vend of opium was 40, viz., 8 in the urban and 32 in the rural areas.

299. The contraband opium sent to Ghazipur factory amounted to 2 seers 6 chataks, 3 tolas and 6 mashas.

300. The receipts from hemp drugs came to Rs. 20,358 against Rs. 20,239 in the preceding year. Hemp drugs.

301. The number of shops for the retail vend of intoxicating drugs was the same as in the last year, viz., 16.

302. During the year 40 persons were prosecuted under the Excise Act, of whom 30 were convicted, under the Opium Act 37 persons were prosecuted, 35 convictions resulting. 2 chandu den-keepers were prosecuted and convicted. The number of chandu dens was 9 as against 8 in the preceding year. 44 persons against 89 last year were convicted under the Police Act for drunkenness during the year under report, vide statement No. 40-A. Prosecutions.

303. Owing to the present War the price of illicit cocaine has gone up. This has led to a considerable decrease in smuggling, and to the adulteration of the drug with antipyrin and other drugs of a similar nature before sale. 2 ounces 14 drams and 23 grains of cocaine were imported under the permits granted by the Collector. 2 lbs. 9 oz. 6 drams and 10 grains of cocaine were confiscated during the year. Cocaine traffic.

304. 25 persons were prosecuted for possession or sale of cocaine. Of these 23 were convicted and 2 acquitted.

General remarks.

305. The Excise Intelligence Bureau which was established in May 1913 has done useful work in systematizing the detection of breaches of the Excise Regulations, and several cases of interest to other Provinces have been reported. These are, however, not sufficient in number to justify the issue of a separate gazette for the district. A criminal register is maintained in accordance with Mr. Comber's suggestion.

306. The new Excise Regulation (I of 1915) came into force in February 1915.

(3) Stamps.

Vide Statement No. 41.

307. The gross income from stamps amounted to Rs. 1,71,798 against Rs. 1,69,241 in the year 1913-14 as detailed below :—

	1913-14. Rs.	1914-15. Rs.	Difference. Rs.
Judicial Stamps . . .	1,18,123	1,33,513	+ 15,390
Non-Judicial Stamps . . .	51,118	38,285	— 12,833
	1,69,241	1,71,798	+ 2,557

308. The increase of Rs. 15,390 in the sale of Judicial Stamps is due to the institution of a larger number of suits while the decrease of Rs. 12,833 in the sale of Non-Judicial Stamps may be attributed to the introduction of the Land Alienation Regulation in the district.

309. No prosecution took place for any breach of the stamp law, nor was anything recovered on account of pauper suits.

310. The number of stamp vendors was the same as in the last year, namely, 32. The discount paid to them amounted to Rs. 2,667 as against Rs. 3,186 in 1913-14.

311. The total charges in connection with the working of the stamp department amounted to Rs. 16,704 as compared with Rs. 19,098 in the previous year.

(4) Income Tax.

312. The number of persons assessed to income tax during the year under report was 835 against 882 last year.

313. The final demand and collections as compared with those for 1913-14 are as follows :—

	1914-15.	1913-14.
Final demand	65,787	79,065
Collections	58,064	77,702

314. The gross collections including arrears amounted to Rs. 60,115 as against Rs. 79,894, in the previous year as shown below :—

	1914-15.	1913-14.
Tax	58,064	77,702
Arrears	2,051	2,180
Penalties	...	12
	60,115	79,894

315. There were no prosecutions during the year under report. The cost of collection was Rs. 1,207 (including refunds Rs. 111) against Rs. 1,634 last year and the net profit accruing to Government Rs. 58,908 compared with Rs. 78,260 in the preceding year.

316. The number of objections under section 26 of the Act was 56, of which 2 were under Part II and 54 were under Part IV. Of these 14 were allowed, 25 were partly accepted, and 17 were rejected. Four applications for revision were presented under section 27 of the Act to the Commissioner from the orders of the Extra Assistant Commissioner, Ajmer. Of these three were rejected and one remains pending.

317. The Extra Assistant Commissioners of Ajmer and Merwara and the Sub-Divisional Officer, Kekri, exercised the powers of Collector of Income Tax for the Ajmer, Merwara and Kekri sub-divisions respectively.

318. The collections under parts I, II, III and IV of the Income Tax Act were respectively 32, 93, 6·56, 1·59, and 45·46 per cent. of the entire assessment in Ajmer-Merwara.

319. The incidence of Income Tax per head of population in the city of Ajmer calculated on the amount collected during the year was annas 3½ as against annas 5 in the previous year.

B.—Revenue and Finance other than Imperial.

320. The year opened with a cash balance of Rs. 55,451. Receipts amounted to Rs. 52,531 as against Rs. 51,237. The corresponding figures of expenditure are Rs. 47,796 and Rs. 42,108 respectively. The receipts increased by Rs. 1,293 and the expenditure by Rs. 5,688. District Fund excluding Dispensary Fund, vide statements Nos. 43 to 45.

321. The increase in receipts is mainly due to the recovery of Capitation tax on the sale of animals at the Pushkar fair which was not realised during 1913-14 owing to the abandonment of the fair on account of scarcity.

322. The increase in expenditure is chiefly accounted for by the fact that more money was spent during the year 1914-15 on roadside arboriculture, repairs to roads in the district and expenditure in connection with the Pushkar fair.

323. The Veterinary Dispensary and Shoeing Forge at Ajmer continued to work satisfactorily.

324. The bull at Jethana having been found unfit for stud work was made over to the Dharmada Committee at Ajmer in the middle of January 1915. Thus there remained only one bull at Ramsar which covered 112 cows during 1914-15 as against 24 in 1913-14.

325. The closing balance of the District Fund on the 31st March 1915 stood at Rs. 60,186 as compared with Rs. 55,451 on the same date in 1913-14.

326. The Board held two meetings during the year.

Local Funds.

327. The cash balance at the credit of the Dispensary Fund at the beginning of the year was Rs. 4,786. The receipts amounted to Rs. 5,763 against Rs. 10,622 in 1913-14, showing a decrease of Rs. 4,859 which is due to the fact that last year certain arrears of contributions were recovered, and this year some subscribers have not paid their annual contributions. Dispensary Fund.

328. The expenditure was Rs. 8,519 against Rs. 8,685. The year closed with a cash balance of Rs. 2,030 as detailed below :—

	Rs.
Ajmer	518
Kekri	1,175
Pisangan	343
Ramsar	521
Beawar	309
Todgarh (deficit)	836
	2,030

329. The cash balance of Rs. 1,150 to the credit of the Deolia Dispensary which was closed on the 1st January 1913 has, during the year under report, been transferred to the account of the Ajmer Victoria Hospital.

330. The Todgarh Dispensary again shows a debit balance of Rs. 836, against Rs. 904, last year.

331. The present time being inopportune, the application for help from Imperial Funds, referred to in the last year's report, could not be made.

332. The receipts amounted to Rs. 11,739 as compared with Rs. 14,666 in 1913-14. The decrease of Rs. 2,927 is due to short recovery of Chowkidari cess and contribution from Istimrardars. Chowkidari Fund.

333. The expenditure was Rs. 15,740 as against Rs. 12,144 in 1913-14, the increase of Rs. 3,596 being due to the charge of Rs. 4,700 incurred in the purchase of Government Promissory Notes to the face value of Rs. 5,000.

Police Chanda Fund.

334. The receipts were Rs. 2,588 as against Rs. 1,524 in 1913-14 showing an increase of Rs. 1,064 which was due to the recovery in 1914-15 of a sum of Rs. 1,000 which was advanced in 1913-14 for the purchase of grass for remounts. The expenditure came to Rs. 2,718 as against Rs. 3,166 in the previous year. The decrease of Rs. 448 is due mainly to the fact that no advance was made in 1914-15 as was done in 1913-14.

Nasirabad Cantonment Fund.

335. The total receipts amounted to Rs. 74,874 as compared with Rs. 64,258 in 1913-14, the increase of Rs. 10,616 being chiefly due to the Government grant of Rs. 8,990 for education purposes. The expenditure totalled Rs. 66,740 as against Rs. 66,012 in the preceding year. The increase of Rs. 728 is mainly due to the grant of compensation for dearness of food grain. The closing balance at the close of the year was Rs. 27,207.

SECTION VI.

PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

336. The number of educational institutions at the end of the year under report was 245 against 251 in the previous year. Three new village primary schools for boys and one European Primary School have been added to the list of public schools while the number of private schools has decreased by 10.* This apparent decrease is the result of non-receipt of statistics for certain Mission schools in Merwara. General—vide tables at appendices Nos. 46 to 52.

*Boys' schools decreased by	2
Girls' schools increased by	12
Net decrease	10

337. The number of pupils in public and private institutions increased bringing the total of both sexes to 13,612 against 13,368 in the previous year. Of these the pupils at public institutions numbered 8,586 and those in private institutions 5,026 against 8,350 and 5,038 last year. The percentage of the population of school-going age receiving instruction was 29·3 among males and 5·3 among females as compared with 29·58 and 4·38 respectively in the year 1913-14.

338. The average number on the rolls and the average daily attendance at institutions maintained by the Educational Department were 4,534·29 and 3,676·08 respectively against 4,285·76 and 3,613·36 in 1913-14.

339. The total expenditure on public instruction rose from Rs. 2,24,922 in 1913-14 to Rs. 2,73,866 in the year under report. The increase is mainly due to the special building grants of Rs. 20,280 to the Husband Memorial High School and Rs. 8,990 to the Nasirabad Mission High School paid during the year. The details of expenditure as also the sources from which it was met are given below :—

—	From Imperial Revenues.	From Local and Municipal funds.	From fees and private bodies.	Total.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Arts Colleges	20,031	2,625	6,475	29,131

Miscellaneous	...	464	...	464
TOTAL	1,46,790	20,162	1,06,914	2,73,866

340. The above table does not include the sum of Rs. 76,216 expended on the acquisition of land for the new Government High School building at Ajmer.

341. The Government of India has sanctioned an additional recurring grant of Rs. 10,000 a year. This will admit of further extension of primary schools and of improving the staff of the existing Vernacular Schools.

342. Mr. E. F. Harris, B.A., continued to hold charge of the combined office of Principal of the College and Inspector of Schools. Mr. A. Miller, M.A., Vice Principal, went on furlough on 16th July 1914 and Mr. V. N. Godbole, M.A., officiated as Vice Principal. Mr. H. M. C. Harris, B.A., L. C. P., joined as Head Master of the High School on 4th May 1914. Government College and Government Schools, Ajmer.

343. The number of pupils on the rolls of the College on 31st March 1915 was 109 against 83 on the same date in 1914. That on the rolls of the High School was 475 and the Model Vernacular School 213 against 497 and 207 respectively in 1914.

344. The results of the different public examinations are given below :—

Examination.	Presented.	Passed.
B. A. Examination	5	3
B. Sc. „	4	...
Intermediate Examination	40	27
Matriculation „	54	42
Middle „	45	28

345. The question of improving the staff of the College has become more pressing with the increase in the number of pupils on the rolls and is receiving due consideration.

Aided Schools.

346. The number of Aided Schools rose from 13 to 15, the increase being due to the Husband Memorial High School at Ajmer and the Railway Europeon Primary School at Gangapur being added to the list of Government Aided Schools. The number of pupils enrolled at these Schools on 31st March 1915 was 2,499 against 2,250 on the same date in 1914.

347. The Government grant paid during the year under report was Rs. 50,358 (including Rs. 29,270 on account of special building grants to the Husband Memorial High School; Ajmer and Mission High School, Nasirabad) against Rs. 21,013 paid in 1913-14.

348. These Schools are thus classified.—

	High Schools.	Middle Schools.	Primary Schools.	Total.
European Schools	2	—	5	7
Anglo-Vernacular Boys' Schools.	5	1	—	6
Girls' Schools.	—	1	1	2
Total.	7	2	6	15

Training Schools.

349. The only Government training institution is the Ajmer Normal School. It trains teachers for the Vernacular Schools in Ajmer-Merwara as well as for Schools in the various Native States in Rajputana that contribute towards its maintenance. It has a competent staff of teachers and suitable Boarding House arrangements. There is also a Model Vernacular School attached to it where lessons in the practice of teaching are regularly given.

350. The number of pupils on the rolls of the Normal School on 31st March 1915 was 27 against 23 last year. Of the 14 students who were sent up for the Vernacular Teachers' Certificate Examination of the United Provinces 6 have passed.

351. The United Free Church of Scotland Mission have their own Normal School at Beawar, but the standard attained there is no higher than that of the Vernacular Final Examination.

352. For training female teachers, the Christain Girl's Boarding School at Nasirabad has a training class attached to it.

Girls' Schools.

353. There was no change in the number of Government Girls' Schools, which stood at 6. The number of pupils on the rolls of these schools on the 31st March 1915 was 191 against 200 and the average daily attendance was 140 against 146 last year. With the exception of the Central Girls' School at Ajmer which had 6 teachers and 61 pupils all the other Schools are very elementary with one teacher in each.

354. Besides the Government Schools there were three other public schools under private management with 313 pupils on the rolls on 31st March 1915, and 30 private Schools under private management with 868 pupils on their rolls. Of the former the Methodist Episcopal Mission Girls' Boarding School at Ajmer and the Christain Girls' Boarding School at Nasirabad teach up to the Anglo-Vernacular Middle Standard, the rest are all elementary Schools with the exception of three that teach up to Class IV (Upper Primary Stage).

Village Schools for boys.

355. The number of Village Schools for boys was 78 including 9 Lower Primary Schools (formerly included in Secondary Schools but now provided with staff and building separate from the Secondary Schools to which they are attached) and the three new Schools opened during the year at Para, Mangarh and Bara Khan. These Schools are graded as follows :—

	Vernacular Final.	Upper Primary.	Lower Primary.	Total.
Ajmer Circle.	5	16	24	45
Merwara „	4	1	19	33
Total	9	26	43	78

356. The daily average number on the rolls and the daily average attendance rose to 3,510 and 2,774 against 3,282 and 2,721 respectively in 1913-14.

357. Thirty seven students from the Village Secondary Schools and seven from the Beawar Municipal School, which is also under the direct supervision of the Inspector of Schools, appeared at the Vernacular Final Examination and 25 passed.

School sports.

358. The Rajputana Schools sports were held at Ajmer during the week ending 30th January 1915 at which 24 schools competed.

Rajputana Middle School Examination.

359. The annual Rajputana Middle School Examination was as usual conducted at Ajmer by the Inspector of Schools. The total number of examinees was 484 (470 from 37 schools in Ajmer-Merwara and various states in Rajputana and 14 private candidates) against 411 (396 from 31 schools and 15 private candidates) in the previous year. Of these 285 passed against 163 last year.

360. The four Government Scholarships of Rs. 5 each were drawn during the year under report by the pupils of the following Schools :—

Ajmer Government High School 3

" Dayanand Ashram Anglo-Vernacular High School . . 1

SECTION VII.

GENERAL (MISCELLANEOUS).

Pushkar Fair.

361. The annual religious fair at Pushkar was held between the 29th October and the 2nd November 1914. The attendance of pilgrims was not large and was estimated at between 60,000 and 70,000. In Marwar the kharif harvest was late and the people were busy with sowings for the Rabi, and many well-to-do persons from other parts of India were prevented from attending the fair owing to the war.

362. As usual a Committee was appointed to conduct the general arrangements for the fair and the collection of the capitation fee on the sale of animals. The arrangements were carried out excellently. The sanitary precautions were all that could be desired and no epidemic disease of any kind broke out during the fair. The police arrangements were framed with intelligence and foresight and carried out with such efficiency that no serious crime occurred during the fair.

363. The horse show and cattle fair, as usual, formed a prominent part of the festivities.

364. The visitors displayed keen interest in the Agricultural and Industrial Exhibition, which was the 3rd of the series.

365. The details of the sales of horses, cattle and camels were as follows :—

	Number brought to the fair.	Number sold.	Average price.	Highest price.	Lowest price.
			Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Horses	1,161	437	102	850	3
Cattle	10,785	2,959	44	310	5
Camels	3,534	2,700	77	349	9

Urs Fair.

366. The annual Urs Fair in connection with the shrine of the Dargah Khawaja Moinuddin Chishti at Ajmer was held from the 27th May to 1st June 1914. The attendance was below the average.

367. The usual police arrangements were made and no crimes other than the usual petty thefts occurred nor did any disturbance take place. Ring games and other forms of gambling except watch games were not allowed.

368. No out-break of epidemic disease occurred.

Beawar Tejaji Fair.

369. The Tejaji Fair at Beawar was held on the 30th and 31st August 1914. The gathering at the fair was estimated at between 7,000 and 8,000 persons. A cattle show was held and rewards amounting to Rs. 58 were given.

Kekri Tejaji Fair.

370. The Tejaji Fair at Kekri was held from the 28th to the 30th August 1914. About 8,000 persons including visitors from the neighbouring Native States attended.

Printing Presses vide statement No. 53.

371. At the beginning of the year 1914, there were 12 printing presses. Of these, one named Rajisthan Press was closed during the year under report. Including the Railway Press working in Ajmer the number of presses at the close of the year 1914 was 12.

372. 2 newspapers and 7 periodicals in all (including one entitled "Woodstock Quadrangle" newly started) were issued from these presses during the year.

373. 6 books in English, 65 in Hindi, 2 in Gujrati, 1 in Hindi and English, 2 in Sanskrit, 1 in Hindi and Marwari, and 2 in Sanskrit and Hindi were printed during the year.

Bhumias.

374. The District Magistrate, Ajmer-Merwara, conducted the usual ceremony of receiving the Bhumias and their Nazrana on the 22nd June 1914, the day appointed for the official observance of the Birthday of His Majesty the King-Emperor.

375. Out of the total demand on account of Nazrana amounting to Rs. 3,961, a sum of Rs. 3,942 was realised at the Darbar, leaving a balance of Rs. 19 outstanding.

376. Five Bhumias were fined for having unsatisfactory equipment.

377. During the year 1914-15 there was one case of Treasure Trove in the Ajmer Sub-Division. Some gold and silver ornaments and 30 British Coins of 1840 and 1862 tied in a piece of cloth and buried in the ground were discovered in Ajmer City (Daulat Bagh). Treasure Trove.

378. The case is pending in the Court of the Collector of Ajmer-Merwara.

379. The number of Emigration Depôts during the year 1914-15 was 2 as in the previous year. Forty-five persons were registered at Ajmer for Colonial emigration as given below, as compared with 59 persons in the preceding year:— Emigration.

	Emigrants	Dependants	Total
For Trinidad	44	1	45

380. Out of this number, 16 were released or rejected by the Protector of Emigrants.

381. Only 5 of the 45 persons registered belonged to Ajmer-Merwara.

382. Both Depôts worked only from June to August 1914 and remained closed for the rest of the year.

TOTAL	8,181	7,173	7,353	10,376	3,940	5,856	31	549	232

NOTES—Column 1.—(1) "Attempts" should be entered immediately after the offences to which they relate.
(2) "Abetments" should be included with the substantive offences abetted.
(3) When giving the list of special and local laws against which offences have been committed, care should be taken to specify the title of each Act quoted, as well as its number and year. An Act of a local legislature should be distinguished by initial letters placed after the number of the Act.

Column 2.—All offences (cases) of which information was given, complaint made, or cognizance taken under Chapters IV, V, XIV, XVI, C. P. C., for the first time during the year, are to be shown, although some of the charges may not have been prosecuted, or may have turned out to be false.

Column 3.—This column should be the total of column 2, less the number of cases dismissed under section 203, C. P. C., and less all other cases in which a Magistrate declared that the charge was false, and that the offence never occurred, or which were dismissed as frivolous and vexatious, and in which the complainant was fined under section 250, C. P. C.

Column 5.—This column should be the total of columns 6 to 9, plus column 9 of previous statement.

Column 8.—Persons transferred from one court to another in the same Province are not to be entered in this column.

Column 9.—A note should be added in the column of remarks showing respectively the number of persons who died, escaped or were transferred.

General Cases committed or referred should not be included in this statement by the committing or referring Magistrates. The results of the trials in these cases should be shown by the Courts to which the cases are committed or referred. If the total of column 7 of Statement 4 be deducted from the total of column 2 of that Statement, the difference should correspond with the total of column 5 of this statement.

Notes.—Column 1.—Sub-head "Court of Sessions."—Includes cases decided by Sessions Judges on reference under Section 123, C. P. C.

Column 1.—Sub-head "Superior Courts."—Includes cases decided by the High Courts on reference under Sections 307 and 374, C. P. C.

Column 2.—That is, the total of the entries in columns 3 to 8. The cases of persons transferred from one Court to another in the same province will appear only against the Court by which decided, or in which pending at the end of the year if not decided.

Column 3.—A note against the figure for each Court should be made in the column of remarks showing separately how many accused persons were transferred to other provinces.

Columns 5 and 6.—Persons whose cases were referred to a Superior Court for higher punishment, for orders under Section 562, Criminal Procedure Code, or for confirmation of sentence will be entered in column 7, and not in columns 5 and 6, against the Court making the reference. Against the Court receiving the reference they will be shown as convicted or acquitted, according to the orders passed by it, or as pending, if orders have not been passed.

Column 7.—These cases will also be shown against the Magistrates who made the reference, entry being made as directed above.

Column 8.—An insane accused who has been sent to a lunatic asylum should be kept on the file and entered in this column until he has been tried and either convicted or acquitted.

Column 9.—Omit cases in which the accused died, escaped, or was transferred.

Column 10.—In calculating the duration before the Magistrates' Courts, the starting point to be taken is not the date of complaint or information, but that of apprehension, or attendance on summons or otherwise of the accused. As regards Courts of Sessions, the actual number of days occupied should be given, commencing from the date of commitment. Cases in which the accused has absconded before arrest or has escaped from custody should be taken off the file till the persons implicated appear again.

General.—The figures in this statement should agree with those of Statement No. ? and should include nothing else.

NOTES.—Column 1, Sub-head "Courts of Sessions."—Includes cases decided by Sessions Judges on reference under Sections 31, 34 and 123, C. P. C.

Column 1, Sub-head "Superior Courts."—Includes cases decided by the High Court on reference under Sections 307 and 374, C. P. C.

Column 19.—Includes fines realized during the year, though imposed in previous years. This column is intended to show the realized portion of fines imposed by officers in the exercise of original jurisdiction only.

Column 20.—Represents compensation awarded to complainants under Section 545, Act X of 1882. These awards should also be shown under the head fines, "imposed" and "realized" in columns 18 and 19, for they form part of such fines.

General.—(1) The total of columns 5, 6 and 11 should correspond with the total of columns 21 to 25 (both inclusive), and the total of column 8 should correspond with the totals of columns 12 to 17 inclusive.

(2) This statement is meant to exhibit every sentence passed, and, where two penalties are inflicted on the same offender, to exhibit them both. Further to reconcile the number of persons entered in this statement as punished, with the number entered as convicted in Statement 4, it is necessary to note cases such as those in which fulfilment of contract is ordered under Act XIII of 1859 in a footnote. As regards persons whose cases were referred for higher punishment or for confirmation of sentence, the punishment, if any, sanctioned by the higher Courts should be entered against such higher Court, and not against the Court making the reference.

Notes.—Column 2.—Total of columns 3 to 12. Cases transferred from one Court to another in the same Province will appear only against the Court by which decided, or in which pending at the end of the year, if not decided. The words "Applicants for revision" in the heading of this column should be held to include only accused persons on whose behalf an application for revision is made, or in whose interest the Magistrate or Judge may take steps to obtain revision on his own motion. Where such application is made, or such steps are taken, on behalf of a complainant, the fact should be noted, with the number of complainants concerned, in the column of Remarks. In the latter cases, the accused persons against whom the application is made, though not appearing in this column, will fall into their proper places in columns 3 to 13, according to the result of such application. This note is held to apply also to cases dealt with by the High Court, on review of return.

Column 5.—Appeals dismissed under Section 423, C. P. C., should be entered in this column.

Column 9.—Orders of discharge set aside by a Superior Court under Section 436, C. P. C., should be entered in this column.

Column 10.—When a sentence is reversed or proceedings quashed on appeal and a new trial or further enquiry is at the same time ordered, the Appellate Court should not fill in column 8 as well as column 10 or column 9 as well as column 10, in each case respectively, but should make the entry in column 10 only.

Column 12.—Duration of appeals, applications for revision, or references should be calculated thus:—

(1) Appeals from date of receipt in office of the petition of appeal;
(2) Applications for revision—from the date of application;
(3) Cases dealt with by the Court otherwise than on application—from date of the order calling for the records; and
(4) Cases sent to the High Court by Lower Courts for revision—from the date of the letter from the Court making the reference.

General.—Persons whose appeals were rejected under Section 421, Criminal Procedure Code, should be entered in column 4, in which should also be included applicants for revision whose cases the Courts have refused to submit to the High Court. In columns 5 to 10, should be shown, opposite the sub-heads for Magistrate of District and Courts of Sessions persons whose cases were disposed of by those Courts without reference to the High Court, and in column 11 all persons whose cases these Courts referred to the High Court.

Notes.—Column 2.—Total of the entries in columns 3 to 13. Cases transferred from one Court to another in the same Province will appear only against the Court by which decided, or in which pending at the close of the year, if not decided. The number of cases pending from the preceding year should be noted in the column of remarks, and when deducted from the total of column 2 should leave a balance corresponding with the total of column 38 of Statement VII. If after deducting the arrears shown at the end of the previous year, the balance does not agree with the figures in column 38 of Statement VII, the difference should be explained.

Column 6.—When under section 102, C. P. C., a decree is wholly or partially made in favour of an absent plaintiff on the admission of the defendant, the case should be entered in this column.

Column 8.—A case in which defendant appears, but a plaintiff does not, and defendant does not confess judgment and the case is thereupon dismissed, the case should be entered in this column.

Columns 15 and 16.—As regards the average duration of suits, the date of their presentation of the plaint shall be considered as the date of institution, unless some defect or omission requires to be amended before the plaint can be admitted, in which case the date of admission after amendment shall be regarded as the date of institution. With regard to applications to execute decrees, the date of their presentation should alone be considered. In calculating average duration, the time that the suit has been actually pending in the particular Court should alone be calculated. The interval should be omitted during which an application for review which has been granted, or an appeal in which an order of remand has been passed, been pending in the superior Court. Revived suits are to be treated as if newly instituted on revival.

§A sum of Rs. 2,462 was collected from fees and remitted into Treasury. Rs. 2,043-1 were paid to examiners and on contingencies in 1914.

I.—Fractions of a rupee are to be omitted.

II.—If the income of any school maintained by the Department (or by a Local or Municipal Board) exceeds the expenditure, the return of Government (or Local or Municipal) expenditure should be reduced accordingly, the income and expenditure of the school being thus equalised. If in such school the income from fees or other private sources alone exceeds the expenditure, the excess income and the sources from which it is derived should be shown in the column of Remarks.

III.—If the income of any aided school exceeds the expenditure, the excess should be proportionately deducted from the sub-heads of endowments, subscriptions, and other sources; or, if the receipts from those sources are insufficient, from the sub-head of Fees also. The actual receipts from Imperial Revenues and from Local and Municipal Funds should be shown in full.

IV.—In calculating the expenditure from Imperial Revenues or any other Funds, all payments or contributions from Fees or other sources credited to that Fund should be deducted. Such payments should be shown as expenditure under the sub-heads to which they belong.

V.—The expenditure under "University," "Direction" and "Inspection" should be shown only in column 6 and its sub-divisions, and not in the preceding columns.

VI.—The expenditure on stipends held in Training Schools should be shown as part of the expenditure in those schools, not under the head of scholarships.

N B.—The headings prescribed by the Government, and not required for this district, have been omitted.

‡Does not include the money spent on the purchase of land for the Government High School at Bisla.

¶Increase due to the expenditure on salaries of certain posts in the Government High School, Ajmer, which were vacant last year.

‖Building grant to Husband Memorial and Nasirabad Mission High Schools.
